DULL FOURTH

Rainy Weather Spoiled Sports and Pleasures For All

The continuance of rainy weather spoiled much of the anticipated pleasure over the 4th for thousands of people. Here in Winchester it was found necessary to postpone the baseball game and the fireworks, although the band concerts in the afternoon and evening were given in the rain before a good sized crowd of autos and a few bystanders on the field. The latter audience beat a hasty retreat during the evening concert, when the rain fell in torrents.

It is announced that there will be a two hour band concert on the field this Saturday evening, at which time the fireworks will also be given.

Saturday was generally fair, although a drizzle made the day unpleasant. It was at first decided not to try and run off the ball game on this day, but as both teams were on deck the game was started, and the rain held off long enough to complete it. This was a fine game, but the bad weather and the uncertainty of whether it would be played or not, resulted in a very small attendance.

Sunday was generally fair, moist, hot weather resulting in numerous showers in this vicinity. Monday was the best day of the series, but it, too, developed its rain, much to the disappointment of many.

On the 4th rain fell most of the day, there being several heavy showers, especially in the evening. It was decided before noon to cancel the ball game, the field being too wet to attempt to play. As there seemed to be a possibility of clearing weather it was finally decided to run off the band concerts and fireworks, but during the afternoon rain set in again and when it poured in the evening it was out of the question to hold the fireworks.

The rain put a decided damper on the golf tournaments at the Country Club and at the lake, although some of the races were run off, there was a very poor attendance. The only successful event was a largely attended dance at the Winchester Boat Club in the evening.

The morning entertainment for the children, held in the Town Hall, was well attended, over 600 children being present. An excellent entertainment was given, occupying about two hours, a Punch and Judy show, magician and a juggler keeping the interest at excitement pitch. At the conclusion of the program each child received a red, white and blue pompom and a ticket for an ice cream cone at Randall's. Randall's was by far the busiest place in town for the remainder of the morning.

AUTO ACCIDENTS

When returning from the celebration at Wakefield early Wednesday morning, a Ford touring car driven by Philip P. McWeeney of West Roxbury hit a pole at the corner of Forest and Washington streets and was badly wrecked. The accident occured at 1:45 a. m., and the four occupants of the car were attended by the police, one, Miss K. Doris Flemming of Boston, being taken to the Winchester Hospital suffering from bad cuts about her face and injuries to her back. She was later allowed to be taken to her home. In the car were James J. and Philip P. McWeeney of West Roxbury, Miss K. Doris Flemming of Boston and Miss Alice McCarthy of West Roxbury. The Ford had both right wheels ripped off and was otherwise wrecked.

On Wednesday night at 11:25 as John H. Russell of Revere was driving his Buick touring car down Main street with his wife and two children, he was in a collision at Russell road with a Ford truck of the Arnold & Colgate Co., driven by James Cox of Woburn. There was no one hurt, although the Buick was badly damaged, one side losing its running board and mud guards. The Ford had its front wheels damaged.

On Monday afternoon a collision occured between a Ford sedan and a Ford truck owned by the Horn Pond Ice Co., and driven by William M. Clements of Woburn. This accident occured on Main street near Prospect. No one was injured and the damage was slight.

WILL HAVE SWIMMING POOL

The City of Woburn has commenced work in constructing a swimming place for its boys and girls at the southerly end of Horn Pond. The engineering department has the work in charge and will make a double line of stone and concrete to form a dam enclosing a large area. This space is to be filled with a suitable gravel bottom, making a fine place to bathe.

NEW ASSISTANT ENGINEER

Mr. John Sharon, formerly a resident of this town, has been appointed an assistant to the town engineering department at a salary of $1900 a year.

Mrs. Helen Ledoux suffered the death of her mother, Mrs. Joseph Coakley of Woburn Thursday of last week.

FIREWORKS AND CONCERT

The band concert and fireworks to have been held on the evening of the 4th will be held this Saturday evening on Manchester Field.

The Malcon Band will give a program from 8 to 10, during which time the display of fireworks will be held.

WATER SPORTS JULY 4th

Arnold Carey of the Medford Boat Club is the new holder of the Mystic Valley challenge trophy for the single paddle half-mile canoe championship of the Mystic Valley region as the result of his victory in this race by a margin of three lengths on the afternoon of the Independence Day canoe regatta and water sports on Upper Mystic Lake, between the Winchester and Medford Boat Club canoeists under the auspices of the Medford Boat Club. He takes over the trophy from Clifford Lougee of the Medford club, who has held it for five years, but who did not defend his title as he is on a vacation trip.

There were three challengers for the trophy, Carey of Medford, Francis Randlett and Robert Moffette of the Winchester Boat Club. Moffette finished second and Randlett third. Carey led all the way, showing himself a steady, powerful paddler with a long pulling stroke that sent his cedar canoe well into the lead at the start.

Honors in the regatta between the two clubs were about even outside of the Mystic Valley challenge trophy race. Medford won the war canoe contest for the second time within a month, defeating the Winchester crew by a margin of two lengths. Winchester's first and second club four single paddling crews led in the half-mile club four race over the Medford four crew. The quarter mile single paddling race in canvas canoes was won by Winchester, while Medford won the tandem single paddling canvas canoe quarter mile.

In the water sports Medford won the rescue and tail end races, while Winchester took first honors in the tip-over and upset races.

The cedar war canoe half-mile race demonstrated again the superiority of the Medford nine-man paddling crew with their long slow steady stroke and superior helmsman work over the Winchester crew's short, choppy stroke. The time was almost 4m. flat.

The Medford crew was stroked by Ted Bell and Arnold Carey was the helmsman. The others in the crew were Leon Crane, 2; John Munroe, 3; Seymour Diehl, 4; Charles B. Vaughn, 5; Bradford Mills, 6; Webster Harlow, 7; Edward Vaughn, 8. The Winchester crew was stroked by Kenneth Pratt and steered by George Cummings. Other men in the crew: Marshall Symmes, 2; I. P. Jennings, 3; Lee Court, 4; Vincent Clark, 5; Parker Hart, 6; John Ordway, 7, and Alan Hovey, 8.

Winchester paddlers took revenge in the cedar club four half-mile single-paddle race, taking first place with a lead of three lengths over their own second crew, which in turn defeated the Medford four crew by one and one-half lengths. The Winchester first crew composed of B. Hart, stroke; Stephen Mathewson, 2; Parker Hart, 3, and John Ordway, stern, paddled a straight course on the still water along the west side of the lake. The race was won through the good steering and the use of the longer stroke by Winchester's first crew.

The Medford crew finding themselves in the backwash of the Winchester second four were in no position to start a spurt and fell in behind Winchester for third place. The Winchester second four included Kenneth Pratt stroke, Alan Hovey 2, I. E. Jennings 3, and George Cummings stern.

The single paddling quarter-mile race in canvass canoes was won by George Cummings of Winchester over Charles B. Vaughn of Medford by a canoe length. Roland Murphy of Winchester held second place until the last 100 yards when Vaughn spurted and passed him. He was not able to overtake Cummings although he was gaining rapidly as they neared the line.

The tandem canoe quarter-mile canvas single paddling contest was an easy victory for Leon Crane and Arnold Carey of Medford, who led from the start to finish and won by two lengths. John Ordway and Parker Hart of Winchester and Harold Cobb and Webster Harlow of Medford had a battle royal for second place. The Winchester tandem, Ordway and Hart, paddled out ahead by a few feet at the finish line.

The rescue race was won by C. B. Vaughn, who rescued Leon Crane of Medford Club. George Cummings and Kenneth Pratt of Winchester finished second, Cummings paddling his canoe across the line with Pratt's canoe resting across the gunwales amidship of his canoe. Stephen Mathewson and B. Hart won the tandem hand paddle one-eighth of a mile race over John Ordway and Parker Hart, both crews being Winchester B. C. canoeists. Harold Cobb and Webster Harlow of Medford were third. The tail-end race was won by Harold Cobb of Medford over Kenneth Pratt of Winchester by half a dozen lengths. John Ordway of Winchester was third. The tipover or upset race was won by George Cummings of Winchester; Webster Harlow of Medford, second, and Parker Hart of Winchester, third.

The starter for the races was Ex-Commodore Waldo S. Manson of the Medford Boat Club. The judges were Fred Bates of the Winchester Boat Club, Commodore H. L. Converse, Medford, and W. H. Cheetham, Medford.

Both clubs held dancing parties at their respective clubhouses at the Winchester and Medford ends of the Upper Mystic Lake in the evening. Many guests from out of town were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Percival B. Metcalf, who motored to Boothbay Harbor, Me., last week, met Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lewis at Boothbay on Sunday and had a very pleasant visit. Winchester motorists through the Bath and Boothbay section report that the roads are badly washed out by the heavy rains.

CONTINUES CASE OF LAWHORN'S ACCUSER

The case of John Tindall, the man who implicated Priv. John Lawhorn of the Marine Corps in the Brewster murder case, and who is charged with the larceny of a Victrola, was continued for the eighth time yesterday by Judge Stone in East Cambridge court.

At the last continuance, a week ago, Judge Stone said he would accept no further continuance, as the man had been in jail since May 20 through lack of $1500 bail. After a conference with Asst. Dist.-Atty. Saltonstall at the bench yesterday, however, the justice said he would grant one more continuance to July 20. On that date, he said he would place the case on file, as he considered that Tindall had been sufficiently punished for this larceny.

The district attorney had been anxious to query Tindall further on the Brewster mystery, which is the real reason for the various continuances. Tindall is charged with the larceny of a Victrola and records from the Henry Berry Company, Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

Some Winchesterites have a craze for up-to-dateness. They had rather be dead than out of fashion as regards dress, thought or actions. They seek for the very latest, and, if possible, antedate that—old standards—they ignore them, old truths—they pronounce trite, worn out. That might all aid appreciably in world progress if it were only based on firm foundations. But it is far from so being. Real truth is never "trite"—"won out." Fads very soon become just that, and are thrown into the discard. Truth is ever the same in its fundamentals. Look over the past decade and note the discarded fads and follies. The way is strewn with them. That of itself would prove their inferiority. The source of their inceptions should be an additional proof. But so few of us really think! We find it so much less trouble to let those with the pioneer spirit think for us and accept blindly! Yes, too many Winchesterites do just that! "One has to be up-to-date to keep up with the crowd," remarks one Winchesterite. True, very probably, but what does that mean? Why should one always want to keep up with the crowd? Are crowds in or out of Winchester noted for wisdom of action, calm delight, happiness even? Or rather for restless excitement, aimless hurrying, pushing and scrambling? Why not think a little farther? It is no sin to want to be in the fashion. It is probably wise—provided one does not go too far. But it is far more satisfying in the end to follow truth and sanity along with it and not to be afraid to part company if paths diverge.

What Winchesterite can fail to sympathize with the English folks of middle age in their distress over the tendency of the rising generation to use American colloquialism? No son of Eton or of Oxford in our early days even let Americanism fall from his tongue. He might call a mistake in a game a beastly fluke, or refer to his father as the governor, or say that the opposing member in the debating class was "a blooming idiot," or allude to a shilling as "a bob,"or stigmatize an unskillful cricketer as a "mucker." But the American custom of using "sure" with undue frequency was unknown to the youth of the mid-Victorian era.

A mere man in a community not far from Winchester deemed the prospective marriage of his daughter impudent, and said so, whereupon the girl shot him. Some day there will be a new benevolent organization. Men and women of brains and capital, with efficient counsel and resolute purpose will launch a society for the protection of parents. There will be difficulties in the path. Among politicans and even in the ranks of the press, there will be those who shrink from indorsing the reactionery movement. But ere the century rolls out, a society of this kind will fight its way to recognition.

Reading in a western newspaper that "Mrs. St. John is risishurdlum echaroboan," a Winchester man finds himself stupidly uncertain whether it is a case for congratulations or condolences.

Our planet is said by some scientists to be losing speed. But through no lack of jazz over Winchesterites who are posted.

Most every Winchesterite has at times
Tried the tame task of writing rhymes
'Twas when he set the stuff to song
That he discovered what was wrong.

The Spectator.

You Can Insure Your Personal Effects

Whenever they are Temporarily Out of Your Possession

Do you realize that ordinary Fire and Burglary insurance policies cover your personal effects when in a specific location only?

At various times during the year many of your personal effects are while traveling, or otherwise, temporarily out of your possession and not covered by insurance.

When you travel you take with you wearing apparel and other valuable belongings. At the club you leave your golf clubs, fishing rods, guns and other sporting paraphernalia. Expensive material is sent to the tailor or dressmaker—perhaps a fur coat is being remodeled, or valuable gowns or rugs are temporarily at the cleaners.

When the children go away to school or college they take with them an expensive outfit.

To secure fire and theft coverage in all these circumstances it is not necessary to take out a separate policy, for we are prepared to issue a policy for one year covering the personal effects of yourself and family wherever they may be outside of your permanent residence within the Continental United States (excluding Alaska), Canada, Great Britain and Ireland. Application for coverage beyond the territories mentioned may be submitted and if favorably considered, rates and forms will be quoted.

BASEBALL

By Mack

The Winchester Base Ball Association at its last meeting, held Thursday night June 29th, appointed the writer manager of the team for the balance of the season and also elected Fred Waldmyer, president. Both the Manager and President have been connected with teams of former years, and got good results. We anticipate the same thing this season, but expect the hearty cooperation of both the baseball fans and citizens in going through with baseball in Winchester.

This town has a population of 11,000 people and should be able to put on a team that will be a credit to this town. It is done in other places and can be done here. The principal thing connected with baseball in Winchester is the financial end. There are plenty of men in Winchester who should be able and public spirited enough to come through with the small amount needed to put a live baseball team here.

There should be at least 100 men in this town able to give $10.00 dues to start the season right. With $1000 on hand the president and board of directors feel that the team which can be placed on the field and the teams to be brought here will be a credit to the town. So much for our policy and what we propose to do.

Winchester played Melrose Saturday before a small crowd and won 5 to 1. The game was late in starting due to the showers before it was time to play. Finally the crowd did not look big enough to warrant the expense of putting on a game, but the manager of the Melrose team was a good sport and came across with the proposition to play the game for a 50-50 split and what could be taken in on the field. This was put up to the Winchester team and the game was on; which turned out to be a good one with Winchester on the winning end. Both teams played good ball in the field but Winchester did the heavier hitting, getting 9 hits to 3 for Melrose.

Flaherty and Matthews worked well together in the game and this shows what it is to have a good man behind the bat to carry the pitcher along. Flaherty will be captain of the team in the future and will direct all plays, and the players will go through with them as far as possible, and if the play fails the manager will take the responsibility—not the players.

Here is a bit of interesting information for the Winchester baseball fans. The Medford Town Team under Howie Fahey, the old Dartmouth and American League player, is being financed by a Winchester man. This does not speak very well for Winchester or her citizens when a man has to go to a neighboring town to back a semi-pro team. As the writer said there are plenty of men in the town who could back a team here for the advertising that they could get, and surely Winchester needs this proper kind of advertising as present. We have had two much of wrong kind in the pass four months.

The local team will stand as it is for the present, or until they show they cannot compete with the teams to be brought here. Each week, will probably see a stronger team brought here to play Winchester.

Arlington in all probability will be here Saturday. Arrangements are not yet complete, but this announcement will be in another column of the Star.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

Here we are again. Winchester will cross bats with our old time rivals, Arlington tomorrow on Manchester Field. This means a lively game as usual when these two teams meet. On Monday night we play a return game on Spy Pond Field, Arlington, and it is hoped a large crowd of rooters will follow the team over there. If tomorrow is pleasant Manchester Field should hold a record crowd and after so many disappointments the fans should be baseball hungry. Postpone your dates and show up for this game, we promise a live one.

To Our Customers:

WITH THE IDEA in mind of co-operation between this Company and the Plumbers, we have for the past year been conducting a series of education meetings for plumbers of our territory and our employees. These meetings have been held each month and at each meeting there has been given an illustrated lecture upon water heating and the appliances sold and connected by the plumbers and this Company.

So great was the interest of the plumbers and our employees in this movement that a club was formed so that the educational program could be continued in the interest of our customers, the plumbers and this Company.

TOWN TEAM WON SATURDAY

Winchester Town Team won from Melrose on Manchester Field in an interesting and well-played game Saturday afternoon by a score of 5 to 1. Rain and the exodus over the holiday reduced the attendance considerably, but the game was judged the best yet played by the local organization. The local nine played banner ball from start to finish, the game being won in the eighth inning after Melrose had tied the single run made in the first inning. Two safe hits and allowed only one base on rors by Melrose gave Winchester a safe lead. There was plenty of batting throughout the game, although Mathews held the visitors to three hits an dallowed only one base on balls. A feature of the game was a neat steal of first base by Flaherty on his third strike.

The score:

| Innings | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 | 8 | 9 | r | h | e |

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Not every one knows how to set a hen, nor an alarm clock, but many know how to set around.

I don't know what "a perfect lie" means in golf, but supposed it had something to do with the score card.

The man who lies down seldom lays anything up.

Prohibition seems to prohibit but somehow it doesn't seem to prevent.

I have heard men called "the salt of the earth" but lacked a supply of pep.

THE THOMPSON NOTE

Editor of the Star:

In justice to my associate members of the School Committee I would like the citizens of the town to know that the note left at Mr. Thompson's house advising him of his dismissal as Principal of the high school the night of the Committee meeting was left by me.

The Boston papers were waiting for the result of the meeting and it seemed advisable to inform Mr. Thompson at once of the Committee's action, rather than to have Mr. Thompson read of it first in the morning papers.

When I went to Mr. Thompson's house it was in darkness. I felt that it would be more kindly to him for me to leave the note at his door than to awaken him.

Robert F. Guild.

CAMOUFLAGE

Editor of the Star:

The School Committee's recent "reasons" were like the frothy whinped cream of the Aberjona—artificial color and flavor; a dog found it to thin to eat or walk upon and not good enough to swallow. People are not so easily deceived. The underlying muddy sediment has been brought to light and analyzed by the Citizen's Committee.

Ephpiel.

SUMMER SIESTA

Editor of the Star:

Although school affairs may seem to be settled temporarily, soon will come the fall—not only of the year. As a result of perverse committee's decision, the deplorable loss to Winchester's children and reputation will be the fortunate gain of some other community. What next?

Ephpiel.

IT WAS IRONY

Editor of the Star:

The brief account of Mr. Thompson below his protograph in last week's Star concluded with a statement the opposite of which it is hoped every reader, in town and out, understands clearly. Pupils, parents, teachers and citizens have emphatically and unmistakably judged this amiable and admirable Christian gentleman to be an extraordinarily exemplary educator. His harmonious management was like noble music, uplifting and inspiring, but we are in a rag and jazz age and craze. Committees are supposed to serve the people. Nearly a century and a half ago, the ancestors of some of us courageously and successfully rebelled against tyranny in England today a serious difference between the people and refractory officials cause a speedy special election. In this reputed democratic republic of ours, would that "legal right" and "law" more nearly coincided with moral right and justice at times!

July 4, 1922. Ephpiel.

THE QUESTIONS TO CONSIDER

Editor of the Star:

Once more may I ask a few questions? This time in connection with the school situation.

Is the Citizens' Committee satisfied? Do the excuses of the School Committee seem to create a good reason for the action taken in regard to the former principal of the High School? Has the Citizens' Committee accepted the present condition as final, and gone to sleep? Does not this seem to be the wrong time of the year to hibernate? The end is not yet, is it? Are we not all glad of the effort put forth by the Citizens' Committee, though the object was not accomplished?

I humbly suggest to the Citizens' Committee that perhaps the rest of the School Committee can be induced to take a European trip; can it? If not, can the members be sent to coventry? Or has that lost its effectiveness?

Though we all like to stand by a constituted authority, we would like to see that authority show strength rather than weakness, would we not? The strength of mind that confesses a wrong, rather than tries to uphold that wrong flimsy excuses, commands our administration does it not? It is said that "A wise man changes his mind; a fool never." Would not this be a good time to consider this? When a committee, elected by citizens, finds itself in a hopeless minority in a collision with the voting body, would it not be in order for that committee to efface itself? Resignations in order?

Is not the present situation sufficient commentary on the careless manner of electing the members of the School Committee. Is not much less thought given to the election of a member of the School Committee than to any other election? What credentials are demanded? What qualifications? What experience? Why elect people who will sign such an illiterate statement as appeared some time ago—who do not know whether a committee is singular or plural? Why elect people who are lacking in Tact,—in human sympathy with the children, in cooperation with the parents? Why elect people who think the school system is a machine, to be standardized, to be operated by a one man method? Why not elect a committee capable of appreciating individual effort, and of acknowledging the value of combined effort, as, of master and pupil.

Does not the popularity of the former High School principal, a popularity testified to by parents, teachers and pupils, stand as a splendid testimonial of his work here? Has not the community almost as a unit, risen to do him honor, despite the efforts of the "powers that be" to place a stigma against his name? Does not the injustice, the narrow mindedness, the monumental stupidity which has created such a situation, "loom up" against the background of loyalty and sympathy accorded to Mr. Thompson by his faculty and pupils, with lamentable comparison?

Is it not better to be shaking the dust from one's feet with the respect of the community and with one's self respect, than to be grovelling and favoring to a "constituted authority?"

Will the Citizens' Committee remember that the majority of the voters are in sympathy with them, and would appreciate information as to progress and developments?

Assuring you of my gratitude for the use of your valuable space.

Very truly yours,

W. L. Thompson

Winchester July 5th.

ANOTHER COMPLAINT

Editor of the Star:

It is with the deepest regret that I—nay, everyone—reads in your paper of the dismissal of Mr. Edward Everett Thompson as principal of the Winchester High School. Yet, is it not what we expected from our school committee? They had a principal in the High School that cannot be replaced and they did not have the foresight to keep him. How fortunate are the students who have received their diplomas with Mr. Thompson's signature! How we envy them!

Inasmuch as the school committee have disappointed us—did just opposite to what they should have done, let us remember that there is one man on the committee worthy of praise.

Mr. Robert Guild, chairman, states that at first he favored the dismissal of Mr. Thompson. After a thorough investigation, however, he finds that he could not conscientiously vote for his dismissal.

We all make mistakes and we all have our own thoughts pertaining to certain matters, but we are not all so narrow-minded as to refuse all evidence and consider ourselves perfect.

The committee's actions have reminded me of the actions of a little child who knows no better, one who finds himself in wrong, yet lacks the ability to rectify himself. They have made a wretched blunder and they know it—we know it.

The school committee usually consists of five or six Winchester residents elected by the town, to serve for the welfare of the town and to keep up the high standards of the town. Have they? We can answer in unison—no.

I believe that the present school committee has one more year to serve. Horrors! Suppose they turn Winchester upside down in that year. They were elected to consider and better the school affairs and people of Winchester—not to consider their own personal feelings.

The citizens committee did good work. We appreciate it. The alumni and present students have stood by their school remarkably well. We knew they would. Our Winchester students are making splendid college records and others are successful in other lines of study and in business life. We are proud of them and they, in return, are proud of their training received in the Winchester High School.

PEKING: THE CHICAGO OF CHINA

Peking, to which American Marines and the military forces of other Western nations have been rushing to defend their national interests, threatened by Chinese civil welfare, is the subject of the following communication to the National Geographic Society from James Arthur Muller:

As one passes within the walls of Peking he expects to find, as in other Chinese cities, the bannered signs of shopkeepers throwing gay canopies across narrow, tortuous, huddled streets; but behold! broad avenues three miles long, crossed by other broad avenues three miles long, making squares as regular as those of a checker board.

More Tatar Than Chinese

The visitor wonders whether the builders of this city saw in prophetic vision the streets of Chicago, Denver, and Philadelphia. Then he begins to suspect that Peking is the one spacious Chinese city because it it not a Chinese city at all, but a Tatar city, built by adventurous barbarians of the north, men who lived in the saddle, upon steppes and plains, whose feet were set in a large room.

Wonder does not stop with the length, breadth, and regularity of the streets. The traffic upon them is equally unexpected. In the cities of southern China, sedan-chairs edge their way with difficulty through the crowds of pedestrians and carrying coolies, who jostle each other in the narrow lanes. In Peking every street is alive with beasts and vehicles.

Camels, Mules and Autos

Down the smooth, tree-lined, macadam-center roads autos, cabs, rickshaws, and bicycles speed past slow-moving catafalques and crimson wedding processions. On each side, between sidewalk and trees, along a highway of turf, go mule-mounted equestrians, soldiers on sturdy Manchurian ponies, triplets of donkeys hauling lumber, brick, coal, and crockery, portly old gentlemen straddling diminutive asses, blue-canopied Peking carts, and caravans of camels out of the north.

Imagine a city where camels go up and down the streets upon legitimate business, not in a circus parade! The visitor strolls along Hatamen street after breakfast, and there they are, on their knees, blinking in the morning sun—fine, shaggy, brown beasts, an occasional white one—rather dirty white—among them, chewing their cuds in leisure. The pavement before the shops whither they have carried merchandise has been their caravansary for the night. There are dozens upon dozens of them lining the sidewalk, up the street and down.

Almost as fascinating as the camels are the carts of Peking, or rather the little beasts which pull them—ponies, donkeys, mules, and nondescript, elusive creatures that are neither horse, mule, nor ass, but subtle, indistinguishable mixtures.

Buildings Also Unexpected

If streets and traffic, carts and camels are unexpected, no less so are the buildings. The traveler who has seen pictures of the majestic temples and palaces of Peking enters the imposing South Gate prepared for architectural raptures. But he finds the broad, straight highways of the city lined with insignificant one-story shops or with equally insignificant gray, windowless, one-story house walls, or long, unlovely, stretches of dull-red plastered fence walls.

The streets of Peking have neither sky-line nor cornices. Were it not for the multitudinous traffic upon them, they would remind the traveler of the sprawling, God-forsaken streets of an American mining town, infinitely extended. The trees which line the central roadways are all of such recent planting that this city of the centuries suggests the latest offspring of an energetic real-estate agent.

Shrines and Palaces

As soon, however, as the traveler enters a gateway, through one of the gray or dingy brick-red walls, he comes suddenly and unexpectedly upon a palace, silent in the sun, yet shouting aloud in the barbaric brilliance of its color—crimson columns, friezes of flashing gold on green, wide-flaring roofs or resplendent yellow, all above a triple-terraced platform of marble, white like snow. Or it may be a many-courted temple, where a hundred lamas drone chants before an inscrutable Buddha; or a wooded park, where emperors once took their pleasure, where century-old cedars shade pathways and pleasant lakes. Shrines nestle in mulberry groves and hillocks are crowned by Buddhist topes, from whose marble bases one looks out over the roofs of the city—miles and miles, it seems, of gray roofs—and in the center of all a great splotch of imperial yellow, the once "forbidden city," where dwelt the emperor, his sons and his daughters, his wives and his concubines.

Even the foreigners in Peking have fallen into this habit of surrounding themselves with blank and unexpressive walls; so that behind such barriers are found not only temples and parks and palaces, but colleges and churches and legation buildings.

EDUCATORS TO HEAR ABOUT VOLCANOES

Mankind's debt to the volcano has been more fully recognized by results of recent researches. Contrary to the popular belief that the volcano is an enemy it is one of mankind's best friends. Without volcanoes it now is believed there would be no ocean; and to them we are indebted for carbon dioxide, without which human life would not be possible.

One of the most tremendous volcanic explosions in history, that of Mr. Katmai, in Alaska, will be described and its effects shown in motion pictures before the Conference of Geography of the National Education Association, held in Boston in July.

Dr. Robert F. Griggs, leader of the National Geographic Society's expeditions to study Katmai and discoverer of its neighbor natural wonder, the Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes, will tell of the findings of the expeditions.

Though unaware of the mighty upheaval, every inhabitant of the United States felt its effects; one of which was the cold, damp summer of 1912 caused by the interception of so much sunlight by the dust from the eruption which quickly was carried around the world. Even in cloudless Sahara the sky was overcast; and it is believed that a succession of such eruptions could plunge the earth into another ice age.

Katmai's terrific explosion was unnoticed because it was so remote. Had the upheaval occurred in New York City the sulphurous fumes would have polluted the air everywhere east of the Rocky Mountains, the noise would have reverberated like an artillery duel across the central States; and the lower Hudson itself would have been a giant tomb with few ruins even to tell the story.

Fortunately Katmai's eruption provided geographers one of their greatest opportunities for studying volcanic phenomena without any frightful toll of human misery. Katmai Village, twenty miles from the crater, was deserted because all the natives had gone fishing, according to their summer custom.

Kodiak, nearest settlement of consequence, and the most important town in an area larger than Ohio, is a sleepy village of 400 people, where a mosque-like Russian church is a relic of the one-time Russian America.

An area around Katmai, half again bigger than Delaware, was covered with a foot or more of ash, which was enough to destroy all but the hardiest herbaceous plants. Before the explosion a suffocating blanket of incandescent sand burst through orifices in the floor of the valley. When the explosion occurred two cubic miles of material was blown off the top of the volcanic mountain and its present whereabouts, as the police bulletins would say, still is a mystery to scientists.

The aftermath of this eruption promises to be one of our most precious national heritages. Beyond Katmai lies a great valley from whose floor constantly ascends millions of columns of steam. These great rolling clouds of vapor which go billowing down the valley, sometimes trailing out before the wind a mile or more, exert an uncanny fascination.

The fumaroles, or vents, through which the steam escapes, disclose encrustations of greatest beauty, variety and color. There are masses of bright yellow sulphur, chunks of ash turned red and blue, and pure white masses of silicious material.

You can cook your dinner over these jets of hissing steam, though you have to hold the frying pan down against the upraising stream. There is a natural bathing pool, one end cold and another hot. Not far away is a lake with trout of thirty inches or more that bite at almost anything; and there also is Brooks Falls with its leaping salmon which may be speared when a trout diet palls.

President Wilson turned aside from the stress of war time to make this region a national monument. Some day it will be a national park—second in area only to Yellowstone. Many lesser phenomena mark the vicinity. There is falling mountain, for example, which needs not a motion-picture camera, but a phonograph or a radio to record its thunderous subsidence. Magnificent forests will provide a game preserve. Novarupta, a nearby volcano, now veils her crater in rolling clouds of steam.

So remote are these phenomena that members of the National Geographic Society's expeditions are the only white men who have yet explored them; but they are not inaccessible. A broad, deep harbor renders a landing easy, and fifty miles of roadway will place this natural wonderland within the compass of a day's automobile trip from the harbor, named Geographic Harbor, in honor of the National Geographic Society which discovered and explored the region.

The "Isle of Man."

The Isle of Man does not derive its name from the sex of its population, but from its position. In Manx "vannin" or "mannin" means middle, and this name was applied to the island because of its location.

MORE ROAD MAPS

Those fine auto road maps we told you about a fortnight ago lasted just ten days. Last week we could not supply them. This week we received a double order. They are the finest maps you ever saw. Everybody wants one.

The map covers New England. It is convenient—not a great flimsey sheet; not a tiny page that cannot be read. It is in colors—you can distinguish a road from a river, a north and south way from an east and west way and a state boundary from a township line. It gives all the information you wish. It is accurate.

If you want a really good auto map (or a map of New England for any use whatever) we recommend it. Once you have used it, you will always need it.

MAN'S DEEPEST PLUNGE

[Written for the Winchester Star]

Satan, that arch deceiver of the human race,
With guileful art did once assert that god
Had uttered that which was not true; yet ne'er
In face of all the Truth that shines abroad
Through Nature's ample page, could stoop so low
As to assert "There is no God" Ah, no;—
This last, this lowest, deepest plunge, was left
For poor, deluded, erring, wayward man;—
A plunge which Hell itself ne'er dared to make.
That man who denies the existence of a God,
Below the Arch-Apostate sinks at once
In principle, in shame and we must sink
Beneath him too.

Eugene Bertram Willard.

MOTHER, DRY THOSE TEARS!

(Written for The Winchester Star)

Stern Death hath laid its icy hand
Upon a precious child's brow;
Its gentle voice is hushed on earth,
And cannot greet thee now.
But dry those tears, and cease that sigh,
A child hath mounted to the skies,
Its spirit with the angels sing.
Its voice in Heaven's high arches ring.
Ere sin had ceased upon its soul,
Or sorrow dimmed its eye,
'Twas called to wing its upward way,
To realms of bliss on high.
When Death to thee his summons sends,
And up to Heaven thy soul ascends,
In some bright spot on Canaan's shore,
Thou shalt greet that child once more.

Eugene Bertram Willard.

SPEAK KINDLY OF ALL

(Written for The Winchester Star)

Speak no ill—a kindly word
Can never leave a sting behind;
And O! to breathe each tale we've heard,
Is far beneath a noble mind.
Full oft a better seed is sown,
By closing this the kinder plan;
For if but little Good be known,
Still let us speak the best we can.

Eugene Bertram Willard.

Marks of Distinction.

To be distinctive one does not need expensive clothing. A face radiating mental poise, a well-groomed body, carried with grace and dignity, is its own aristocracy. Every woman can be attractive, no matter what her features may be.

Romans Originated Name "Greek."

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

All the money of the millionaire of sixty years ago could not buy the workingman's comforts of today. In less than a century, our whole manner of living has been changed.

Distance, for example, has been annihilated. The telephone and telegraph have placed the whole world within easy reach. And right in the heart of the home, ready at the instant touch of a lever or button, helping to conserve the strength and health of an entire nation, are those willing and obedient servants—gas and electric service.

Of all the industries, these, the public utilities, are the most democratic. The widowed washer-woman is supplied with the same gas as the banker's wife; likewise, electricity is delivered to the mansion or the cottage; all fares look alike to the street car conductor; and the telephone operator responds with equal celerity to the voice of the clergyman or the bootblack.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Radley are both patients at the Winchester Hospital.

Mr. James Boyle has been appointed assistant foreman at the town stables on Lake street.

Dr. and Mrs. Hovey L. Shepard of Los Angeles are in town visiting Mrs. Shepard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Weeks of Pine street.

Considerable excitement was created in the Italian colony off Swanton street Friday by the unaccounted for absence of a 2-year-old child of one of the families, whose father took the baby to Boston on a wagon unknown to the child's mother. The latter called at Police Headquarters early in the morning and a general search was started for the child through the plains district. The return of the boy's father with the little fellow from Boston to his store on Swanton street restored the district to its usual tranquility.

A TREE THAT MAY BANISH LEPROSY

Announcement that the number of patients on the famous leper island of Molokai, Hawaiian Islands, is steadily growing less, due to the paroling of patients apparently cured by chaulmoogra oil, turns attention to this important disease problem in the tropical possessions of the United States, and to the possibility that it may one day be entirely solved. What the magic chaulmoogra oil is and where it comes from is told in the following bulletin issued from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Known in East for Ages

Though chaulmoogra oil, made from the seeds of the chaulmoogra tree, has been used in India and other parts of the East for centuries for the treatment of skin diseases, there was long a mystery about it to Westeners. The fruits, round and about the size of oranges, found their way to many of the bazaars and markets of India, Burma and Siam, but little was known of the source of supply. So long as the oil was merely rubbed on the skin and taken internally, it seemed to be only a palliative, and there was no great worldwide interest in it. But since Western science separated the curative principles and prepared them in a form which makes possible hypodermic injection, there have been brought about what appear to be many permanent cures.

When this stage of development has been reached, so that hope could be held out practically for the first time to many of the sufferers from one of the most dreadful diseases known, the demand for the raw material became much greater than the available supply. With the idea of obtaining seeds and from them growing a "crop" of the beneficient trees, the United States Department of Agriculture sent a plant explorer to southeastern Asia to search for the unknown chaulmoogra forests from which the epoch-making cures had flowed.

A Long Trail

It was then that the world's ignorance of what had become one of Nature's priceless boons became evident. The oil was in use in Siam and it was thought that the trees existed there. But a journey through all the promising regions of the country failed to disclose a single tree. The trail then led across the line into Burma where a few isolated trees were found, but without fruit. Clues were followed for hundreds of miles farther before forests of the chaulmoogras were encountered in central Burma.

The gathering of chaulmoogra fruits in Burma is not without its dangers. Wild elephants live in herds in these jungles and now and then attack and destroy the nearby villages. The forests are also infested with man-eating tigers. It was only after an encounter with one of the latter that the American expedition was able to take from the region a supply of the long-sought seeds. With the seeds obtained a plantation of chaulmoogras has been established in Hawaii, and the beginning of a domestic supply of the valuable oil is looked for in about eight years.

DISMAL FIREWORKS

Rain Spoiled Display, But Band Gave Fine Concert

The exceptionally fine concert given by the Malden Band on Saturday evening at the postponed fireworks of the play was the saving feature of the program. The rain on the 4th, followed by a heavy shower on the evening of Saturday put a decided crimp in the fireworks, and the display lacked much of what had been anticipated previous to Independence Day. The band, however, gave an exceptionally fine concert for a period of over two hours, furnishing 31 pieces instead of the agreed 28, and rendering a program which many judge one of the best ever given here.

On the 4th the rain in the evening caused the hasty removal of the set pieces and only active work in covering and packing the other fireworks saved them from a wetting. Although Saturday was a fine and clear day, a shift in wind brought on a heavy shower shortly before seven o'clock, and this again caused another removal of the set pieces on the field.

The band concert opened in a fairly heavy rain at 8 o'clock, there being practically no one on the field, but a big crowd of automobiles on the Parkway. As the music was heard about town, the autos became thicker, and with clearing weather around 8:30, visitors began to pour in from surrounding towns.

It was nearly half-past nine when the final drizzle ceased sufficiently to open up the fireworks and the first rocket did not go up until nearly ten. From that hour until twelve the display was shot off, it being good, bad and indifferent—mostly the latter. There were a few good pieces, especially towards the close of the display, but the heavy, moisture laden air tended to dampen everything of an explosive nature and the wet grounds caused considerable delay in firing off the pieces.

At ten o'clock it was estimated that there was the usual crowd on the field and parkway. Autos as usual were parked from the centre to Bacon street, and the vacant lot at the corner of Thompson street and Waterfield road was filled with cars. The field was well crowded with spectators also, it being estimated that some 7000 persons viewed the display from that place alone.

Many of the aerial pieces in the fireworks display hardly left the ground, and some only high enough to fall in among the autos on the parkway before exploding. The set pieces were largely a smoky fog of colored fire, there being no wind and the heavy air spoiling them. The delay in firing also was aggravating, it being necessary to keep everything well covered up to save it from the wet.

The display continued until a few minutes before twelve o'clock, by which time most of the crowd had departed. At one o'clock Sunday morning, boys on the field set off several unexploded pieces and many persons thought the display had commenced again when a series of bombs and rockets exploded. This occurred again late Sunday night, when the police thoroughly cleaned up the place. This later display was effected by the boys putting the fireworks in a small bonfire, they having gathered them up during the original display after they had failed to go off when the men in charge had lit them.

TRUCK WENT THROUGH BRIDGE

A truck loaded with brick, owned by the McLaughlin & Martin Co. of Woburn and driven by James E. Feeney of that city, went through the planking of the ice bridge on Main street Friday afternoon when avoiding a collision with a touring car. The street at this place in town is torn up for the laying of new street car rails. The heavy timbers under the flooring saved the truck from going clear through the bridge, and it was able to run off by its own power, although the top boards of the bridge were badly broken. The bridge was immediately repaired by the City of Woburn, which maintains the structure.

POLICE RAID UNCOVERS STILL

Last Thursday the police raided the house of Fred N. Pauline, 30 Pond street, and uncovered a 15-gallon still, 50 gallons of mash, two gallons of corn whiskey, a quantity of corn and other paraphanalia. In the Woburn court Friday Pauline was fined $75.

Some Ancient Sweets.

The most ancient sweets are sugar plums, sugar almonds and burnt almonds.

SELECTMAN WILLEY'S MOTHER DEAD

Mrs. Annie M. Willey, aged 82 years, wife of former City Auditor George H. Willey of Chelsea and mother of Selectman George E. Willey of this town, died suddenly from heart disease at her home on Monday.

She had been a resident of Chelsea since 1864 and was widely known among Chelsea people, being a member of the Centre Congregational Church there and for 28 years treasurer of the Chelsea W. C. T. U. On June 22, she and her husband celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary here at the home of their son, an informal gathering of the family and a few close friends making an observance which she and her husband enjoyed to its full.

Besides her husband and son, she leaves one daughter, Mrs. Harry A. Gerrish of Melrose Highlands.

The funeral services were held at the Centre Congregational Church on Wednesday afternoon, being conducted by Rev. Perry Bush and Rev. Wallace Trout. The interment was in the family lot in Woodlawn Cemetery.

MRS. ANNA J. DAVENPORT

Mrs. Anna J. Davenport, widow of the late Charles Davenport, died at the Malden City Hospital on Saturday after an illness of several years.

Mrs. Davenport was an old and formerly well-known resident of this town. She was 70 years af age and had spent the larger part of her life in Winchester. She was the daughter of Robert and Nancy (Carmichael) Shaw and was a sister of the late Mrs. James McLaughlin. She is survived by one son, Mr. Robert B. Davenport, a former police officer of this town and at present an officer at Bridgeport.

The funeral services were held from the First Congregational Church on Wednesday afternoon at 1:30, being conducted by Rev. D. Augustine Newton of Reading, a former pastor. The burial was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

BURGLARS AT MORNINGSIDE

Shortly after midnight Saturday, patrolman McLeod of Arlington discovered a man prowling about Morningside section, and the man when ordered to stop started to run. In an effort to make him stop, patrolman McLeod fired two shots over his head. His fire was returned by the fleeing man. McLeod then shot at the man, but evidently missed.

Patrolmen Jacobs and Carroll of Arlington were sent out to help round up the man, but the search revealed nothing. Later Edward Colby, who was driving his automobile along Mystic street saw a man acting in a suspicious manner and called to him. The man ran into the bushes and was lost to sight. On making a survey of the section it was found that a window of the home of Percy Goodale on Morningside had been tampered with an effort made to open it with a jimmy. Under the window 30 cents were found. The house had not been entered due to the timely arrival of patrolman McLeod.

MR. ALFRED DAWES

Mr. Alfred Dawes, inventor and manufacturer, died at his home, No. 7 Ravenscroft road on Wednesday in his 87th year. He was a native of Richmond, Me., and a resident of Chelsea for over 40 years. For the past three years he had made his home in this town.

Mr. Dawes was a particularly brilliant man and had many inventions credited to his skill, the most noted of which pertained to tubular rivets and studs. He was a member of the firm of the Tubular Rivet & Stud Company of Boston and Wollaston for over 50 years. He retired from active life several years ago.

In his leisure hours, Mr. Dawes spent much of his time at carving, his home being filled with unique and rare works of art made by him. He was an active member and leader in the Advent Christian Church of Chelsea.

He was the son of Ezra and Rebecca (Frank) Dawes. He married Miss Laura Pierce of Hudson, who survives him, together with one son, Mr. Herbert N. Dawes, who resides at 7 Lakeview road.

The funeral services are to be held this Friday afternoon at the residence and will be conducted by Rev. A. R. Haines of Chelsea. The burial will be in the family lot in Woodlawn cemetery.

Dr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Ordway are spending a fortnight at the Lake Placid Club, New York.

WINCHESTER FOLK IN FAIRY-LAND

The Elder Estate, "Grey Rocks," Transformed Into a Land of Mystery and Romance by Fascinating Out-Door Play, Under the Direction of Miss Ruth Elder

Last Friday evening, in response to a very modest announcement inviting the Winchester public to an outdoor performance of "The Lamp and the Bell," an audience of about two hundred people found their way to the Elder Estate on Myopia Hill, Winchester. Had "the public," accustomed to bold type and startling head lines, had the slightest inkling of the charm and beauty and artistic value included in that simple announcement the capacity of even the spacious grounds at "Grey Rocks" would have been taxed to the limit. While it was generally agreed that rarely do "all things work together for good" and contribute to the success of an undertaking as in this instance, it was also generally agreed by all who were present that to Miss Ruth Elder, who so cleverly utilized, directed and manipulated her various resources, unstinted praise is justly due. The purpose of the play was more than accomplished, for it was demonstrated beyond a doubt that, in spite of the jazz and artificiality of our times, it is still possible to interest, entertain and hold an audience with a simple story of friendship and romance, simply staged and acted, without even a hint of vulgarity and exaggeration. But so sudden and complete was the transportation from our work-a-day world to this land of beauty and romance that many of those who were present are still rubbing their eyes wondering if the experience was real, or only a midsummer night's dream.

"The Lamp and the Bell," a story of Kings and Princesses of the 15th century, in Italy, was written by Edna St. Vincent Millay for the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Vassar Alumnae Association, and presented at Vassar last June. The play was in charge of Miss Ruth Elder, Vassar '20.

Last Friday, the actors were members of the Dramatic Class of The Girls City Club of Boston, of which Miss Elder is the instructor. The play was given by the same group and at the same place a month ago, for members of the Club exclusively. In response to numerous requests it was repeated on Friday, for the benefit of the Vassar Endowment Fund.

Since there were many more parts than participants in the play it was necessary for several of the girls to appear as two or three widely differing characters,—but in every instance the lines were spoken with unusual distinctness, and the acting was so easy, natural and effective that it was difficult to believe that, with one exception, not one of the performers had played a part before. Still more remarkable is the fact that the actors who are teachers, stenographers and professional workers, are all occupied during the week with their various tasks, and not only did they memorize and rehearse their lines during "off" hours, but also made their own costumes and necessary paraphernalia,—all in the wholesome spirit of good fun.

The principal characters of the play were two beautiful young princesses Beatrice and Bianca, otherwise known as "Rose-Red" and "Snow-White," around whose friendship the plot centers. These parts were exceedingly well taken by Rosalind Raez and Cecily O'Brien. Other parts, every one deserving of praise, were played by Clara Loitman, Evelyn Brown, Julia Coughlin, Bessie Johnstone, Marian Rose, Margaret Bliffeis and Mary Cook.

The leisure approach of torch bearing pages in the distance heralded the opening of the performance. The mystery of the actors coming out of the darkness in the winding paths between the trees, pausing to play their various parts on the natural elevation which served as a stage, with the background of beautiful trees, then as mysteriously disappearing in another direction; the moon over head casting patches of light and shifting shadows on the grass; the many colored costumes gently fluttering in the breeze, and the beauty of all enhanced by unusual lighting effects directed by Munroe Pevear; the fragrance of growing things—the music and the stillness—all harmoniously combined to make an evening of delight that will linger long in the memories of those who were fortunate enough to be present.

Miss Ruth Elder, who planned and directed the performance, is the youngest daughter of the late Hon. Samuel J. and Mrs. Elder, and has apparently inherited the talents of her gifted father and mother to a marked degree. Her success in dramatic presentation will be limited only by her willingness to pay the price of hard work and concentrated effort from which not even genius may escape.

HON. SAMUEL W. McCALL

EX-GOVERNOR McCALL TRUSTEE

Ex-Gov. Samuel Walker McCall of this town was appointed Wednesday by Gov. Cox to be a trustee of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway, to succeed Homer Loring, who has resigned. The ex-Governor's appointment was confirmed under a suspension of the rules.

In announcing the appointment Governor Cox said that Arthur G. Wadleigh of Lynn would succeed Mr. Loring as chairman of the trustees.

Mr. Loring's letter of resignation was as follows:

"On June 1st the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway public trustees completed three years of service. During this time the physical property has been rehabilitated, car fares have been reduced and substantial progress has been made toward reestablished credit.

"I feel that the railway no longer requires my attention, and so request your permission to retire. I would like to be relieved on July 15th."

The salary as trustee which Ex-Gov. McCall will receive is $5000. It is understood that Mr. Loring has not enjoyed the best of health for several months.

HOBLEY—HARROLD

A wedding of prominence was that of Wednesday morning, when, at St. Mary's Church, Miss Mildred Katherine Harrold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Harrold of Washington street, was married to Mr. Frank Thomas Hobley of Brooklyn, N. Y., son of Mrs. Mary C. Hobley. Rev. Nathaniel J. Merritt, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony at nine o'clock in the presence of a large attendance from this and surrounding places.

Decorations of cut flowers and palms adorned the church altar and the music was a feature. Mr. Illingsworth, the organist from the Cathedral, rendered a program and Mrs. James McGrath sang "Ave Maria," written by Willard. Gounard's march was sung by Mr. John Kelly, baritone. Other members of the quartette which rendered selections were Mr. William Kelly, tenor and Miss Quinn Delorey, contralto.

The bride wore a wedding dress of white satin, trimmed with orange blossoms and pearls, and her tulle veil was caught with a spray of orange blossoms. Mr. Francis Joseph Giorgio, nephew of the groom, of Woodhaven, L. I., was best man and Miss Eileen Rita Harrold, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a dress of sunset taffeta, with silver trimmings and picture hat to match. Little Mary Rita Hannon, neice of the bride, was the flower girl. She was in pale pink crepe de chine and carried a basket of white carnations and tea roses. The ushers were Messrs. George William Harrold, Francis Everett Harrold and James Callahan.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the newly married couple being assisted in receiving by their parents and Mrs. Frank Giorgio. The affair was attended by several hundred guests and the couple were the recipients of many handsome gifts from their many friends.

They left on a wedding trip to New York, Pennslvania and Washington, and upon their return will make their home at 211 Washington street, this town, where they will be at home to their friends after September first.

The Star is pleased to present as a candidate for the vacancy on the School Committee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Charles Zueblin, the name of Mrs. Maurice C. Tompkins of Cabot street. Mrs. Tompkins, it is understood, has been favored by a number of Winchester people and it is the desire of many that she be considered for the position at the coming meeting between the School Committee and the Selectmen, when the vacancy will be filled.

Mrs. Tompkins has resided in Winchester for the past 14 years, although she has not taken active part in town affairs to date. She has three children attending three different schools—the Wadleigh, Prince and Wyman is widely known.

No date has been set as yet for holding the meeting to fill the vacancy, Mrs. Zueblin's resignation to the Town not yet having been received.

WILL RESIDE IN WEST SOMERVILLE

Miss Agnes Fletcher Morrison of Washington street, and Mr. Harry L. Quinn of West Somerville, who were married on Sunday afternoon, are to make their future home in West Somerville.

The couple were married at St. Mary's Church at four o'clock by Rev. Fr. Joseph Fitzgibbons. Mr. John Brosnahan of Somerville was best man and Mrs. Andrew J. Burns of Somerville was matron of honor. Miss Helen Edith Quinn of West Somerville, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid.

The bride wore a dress of ivory satin charmeuse with silver lace trimming and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lillies of the valley. The matron of honor wore jade green crepe satin and carried Killarney roses, and the bridesmaid was gowned in pink crepe de chine with old cream and silver trimmings. She carried Killarney roses.

A reception followed the wedding, being held at the home of the groom's parents. The ushers were Messrs. Walter M. Quinn and Andrew Burns of Somerville and William H. McDermott of Medford. There was a large attendance of guests, many being present from Springfield, Arlington, Medford and Somerville, and numerous beautiful and costly gifts were given the couple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Morrison of Hyde Park and Mr. Quinn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Quinn of 46 Newbury street, West Somerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Quinn left on a wedding trip by auto through the White Mountains, and on their return will reside in West Somerville.

DEMOCRACY ON TRIAL

Are we to have a democracy, a monarchy, an oligarchy or a soviet government in the United States of America? Order must be maintained and democracy is on trial.

No Indian, Mexican or Turkish massacres ever equalled in atrocity the Illinois massacre which so quickly followed President John L. Lewis's telegram to the local chairman of the United Mine Workers that those working in coal mines without the consent of the United Mine Workers should be treated like other "common strike-bearers," even if they belonged to another union, but not to the right union.

Life, liberty, and the right to work are all supposed to be guaranteed by the constitution of the United States. The constitution provides for an executive, a legislative, a judicial department; there is no mention of the United Mine Workers, the Shopmen's Union, or any other union; nevertheless, peaceable workmen are butchered who dare to work without consent of the United Mine Workers.

The railroad labor board, a government board of arbitration, makes a decision which is unsatisfactory to President Jewell of the Shopmen's Union, and instead of appealing to the law, a strike is called an endeavor made by force to stop the railroads running until President Jewell says they may. Other railroad labor unions are urged and expected to help the Shopmen's Union, and Mr. Gompers, the king of labor, approves of the action of the strikers, whose violence has already caused the mobilization of troops in six states and a proclamation by the President of the United States demanding order.

The President of the United States invites the president of the United Mine Workers to luncheon, notwithstanding his murder-inciting telegram, and whether the mining of coal shall be permitted in several states of the Union awaits the decision of President Lewis and his policy committee. What an example to place before the youth of America! This is apparently one of the results of the world war to make the world "safe for democracy."

The great majority of the people of this country demand that order be maintained; they do not object to collective bargaining, nor to individual contracts; they do object to monopoly, to conspiracies to interfere with interstate commerce, to murder, and to treason. Whether a democracy can maintain order is on trial. To have order, is it necessary that the President, the cabinet, the senators and congressmen, the railroad labor board, the governors, the sheriffs and other government officials shall first get permission of labor leaders? If so, we are not living in a democracy or a republic, but we are already under a monarchy or obligarchy not recognized by law but actually existing, with Gompers, Lewis, Jewell and others in power. It is but a single step to Lenine and Trotsky.

The backbone of President Harding in the matter of the railroad strike is to be admired; similar backbone in protecting men who wish to work in coal mines without asking leave of President Lewis will be equally admired. The courts are open. The constitution and law are still in force. Backbone in high places can alone save the United State of America as a democracy. [Boston Herald.

BASEBALL

By Mack

Winchester defeated Arlington 5 to 3 Saturday in a game full of action and plenty of free hitting and before the largest Saturday crowd of the year. Winchester gave Arlington a setback in the first game of their annual series. Matthews was very wild at the start of the game owing to the high wind which blew over the field, but at that he held the Arlington crowd of heavy hitters to seven hits, while Winchester was pounding "Hub" Collins, the former Mass. "Aggie" pitcher all over the field, getting 12 fine drives, including a three-bagger by Vallely. Bob Walsh of Woburn filled in at short and put up a first-class game. From now on he will be on third base, his regular position. The Arlington team is the same band of scrappy ball players, always ready to start something at the first opportunity, but this is always in the best of games and helps to make a lively afternoon.

Notes

The crowd Saturday was proof that you can get them to the field with the right kind of baseball.

The team will be strengthened as we go along and in the game Saturday there will be several new faces. Nelson was allowed to go Saturday as he has fallen off greatly in his play. His legs have gone back on him and he is unable to do himself or the team justice.

Winchester surely loves a winner and it takes time and money to get one. If it is not worth 25 cents to see a game on Saturday, it is not worth anything. Think it over.

We were in a hole Saturday before the game for players, two of these near stars failing to inform the manager they would not be on hand. The man from out of town did not make much difference, but when a player living in Winchester is not man enough to inform the manager that he would not be around, he has ceased to be of much use to the club and furthermore he will never get a chance to play on the Winchester Town Team while the writer is manager. I have two telephones and my place of business is in the centre, so there is no possible excuse for a Winchester player not to reach me. Enough said.

Hatch is putting up a whale of a fielding game and managing to hit the ball better. Here is a player that the fans in Winchester should appreciate. You can go around and see some of the high-class first basemen in action and if any of them can show anything on Ralph I'll take a back seat in the rear of the stand.

Here is another story. Every Saturday the field fills very quickly with autos. Now a great many of these autos contain anywhere from three to six adults, someone in the auto hands the collector 25 cents to pay for the crowd and then you wonder why we don't have high priced players in Winchester.

SATURDAY, JULY 22nd, WILL BE "CHARLIE FLAHERTY" DAY

Papers are now in circulation soliciting subscriptions for a suitable gift to be presented to Charlie Flaherty the Town Team catcher in recognition of his services to the town and team. This player has had chances to go out of town for good money, but has preferred to stay here and help out, and it is no more than right that this spirit should be rewarded. Manchester Field should hold a record crowd that day and all citizens whether baseball fans or not should be on hand. Remember the date, Saturday, July 22, and the attraction Woburn Legion.

Miss Jennie Johnson is home from the Winchester Hospital and convalescing nicely.

RULES FOR THE PRIZE ESSAY CONTEST IN THE "MILK FOR RUSSIAN BABIES"

Culminating on Boston Common Saturday, July 22, 12 to 3

Two $10 gold pieces for the best composition written by a boy and by a girl will be awarded by Mayor Curley on Boston Common, Saturday afternoon, July 22.

Subject: "Why the Russian Babies Must Have Milk."

Compositions submitted must be not over 300 words, written plainly on one side of the paper. In making the award neatness and correctness in the handling of English will be considered, as well as the way the food value of milk is treated, and its particular need at the present time in Russia; for in spite of all that the American Relief Administration has done to mitigate conditions, there are now many Russian children four and five years old who cannot walk because they have so long lacked in their diet the bone-building qualities which milk alone can supply.

All compositions should be submitted by July 18, and should be addressed to the American Committee for the Relief of Russian Children, 31 Mt. Vernon street, Boston, marked "Contest." The name of the contestant should be signed in full at the bottom of the composition.

Boys and girls under fifteen years of age are eligible. Winners must be at the meeting to receive their prize. Otherwise it will be awarded to the next best contestant.

Data on the value of milk as the perfect food for growing children may be had at the headquarters of the Boston Milk Educational Committee, 51 Cornhill, where posters bearing on the subject may also be seen.

As the object of this campaign is to pile up as quickly as possible the million cans of milk which will soon be shipped to Russia, Boston boys and girls are asked to keep it in mind that the slogan of that day on Boston Common is: "A Can of Condensed Milk with Every Child!"

Come and see the "Milk Fairies" dance!

JENNIE LUTES

On Saturday, July 8th, Jennie Lutes, beloved wife of John L. Lutes passed away after a lingering illness. Mrs. Lutes was born in Baltimore, New Brunswick, in 1872. In 1893 she married John L. Lutes and since that time has resided in this town, for many years at 31 Vine street. She had always been an active member of the First Baptist Church, and the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. She was also a member of Victoria Rebekah Lodge.

Mrs. Lutes is survived by her husband, John L. Lutes and three sons, Harold S., Donald and John L., Jr. Her mother, Mrs. John N. Shaw of New Brunswick and two sisters, Mrs. Charles Davis of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Ralph Bridges of Nantasket also survive her.

On Monday, July 11th, the funeral services which were largely attended by relatives and friends were held at the Baptist Church and conducted by her pastor, Rev. Clifton H. Walcott. Three beautiful hymns rendered by Lillian B. Marshall of Beach Bluff, made the services very impressive. Mr. Charles Osborn of Roslindale, Mr. Archie Osborne of Needham, Mr. Aubrey Osborne of West Medford, and Mr. Solomon Hopper of Dorchester, cousins of Mrs. Lutes' all acted as pall bearers. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

EVENTS AT COUNTRY CLUB

The club championship finals at the Winchester Country Club were played off Saturday after preliminary play during several weeks, R. L. Smith defeating R. B. Neiley 10 and 9 in the 36-hole match. This gives Smith the honor for this year. He played a good game, making a 75, with only one poor hole, the 9th, when he took five. Sixteen members qualified for the tournament.

The regular Saturday afternoon event was an 18-hole four-ball match, one-quarter added handicap for the pair. This was won by G. A. Bean and G. M. Brooks with a net of 73 and a gross of 83. A. P. Chase and P. W. Dunbar played around with a better gross—79, and were second with a net of 74.

The scores:

DAMAGE AT WILDWOOD CEMETERY

Residents in the vicinity reported to the police last Saturday that a crowd of hoodlums, finishing their swim in Wedge Pond, had done considerable damage to the fence and some of the graves and stones at Wildwood Cemetery. A part of the fence was broken down and the crowd amused itself pelting stones at the vases placed on the graves to hold flowers. Some of the stones were chipped by the rocks thrown at them.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

If you would discover a man's weakness let him talk while you listen.

Any man or woman who thinks three times before finding fault will have but little to say.

An optimist is a man who knows that his own troubles might be much worse.

Some men have a wealth of thought and others a thought of wealth.

Most of us prefer friends who are close-mouthed, rather than close fisted.

Radio operators in Winchester and readers of the STAR in general will be interested in our new department instituted this week. Through the courtesy of Mr.. M. P. Stevens of Glengarry, an officer of the American Radio and Research Corporation at Medford Hillside, we will print each week the daily program of broadcasting from Station WGI. This service is started in this issue, the program being given each day for the coming week.

Friends of Mr. Amasa Harrington, candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative from this district, are pushing him hard and report much success. His papers, it appears, were filed several weeks ago with the required number of names, but since then a large number have been added. He is a well-known business man and should make a good candidate to represent the town. Opposing Mr. Harrington is another Winchester man, Mr. Thomas R. Bateman, present member of the Board of Selectmen. He has gained a thorough understanding of town affairs through his serving on both the Board of Selectmen and the Finance Committee, and will make a strong and active candidate.

A new name has been presented for the vacancy on the School Committee. This is Mrs. Maurice C. Tompkins of Cabot street. She has not only been selected as a good member for the board, but she has been approached and urged to run. The Star endorses her. She is a young and energetic woman, educated to a degree which assures her prominence among the present members. She has lived in Winchester for 14 years, has three children in the Wadleigh, Prince and Wyman schools, is a graduate of the Rogers Hall School and of the Weeks-Lougee School. She attends the Congregational Church and she has tact. Mrs. Tompkins has not taken any part in the recent school controversy, but from what we know of her she should be a good, level-headed member for any school board and especially desirable for this Winchester board.

It is reported that the School Committee have again endeavored to urge the original resignation of Mrs. Zueblin upon our Town Clerk. The clerk has refused to accept any resignation not directed to the Town. What is the matter? Cannot Mrs. Zueblin's resignation to the Town be obtained? The act in itself of resigning to the Chairman of the School Committee is a small matter. The only hitch is the fact that the Town as represented by the clerk does its business in a businesslike manner and will not adopt the Committee's methods. Everyone knows that sooner or later a new member of the School Committee must be appointed, and everyone in town is deeply interested in who that person is going to be. The Selectmen will doubtless have a candidate to present which will meet with popular favor. It would be better if they could appoint five instead of one.

Sandy beach in all its history never looked so much like a real bathing place, maintained for the benefit and pleasure of the people, as it does today. The STAR expresses its appreciation to the Metropolitan Commission for the active and energetic way in which it has taken hold of this place and for the results its has already accomplished. A real life guard in the shape of a well qualified and active man capable of handling boys and girls, proper bathing hours, lumber and paint, and a genuine swimming float of a construction suitable to care for as big a crowd as can get upon it, places this beach on a proper basis, safe for recreation and enjoyment. A change is distinctly noticeable lately in the attendance—probably as a result of this activity on the minds of the parents. One sees now the beach thronged with the younger children. The older youths and men are no longer in greater evidence. This is as it should be, and is probably due to the supervision and vigilance of life guard Murray. It is a place for the younger children. It should be free for use by those who are not old enough to go to the salt water beaches. That they are now able to enjoy it without being subjected to the rough treatment of older youths and men will result in an increased patronage. Properly conducted and fitted, Sand Beach provides the most desirable summer spot imaginable for children about this section. Thanks may be given Selectman George M. Bryne for taking up this matter earlier in the summer with the commission. His efforts are well rewarded.

The Star finds it increasingly evident that Winchester people are evincing a close and growing interest, both collectively and individually, in the school matters of the Town. Not only has the recent Thompson dismissal created a continued dissatisfaction, but there is a growing sentiment that Winchester people shall exercise a decided influence in school policies during the coming school year. This sentiment is expressed in many ways, not a few coming out with a flat demand for a complete change in the make-up of the School Committee and a similar change in the superintendency, it being claimed that just so long as the present committee remains in office it will continue to force its drastic and unwelcome policies upon the people. Such sentiment means, without doubt, a constant and growing friction in our already unsatisfactory school matters, and if it is continued energetically, as it now promises to be, no one can forsee the results. It appears that more harm than good will reflect upon the High School—and other schools as well. Various rumors are in circulation in connection with the whole affair, the matter of the appointment of the new High School principal and the new member of the School Committee holding prominence. The latest rumor regarding the former is that a woman has been selected to head the school. Another rumor places a Winchester man, not previously engaged in teaching, at the head. Still another report is to the effect that an educator from the Pacific Coast has already been engaged. All this gossip is swallowed whole. The people are ready to believe anything today concerning the schools and to voice one and all their objections to every rumor. As the Star stated several weeks ago, it is going to be a hard thing to place any educator at the head of our High School under present conditions. The pity of the whole situation is, that even an able man is not going to receive any support under the present administration, and from today's indications the administration is determined to carry through its policy to suit itself. This state of affairs is bound to result in an upheaval and friction in our schools right from the beginning of the school year; more especially with regard to our High School. There appears to be no remedy. The School Committee is in office. It has shown its utter indifference to public opinion and will probably continue to do so, and as public opinion will not down, the Town will take what it gets under protest, active and passive, and directed against good and bad without discrimination.

David H. DeCourcy, chief of the Winchester Fire Department, was elected sergeant-at-arms of the New England Association of Fire Chiefs at the meeting held Wednesday.

THE CITIZENS' COMMITTEE'S STAND

To the Citizens of Winchester:

In reply to Mr. Thompson's letter in last week's Star, which Thompson by the way, is Mr. W. L. Thompson of Ridge street, not Mr. Edward E. Thompson, our former High School principal—the Citizens' Committee wish to state that we are neither asleep nor indifferent. The situation clearly is this: Mr. Thompson has been dismissed. The evidence which we collected, founded upon facts and corroborated by teachers and townpeople alike, had no weight with the School Board. Mr. Fausey has been reappointed Superintendent of schools and the School Board holds itself responsible to no one in its decisions.

There is nothing the Citizens' Committee can do except launch a campaign against the Superintendent of schools and the School Committee as has been suggested. We are unwilling to do this.

Our committee is eager and anxious to do anything for the betterment of the schools and the condition in the town, and we urge the people of Winchester who could serve and be a of filling of vacancies on the School Board. This office, while vastly important, should not be difficult. There are plenty of men and women in Winchester who could serve and be a credcredit to the schools and to the citizenship of Winchester.

Respectfully submitted,
Lora A. Bond, chairman.

THOSE BANK SHARES

July 13, 1922.

Editor of the Star:
Winchester, Mass.
Dear Sir:

In answer to inquiries concerning the advertisement of the sale of certain shares of the capital stock of the Winchester National Bank appearing in last week's "Star", this sale is advertised and is to be made in compliance with the National Banking Law.

When an assessment, which is voted, is not paid within a certain period, the stock upon which it is not paid must, by law, be sold to meet the assessment.

The assessment has now been paid upon most of the stock, but the requirements of the law must be complied with as to the balance.

Much of the stock advertised for sale is not owned by the persons in whose names it stood upon the books. It had not been transferred to the names of the true owners, and therefore had to be advertised in the names of the record holders, although they have no present interest in the stock. The actual owners are responsible for the failure to meet the assessment upon these shares.

Very truly yours,
Edwin M. Nelson, Cashier.

WOBURN TRAFFIC TO BE ROUTED

When the work of relaying the electric car tracks is taken up on Main street this side of the Swanton street bridge, a division of traffic is to be made as a factor of safety and convenience.

Chief of Police McIntosh announces that when this section of Main street is torn up, all Boston bound traffic will be sent by way of Swanton and Washington streets to the centre. North bound traffic, which includes most of the heavily loaded trucks, mill go straight up Main street.

This will be a big factor for safety. All travel on the street will be north bound and all south bound travel will be by way of the detour. Already there have been several accidents at the construction point, only Wednesday night two Fords owned in Woburn side swiping each other when passing.

SEMI-FINALS AT COUNTY CLUB

W. A. "Billy" Whitcomb of Worcester will oppose R. C. Van Arsdale of Woodland, and A. P. Wade of Meadowbrook will play M. T. Burgess in the semi-final round in the first division of the Winchester open tournament this morning.

While all four played consistent golf yesterday, Whitcomb impressed more than the others and he should walk through to victory in today's play. The Worcester lad not only played well, but he showed an ability to come from behind that speaks well of his golfing courage, for, after being 5 down at one stage of his match in the morning with Robert Whitney, he proceeded to eat away the lead, eventually to overtake his opponent and forge ahead to a 2 and 1 victory.

Yesterday's play resulted as follows, for the local golfers:

First Division

ENGAGEMENTS

Among the recent engagements announced during the month is that of Mr. G. Warren Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnston of Fletcher street, who is to marry Miss Laura R. Hunt of St. Albans, Vt. Miss Hunt is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hunt of Rugg street, St. Albans.

Another engagement of much interest among Winchester's young people is that of Mr. Maynard E. Wheeler, son of Mr. Harra A. Wheeler of Cliff street. Mr. Wheler will marry Miss Shirley P. Beck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Beck of South Braintree.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Smalley, are at Dennisport, Mass.

LINEMAN RECEIVED 4600 VOLTS

John Canary of Norfolk Downs, a lineman employed by the Edison Company, received 4600 volts when he came in contact with a live wire while working on Mt. Vernon street yesterday afternoon. He collapsed over the cross tree of the pole on which he was working and was rescued by fellow workmen, who placed a rope about his body and lowered him to the ground.

He was taken to the Winchester Hospital in the police auto and attended by Drs. Simon and Brown, who found him suffering from three bad burns, one on his thigh, one on his instep and another on his arm. He is expected to recover.

Canary was one of a crew of men engaged in restringing wires on Mt. Vernon street. That he was not killed outright was a marvel. His burns are very serious.

HOTTEST DAY YESTERDAY

Following a very warm day Wednesday the temperature went to an even hundred in the square yesterday authorities made little or no effort to thus far this summer. Bathing places were crowded. Sandy Beach resembled a small Revere Beach, mothers and children, boys and girls and even men and women thronging the place from morning until the cooling shower at night.

Every place where water was available for bathing was in use, and the authorities made little of no effort to stop the bathing, evidently granting that the extreme heat warranted a little laxity for the benefit of suffering, stealting humanity.

BACON STREET BRIDGE CONTRACT AWARDED

At a meeting of the Board of Selectmen held last night the bids for the construction of the new Bacon street Bridge over the Aberjona River at Wedgemere were opened. The contract was awarded to T. R. Soule & Co. of Newton.

Work on the construction of the bridge will start at once and a week from now will, it is expected, see the activities in full swing. An important feature of the contract was the specification that the bridge shall be completed on or before the first of next October.

Surgeon to Birds.

Miss Virginia Pope, a surgeon to birds, intended to be an artist when she started out in life. She became interested in birds while selling prepared bird food in order to maintain herself while Art was still a beckoning Muse, with nothing substantial, from a financial standpoint, in her luring palm. The birds were so fascinating that Miss Pope decided to devote herself to feathered friends and let Art drift on over the mountains.—Exchange.

Time's Changes.

Cupid used to be a fat little cherub with wings, but now he's a rotten little gold-digger with a pick and spade.

She Was Worth Much to Him.

Following the marriage ceremony the groom called the minister aside and inquired the price of the service. "Well," said the minister, "you may pay me whatever it's worth to you." "Be reasonable!" groaned the groom. "This woman inherits a million dollars on her twenty-first birthday."—California Pelican.

MORE ROAD MAPS

Those fine auto road maps we told you about a fortnight ago lasted just ten days. Last week we could not supply them. This week we received a double order. They are the finest maps you ever saw. Everybody wants one.

The map covers New England. It is convenient—not a great flimsey sheet; not a tiny page that cannot be read. It is in colors—you can distinguish a road from a river, a north and south way from an east and west way and a state boundary from a township line. It gives all the information you wish. It is accurate.

If you want a really good auto map (or a map of New England for any use whatever) we recommend it. Once you have used it, you will always need it.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

Arcnaeologists not far from Nazareth say that they are in no way annoyed by Bedouins. The Bedouin is open to reason. After a time he recognizes that if he murders one of a searching party or tries to collect ransom he may bring down upon his tent a British detachment as vengeful as the men in the poem of Kipling. What he is also quite capable of learning is that of all who seek mouldering walls and crusted-over tablets, none pays so liberally as those who speak English. It is more profitable to guide them to rich fields of relics, or to rent camels to their foreguards, than to molest them. All this is well understood in the enlightened circles of Bedouin society. What the Bedouing must learn, however, is to avoid an over-supply of zeal. He is, so Palmer says, unduly anxious to save the explorer. If a man from the wealthy west asks for any spot mentioned in Biblical history his Arab guide invariably locates it within easy walking distance, and this is overdone. The most eager of the visitors learn after a time that he has been bled and declines to bleed anymore. As the traveler grows accustomed to the land and the language he masters a great deal that was once strange, his sense of a genuine relic becomes more accurate, he cannot be duped as he was in his early initiate. The Oriental has to learn that he cannot fool all the Occidentals all the time. This was clearly emphasized in a recent National Geographic Society article published in The Star. It is a bitter draught to him, yet he is philosopher in his way, and will accept the inevitable. The Arab of the coming years may be as useful and as trustworthy a guide as the Indian has often proved himself to be when engaged by guiding parties in the wilds of the Rockies.

The Spectator.

Gallant Elevator Operator.

In a downtown building several people were waiting for the elevator. The car was crowded when a lady stepping in attempted to pull friend husband along. The alert operator called, "Just one more, that is all," and pushed the gentleman back. "So you want to separate us," said the lady. "Yes," was the answer; "I would rather separate you this way than the other way."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

Are you using open flame burners for gas lighting? If so, you are burning gas in a wasteful and obsolete manner.

To practice economy, be sure to equip your burners with good gas mantles. On this subject the United States Bureau of Standards says:

"Small mantle units cost very little originally and are cheaply maintained; they use only one-fifth to one-fourth as much gas for the same light as does the open-flame burner; thus the saving in the gas bill much more than offsets the small cost of the installation and maintenance."

Here are some gas-lighting hints to aid you:

Never use an open flame burner.

Do not use a gas mantle after it has been broken. It is more economical to replace it with a new mantle.

Adjust burners so they act steadily and do not hiss.

Learn to regulate the air mixer on the burner.

If you have any difficulty with your lighting, let us know.

GUM-DIPPED CORDS
-and Their High Mileage Records

The high mileage records of Firestone Cords continue to emphasize the fact that Firestone methods are different and better. These records, steadily increasing in number and in mileage totals, justify the Firestone contention that there is one best way to build tires.

Among the primary sources of Firestone extra mileage is double gum-dipping—the saturation of the cord plies in a vat of liquid gum—thus coating each cord and virtually eliminating internal heat and friction.

Another is Firestone air bag curing, with its 200 pound pressure, which places every cord accurately and equalizes the tension.

By blending the rubbers of different plantations and types, and by tempering it before mixing, Firestone men add still more mileage.

Many cord tires are good—a few are better—Firestone users say one is best.

Those who have already experienced Firestone mileage, have stopped shopping and experimenting—they have made these cords standard equipment. Investigate your friends' success with Firestone Cords—and buy your next tire accordingly. Come in and get your share of extra mileage.

ARE FISHING IN MAINE

Dr. and Mrs. Emery, master Robert Emery, the doctor's two sisters, Susie and Katherine Emery, and Cathleen Charleton, left Winchester, July 1st, going up into Vermont, through the White Mountains and over to Rangeley Lakes, stopping at York's Camps on Loon Lake, where they occupied one of York's log cabins. They found the fishing the best in Maine; every one was bringing in long strings. At the present time the party is stopping at the doctor's farm, Owls Head, Me. The doctor will return to Winchester about July 16.

NAMED FOR HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL

It is reported that Mr. Lionel A. Norman of Wedgemere avenue has been proposed for the position of Principal at the High School to succeed Mr. Edward E. Thompson. Mr. Norman, who is practicing law, is a Harvard graduate and held an important position during the war at Washington. He is the son of Lionel Norman and a director at the Winchester Boat Club.

Sunday afternoon a Stearns touring car filled with children, owned by Edward J. Cox of Woburn and driven by his son Frederick J. Cox, ran onto the grounds of Mr. Louis G. Rondina on Highland avenue, going partly over a bank and badly damaging a fine hedge. The auto was not seriously damaged and none of the occupants were hurt, although they all had a narrow escape. According to report of the accident the auto was going up Stone avenue, and in making the turn into Highland avenue the driver found it impossible to straighten out his wheels, continuing in a circle.

A number of Winchester base ball enthusiasts saw Davidson pitch at Peabody Sunday, when he held the Revere team down to one hit. He struck out 14 men.

"BOUGHT AND PAID FOR"

To cap the climax of a very successful season, the management of the St. James Theatre has secured the services of Montagu Love, the moving picture star. Mr. Love will personally appear in the role of Robert Stafford in George Broadhurst's famous play, "Bought and Paid For."

Dorothy Bernard who played the lead in the original Broadway production has also been secured to play opposite Mr. Love in "Bought and Paid For" when it opens for a limited engagement next Monday evening.

"Bought and Paid For" is a play that deals with a big theme. Its plot revolves around a gentle girl who marries a brute, and for four acts is developed an absorbing story of their life together. Other members of the family enter the story, which in many ways is a faithful and realistic portrayal of its serious side relieved by many scenes of comedy, of certain aspects of American life of today.

The dialogue is pungent and close to the speech of real life, and the author does not make the mistake of overdoing emotion either in action or in dialogue.

Victor D'Orsi and Joseph Saglelnella were fined $15 each in court on Tuesday for disturbing the peace in Winchester.

Some police officers can perform a kindly act as well as do their duty. Early yesterday morning a woman with two small children got off the Medford car and asked Officer Thomas Cassidy who was on duty when the next car went to Stoneham. He told her one had gone about 3 minutes before and another would not leave for one hour. About five minutes later a truck driver asked the direction to Reading and the officer remembered the woman with the two small children who waited to go to Stoneham. He asked the truck operator if he could not give them a lift to Stoneham, which he was very glad to do. Such acts as this should be called to the attention of the public as the officer put himself out of the way to be courteous which always pays in the end.

MR. CLARENCE C. MILLER ILL

Striken With Hemorrhage In Boston Friday

Mr. Clarence C. Miller of Lagrange street was striken with a cerebral hemorrhage in Boston on Friday while walking on Federal street. He was taken to the Relief Hospital and his name placed on the dangerous list. Reports through the week state that he is much improved, with a chance for recovery. His right side is affected by the shock.

Mr. Miller, who is 45 years of age, was on his way to his summer home at Third Cliff, Scituate, where his family is spending the hot weather. Friday afternoon, while walking on his way to the South station to take the train to join them for the week-end, he was stricken without warning.

He is general agent in Boston for the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, with offices at 24 Milk street. At one time he was president of the Boston Life Underwriters' Association and he has been active in town affairs, having served upon the Republican Town Committee, the Finance Committee and other important town bodies.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAIN

What is thought to have been an attempt to wreck the work train used to convey strike breakers from the Boston & Main Railroad shops at Wilmington & Main Railroad shops at Wilmington was made just below the Wedgemere station Saturday afternoon. The train takes the strike breakers out to the shops in the morning and back to Boston in the afternoon, on the return passing through Winchester around 5 o' clock. Stones and iron were placed on the track, evidently with the intention of wrecking the train.

The obstruction was discovered by the locomotive crew of an outward train at 4.45 p.m. They saw the stone and iron on the inward track, and notified the agent at the Wedgemere station. He went down the track, and just opposite the Bacon Mill found four large stones and an iron brake shoe piled in the track. He removed the obstruction.

Meanwhile the railroad officials had been notified and word was telegraphed the Winchester station with orders to notify the police. Officer William Cassidy was sent to Wedgemere, where he interviewed agent James O' Connell, who had the stones and iron at his station.

The police and railroad detectives are working on the case.

AUTO THIEFT FRUSRATED

Officer Daniel P. Kelley frustrated an attempt to steal a Ford touring car owned by Harrold Elliot of Linden street Saturday night at 10.50 p.m. when he signalled the car to stop in order to prevent an accident. At his signal, much to his surprise, a gang of boys jumped from the car and fled in all directions. Investigation revealed that the car had been stolen from in front of Mr. Elliot's house.

Officer Kelley saw the car coming down Lake street towards Main street. Another car was rapidly approaching on Main street. As the corner is blind and very dangerous, he signalled the Ford to stop, fearing an accident. He was greatly surprised to see the young men jump from the car and run. Investigation revealed that it belonged to Elliot, to whom it was delivered.

LAWHORN NOT GUILTY

The case of the U. S. Marine, John D. Lawhorn, who was said to have been implicated in the murder of Ralph W. Brewster, the Winchester railroad station ticket agent who was shot in the Spring, came up before the Middlesex Grank Jury this week in special session at East Cambridge. The jury reported no bill.

Among those who appeared in the case were Chief of Police McIntosh and Sergeant Thomas P. McCauley.

W. H. W. BICKNELL AT ARTISTS' COLONY

Frederick W. Coburn, a former resident of Stevens street, this town, writing in the Sunday Herald of the now famous artists' colony at Provincetown says:

"Provincetown is one of the places where you may learn to scratch and etch, with a better instructor than the mosquitoes who still infest the dunes in the summer's fore part. The classes in etching conducted by H. W. H. Bicknell at the Vinton studios, are one of the institutions of the town."

"What a renaissance of etching we have seen in the past 10 years is familiar to all readers of "In the World of Art." Mr. Bicknell has been through the whole mill; a hard working etcher back in the days when the art had its first years of this century, when artistic etching became almost a lost art."

"'Bick,' now in the maturity of his own professional powers, stands to benefit from the resolutions with which he kept on in the period of the temporary eclipse of his chosen branch of art, then continuously working over big, elaborate etched portraits which make an invaluable record of celebrities and, for the fun of the thing, cracking off crisp little outdoor plates the prints from which are prized by collectors."

"A born teacher, too, is "Bick." When he gets an alert, responsive pupil like our Morgan Dennis, with whose spirited drawings all Herald readers are familiar, the trouble he will take to impart bits and snatches of etcher's lore is almost infinite. No short cuts to showy proficiency in Mr. Bicknell's scheme of instruction. His special abhorrence is the sketchy little dry-point which an artist ignorant of processes wants to substitute for real etching. His idea is to put the draughtsman through just such a course of sprouts as he has undergone during—well, you listen with surprise when "Bick," lately of the Winchester home guards, talks about things that happened to him in the 80's.

A SPLENDID RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT

Governor Channing H. Cox has given an administration as chief executive of this commonwealth of which he might well feel proud; an administration of progress. His administration for the year 1921 and half of the year 1922, the first two year term under the Constitutional Amendment, including the legislative sessions of both years, is now a matter of record. Seldom has a Governor of Massachusetts taken office in such difficult times as these which have confronted Governor Cox during the past eighteen months. He not only had the period of reconstruction and depression following the war to contend with, but also an acute banking situation caused by the closing of five banks in the city of Boston because of unsound banking, and which necessarily tied up the deposits of many thousands of people who could ill afford it at this time. There has also been a great deal of unemployment with its resulting dissatisfaction. Fortunately, the peak of depression and unemployment has been passed in Massachusetts.

It would seem that circumstances such as confronted Governor Cox would be most discouraging, but in spite of these, he has made a very remarkable record in many ways.

MRS. ROBERT H. SULLIVAN

Margaret T. (O'Brien) Sullivan, wife of Robert H. Sullivan, passed away after a lingering illness last Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Daughter of Mathew O'Brien, a Civil War veteran, and his wife Catherine, she was born in Brighton. In her very early years the family moved to this town where practically all her life was spent and where she leaves a host of friends to mourn her loss.

Besides her husband, Robert H. Sullivan, she is survived by three children, John A., Catherine E., and Margaret F. Sullivan, also three brothers Jeremiah H. O'Brien of Boston, Martin and John of Winchester and one sister, Mrs. Catherine Tansy, of this town.

The funeral services will be held this Friday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Church. The burial will take place at Calvary cemetery.

The Railroad has on hand at the centre crossing a large quantity of sand to rebuild the roadbed under the crossing. Owing to the present strike the work has not been started, but the crossing will soon be torn up for the work.

CLINTON E. FARNHAM ELECTED PRINCIPAL OF THE HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. Clinton E. Farnham was unanimously elected Principal of the Winchester High School at a special meeting of the School Committee held Tuesday evening. He was selected from a number of candidates from New England.

Mr. Farnham was graduated from the Westfield, Mass. High School in 1907; from Yale College with the degree of A. B. in 1911; and from Columbia University with the degree of A. M. in 1917. During the summer session of 1914-1917 at Teachers' College, Columbia, he took a larger number of educational courses under Professors Briggs, Kilpatrick and others.

Mr. Farnham had a year of business experience upon graduation from Yale, and has been engaged in educational work since 1912. He taught two years at Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind.; was Principal of Bacon Academy, Colchester, Ct., for two years, and has been head master of the Academic High School, New Britain, Conn., a school of about 500 pupils, since the falls of 1916. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, has been President of the Schoolmasters' Club of Connecticut, President of the Teachers' Council of New Britain, and Chairman of the Committee for Reorganization of the Programme of Education of the New Britain School System. He is author of "Supervised Study in Education."

The new Principal comes to us highly recommended by the New Britain Superintendent, by the Chairman of the School Committee of that city, and by many others qualified to speak of his work as scholar, teacher, principal and man.

Mr. Farnham will take up his work as Principal of the High School as soon as his duties at New Britain can be properly attended to.

GIRL BATHER OVERCOME AT SANDY

Miss Peggy Fury of Cambridge, 16 years of age, was overcome while bathing at Sandy Beach Tuesday night and came near drowning. The girl was bathing near the shore when she was seen to collapse. Two bathers near her, one of whom was Francis McFeeley of Main street, saw her fall and carried her to shore, where life guard Murray immediately gave her first aid.

The girl did not lose consciousness, but was absolutely helpless. It is thought she was taken with a form of cramps. After a half hour's work she was taken to the home of Mr. W. J. Gray of Wildwood terrace, in an automobile, Mrs. Gray's daughters, Lilian and Mabel, being present and acquainted with her. After being given aid there she was later taken to her home. She was one of a party from Cambridge who visited the beach in a truck to bathe. Reports Wednesday morning were that she was very weak, but apparently none the worse for her experience.

MR. NORMAN NOT A CANDIDATE

Mr. Lional A. Norman of Wedgemere avenue, son of Mr. Lional Norman, is not a candidate for the principalship of the High School to succeed Mr. Edward E. Thompson. This statement is denied by Mr. Norman most emphatically. He has never had any intention of either seeking or taking the position.

Mr. Norman says his only connection with the schools has been in the matter of school committeeman, he having been approached to allow his name to be used as a candidate for that board in place of Mrs. Charles Zueblin resigned. As regards this position, Mr. Norman says he has no intention of running for the office. This may readily be verified, as the candidate to fill the vacancy must be a woman.

RED CROSS

The regular monthly meeting of the Home Service Committee met Tuesday evening at the Health Rooms.

The executive board meeting of the Red Cross was held Wednesday afternoon to formulate plans for the Roll Call, Miss Jewett, the chairman, is leaving soon to spend four months in Europe. During her absence the work of the Red Cross will be under the direction of Mrs. Root, the vice-chairman.

Our town experienced another wave of hot weather this week, Monday and Tuesday being scorchers. In fact to many Tuesday was the worst day thus far of the year, although there was a good wind and the glass only registered 96.

ITALIAN CELEBRATION

The annual celebration of the Feast of the Assumption will be held Tuesday, August 15th, by the Italian residents of Winchester.

The festivities will end as usual with a magnificent display of fireworks and a band concert in the evening at Manchester Field.

This year's committee has already been selected and is composed of the following:

James V. Barbaro, Chairman
Alfredo Rolli, Secretary

| | |
|---|---|
| Marcellino Ficociello | Frank Reego |
| Francesco Giacalone | Giuseppe Ferro |
| Giuseppe Rania | Nicola Tarquino |
| Mistretta Salvatore | Antonio Seraguso |
| Domenico di Mambro | Raffaele Penda |
| Roberto Galante | |

During the few days that have elapsed since the committee was appointed over six hundred dollars have already been subscribed.

From the generous manner in which the citizens of the town are responding with substantial contributions it is expected that greater funds will be available this year for fireworks than in any previous year.

This will undoubtedly mean the finest display of fireworks ever seen in Winchester or neighboring towns and the greatest gathering of people on Manchester Field and surrounding territory.

Since the band concert and fireworks are so generally enjoyed by everybody, it is hoped that the response with contributions will be just as general. No sum will be considered too small by the committee.

Further announcement will be made through the columns of the Star regarding the band concert and other details. It is hoped to secure this year the services of one of the best bands in the State for the afternoon and evening concerts.

The Chairman, Mr. Barbaro, will be glad to hear from anyone wishing to help in making this year's event the greatest ever.

K. OF C. CARNIVAL

At a meeting last Monday evening a Committee of 25 members of the Council discussed elaborate plans for a three-day carnival to be held at the K. of C. Home, October 12th, 13th and 14th, in aid of the K. of C. Building Association. Mr. Terrence Cullen has been appointed chairman of the general committee; Edmund Goggin, treasurer, and Edward McDonald, secretary. The publicity committee includes J. Chris. Sullivan, Grand Knight; Luke P. Glendon, P. G. K., and P. J. Kenneally, P G. K. Whist and dancing will be under the direction of Mr. Frank Dineen, assisted by a number of the general committee.

The usual carnival attractions—entertianment, dancing, refreshments, games, sales booths, etc. will be features of the affair. Subscriptions for an automobile, to be given to the lucky winner on the last day of the carnival, will be in charge of Daniel K. Lynch, George Poland, John Piccolo and Luke Glendon. Several of the K. of C. State officials are expected to be present at the opening ceremonies on Columbus Day, Oct. 12th.

In all units of the organization efforts are being made to establish local K. of C. Homes, and although Winchester is far in advance of most councils in this respect, in so far that the principal work is accomplished, still a concentrated drive is essential to the welfare of the project. If each member will work as earnestly for this affair as he has in the past, there is no doubt that the home council will be established on a firm financial basis and able to dispense with further strenuous drives.

It is worth working for, brothers! A series of whist and dance socials will be given during the coming months in aid of the Carnival. The first will be held Monday evening July 24, at the K. of C. Home on Vine street. Plenty whist prizes. Dancing in the hall .

STATEMENT FROM MR. NORMAN

July 19, 1922.

Editor of Winchester Star:
Winchester, Mass.
Dear Sir:

In the issue of the Winchester Star of July 14, 1922, there is a statement that it is reported that I am being considered as a candidate for appointment as principal of the Winchester High School. The notice in the Star was the first intimation that I had received in regard to the matter. No one previously had suggested such a proposition to me or to any member of my family.

I wish to state most emphatically that I am not a candidate for the position of principal of the Winchester High School, nor have I any intention of changing my present occupation as an attorney at law.

Yours very truly,
Lionel A. Norman

NOMINATION PAPERS CERTIFIED TONIGHT

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Harper Method of Shampooing and Scalp Treatment. Matilda Currin, Lyceum Building, tel. 330. jy21-tf

Mr. and Mrs. W. McGill, and family are registered at Turk Head Inn, Rockport, for the summer.

Mr. Vincent C. Ambrose has registered at the New Pentucket, Hampton Beach, N. H., for the month of July.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Kenerson, of Brooks street, were at the Halifax Hotel, Halifax, N. S., last week.

Miss Ingleborg Allison of New York, has been the guest, this week, of Mrs. Alonzo Woodside.

The police were notified last night that an inward train passing the Puffer factory at about 6:30 was stonned, one window of a day coach being broken. It is thought that the offence was committed by boys. A report was issued later in the evening that windows were broken by stones on a train passing Somerville Junction also.

Considerable excitement was created in the square yesterday afternoon at about five o'clock when the special train carrying the non-union railroad strike breakers to Boston came to a sudden stop as it passed the station after going over the crossing at express speed. The stop was caused by air brake trouble. Many persons thought that another attempt had been made to wreck the train.

Two well known automobiles to be represented in Winchester. Bill Murray of this town, who has been one of the best known salesman on Commonwealth ave., Boston, for the past six years, has taken the agency for the Hupmobile and Gardner cars in this town. The reason Bill gives for taking these two cars, after looking over the field, is that he hates to work repairing cars and he doubts if there are any two automobiles in the market which require so little service as these do. He intends to start building a new salesroom and service station in Winchester centre, in a few days, so that these cars will have a permanent home.

Nash Jr; of Cambridge has been appointed as executor and has been given a bond of $35,000. The estate is valued at $38,000; $8000 in real estate and $30,000 in personal property.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

"BOUGHT AND PAID FOR"

By arrangement with one of the larger film concerns, who are to feature Montagu Love, the management of the St. James Theatre is to extend the engagement of Mr. Love, who is scoring a tremendous success in the spoken drama, "Bought and Paid For."

This coming week will positively be the last personal appearance of Mr. Love for some time to come. The role of Robert Stafford in "Bought and Paid For" is one which Mr. Love is especially adapted for, the great big fine-looking chap with personality and refinement, master of everything he surveys.

Even Broadway gasped at the smashing bed-room scene in the second act of the four-act drama.

This coming week will be the closing one for the St. James Theatre after one of the most successful seasons ever enjoyed by a Boston theatre. The Boston Stock Company, whose season terminated with "Slippy McGee" is to open the theatre on August 28th for their second season. Practically every member of the company will be seen in the opening bill which will be announced at a later date.

REMEMBER KITTY

"Constant Reader" sent to the STAR this week a note of reminder to provide for the household cat when departing upon the season's vacation. Of course here in Winchester such a reminder is not necessary! We have no residents who would leave kitty out in the wet or out in the dust with no food or water! At any rate no one would intentionally do such a thing. At the worst it would only be a case of forgetfulness. Keep our record clean. Cultivate your thoughtfulness.

SATURDAY'S FIRE

The alarm of fire from box 21 at 4.15 Saturday afternoon was for a flaring oil stove in the apartment of George Hazel on Main street near the corner of Park street, owned by J. A. Laraway. There was no damage.

OPEN TOURNAMENT WON BY WHITCOMB

Billy Whitcomb of Worcester, playing the same high brand of golf that he displayed in the Springfield open and the State amateur championship at Kernwood, won the Winchester Country Club three-day open tournament Friday, incidentally his first victory this season, by defeating Al Wade in the final match, 7—5.

Whitcomb had a hard fight in the morning in his match with R. C. Van Ardale of Woodland, finally winning on the 19th hole after an uphill fight from the 16th, at which point he was two down.

In the afternoon, Whitcomb left nothing to be desired and from the time that his putt for a birdie four clucked into the cup on the first hole, he was never behind. In fact he took the lead at the fourth hole after Wade had evened the match at the third, and thereafter was never headed.

Their cards:

| In | 5 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 3 | | | | |

In the second division C. P. Whorf defeated H. M. Biscoe in the final match, in a contest that went to the 18th green before the former won. J. R. McKeon, Jr., and J. T. Leonard were the winners. In the third and fourth divisions respectively.

The best gross in the four ball best ball tournament was scored by Francis Ouimet and Bart Stephenson. They had a 72. Both were hitting them well, the former national champion having an approximated 74. Stephenson would have been in the neighborhood of 77 or 78 had he holed everything.

WORK BEGUN ON BRIDGE

Work was begun on the Bacon street bridge over the river, which has been closed to travel for the past four months, the first of this week. The contractor began the erection of the shelter at the location on Monday, the shanty being built on the railroad side of the river.

The first work will consist of erecting the temporary foot bridge, this now being built. It will be on the north or town side of the roadway. Work was begun also in restringing the telephone and electric wires around the bridge site.

With the work of building the new bridge, the curve of the Parkway entering Bacon street will be rebuilt, the tree at the corner being removed and the curve made much easier and more gradual.

The new bridge will be an attractive structure and will transform the old corner and river at this point.

Albert H. Bump, employed by the Merrimac Chemical Company, reported to the police that his automobile had struck a newsboy, Walter Brazeau of 41 Holland street about 6 o' clock Friday at the corner of Eaton and Washington streets. The boy was hit by the tip of the fender and knocked down. He was not injured. Mr. Bump stated that the accident was unavoidable, and that he did all in his power to avoid striking the boy.

BASEBALL

By Mack

Winchester Loses To Woburn In First Game Of Series

In a thrilling game last Saturday on Library Field, Woburn. Winchester lost 6 to 5 to Woburn in a 9th inning finish. The game as all previous Woburn-Winchester games was full of exciting baseball. There was plenty of hitting and good and bad baseball. Both pitchers were hit hard each team getting 11 hits including three two base hits and a three bagger. The break came in the 3rd inning when the right fielder who was new to the position let a fly ball drop in front of him and Monier later muffed a fly after a hard run. The game resulted in surprises to five players, two on the Woburn team and three on the Winchester nine. Winchester put over three runs in the first two innings and Woburn went them one better in the third. The game was Woburn until the 8th when Winchester by some good hitting tied it up. In the ninth Linscott got a hit when the ball took a bad bound over Bob Welch's head and stole second a minute later when the bag was left uncovered. He went to third on an infield out and scored the winning run on Hevey's hit past third base. The game was witnessed by a large crowd and all were well satisfied with the game as plenty of hitting and base running help to make a game lively. The next game will be played tomorrow on Manchester Field and Winchester expects to return a winner. The team will stand as it did Saturday with the exception of a first class outfielder. The score:

| Innings | 1 | 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 | 6 | 7 | 8 | 9 | r | h | e |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Woburn | 1 | 0 | 3 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 6 | 11 | 2 |

WOBURN AT WINCHESTER TOMORROW ON CHARLES FLAHERTY DAY

Tomorrow the fans of Winchester will show their appreciation of the good work Charles Flaherty has been doing for several years for the town team by presenting him with a purse of gold. He deserves all he can get as he has stood by the team and town when he had plenty of chances to go elsewhere. The committee in charge of the affair consist of Fred Waldmyer, Edw. McKenzie, John Mead, Peter Cullen, Jas. Boyle, Chas. J. Harrold, John McLaughlin and Wm. Rogers.

Notes

Woburn got every break there was in the game and in a close game the breaks count.

Snyder in center field played a fast game for Woburn and pulled down drives that were labeled two and three bases thus saving trouble.

Hits into the autos between right and center were good for two bases, everything else went for what the players could make.

Ralph Hatch got a badly sprained wrist when Ed. Walsh ran into him in the 5th inning and had to retire from the game.

Kirchen who played right field has been rated as a fine ball player but he did not care to play the outfield as he was not sure of himself. I take the responsibility of playing him there and he came in very handy when Hatch had to retire. He is a first baseman but has not had much practice for some time.

Bob Walsh put up a great game at short and hit the ball hard each time. This boy is going to be the best player in the Walsh family of ball players.

Gallagher who played second base for Winchester has been with Fred Parent of Sanford, Me., team and also with New London. Watch him go when he hits his stride.

Mahoney plays third base and is a regular pepper. He has had minor league experience.

The Arlington town team did a good job in the rubber game played with Winchester town team Monday evening on Spy Pond Field, winning out, 4 to 1. Neither team scored until the fourth inning, when Winchester got its first and only run. In the fifth inning Arlington tied the score, and in the sixth inning added two more runs to its total. Joe Brawley did the pitching for Winchester and the Arlington batters found him easy after the first three innings and batted him hard. The regular pitcher for Arlington did not show up and Benson, the star left fielder of the local team, offered to help check the Winchester team. Benson pitched a great game. The game was featured by three snappy double plays by the Arlington team, one being on a one-hand catch of a high drive by O'Connell to second, who doubled a runner at first to McCarthy.

From now on, as garden vegetables and fruit ripen, the police are keeping a sharp watch for thieves. It is planned to put a stop to the theft of garden truck and fruit this year.

IMPORTANT REAL ESTATE DEALS

It is reported that several interesting real estate deals have recently taken place in town involving considerable property. According to the story Messrs. A. Miles Holbrook, the well known real estate broker, associated with Mr. J. A. Laraway, have purchased of Edward J. Butler, trustee, the Waterfield Building on Church and Common streets. It is said they have bought for investment. The block is assessed at $21,000 and the land at $9450, making a total valuation of $30,450.

Another reported transfer is the old Rice Block at the corner of Main and Park streets owned by Mr. J. A. Laraway, who is said to have sold the property to the Colonial Filling Station Inc. It is said the block will be torn down and a modern gasoline filling station erected there. This block is assessed on $5000 for the building and $3325 for the land.

It is reported that Messrs. A. Miles Holbrook and Carl Larsen have purchasd a large tract of land at the corner of Washington and Forest streets at the Highlands. This property, containing about 100,000 feet, fronts on Washington, Forest, Bell and Maple streets. It was previously owned by the East Weymouth Savings Bank and includes 15 house lots of from 7000 to 19,000 feet. It is assessed in the neighborhood of $10,000. The new purchasers plan to develope the property and are commencing the erection of several new houses.

It is also reported that Mr. J. A. Laraway has sold his property at the corner of Washington and Eaton streets to Mr. P. Chitel, who will occupy the premises.

Mr. Edmund C. Sanderson has recently purchased the Frederick Bacon farm at Acton, near the Littleton line. This is a most attractive place, owned and developed by Frederick Bacon, the well known architect, a former resident of this town.

MR. EDWARD J. CUSICK

Mr. Edward Joseph Cusick, for 53 years a resident of this town, died at his home on Tremont street Tuesday of infirmities due to his advanced age—79 years. He was a native of Ireland.

Coming here in the early days of Winchester's tanning industry, Mr. Custick entered the employ of the Waldmyer tannery, remaining with that firm until the tannery, which stood opposite the railroad station on what is now Manchester Field, was torn down. He then entered the employ of the town Highway Department, for which he worked until about two years ago.

He is survived by his wife, (Miss Bridget Maloney) and two daughters, Miss Frances J. Cusick and Mrs. Mary E. McGrath, both of this town.

High mass of requiem will be held this Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Church. The burial will be in Calvary cemetery, Montvale.

CHECKING UP

Robert Ramsey of New York tells this one:

A negro went into a drug store and asked to use the telephone. The following one-sided conservation was overheard:

"Hello, is this you, Mrs. Smith? I see youah ad in the Sunday papah two weeks ago. Is you all satisfied wid de man you got? I see! Is you contemplatin' a change soon? You is not? All right, tahnk you, ma'am."

Desiring to be friendly the clerk said: "Toobad someone had the job."

"That's all right, "replied the colored one. "You see, I'se de man what got de job two weeks ago an' I was just checking up."

WINCHESTER MEN OFFICERS

The old established wholesale jewelry firm of A. Paul & Co. Boston, was incorporated last week. The incorporaters included two well known residents of Winchester, Mr. D. D. Burns of Wildwood street, who was elected Vice-president and Mr. G. A. Felber of Bacon street, Secretary. Both Mr. Burns and Mr. Felber have been associated with the house since boyhood, the first named having served 35 years and the latter 42 years and are well known as successful traveling salesmen.

Michael J. Flynn, charged with maintaining a liquor nuisance in Winchester, was fined $75 and given three months' imprisonment in court Tuesday. He appealed.

At about 11 o'clock Tuesday forenoon two automobiles, one owned by Mr. Oscar Hedtler of Church street and the other by Mr. Ralph P. Sylvester of Main street, collided on Church street near the Trust Company as Mr. Hedtler was turning around. His car was slightly damaged, but the Sylvester car was quite badly smashed.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

A fool and his money are soon spotted.

Never trust a man who is not willing to trust others.

It is the same today as of yore, too many eye-openers will close the eyes.

Judicious silence is an eloquent indication of wisdom.

The best way to get along with some people is to get along without them.

In the old days men, when at the theatre went out between the acts for a smile, but now they grin and bear it.

It is generally admitted that summer has arrived.

Sandy Beach can be depended upon to furnish at least one thrill a week through its open season—as life guard Murray has probably learned.

Our new principal for the High School has been selected. Let us see—have we not heard of New Britain, Conn., before?

It is reported unofficially that our tax rate this year will be in the neighborhood of $26. Our assessors will not be ready to announce the rate for a month yet.

All quiet at Herrin, but Gen. Harbord has been appointed United States representative on the international commission to investigate atrocities in the near east.—[Herald.

The Metropolitan Commission is taking advantage of the disrupted travel on the Parkway and is rebuilding important sections between Winchester and Medford. When the bridge is opened our Parkway is going to be more popular than ever.

The STAR hears that those citizens, whose property is being taken for the new Chapin School site, have banded together and engaged the services of a well known Woburn attorney to contest the taking. According to reports in circulation, the claim is made that while it is admitted that the present owners cannot eventually stop the taking, they can, by contesting it, delay the obtaining of a clear title for three years.

Mr. Lionel A. Norman, reported last week as a candidate for the principalship of the High School, is not such a candidate. He reports that he never was. He states that he was approached to serve as a member of the School Committee and considered the matter, not understanding that the appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Charles Zueblin called for a women. He says he wants to take no part in school matters in this town. Mr. Norman is fortunate in his decision. School affairs in Winchester, either as principal of the High School or member of the School Committee, are difficult. When we increased our School Committee to six members, the vote specifically stated that two should be women. We already have four men serving, although some residents may not be aware of the fact.

During the past few weeks the STAR has presented various names for the selection of a candidate for the vacancy on the School Committee. Winchester people have evinced great interest in the selection to be made, and for the purpose of acquainting the town at large with the names suggested, everyone proposed has been announced. It is difficult to ascertain who in the list stands first in popular favor. The STAR can only judge by such voluntary commendation as has been heard. It may be said therefore, that of the list announced to date, Mrs. Maurice C. Tompkins appears to be the popular selection. We have had many people express their approval of her name for the Board. The STAR too, is gratified to endorse her as a desirable candidate, and doubtless she will receive consideration from both the Selectmen and the present members of the School Board. She should prove a strong and active member.

After waiting three months, work has now been started on the Bacon street bridge. The first warning that this bridge must be rebuilt came so long ago that one hardly remembers the date, and from that time until the bridge caved in, its replacement was a matter of controversy between Town, County and State. As usual in public affairs, the bridge is closed during that period of the year when it is most needed. Most of our large and important public works must need be laid directly in front of the people as a barring obstacle before action is taken. We have such an instance in our grade crossing in the centre. How long would it stand the menace it does today if an electric car full of people were struck by an express train? It seems a pity we must wait for that time before removing this danger. Our town authorities are to be commended for their fight to replace the bridge with a concrete structure instead of the ugly steel affair, however, for when completed it will be beautiful as well as useful.

The Winchester Chamber of Commerce has no intention of setting aside a "Traders' Day" in Winchester this summer. The officers of the Chamber state that if the merchants or traders desire to allow their clerks a holiday in August, such arrangement is perfectly satisfactory, but it does not appear desirable for them to appoint a day for an outing and attempt to carry out plans for a picnic this year. Just whether any steps will be taken individually by Winchester merchants in the matter is not known. For many years we have had an annual "Traders' Day" in the month of August—usually the first Wednesday of the month. Of late years it has been increasingly difficult for the committees to arrange for any outing on the day which will stand the necessary financial strain and will meet with a majority of popular favor. It appears therefore, that unless some of our merchants take the matter up, we will pass this annual summer holiday by this year.

DO YOUR PART

The biggest placarding day our country has even seen promises to be July 29, 1922. This day is the anniversary of the opening of the World War and it will be celebrated the world over as "No More War Day." In Europe vast processions of men and women will parade the streets and listen to speeches by popular leaders. Many of the broadcasting radio stations throughout our country from Maine to California will send forth a clarion call to all who listen in to start a movement that will abolish war.

This is instinctively a People's Movement. War lovers in America are taking fright and in feeble voice denouncing it, but in this instance every man knows in his heart that the voice of the people is the voice of God.

Large numbers of "No More War" placards are being distributed and on Friday night, July 28, quantities of them will be placed on houses, front doors, at windows, on trees and fences so that the world may awaken Saturday morning to find everywhere placarded this call of the people who in war times do not stay at home or who in battle are not like the generals safe away from the front but who literally serve as food for cannon, demanding world wide unbroken peace. Several hundred of these placards have been sent to the Star office and will be given away free. Send your boys and girls down to get them. See that your house carries at least one. Put them on trees, anywhere so long as they show up and tell the story that Winchester is not behind hand in a great world-embracing movement to substitute legal processes for war.

THE ITALIAN CELEBRATION

Editor of the Star:

I am moved to announce in the Star, the celebration of the Assumption, that annually comes on August 15. We have now for many years this festival, except in the years of War time, but this year we will celebrate the big event with more pomp and solemnity.

Perhaps the American people are surprised to see how we give such importance to this religious festival, but while we will be loyal toward the hospitable land and join the American people in their patriotic festivals, we need too, to make a celebration in remembrance of our country. This is for us a homage to our religion and our country, therefore we must thank this hospitable people in assisting us at this celebration.

The religious festival brings back our minds to our fatherland, to our home town with its parish church, without diminishing our devotion for this country.

Therefore we invite the American people of Winchester, to join with us in this big celebration, exulting and enjoining together.

We want that our future generations will not forget the glorious race to whom they belong; that they will be good and loyal Americans. We can get that only with cordial and mutual friendship that will bind us in only one thought of love for this great country.

Attilio Rolli.

British House of Lords.

John Wilson Croker, in a letter written shortly before his death in 1857, mentions that going over to the lords from the commons one evening he noticed, as a fact, "not unimportant to constitutional history," that every one of the 30 peers then present had sat with him in the house of commons. "It shows," he says, "how completely the house of commons has been the nursery of the house of lords." There are usually in the house of lords about 200 peers who have sat in the house of commons.

After That He Evaded Traps.

"Why have I never married?" the confirmed bachelor repeated a leading question. "Well, once upon a time in a crowd I trod on a lady's gown. She turned, furiously, beginning, 'You clumsy brute!' Then she smiled sweetly, and said: 'Oh, I beg your pardon, I thought you were my husband. No, it really doesn't matter in the least.' And when I came to think it over I decided that I'd better let marriage alone."

Seek to Bribe Ghosts.

A firm belief in ghosts prevails among the inhabitants of Central Africa. If a native believes that he is possessed of a ghost he goes to his local medicine man and asks him to expel it. One method the medicine man has of doing this is to prepare a meal, hoping that the food will tempt the ghost to leave the body of the man.

Very Much to Be Desired.

We all should like a cook such as an English clergyman advertised for in the London Times. In his advertisement he said among other things that it was essential not only that his cook should have a sense of humor but also that she should exemplify the spirit of Galatians, verse 22. Now Galatians, verse 22, reads thus: "But the fruit of the spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith."

Man Really Dependable.

People who are all afloat and not mentally dependable, who have no fixity of purpose, and are not reliable, are not the men we turn to in emergencies. It is the self-confident man, the man who feels sure of himself, the man who is sure of his philosophy and of his principles, the man of great faith, on whom we depend in supreme crises, when others are driven to the wall.—Exchange.

HOTELS BY-PRODUCT OF CROESUS' COINS

Introducing Croesus—godfather of the modern hotel and patron saint of the traveling salesman!

These are new roles assigned to the erstwhile richest man in the world in a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"The discovery of thirty gold pieces from Croesus' mint, which were part of the first series of gold coins ever struck off, recalls one of a number of heritages which civilization owes to buried Sardis," says the bulletin.

Gold Oils World Trade

These new-found coins and a few other pieces already in museums signalize the Lydian inception of the gold basis for world trade—an instrumentality which lubricates international commerce to this day.

The hotel, or the humble inn which was its forerunner, was not possible until some standardized and compact medium of exchange was available. Therefore it is not surprising that historians generally agree that the first inns, where board and lodging might be had for payment of regular fees, were established in Lydia.

Before that time caravanserai were known. But they were evidences of eastern hospitality, set up at points where constant applications for entertainment grew burdensome, and were maintained as a sort of cooperative guest room, or modern municipal lodging house.

Cattle Cumbersome Money

Now it followed further that when a man might be assured convenient abode when he traveled, and he could close a business "deal" with a pocketful of gold rather than a herd of cattle, that the trading radius of the ancient world suddenly expanded. Men began to travel for pleasure as well as for business, in fact the Greeks already had ventured forth "for historie and for discovery." Thus it would seem that not only the trade representative but the tourist and the geographer owe Croesus considerable gratitude.

The modern man can hardly apprehend, without an effort of his imagination, how great a boon it was to the ancients of the sixth century B. C. merely to visit another city. Important events were taking place. It was the time of Buddha and Confucius, of Solon and Cyrus, as well as Croesus, yet any high school boy of today can know more about what was going on in the world then than any one living at that time possibly could have known.

The casual traveler was unknown. The "stranger" was always feared and his life was in jeopardy. Traders with caravans, sailors with their cargoes, high officials with stately retinues, a few beggars and religious pilgrims—these were the only travelers of that time.

Digging For History

Despite these marked steps toward culture, Lydia has remained only a flash in the pan of history. Until explorers recently began digging in the dust of the land that now is a Greek mandate on the Aegean shores of Asia Minor, nearly all we knew of Lydia was the rambling but colorful story of Herodotus. And some of what we did know, it now transpires, was wrong. The tale of how Solon, when asked by Croesus to name the happiest man in the world, did not reply that Croesus was the man, as the monarch expected, but mentioned instead some humble and dutiful citizens of Athens, may persist for its moral but has been ruled out of history.

Lydia's wealth is thought to have been due to various minerals and principally to her trade. Her capital, Sardis, was set on a hill whose ruins even now betoken an imposing dignity. The site is sixty miles northeast of Smyrna which, in the height of Sardis' power, was a Lydian city.

Unique Barometer.

The natives of southern Chile have a barometer in the form of a crab shell. The dead shell is white in fair, dry weather, but shows small red spots when the atmosphere shows moistness.

Panning the Business.

Character Growth Slow.

To be set too early is to take the work out of the hands of the sculptor that fashions men. A character that does not wait for circumstances to shape it is of less worth in the race that is to be run.—George Meredith.

Paste.

A paste effective for mending fine china can be made by dampening rice flour with cold water and simmering it gently on the back of the stove until it becomes quite thick. Since the paste is white, it scarcely shows in mending

MORE ROAD MAPS

Those fine auto road maps we told you about a fortnight ago lasted just ten days. Last week we could not supply them. This week we received a double order. They are the finest maps you ever saw. Everybody wants one.

The map covers New England. It is convenient—not a great flimsey sheet; not a tiny page that cannot be read. It is in colors—you can distinguish a road from a river, a north and south way from an east and west way and a state boundary from a township line. It gives all the information you wish. It is accurate.

If you want a really good auto map (or a map of New England for any use whatever) we recommend it. Once you have used it, you will always need it.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

On a cloudy coast, in a dark wood, or out on a foggy morning anyone may be misled, and may take one object for another. Perhaps everyone has done so. With this admitted fact in mind, the boys and girls of Winchester and elsewhere, who are now engaging in office work, doing shorthand work, or aiding in the work of a library or a museum may well keep before them a caution like this—the usual meaning of a word may not be its only meaning. A mole, says the naturalist Wood, may mean an eruption, a subterraneous animal, or an artificial harbor. The declination of an office is not identical with the declination of a star. "Carriage" is well recognized as having three meanings. A frog may croak or be silent in its place on the track. A bank may be a place for savings or the side of a river. The young Winchesterite who likes to consult the dictionary—and sad is the outlook for one who does not—will learn that a word may have a popular, a restricted and a scientific meaning. Far more important is it to keep in mind that the word we have known from our cradle may have another meaning in a foreign tongue. "Clam" is a noun that along our coast needs no definition, yet in Latin clam means "silently"—"anger" to us signifies "wrath," but in German it is "a meadow"—to us "four" is a numeral that exceeds three and precedes five, while in French it means "a furnace." Our "stanza" is a portion of a poem, but in an Italian home it means "a room." Sun heat supplies us with hay, but "hay" is a Spanish verb, meaning either "there is" or "there are." May the beginner not cast away such hints as unworthy of his attention. There are few writers who have not, at some time or other, met with a word used in what was to them an unusual sense. An obsolete word may have been far from obsolete at the time a passage was written, and what is to us Winchesterites a foreign word may not have been foreign to the writer.

Surprise as expressed by some that a man has been in four jails since March—one not afar from Winchester being the fourth. We have also in an adjoining community a culprit arrested for burglary, almost as soon as he was out of the cell. But why the surprise? The individual who has lost every time he speculated should he inherit a fortune is not certain to buy government bonds—he may tempt the market again. Those Winchesterites who have been imprudent in eating are not always cured by painful experience. Reckless exercise may send a youth to the hospital without teaching him caution. While everyone talks of "the school of experience," it does not appear that all who enter it graduate. Many take their courses over again.

The Spectator

SHARKS AND SHOES, AND SEALING WAX

Modern science is helping to convert another of man's traditional enemies, the shark, into his serviceable friends, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Already sharks are contributing food, gelatine, and oil for many purposes, to appease the ever more complex needs of mankind, and now they are being experimented with as a probable source of shoe leather.

Not many years ago the cattle on the western plains and on the farms averaged about one animal to each person in the United States, but today there is not much more than half a beef animal for each inhabitant of the country, and the import of hides is negligible.

The U. S. Bureau of Standards has completed arrangements to test the comparative durability of upper leather made from sharkskin as compared with that from calfskin and cowhide. The cooperation of the shoe manufacturers has been obtained in the making of the necessary shoes for the tests.

Sharks are regarded as the most rapacious, bloodthirsty and cruel of all the inhabitants of the sea, all of the known species, with four exceptions, being flesh-eating. They are long and cylindrical, the body terminating in a sharp snout in front and a long and flattened tail behind. The mouth is placed crosswise and usually is on the lower surface of the head, some distance behind the tip of the snout. Almost all sharks are marine, though many occasionlly follow their prey into the mouths of rivers. Their teeth are arranged in formidable triangular tiers, the first or outer row alone being used while the rest are turned back out of the way. When those of the first row are lost, those of the next row take their place.

The fins, with their abundant cartilage, form the basis of the supply of gelatine in China.

The livers are taken for the oil they contain. They are placed in water and cooked either by steam or by fire, then the oil is skimmed off. In former times they were "sun-tried"-placed in water and allowed to stand in the sun for several days. The quality produced by this method (which is still pursued in Labrador and Newfoundland) is much better than that obtained by the more modern methods but the difference in quantity is considerable. Quantity and quality vary considerably with the season. The oil is of value in dressing leather, soap making, fish glue, paints, and for medicinal purposes. The yield varies from less than a pint in some of the smaller sharks, to about 125 gallons in the larger sizes.

At one time large quantities of the hides, cleaned but not tanned, were used for polishing wood, ivory, and metal. With improvements, in methods of preparation of sandpaper and emery, these have largely replaced animal hides. Small quantities of certain classes of skin are still in demand among cabinetmakers, and have other special uses, as in the manufacture of optical fittings. Peculiar markings, such as transverse bands or elongated spots, and the character of the small, close set, variously sculptured lime-like particles which cover the skin, have adapted some to uses for sword grips, card cases, jewel boxes and other novelties. The demand for sword grips is at present unusually large and difficult to supply with satisfactory material.

Within the last year American tanners have experimented in the production of leathers from these hides with excellent results, and there now exists a demand for large quantities of raw materials. In tensible strength, leathers tested compare favorably with those made from mammal hides, and the market for these products appears assured. Special seines 600 feet long and 18 feet deep, with a four-inch mesh of extra heavy twine, are constructed to capture these fish. One crew, fishing off the southern coast, has captured 200 sharks in a day. A hide will produce from 10 to 40 square feet of leather suitable for shoes. Five hundred skins a week are said to be handled at one tannery, the output of which is to be greatly increased during the next year.

The meat of the shark is white and edible, resembling halibut. It is canned, and dried for shipment to the markets.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

The chef of one of the finest grill rooms in the country, a high-priced specialist, said recently of his gas range: "I can prepare things on this range in better shape than on any coal fire I ever worked over. You can graduate your heat, which is a great factor in fixing up particular things for particular people."

Ninety per cent of the heat from a coal fire is wasted. Some of it goes up the chimney the rest of it helps to roast the cook. With gas there is no waste, no lack, the result desired is always produced.

If you buy coal in small quantities, it is very expensive; if you buy in large quantities, you must have room to store it.

Gas, on the other hand, needs no room for storage. It works for you steadily without attention, is always at hand, ready, without dirt or trouble, in large or small quantities, at the wholesale price.

Radio Note

July 29th, 1914 Austria declared war on Servia and precipated the most extravagant waste of men and money that the world has ever endured. Next Saturday, July 29th, is the eighth anniversary of the declaration of the great war and this date will be observed internationally. The League of International Peace and Freedom will commemorate the date in foreign countries and the United States. As a part of the program in the United States two addresses will be broadcasted from AMRAD WGI at 3:30 in the afternoon. The first address will be by Mr. John F. Moors of Moors and Cabot, Boston, on the "Outlaw War Demonstration." Dr. Doremus Scudder, Secretary of the Boston Federation of Churches, will also speak, his subject being "International Peace."

Winchester friends will be interested to learn of the engagement of Miss Hazel A. Hovey of Arlington to the Rev. John H. Blair of Westford, Mass. Miss Hovey is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Hovey of 115 Ronald road. Her father is well known to older Winchester residents, having been born here. Rev. Mr. Blair is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Blair of Philadelphia, Pa.

The Folly of Wedding Beauty.

It must be dreadful to be the husband of a notoriously beautiful woman, three-quarters of whose waking days is devoted to keeping her face up to the mark. How humiliating to hear one's self referred to as "the husband of that beautiful Mrs. Dash, my dear. Such an ordinary looking man, too!" A few short years of such bitter experience would be enough to make any man wish that instead of a wife he had acquired a bit of old Worcester china (not sauce), which is just as good to look at, wears better, and costs less.—London Mail.

Few Good Cooks Under Thirty.

Ude, who cooked at Crockford's club in London during the Regency, and who had been chef to Louis XIV, to Lord Sefton, and to the duke of York in turn, declared that while music, dancing, fencing, painting and mechanics had professors under twenty years of age, excellence in cookery was never obtained under thirty. He left Lord Sefton flat because a guest put more pepper in his soup. There was a cook! But he was not English. Of England was it said that God sends meat, the devil sends cooks.

Oldest Biblical Versions.

The four oldest versions of the Bible are the Aquila, Symanachus, Theodosian, in Greek, and the Peshitta in Syriac.

Pinks All the Year.

The ginko or maiden-hair tree has bright yellow foliage that is most useful in ornamental plantings, says the American Forestry Magazine. Not only is the color a clear pure yellow, but the peculiar shape of the leaf gives a texture to the tree that is quite different from others. The leaves are shaped much like the pinnae, that is, the smallest divisions of the frond of the maiden-hair fern, very much enlarged. The tree is attractive at all seasons.

A WORD FROM OUR POSTMASTER

It is not fair to "put it up to the Postoffice" as many people are doing, by mailing letters without street and number address; Even street address without number is not enough to insure prompt delivery; For instance—four different carriers deliver on Main street.

Vacation time for YOU means increase of work for the postoffice; We have 1500 letters every day to forward to vacation addresses; This means that the carriers must look up addresses in the route books and re-address each letter. Stop and think, how long would it take you to address 1500 envelopes? One family alone has five different forwarding addresses, one for each member of the family! We do this extra work cheerfully, but it all takes time, especially with two sub-carriers on duty while the regulars are on vacation.

When a letter is properly addressed to street and number, it is the work of perhaps five seconds to sort it to its proper place; Now, what happens if it lacks street and number? A great many names are known and are properly sorted and routed; If they are not known they are thrown one side until the rest of the mail is cleared up. Then the carriers are asked, "who knows Tom Jones? who knows Jack Brown? who knows Mrs. Steinfeldt?" After all are called off, the rest have to be looked up in the poll tax book and street and number written on the envelopes; The Postmaster spent over an hour one morning completing improperly addressed envelopes. There are over 4900 tax payers in Winchester so obviously, we cannot be expected to remember all of them, and the lack of proper address delays not only your mail, but all other mail.

For your own protection—put your return address on every letter you mail! Of course, you are positive you addressed the letter correctly but perhaps you did not. One thing more, don't address your letter to "Town,,—your husband may carry it in his pocket and mail it in Boston.

G. H. Lochman,
Acting Postmaster.

MRS. TOMPKINS WILL RUN

It is reported that Mrs. Maurice C. Tompkins, whose name has been presented as a candidate for the vacancy on the School Committee to fill the position held by Mrs. Charles Zueblin, has consented to run for the appointment to that office.

The vacancy will be filled at a joint session of the Selectmen and remaining members on the School Committee. Mrs. Tompkins, it is reported, has been approached and has signified her willingness to take the office if she receives the appointment.

It is also reported that the School Committee has made a selection for the appointment to the vacancy, but is not announcing who the lady is at this time. Whether the Committee have considered Mrs. Tompkins' name or not is not known.

WORK ON BACON STREET BRIDGE

The work of building the new Bacon street bridge is now well underway, the temporary foot bridge on the north side across the river being built and the big derrick erected. A clamshell dredge was put in operation Wednesday, it making a short work of excavating the top street surfacing over the old culverts.

The work of moving the 16 inch water pipe is also underway. This water pipe, it is reported, is to be carried across the river on the outside of the bridge at the north.

NEW REAR LIGHT LAW IN EFFECT THURSDAY

State Registrar Goodwin Makes Announcement

State Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin has issued a statement calling the attention of automobile- owners and operators to the fact that on Thursday the new law providing that no rear lamp shall be used on any motor vehicle unless approved by the registrar was in effect.

Rules and regulation for the enforcement of the new law, however, will not be issued until Jan. 1, 1923, according to Registrar Goodwin, who says: "In order to give proper opportunity to all manufacturers to submit lamps, the rules and regulations to be drawn up under the amendment will not become effective until Jan. 1 and in the meantime the registrar has decided to approve all tail lamps that are now complying with the existing law.

"Acting under the authority conferred by Chapter 342 of the Acts of 1922, the Registrar of Motor Vehicles approves, temporarily, all lamps now in use that comply with the law requiring a red light to be displayed on the rear of motor vehicles, and with sufficient illumination to make plainly visible at a distance of 60 feet the rear registrar attached to said motor vehicle.

HENRY W. KIMBALL

The body of Henry W. Kimball, who died suddenly at Worcester on Tuesday, arrived here Wednesday afternoon and was taken in charge by Kelley & Hawes. Mr. Kimball died after a short illness of appendecitis. He was 69 years of age and had lived in Winchester for about 22 years, leaving town some ten years ago. He was well known here. His wife, who was Miss Cora A. Brown of Worcester, died eleven years ago, and he is survived by one son, Everett W. Kimball of the local fire department, and one daughter, Miss Rachel I. Kimball of Arizona. He was a member of Waterfield Lodge, A. O. U. W.

In order that they may be attended by his daughter, the funeral services will not be held until this Saturday afternoon, when they will take place at the residence of Mr. Simon Delorey, 7 Woodside road, at 3 o'clock. Rev. S. Winchester Adriance will officiate and the burial will be in Wildwood cemetery.

DETOUR ON MAIN STREET

The detour for south bound traffic on Main street went into effect Wednesday morning, when traffic was sent through Swanton street to Washington, and thence to the centre. North bound traffic continues to go directly up Main street. The work of relaying the car tracks has progressed south nearly to Lake street, the turnout on Cutters Hill being left for the present. New curve rails were dumped in the centre Tuesday for the turns at the railroad crossing.

Mr. A. B. Allen of Allen's Pharmacy was operated upon Monday for appendecitis at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. While his condition was serious, he is reported as resting comfortably now.

RICHARD W. GRANT

It will be with universal regret that our readers learn this week of the resignation of Mr. Richard W. Grant as supervisor of music in the Winchester Public Schools. Mr. Grant has written his resignation to the Superintendent of schools, and has accepted the position as head of the music department of Pennsylvania State College. This position carries with it a salary of four thousand dollars and is a big professional advancement.

Mr. Grant has been one of the most popular teachers in town. He is universally liked by both parents and pupils, and has proven a most competent and able instructor, placing the music of the Winchester schools on a high level. He has held the Winchester position for a number of years and has always been generously active in all local musical affairs. His departure will be universally regretted.

HEAVY STORM SUNDAY NIGHT

What many residents considered the heaviest storm of the season during its duration struck Winchester between eight and nine o'clock Sunday night. Seldom has the rain fell in greater quantity than it did for over an hour, the downpour resembling a cloudburst rather than a heavy summer shower.

The streets were flooded with torrents of water, the flood being especially bad in the centre at Mt. Vernon street bridge and on Main street south of the centre and on Church street near the Wyman school. At these points the water was over the sidewalks. Many of the side hill streets were badly washed out and private grounds, gardens and walks were gullied out.

Although the lightning was especially sharp, only one place was struck, that being the house of Mr. B. F. Wilde on Stratford road. Here the lightning struck the chimney, knocking off some of the bricks. Mr. Wilde's family are at their summer home at South Yarmouth, and as it was feared that the bolt might have started a fire, Cheif DeCourcy looked the house over for a possible blaze. There was no fire however.

THE HERRIN MASSACRE

Universal condemnation of the killing of non-union laborers by striking miners and their sympathizers at Herrin, ILL., on June 22, is found in an examination of the newspapers of the country Sole exceptions, on the basis of a study of the leading papers, are Socialist and pro-labor publications.

Responsibility for the murder of 18 of the 72 workers in the Williamson County strip mine, the disappearance of 11 more and the wounding of 34 others, is laid upon the men defending the mine out under a flag of truce and disposed of them in a manner at once so brutal and merciless that the entire country was shocked. "Massacre," "savagery," and "butchery" are words that occur frequently in newspaper accounts of the situation. Punishment for the crime is demanded by practically all publications which have commented upon it.

In addition to declaring that wanton murder was committed by the of the 72 workers in he Williamson strike mob and demanding that the perpetrators be brought to justice, the newspapers examined comment at length upon various other phases of the trouble which led to the slaughter of innocent men who were merely acting under the universal law of the right to labor.

All of the editorials analized indict the strikers or the unions or both as provoking the outrage and answerable for the consequences, several also treating as a "travesty of justice" the action of the Coroners Jury, half of it union miners, which brought in a verdict accusing the mining company and finding the slain superintendent guilty of murder.

M., in the Selectmen's Room.

Sidewalks 1922 Main Street: Arthur E. A. King and James J. Moran appeared before the Board and presented a petition signed by themselves and six others calling the attention of the Board to the condition of the sidewalk on Main street between Swanton stret and Hill street, and suggesting that the condition could be remedied by putting in drainage and replacing sidewalk with one similar to that on the opposite side of Main street, and they were informed that this matter will receive the attention of the Board.

Gas Mains: Upon receipt of a letter from the Superintendent of Streets stating that there are no objections to the petition for extension of gas mains on Kenwin Road and Forest street Extension and Brookside road, the Board voted to grant the Arlington Gas Light Company permission to extend the gas main in Kenwin road a distance of 75 feet and on Forest street Extension as far as the public way extends in accordance with lines and grades to be established by the Town Engineer.

McKenzie appeared before the Board in regard to surface drainage water which he claims flows from Main street into the bowling alleys of Sullivan and McKenzie at 532 Main street, and the matter was referred to the Town Engineer for investigation and report.

Mabel W. Stinson,
Acting Clerk of Selectmen.

WILL FOUND IN SCHOOL BOOK STARTLES PROBATE COURT

During a hearing on the will of James Kearns of Biddeford, Me., Wednesday, who left property valued at $10,000 to his widow, counsel for the petitioners produced a will, which was found recently between the covers of a geography book by children of John Kearns of Winchester, Mass., a brother of the deceased.

That which was found purported to be the last will of Mrs. Kearns, mother of James Kearns. Under it the estate is divided among seven grandchildren. James Kearns and John Kearns were left out. It is contended that the property of James Kearns which he left to his wife, was part of his mother's estate, and he had no right to dispose of it.

ALFRED D. RADLEY A CANDIDATE

Another candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative is announced this week in Mr. Alfred D. Radley of Church street, who enters the field on a platform of "honest and sound legislation and just enforcement of all laws." Mr. Radley is well known to many Winchester people and throughout the district.

The candidacy of Mr. Radley increases the field to three aspirants for the office of Representative. Mr. Amasa Harrington of Sanborn street, a well-known merchant, running on the platform that a business man can administer State affairs as satisfactorily as a lawyer and more to the satisfaction of the people, and Mr. Thomas R. Bateman, who has entered the field as a member of the Board of Selectmen.

With these three candidates from our own town, Winchester will have more than a passing interest this fall in State affairs. We have been particularly fortunate in our Representatives during recent years, and Mr. Richard B. Coolidge of Medford, who retires this year, has been especially efficient in looking after his district.

MRS. GEORGE C. SQUIER

Mrs. George C. Squier of Springfield, Mass., passed away on Sunday, July 23, at a hospital in her home city as the result of an operation for apendecitis. Mrs. Squier will be remembered by many of the older residents as the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Hinds of 125 Forest street, Winchester.

She was born here, passed through the various grades of our schools, and after her marriage took up her residence for a time in Boston and in Syracuse, N. Y., and later in Springfield, where she had lived for the past thirteen years.

Besides her husband, Mr. George C. Squier, she leaves a daughter, Agnes, a student at Wellesley, and a son, George C. Jr.; her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hinds; two sisters, Miss Elizabeth Hinds and Mrs. George Solov, and a brother, Mr. James Hinds, town engineer, all of Winchester.

Funeral services were held at her home in Springfield and at her mother's home in Winchester on Wednesday. The burial was in Wildwood cemetery.

38 AUTO DRIVERS IN COURT

The Winchester police are conducting an active campaign against auto drivers violating various rules of the road. At Lake street, Tuesday 18 drivers were held up and will be summoned into court Monday for various offenses. On Wednesday, 10 truck drivers were taken up for failure to have mirrors on their machines, and a like number were taken up yesterday. All of these drivers will appear at Woburn next week. It has become a common practice for trucks to be driven without mirrors and hogging the road, and a change will doubtless be noticed within the town limits.

Miss Rosamond Lefavour has just received notification from the College Examination Board that she has passed successfully the examinations for admission to Smith College and she will enter with the in-coming class in September.

Rev. and Mrs. Clifton Walcott, returned home this week, from Wolfeboro, N. H.

HANG ON!

Here's a quiet little tip
For the man who has a job,
Whether captain of the ship
Or a lubber with a swab,
There is something in the air,
And the easy days are gone—
If you're working anywhere,
If you have a job, hang on!

There's no panic on the way,
And you needn't be afraid;
But the time has passed away
When the easy dough is made.
There's a change in shop and yard,
There is something at the dawn—
Though the job's a little hard,
If you have a job, hang on!

Once you needn't fear the boss,
For a boss would never fire;
For it merely meant a loss—
There was no one else to hire.
Once you knew the old machine
Couldn't run if you were gone;
But there's been a change of scene—
If you have a job, hang on!

There's a fellow by the door
That perhaps you didn't see;
But a job he's waiting for,
When there comes a vacancy.
Yours is not a perfect joy,
And it takes your brain and brawn,
But just take a tip, my boy—
If you have a job, hang on!

Raw Onion Purifies Air.

Disease germs cannot flourish in the veins of any person who makes a habit of eating the humble but invaluable onion. In remote villages the old custom still exists of placing a plate full of sliced onion beside the bed or coffin of any person who has died of an infectious disease. Although those who follow this practice cannot explain it, the fact is that the raw onion destroys germs and purifies the infected air of the death chamber.

A Howler From India.

A glimmer of light is shown on the mystery of the simultaneous use of the bathroom for local and hydropathic exercises by the following, written by a student in India: "Climate has a great difference on character. We always observe that if a person enters a hot bathroom he is always compelled to sing and chant. The reason is that heat causes the expansion of the human soul as well as other bodies."—Boston Transcript.

WINCHESTER COUNCIL BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

The fifth annual Rockport camp of Troop One ended this week.

Senior Patrol Leader Dana "Junior" Kelly gained full first class as did also Assistant Senior Patrol Leader Robert Woodbury who also passed his "swimming" merit badge test.

Patrol Leader Albert Horn, Jr., came within an ace of gaining first class by just missing out on cooking hoe cake or twist, with that done he too will be full first class with several merit badges in sight.

Treasurer and scribe Richard Smith passed all his second class tests and is doing excellent work towards his first class signalling. He made the most progress in ball playing.

Philip Hartson too is full second class and doing fine work in signalling.

Asst. Patrol Leader Robert Livingstone also passed full second class.

Kezar Nichols also passed full second class and on his return is ready to receive applications from all those who desire to form a boy scout band.

Patrol Leader Henry Knowlton was almost ready to pass signalling and with that passed will be full second class.

Asst. Patrol Leader Frank Kelley passed more than half his second class.

Asst. Patrol Leader Richard Dow, the newest member of Troop One who went to camp has passed so many of his second class that by the end of summer he should be full second class.

Scout Ralph Horn passed several numbers of his second class tests and surprised people with his good swimming.

The eleven scouts who went to the camp had a good time. Swimming was indulged in at all kinds of times even before breakfast and after supper. At low tide it is even more fun than high tide as during low water many low moss covered rocks are uncovered making fine islands to swim to and dive from. The water was the warmest this year the scouts ever have had at Rockport. Kezar Nichols and Robert Livingstone made fine progress in swimming, going over their heads often, and each of them started their diving at this camp.

The fishing was good, Asst. Patrol Leader Frank Kelly being the champion fisherman catching the most and the largest. Philip Hartson caught one almost the largest. The boys all are experienced cooks of fish, fried fish.

The scouts played five ball games against Gloucester and Rockport local teams, winning three and losing two.

The battery for all five games was Patrol Leader Albert Horn, pitcher and Scout Master Francis Smith catcher. Junior Kelly on first base was a tower of strength, and Frank Kelly, Dick Dow, Henry Knowlton were also good. Robert Livingstone was fast on the bases. Kezar Nichols, Ralph Horn and Robert Woodbury always were ready to fill in when needed. Bobbie Smith altho too young to be a scout put up a good game at the bat. The features of the games were the way Frank Kelly dove over the Gloucester first baseman who was fumbling the ball and made the base, the two hits Bobbie Smith made over the opposing infields, and the strange catching of one of the Rockport catchers—a minister who, in going after a foul threw off his mask and his mit, and misjudging the ball had it go through his two hands, hitting him on the nose.

The blue berries around the woods were unusually good and Albert Horn was the champion berry picker. Kezar Nichols second. Henry Knowlton and Frank Kelly were the champion cooks.

The scouts were without exception fine fellows willing to take hard knocks like good scouts.

The merit badges and first and second class insignia gained will be given out at the opening meeting of Troop One next autumn.

A DESCRIPTION OF SANTA BARBARA, CAL.

According to the historian J. R. Southworth, F. R. S., "Santa Barbara is the Queen of the coast cities of California. The climate of Santa Barbara may be equalled but not surpassed by any in the world."

During my journey hither I met travellers who had been to Florida, Panama, Australia, in fact around the world, but they preferred Santa Barbara calling it "Gods country."

Santa Barbara faces south, and the lovely bay has been compared by tourists who have been to Italy, to the Bay of Naples. The grand Santa Inez mountains in the north rise in abrupt peaks and resemble Mt. Vesuvius, in the distance. The weather is tempered in winter by the southern Pacific, and cooled in summer by the light ocean breezes.

This city was first settled by the Spaniards and the old Mission church and cloisters still exist. The Mexicans once held sway but were conquered by General Fremont who took possession in the name of the United States.

Wild roses and fruit were discovered by the early settlers who found a fertile valley. The beautiful Cherokee Rose a native to the country, still climbs over the hedges. There are also hedges of Callas, Heleotrope, Geraniums and Deutzia. Tropical plants and shrubs flourish winter and summer in this semi-tropical region; for the thermometer seldom goes above eighty degrees or down to freezing.

The mountains seem so near that one could almost touch them with a cane; but it is three miles to the summit, perhaps thousands of feet above the level of the sea.

As one approaches this fascinating range, in this iliusive atmosphere, the mountains seem to recede into the sky.

On an auto ride we passed through Montecela, a charming suburb of Santa Barbara where there are many interesting estates. We passed by orchards of lemon and orange trees with perfumed blosoms still clinging to them, although they are laden with fruit.

Through Galeta, another suburb, we passed English walnut groves, some of them thirty acres in extent, also groves of olive trees and almond, peach, nectarine and apricot, now in blossom. There are many wonderful drives over the old mountain trails where the county has built macadam or paved roads and from dizzy heights one may have a delightful view of the city and the peaceful Pacific with its shadowy islands beyond. In the afternoon the ocean is a perfect shade of blue.

The population of the city is about 22,000 and 1000 yearly of tourists. Many noted people dwell here,—it is the home of the widow of Robert Louis Stevenson, the home of Henry Kirke White, author. Here Cameron Rogers wrote the poem "The Rosary" in the vicinity of the mission. Here also is the dwelling of the artist Harmer whose historical paintings find their way east and have made him famous. As a lecturer on Art he

ACUTE INDIGESTION ATTACKS SALESMAN

No Doctor to Be Had. Fellow Traveler Comes to Rescue.

David T. Brown, of 7 Main street, North Plymouth, Mass., salesman representing the Gillette Safety Razor Company, was suddenly stricken with acute indigestion. But for the quick assistance of a brother traveler his attack might have had serious consequences. Mr. Brown writes: "No doubt you have heard many good reports from your wonderful remedy, Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules. Being a traveling man, eating very irregularly and in all kinds of places, I was taken with a severe attack of acute indigestion. Not able to get a doctor, a brother traveler who learned of my attack from the hotel proprietor came up to the room and gave me some of your capsules, and after a short time I was on my feet and resumed my travels."

When you travel carry a package of Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules for indigestion and dyspepsia.

BASEBALL
By Mack

The second game of the annual series went to Woburn by a 6 to 3 score Saturday on Manchester Field. The game was a see-saw affair up to the ninth inning when the Woburn team got to Matthews for some bunched hits and put over three runs. The Winchester team had the game 3 to 2 until the eighth when Mulcahy drove out a three bagger and scored a minute later turn the game which Woburn proceeded to win in the ninth as stated. The usual large crowd was on hand to see the two team battle and more autos were parked inside the field than ever before. Winchester hit hard enough to win an ordinary game but your own pitcher has got to stop the other side from doing there hitting if you expect to win many games.

Notes

We had our old friend Mike Quigsy back on left field and when he caught hold of one of 'Kiko's' shoots and put it in the river with Mack on the crowd went wild.

Callahan on first base was a new one to Winchester the player is an experienced ball player with big league and minor league experience but he is all done. It is hard to tell some of these players that they are not in it as ball players any longer.

Hardy missed a play on Hevey at first base that hurt, as he scored afterward.

The association is managing to keep its head above water thanks to some regular public spirited citizens we have here in Winchester. The president has sent out a personal appeal and it is being answered, but there are plenty more here in Winchester who should be able to contribute.

Charlie Flaherty was given over $125.00 in a purse which was donated by the fans to this hard working catcher. He appreciated it and the fans showed they appreciated his work.

Winchester won from Bachelder & Snyder Thursday night before a big crowd 4 to 1. This team as constituted in the game at Winchester was made up of some of the greatest semi pro players in greater Boston and it is doubtful if we face a stronger team all the season.

Wednesday night we lost a game to Saxony Worsted Mills at Newton 3 to 1. The three runs all coming over on errors. The only run we scored was earned. Morrison who pitched for Winchester held Newton to 4 hits and it was a shame to have him lose his game. Winchester got to Matthews for seven hits, but hit into four double plays so it was not our night to win. The Winchester crowd who went to Newton had heard some glowing reports of the Saxony team but one and all conceded that Winchester had just as good if not better, but luck was against us.

BASEBALL TONIGHT AND TOMORROW

Winchester will meet Stoneham town team in a twilight game tonight on Manchester Field. This game will attract almost as big a crowd as we have Saturday and a large delegation will be on hand from Woburn as it took Woburn 10 innings to beat Stoneham 2 to 1. Tweet Walsh and Roche of the cornets besides Havey, McKenzie, Quigsy, Ed. Walsh, Mahoney and Morrison will be on the Winchester team. This is some lineup and should beat Stoneham easily, but you never can tell.

Arlington will be here for the Saturday game and will bring over their usual regular live team and a delegation to help win. We go to Stoneham next Wednesday night for a game and there will be another twilight game here on Thursday with some strong team. Possibly the Saxony mills. The fans in Winchester are going to see only the best in action and whether we win or lose you can rest assured you have seen regular ball teams and games.

COUNTRY CLUB PLAY

Saturday's play at the Winchester Country Club was a four-ball, best ball tournament, the event being won by G .W. Bouve and E. R. Rooney with a card of 78—8—70.

The scores:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| G. W. Bouve and E. R. Rooney | 78 | 8 | 70 |
| H. W. Kendall and D. M. Belcher | 87 | 13 | 74 |
| J. F. Tuttle and H. Boyer | 84 | 9 | 75 |
| T. I. Freeburn and R. Dunbar | 85 | 10 | 75 |
| C. P. Whorf and L W Barta | 82 | 6 | 76 |
| P. A. Hendrick and P. W. Dunbar | 83 | 6 | 77 |
| I. S. Hall and W. J. Breen | 89 | 12 | 77 |
| G. A. Rivinius and D. W. Comins | 90 | 13 | 77 |
| C. E. Cook and F. A. Burnham | 92 | 15 | 77 |

Cricket.

The earliest mention of the game of cricket is in the writing of one John Derrick, who in 1593 wrote that "he and his fellowes did runne and play at cricket." But in the Bodleian library at Oxford there is an old picture of a monk bowling a ball to another monk, who is about to strike it, and the date of that is 200 years earlier.

THE RIO GRANDE: RIGHTLY .. NAMED ONCE A YEAR

The Rio Grande River, between Texas and Mexico, which has been giving an all too realistic imitation of the Mississippi on a rampage, is normally so shallow and sluggish that immigration agents and customs officers are kept busy "shooing" back Mexicans who would enter the United States by the simple and informal procedure of wading in, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society in regard to the country's latest flood region.

It is hard, continues the bulletin, for the Mexico-bound traveler to realize under normal conditions that the ribbon of water meandering through a broad bed of sand is the stream that in Spanish means "The Great River." But once a year at least, and sometimes oftener, the Rio Grande fully lives up to its name.

The loam banks of the lower Rio Grande and its broad, fertile valley, covered with a heavy growth of the thorny mesquite—half shrub and half tree- was long considered a wilderness and given over to deer, wild pigs, armadillos and jack rabbits. Then came ranchmen to graze great herds of beef cattle among the feathery sea of green. Large areas somewhat removed from the river are still given over to cattle raising.

A New San Joaquin Valley

But near the stream pumping stations and irrigation canals have come into existence in recent years, and each spring and summer thousands of carloads of watermelons, cantelopes, onions, cabbage, and other vegetables steam north from the region to help feed the more northern portions of the country. For this region, near the warm Gulf of Mexico and barely outside the tropics, competes with Florida and the Imperial Valley in producing early crops.

Still more recently another development has taken place which promises to make the Rio Grande a second San Joaquin Valley. Between a million-and-a-half and two million citrus fruit trees have been planted, and in the winter of 1921-22 the first carloads of oranges and grapefruit were shipped out.

A Shot Like That At Concord

Historically the Rio Grande has held a prominent place. It was one of the chief land-marks in the famous expeditions of the Spanish explorers who pushed up into Texas and on to New Mexico and California four centuries ago. Later it became a sort of Southern Concord; for if the shot fired in Massachusetts in April 1775 was "heard round the world," a shot fired on the banks of the lower Rio Grande on another April morning 71 years later by General Zachary Taylor's soldiers might be said to have been heard over an area of half a million square miles. That area was added to the United States as a result of the shot; for it brought on the Mexican War which resulted in the annexation of what is now California, Nevada, Utah, Arizona, and parts of New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming. In addition this skirmish near the mouth of the Rio Grande led to the confirmation of the annexation of Texas which had brought an additional quarter million square miles under the American flag.

Part of the region lately inundated was known to thousands of doughboys during the mobilization along the Mexican border shortly before the United States entered the World War. Port Isabel, almost at the mouth of the Rio Grande, came into newspaper fame in the fall of 1920 when Senator Harding, having just finished the strenuous campaign which took him to the White House, went there for big game fishing.

A MISSIONARY'S BANDIT "BLOOD BROTHER"

Dr. A. L. Shelton, medical missionary to Tibet, news of whose death at the hands of bandits near Batang, has just been cabled to America, was in daily contact for nearly seventeen years with all manner of types among the barbarians who surrounded his home and hospital.

In a recent communication to the National Georgraphic Society he told of earning the blood-brotherhood of one of the notorious brigand chiefs of the eastern border of Tibet, an alliance which may well mean that his death at the hands of other bandits may have a sequel.

The bandit chief was Lozong, who came to offer his services to the Tibetan governor's guest.

During our stay, wrote Dr. Shelton, Lozong and I became quite good friends, often visiting each other. One day he proposed to me that we should be brothers. According to this custom among the people of Kham, when two persons like each other very much they draw up an agreement declaring that they are brothers and that they will help and stand by each other through all things.

When Lozong made the proposal I told him that I could not accept it.

"Why not? said he, "we are friends."

"Yes," I replied, "I know we are good friends, but you occassionally kill people, and you rob, and you drink whiskey, and I cannot do these things."

He did not like that at all. He went away, but two or three days later he came back again.

"Well," he said, "if your religion will not allow you to become brother with me, since you say you came here to help people and not to kill them, what will your religion allow you to do?"

I told him something of our purpose and of our faith and he went away again. Two or three days later he came back, all smiles.

"I've got things all fixed up now," he said. "We can be brothers all right. I went up to the high priest this morning and took an oath that I will not kill anybody, that I will not rob, and that I will not drink whiskey."

I assured him that I was greatly pleased.

"Then," he said, as he reached inside his gown and pulled out a paper, "how is this?"

He had it all written out and proceeded to read the paper to me. It ran somewhat in this fashion:

"In view of the fact that General Lozong (he called himself General) and Doctor Shelton have both taken an oath that they will not kill anybody, they will not rob anyone, they will not drink whiskey, they have decided to be brothers."

He enumerated several other conditions, and in closing said: "And, furthermore, this is to give notice to anyone that if you ever molest Doctor Shelton in any way I will bring a thousand men and wipe you off the face of the earth."

Effective July 20th, Goodrich establishes a revised price list that is a base line of tire value. ### DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Economy is the easy couch of old age.

If there is any one thing that makes a man really mad its somebody who is slow to anger.

Some girls chew gum as though they were obliged to exercise their jaw.

There is but one thing I now recall slower than a boy starting on an errand for his mother, and that is his getting back.

A man may know more at 21 than he may be able to forget at 50.

One way street. Follow the red arrow on the red sign.

Mrs. Zueblin's resignation has not yet arrived. Is it possible that she is reconsidering?

Notwithstanding all statements to the contrary, we are constantly hearing of Winchester pupils who have successfully passed their college entrance examinations. Possibly the School Committee have the list.

No official information regarding the legality of the school house bonds has been given out, stories to the contrary notwithstanding. A Boston law firm has had the material in hand and has been considering the legal phase of the proposed issue since May 20th. It has not yet rendered its decision. Stories are in circulation that the legality of the issue is in question, but thus far lack any verification.

Well meaning and enthusiastic supporters of "No More War" should bear in mind that their greatest assistance to the movement is in following established rules and laws. Placarding our shade trees with posters is breaking a town by-law and makes extra work for the police. Display your placard—but not on the public shade trees.

On behalf of 7500 business men who are members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, President Frederic S. Snyder sent to President Harding on Wednesday night a telegram urging him to stand firmly against any efforts to reinstate the railroad strikers with their seniority rights and against any attempts to settle the railroad and coal strikes except on the basis of justice to the loyal workers and the public. That telegram represented the thought and backing of more than 7500 business men. It carried with it the endorsement of every chamber of commerce in the State.

It is reported that the School Committee have united upon the choice of a candidate to fill the vacancy on their board in place of Mrs. Charles Zueblin but are keeping the name secret. As usual, the secret appears to be public knowledge, and the choice of the board is said to be Mrs. Joseph F. Ryan. It is likewise reported that the Selectmen have given careful and favorable consideration to the candidacy of Mrs. Maurice C. Tompkins for the position. As there are five members on each board, there is a possibility of a deadlock when the convention is held. A public ballot would soon settle the matter if such a situation arises. Considering the length of time the Town has been waiting for Mrs. Zueblin's letter of resignation, the matter should be pretty well thrashed out by now.

It is reported that the local park board will insert an article in next year's town meeting warrant calling for an appropriation of $15,000 for a new grandstand on Manchester Field. According to the board's desire this stand will seat 1000 people and will contain locker room and toilets. We already have had presented a plan for such a stand in the shape of a War Memorial, the Town declining to take action in the matter. That a new stand is badly needed is evident to every man, women or child who visits or passes the field, and the proposed War Memorial was a most beautiful solution for both the accomodation of the Winchester Post, American Legion, and the seating of spectators at the field. Thus far every idea for a War Memorial has been turned down, and under today's conditions it appears doubtful if we ever, in the near future, unite on such a monument. To appoint further committees to consider the matter seems frutile. It would be wise, nevertheless, to consider again the proposed memorial on the field, for a most fitting tribute to the youth of our Town who participated in the War.

The most nonsensical rule in vogue today is that automobiles should give way to the car on the right. Because the sailors, traversing the limitless sea have observed such a rule down the ages is a poor excuse for tieing it onto present day automobile traffic. To give way to the car on the left is right and proper and admittedly a factor for safety. Have you ever travelled a broad and spacious street—say Massachusetts avenue—and noticed how all traffic hugs the middle of the road, preventing passing and generally congesting the road; oftentimes leaving enough space for two cars between it and the sidewalk? It is done because of this give way to the right rule. It is done to allow room for a sudden and unexpected turn when a car suddenly pops out of an obscure side street—with full right to do so without warning. It makes a broad street no wider than the narrow one. It is the cause of many accidents today. By all means this absurd rule should be reversed, and the car on the left should have the right of way. Such a rule has everything to commend it over the present rule. The automobile has been likened in many instances to a "sea going hack," but it is such kind of a "hack" running recklessly out of the side street that many drivers dread, and our Highway Commission should abandon this attempt to regulate automobile traffic by sea rules.

Wednesday night at eight o'clock an Overland sedan, driven by Max Weinstein of Boston was in a collision on North Main street near Swanton street with a Cadillac sedan driven by Rose Ghirardini of 117 Cambridge street. It is said that Weinstein attempted to cut in ahead of the Cadillac as both cars were travelling north. The Overland escaped with a bent left mud guard, but the Cadillac had its rear axel broken.

PRESIDENT HARDING'S TELEGRAM

President Harding's telegram rings true, even if the message which provoked it, does not.

How long do Gompers, Lewis and Jewell think the people of this country will allow their industries, their comfort, their health and their very lives to be subject to such dictation? These labor leaders absolutely control the unions. Nominally men vote whether they will strike. Ballots are distributed, but ballots must be signed by the voters. There is no Australian ballot in union voting; the leaders control.

Can you imagine the presidents of the railroads or coal mines issuing the dictatorial orders and statements that Gompers, Lewis and Jewell issue? Jewell says "he has the railroads in a hole." He really means he has the American people in a hole. Would the government, or the people, submit if the president of a combination of the coal companies told the President of the United States, or the Governor of any state, that no coal would be produced until the coal combination's president permitted and on his own terms?

Were it not for the non-union mines and the loyal shopmen, if the labor leaders had their way, there would not be a man at work mining coal or keeping railroad equipment in repair. Now Gompers and Jewell say the New Haven, Boston & Maine, Boston & Albany and other railroads must throw out their loyal men and give back to the deserters their old positions; otherwise, these labor leaders will keep the people of the United States out of coal and keep, so far as they can, the engines and cars out of repair.

Until the pocket nerve, the most sensitive nerve of the American citizen, is affected, the great majority of the people of the United States remain quiet. No wonder the labor leaders have become swelled with their power; no wonder they feel that they control the country. So long as the people stand for it and weak politicians, seeking re-election, truckle to them, so long will Gompers, Lewis and Jewell be dictatorial. But the majority of the people favor law and order and abhor dictatorship.—Herald

How The Master Driver Became Master Tire Builder

IN 1903, driving the "999" racing car, Barney Oldfield started his career of victories that later earned him the title of "Master Driver of The World." To overcome the tire weaknesses that made racing difficult and dangerous, he studied tires—specified materials—supervised construction.

Today, Barney Oldfield is known as the "Master Tire Builder." Starting with the crude tires which carried the "999" one mile in sixty seconds, Oldfield gradually developed his famous Cords—a set of which covered 500 miles at eighty-eight miles an hour without a change.

In three years Oldfield tires have won every important race on American speedways. They are the only American tires that have ever taken first place in the French Grand Prix. They have won for three consecutive years in the 500-mile Indianapolis Sweepstakes. So far in 1922, Oldfields have lowered four World's Records and seven track records.

The Wichita Test Run gave evidence of Oldfield superiority in touring—when a set of four Cords covered 34,525 miles over rutted, frozen, winter roads—a performance attested by the Mayor of Wichita.

See your dealer and get a set of these rugged tires that Barney Oldfield has developed and perfected through a lifetime of practical tire experience. Their performance will convince you that they are "The Most Trustworthy Tires Built."

DOES EDEN FACE NEW REBELLION?

Does another rebellion impend in the Garden of Eden?

News that King Feisal has declined to obey recent orders of Great Britain respecting her Mesopotamia mandate may well cause surprise, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

It would seem that the traditional land of Eden and Ararat, the manger of the religions of Christ and Mohammed, the vicinity of the Aryan peoples' birthplace, might be fairly well known to the world. But Mesopotamia of 1922 suffers from being almost completely over-shadowed by its historic setting.

Have Strange Religion

Many a school child who can relate the nocturnal adventures of Harun-al-Rashid in ancient Bagdad never heard of the Star Worshipers of the present-day Kingdom of Irak. And yet this strange people, who turn to the North Star to pray, who must be baptized every Sunday, and have a sacred book where they may begin at either end and read toward the middle, are just as picturesque.

If he were shown a picture of shipping on the Tigris River this child would think the rhyme of "Three men in a tub" had come true. The small boats are goffas, huge round baskets, from five to ten feet in diameter, with their wickerwork tarred to make them water-tight. Then there are the rafts with blown-up goatskins attached to give them buoyancy.

Modern Bagdad would cause even the man who knew what to expect to rub his eyes. A city is a city all over Europe and America, with certain features that may be relied upon. With one major variation, such as canals instead of streets, a Venice may stand out as a shining exception. But when you enter Bagdad you must accustom yourself to interminable mud walls more monotonous than any standardized row of houses you have seen, narrow and deserted thoroughfares, dogs always under foot and, by night, only the star light to guide your way.

A Land of Dates

Mesopotamia is a land of dates; both of the historical and edible varieties. Date trees rise above the courtyards where Bagdad family life is shut from your view, and these trees, along with cupolas and minarets, form a skyline that typifies the religion and the economic life of thousands of present-day natives. For the valleys of the Tigris and the Euphrates, and the muddy banks of Shat el Arab, into which they merge, supply the four corners of the earth with dates. The Arabs of this region pick and pack and practically live on dates.

About a million and a half of Irak's population are Arabs. The rest are Persians, Kurds, Indians and Turks. Now the offhand opinion might well be that the Arabs, because they are dominant, would be a nucleus around which a stable government might form. The difficulty so far is that these Arabs are divided into diverse groups, effectually separated by a wide variety of religious beliefs. It has been said that there are more roads to Heaven, as well as the opposite way, than anywhere else excepting the United States. The Moslem sects are far less harmonious than the denominations of our Christian Church, and many of the latter are represented. Beside these are found gradations of Oriental philosophic schools and pagan beliefs, ranging from Buddhism to Star Worship and Devil Worship.

MORE ROAD MAPS

Those fine auto road maps we told you about a fortnight ago lasted just ten days. Last week we could not supply them. This week we received a double order. They are the finest maps you ever saw. Everybody wants one.

The map covers New England. It is convenient—not a great flimsey sheet; not a tiny page that cannot be read. It is in colors—you can distinguish a road from a river, a north and south way from an east and west way and a state boundary from a township line. It gives all the information you wish. It is accurate.

If you want a really good auto map (or a map of New England for any use whatever) we recommend it. Once you have used it, you will always need it.

FLOWER MISSION WORK BEGINS IN TOWNS OUTSIDE BOSTON

Here Are Shown Flowers From Winchester's Attractive Gardens Being Collected and Made Ready For Shipment to Boston

FLOWERS NEED NEVER GO TO WASTE

Flower Mission Never Can Get Enough To Satisfy

Attention is called to the following article printed from the Christian Science Monitor of July 14, describing the work of the Flower Mission to which our townspeople here contributed for many summers.

The photograph at the Winchester station shows Miss Clytie Brooks of Lloyd street arranging the flowers in the basket. The little girl is Miss Muriel Childs, of St. Paul, daughter of Mrs. James A. Childs, formerly Miss Muriel Toppan of Winchester. We regret that we have not the name of the small boy.

After reading the article please be sure to keep in mind that every Thursday morning during July and August, flowers are received at the station between eight and nine o' clock. The contributions this year have been rather fewer than usual, so please try to bring as many flowers as possible during August.

When the suburban dweller looks out upon his rose garden in bloom, or sees the riotous colored garden flowers bending in the cool breeze, probably he is wholly unaware of the joyous destiny which could be in store for them were these flowers in the hands of the Benevolent Fraternity Fruit and Flower Mission. The mission knows of hundreds of people to whom a single flower makes the difference between a humdrum day and delight. It knows little boys and girls, who are strangers from alien countries, and who have forgotten almost the beauty of blossoming slopes under summer sun, and have instead their newly acquired impressions of dingy tenements, dark stairways, and those narrow crowded crevices between tall buildings, known as city streets.

Then, too, the mission knows of hundreds of mothers who bring these children to the settlement houses on certain days scheduled, in the hope they may be given a little flower to carry home and brighten the dark and unattractive rooms in which they live.

Work Begun 53 Years Ago

Fifty-three years ago, ever since Helen W. Tinkham conceived the idea of giving people who had flowers -- plenty an opportunity to share them with those who had none, the Flower Mission has carried on its work. It is said to have been the first undertaking of its kind in the world, for the famous Flower Mission at Hull, Eng., was not founded until 1873. At about the same time the Church of the Messiah founded a similar mission. Since then many cities in the United States and England have established flower agencies, and these have done a world of good.

Commutors say it takes very little effort to bring an armful of flowers or a basket of vegetables and fruit from their gardens to the railway station as they leave their homes in the suburbs for Boston in the mornings. There is a large hamper at the station provided to receive their offerings, and a member of the Flower Mission committee on hand to care for them. The railroad transports these hampers without charge. They are collected at the North and South stations by an expressman who delivers them to the three centers, from where they are distributed. Tuesdays the flowers go to the Robert Gould Shaw House, Thursdays to the North End Union, and Fridays to the Bulfinch Place Church.

Eager Children Gather

At the Robert Gould Shaw House, groups of little negro children gather, shyly hoping they will be able to carry home at least one bright-colored "posy." The delight expressed by these youthful flower lovers, and indeed, by the grown-ups as well, is almost pathetic. A tour with the worker who distributes these gift flowers shows how worth-while is this work in the Shawmut avenue section of Boston.

The big market basket, filled with small bouquets, leaves a trail of joy in its wake. Dark faces, perring from upper windows, call other dark faces to witness the passing of the precious basket. Cheery remarks greet the flower bringers, and eager escorts accompany them and their floral treasures through the streets. Rarely do they ask flowers for themselves, these people who love color and fragrance so ardently, but they never fail to mention someone in the neighborhood who, they are sure, would appreciate one of the tiny bouquets.

Ecstacy Less Restrained

The North End Mission, at 20 Parmentar street, where the flowers are taken Thursdays, during the summer, is often the scene of similar, if less restrained, ecstacy. On those afternoons when the flowers are due to arrive the babies of the vicinity are brought to the mission by their mothers. Advice and instruction in the making of baby clothes and in the preparation of suitable foods are given, and the weekly convocation is a noisy and joyous affair. Those in charge, however, are quite frank in their admissions that what the mothrs come for most of all are the flowers, and that they look upon the good advice, oftentimes, as a necessary evil.

Two hundred babies in a single room can make a great hubbub when they take it into their capricious little heads to raise their voices in chorus Shrill little pipings blend with precocious bass tones in a chaotic medley while the mothers laugh merrily and dangle their sparkling ear-rings at the clamor.

But when the flowers are brought out of the other room where the committee has been busy tying them into bouquets there is a silence like that which comes at the raising of the curtain on a pleasant drama. The room is breathlessly still for a moment, then a chorus of oh's and ah's arises, as the mothers and children gather around Miss Mattie Louise Foster, who distributes wisely among them the little bouquets they had come for.

Bouquets Given Are Shared

Tales are told of what happened to last week's bouquet; how it was divided and shared with neighbors, passing from house to house, with a brief stay at each. The greatest unselfishness is noticeable among these people, and those who obtain bouquets express their gratitude by sharing them with their neighbors. Anyone having garden flowers which they would like to have distributed by the Benevolent Fraternity Fruit and Flower Mission are asked to communicate with Mrs. Thomas J. Homer, 4 Linmood Square, Roxbury.

Suburbs which are already sending baskets of flowers to the mission are Dover, Canton, Walpole, Newtonville, Shirley, Stoneham, Wayland, Weston, Winchester, Brookline, West Manchester, North Andover, Waltham and Concord. Many in Boston proper, who have flower gardens, also are helping the mission in its work.

Liquid Air Explosive.

When liquid air, containing from 40 to 50 per cent of oxygen, is mixed with powdered charcoal it forms an explosive which is said to be comparable in power to dynamite, and can be exploded by means of a detonator. This explosive has been tested in coal mines. The liquid air evaporates so rapidly that the explosive cannot be stored, but must be used within a few minutes after it is prepared.

Exterminate the House Fly.

Among the 180 different kinds of bacteria and other organisms taken from the bodies of house flies by different investigators are infantile diarrhoea, typhoid fever, anthrax, food poisoning, amoebic dysentery, abcesses, leprosy, tapeworms, hookworms, bubonic plague, conjunctivitis, summer complaint, tuberculosis, enteritis, trachoma, erysipleas, gas gangrene, stomach worms, pinworms and ophthalmia.

Food for the Shipwrecked.

On lonely little islands scattered over seven seas Great Britain has placed stores of food and other necessities for shipwrecked crews who might be washed ashore. Altogether, 24 islands have these stores of food. Three are established on the most remote corners of Iceland, while the others are all on smallest of numerous islands dotted about the South Pacific and Indian oceans.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

Soon the Department of Agriculture will hold an exhibition of "lady killers." Among those to be shown will be the wash tub, the cast iron coal and wood stove, the wick lamp and other household appliances of by-gone days.

In another department there will be exhibited the modern labor-saving appliances of today—the silent servants of the home who perform their work by means of invisible fuel, which is always on tap.

There will also be on display the automatic water heater, the cheerful room heater, the up-to-date gas range, the mantle light and other labor-saving, comfort-giving appliances which no housewife would ever think of discarding after she has once possessed them.

We wish all success to the exhibit. It is good to know that the real "lady killers" are to be exposed at last.

Fish Killed by Sewage.

The other day, just as the tide in the Thames was turning from ebb to low and the fish were coming up the river again, a very heavy rain, following several days drought, suddenly flushed the sewers of London, and the rush of foul water killed the fishes by the million, so that the dead bodies covered the banks for miles.

And They All Disappear.

The output of the pin factories of Britain amounts to over a million millions of pins a year—a figure which would in ten years cover every town in the kingdom with a layer of pins several inches deep.

QUEENSLAND: A STATE WITHOUT A SENATE

Queensland, Australia, which has entered the limelight by becoming the first "two chambered democracy" of the world to abolish its upper house, is the subject of the following bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Australia began its independent political career long after the launching of the United States, yet it has set some examples in the past in the creation of political machinery, such as the Australian ballot and universal suffrage, that America has followed. But the commonwealth and its states have tried other political experiments which the great republic of the west has so far merely watched from afar. Perhaps the no senate plan of Queensland may be grouped, in so far as the United States is concerned, with the Australian federal constitutional referendum and proportional representation.

Queensland Dwarfs Texas

Queensland—and Austrlia too, for that matter—loses in apparent size because of its great distance from us. In reality it is a huge state, completely dwarfing Texas, our largest commonwealth. Its coast-line is more than 2200 miles long and is equivalent to that of the Eastern United States from northern Massachusetts down the Atlantic, around Florida and to Mobile.

Since Queensland is located in the southern hemisphere, its hot regions are to the north, its cooler regions to the south. Its northermost projection Cape York Peninsula, may, then, be compared roughly to Florida, though Cape York is much closer to the equator. To be as close to the equator as Queensland, Florida would have to be shoved some 1200 miles farther south until Key West touched the Isthmus of Panama. If Australia could be towed to our part of the world, where we could compare it with the regions we know, it would have to be turned about so that the warm regions would correspond. If it can be imagined that this were done and Cape York placed near the Canal Zone, so extensive is the State of Queensland that it would cover most of the vast expanse of the Gulf of Mexico.

Queensland's area is 670,000 square miles. It is almost as great as the combined areas of all the States east of the Mississippi and Ohio rivers and the western line of Pennsylvania, extending from Maine to Florida.

Working For A White Australia

Naturally, colonization in Queensland began along its southern coast, its mildest region climatically. Thanks to its mountains which parallel the coast, the climate of the state is not as hot as its latitude would indicate. The far northern section, however, is truly tropical and has not been developed to any great extent. In the southern and middle sections are thriving ports and cities. Brisbane, the capital is about the size of Bridgeport, Connecticut, or Houston, Texas. The state's population of about three-quarters of a million—approximately that of Oregon—is almost wholly of British origin.

The development of the tropical portions of Queensland has been slower than that of similar regions in other parts of the world because of the determination of the citizens of the state and of the entire Commonwealth to maintain a "white Australia." The black and yellow races have been excluded in recent years, some being deported. Not more than 20,000 of the black aborigines remain in the state and they are steadily decreasing in numbers.

To help the development toward a "white Australia" the federal government grants a bounty on sugar-cane raised by white labor, and a considerable sugar industry has been built up in the fertile coast valleys of Queensland. Over behind its mountains the state has a great plains region like that of the United States. There and on the lower hills are raised the vast herds which make Queensland the premier cattle state of Australia and among the leaders in sheep raising.

Had "Senate" Appointed For Life

The six states which make up the commonwealth of Australia were colonies before federation in 1901 and had governments differing somewhat from each other. States' rights were jealously guarded when the federal constitution was adopted, the several states keeping their original political machinery. All of the states had parliaments of two houses corresponding to the senate and house of representatives of American States. In four states both houses were elected, but in two, New South Wales and Queensland, the "senators" were appointed for life by the King of England. The members of the single chamber which remains in Queensland are elected, and the state without a "conservative balance wheel," becomes the most democratic of the Commonwealth's units.

SOCIETY HONORS "BRAZIL'S WILLIAM PENN"

The National Geographic Society has elected to honorary membership Gen. Candido Mariano da Silva Rondon, famous explorer, often called the William Penn of Brazil.

Gen. Rondon won this popular characterization for his peaceful penetration of the pratically unknown Matto Grosso wilderness, now renowned for its rubber, where he so successfully won the confidence of the natives by his fair treatment and human assistance that they even helped him string telegraph wires through the jungle of their hitherto forbidden land.

Gen. Rondon is the ninth man elected to honary membership in the National Geographic Society, one of the other eight being the late Theodore Roosevelt who, upon his return from his Brazilian explorations, made known Rondon's work in this country by his high praise of the Brazilian's achievements.

Gen. Rondon's name henceforth will be perpetuated on Brazilian maps by the name Rondonia, given by his government to an area fifteen per cent larger than the State of California, in Matto Grosso, the "Wild West" of Brazil.

For 33 years Gen. Rondon has been at work in this vast wilderness. As chief of a special commission he built a telegraph line across the jungle from Cuyaba, in the southeast, to the Maderia River. But his outstanding service, perhaps, is that performed as Commissioner of Indian Affairs of Brazil, where his policy of nonretaliation and kinderness toward the Indians won their friendship, conserved their own civilization and constituted what has been called "the greatest government conservation of aborigines in the New World today."

In his letter to Gen. Rondon, transmitted through the Brazilian Ambassador, Dr. Gilbert Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic Society, said in part:

"It becomes my happy privelege to inform you that the National Geographic Society, through its Board of Trustees, having in view your splendid services to civilzation through your work with and in behalf of the aborigines of Brazil, and your notable contributions to geography through your exploratory expeditions, has unanimously elected you an Honorary Member of the Society, the highest honor it can confer.

"I wish to assure you of my own high personal esteem and of my hope that such deeds as yours may serve to knit the Americas together into an even closer bond of fraternity and fellowship."

MAN AND WOMAN SENTENCED

Were Soliciting Money Under False Pretenses

Officer James P. Donaghey arrested a man and woman in town Friday who were soliciting money about town, representing themselves as Christian Scientists without funds. They told a pitiful story of need and destitution and had collected an appreciable sum before they were taken into custody.

It is reported that their method was to first visit the reading room of the Science Church, there familiarizing themselves with prominent members of the church. At one house they told a touching story of a World War veteran out of work and of a wife about to become a mother. This effort netted $10. Another case brought in $5. One of the families approached became suspicious and notified the police.

Officer Donaghey took the couple into custody and they gave their names as Bradbury G. and Estelle M. Fraser of Pittsfield. They are said to have recently worked a similar campaign in Malden.

In the Woburn court Monday both were identified by one of the contributors to their cause and were each given one month in the House of Correction.

ENTERTAINED AT WHITEFIELD

Mrs. Frederick S. Snyder of Winchester and Mrs. M. R. Wendell of Boston, who are spending the summer at the Mountain View House, Whitefield, N. H., entertained a party of nine at Polly's Place, Colebrook, at luncheon on Wednesday, motoring up the Connecticut valley through Lancaster. Mr. Snyder is joining Mrs. Snyder there for the week-end. Mrs. Snyder gave a dinner at the Mountain View on Sunday evening in honor of Gov. and Mrs. Cox, who are spending a few days in the White mountains, and drove over from the Profile House for this event.

Early Saturday evening a resident of Church street complained to the police of the actions of a trio of young men who were parked in the vicinity of the Wincheseter Trust Company. The men were annoying passing autos and pedestrians. The officer sent to investigate found their antics neither clever nor amusing, and took them to the police station. After a lecture by Chief McIntosh they were allowed to depart.

The police received a telephone message Sunday stating that a man had been taken violently ill at the Jewish cemetery on North Washington street. The ambulance was sent to the scene, but before its arrival a doctor had been secured and the man had so far recovered that he was able to care for himself.

PRESENTATION TO DEPARTING OFFICER

A special meeting of the executives of the Winchester Laundries, Inc., was called unexpectedly last Thursday afternoon, at which the officers and heads of departments of the concern presented Mr. John R. Carruthers with a handsome leather brief case. At the same time the young women employees in the office made him a gift of a handsome pair of gold cuff links.

Mr. Carruthers, who has been associated with the Company for a number of years as financial man and departmental statistician, has tendered his resignation. He will go into business himself as a public accountant, specializing in laundry work.

Messrs. Charles E. Barrett, George A. Fernald and Freeland E. Hovey returned Monday for a fortnight's visit with Mr. Fred L. Pattee at his summer home at Enfield, N. H. The trip was made over the road and while in New Hampshire the party took several interesting auto rides.

Rev. D. J. Sullivan, Rev. John F. McClain who have been spending a vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Fleming of Pond street, are returning home to New York city, stopping at Pittsfield, Massachusetts for a few days.

SAVED BOY FROM BURNING

Mr. Benjamin F. Hartwell of Cambridge street saved James Highet, a Somerville child, from burning to death Monday when the boy ran through a gasoline fire in the middle of the turnpike. Mr. Hartwell, who was passing in his auto at the time, caught up the boy after his clothing had burst into flame and threw him into the Mystic river.

The gasoline was left in the road after an automobile accident. Young Highet was playing with other boys in the vicinity and it is believed that one of them threw a lighted match into the puddle. As the gasoline flared up the boys dared one another to run through the fire. This was done several times until finally the Highet boy's clothing caught fire. Mr. Hartwell, who was passing, heard his cries and snatching him up, ran with him to the river and threw him in, extinguishing the fire. The boy was painfully, but not seriously, burned.

HEAD OF FELLS RESERVATION RETIRES

Supt. Albert N. Habberly of the Middlesex Fells division of the Metropolitan district police force, who succeded Supt. Charles Price in 1908, retired from active service this week after 26 years connection with the park systems. He bid farewell to the officers of his division at roll call Monday night at the Forest street headquarters, Medford.

Supt. Habberly, who retires on pension, is 51 years old. He served as superintendent of the Stony Brook Reservation for five years and was then transferred to the Charles River Upper Division of the park system, where he served seven years. When former Supt. Price left the commission to enter business, Supt. Habberly was assigned to fill his position.

Capt. Spencer G. Hawkins, who has been in charge of the Revere Beach Division for the past 16 years and who has been at the Revere Beach station for 23 years, has been appointed to Supt. Habberly's former position, and took charge of the Middlesex Fells Division Monday.

TRUCK HIT AUTO ON SWANTON STREET

Tuesday night a barrel truck, said to be owned in Somerville, caused considerable apprehension and some damage on Swanton street. Word was first telephoned the police that the truck was going down the street in an erratic manner, followed a minute later by word that the Chandler runabout owned by Daniel Dinneen, standing in front of his house, had been struck by it. Police officers were immediately dispatched to the scene, but the truck had got away. People in the vicinity were able to furnish sufficient description for its identification however. The Dinneen car received a broken top, windshield and fender.

TRADERS' DAY, AUG. 16

Traders' Day will be observed in this town on Wednesday, Aug. 16th, it was announced by Secretary Barrett of the Winchester Chamber of Commerce this week. There appears, however, very little interest in the holiday this year.

The Chamber of Commerce announces that it recommends that the merchants close their stores on the 16th in observance of the annual August holiday in common with other surrounding places.

No arrangement will be made for an outing, the clerks and their employers spending the day as suits their individual tastes.

WINCHESTER MEN ON FUEL COMMITTEE

Mr. Frederick S. Snyder of this town, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, was named as a member of the advisory coal committee which will co-operate with Herbert Hoover, chairman of the President's fuel distribution committee, and Eugene C. Hultman, fuel administrator of Massachusetts. Mr. Seymour B. Willett, also of Winchester, was named as another member of the committee in the group representing the coal trade.

RED CROSS

All the ex-service men, who have delayed filing a claim for compensation, can before August 9, obtain a certificate of injury from Col. Charles R. Forbes, National Director of the Veteran Bureau, Washington, D. C. They must give name, rank, date of enlistment and discharge and state circumstances under which the disease or injury incurred.

PAPERS SUBMITTED

Registrars of Voters Pass on Political Candidates

Numerous papers were submitted to the Registrars of Voters for verification of signatures this week, including those of Republican Delegates to the State Convention and the Republican Town Committee.

Winchester will be a hot place about election time when it comes to choosing a Representative, there now being four candidates in the field. In addition to Mr. Amasa Harrington, Thomas R. Bateman and Alfred D. Radley, Mr. Thomas M. Vinson has submitted papers. Just how the vote will divide is in question, as all four men are well known about town.

The names presented for the Republican Delegates to the State Convention are as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Lewis Parkhurst | Lorence M. Woodside |
| Winfield F. Prime | Frances A. Elder |
| Alfred S. Hall | Clara H. Palmer |
| Frank E. Rowe | Lillian T. Mason |
| George M. Bryne | Marie L. Comins |
| Edward B. Smalley | Minnie G. Woolley |
| William L. Parsons | |

The Republican Town Committee list is as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| George M. Bryne | Lora A. Bond |
| Albert M. Chandler | Lillian T. Mason |
| William J. Stevenson | Annie G. Willey |
| George W. Tilley | Lorence M. Woodside |
| George Jackson | Alice L. Neiley |
| Arthur L. Winn | Faye Hoyt Lefavour |
| William Adriance | Mary W. Carpenter |
| James F. Dwinell | Grace S. Bancroft |
| Willard T. Carleton | Mollie O. Keepers |

The Senatorial contest also promises to be a point of interest in Winchester. Although we have no candidate, being content to allow other places in the district to have the office, there is keen competition to secure the majority vote here between several candidates. According to statistics the office has been distributed over the years past as follows:

1907-08—Herbert S. Riley of Woburn
1909-10—J. Howell Crosby of Arlington
1911-12—Charles H. Brown of Medford
1913 —Wilton B. Fay of Medford
1914 —Charles Dean of Wakefield
1915-16—Wilton B. Fay of Medford
1917-18-19-20—Edwin T. McKnight of Medford
1921-22—Lewis Parkhurst of Winchester

Papers have been filed by several candidates, including Mr. Samuel W. Mendum of Woburn and Mr. Clarence C. Warren of Arlington. Other papers will doubtless be filed as well.

SECOND ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAIN

A second attempt was made to wreck an afternoon train at the Bacon curve on Tuesday when a plank and brake-beam was piled on the inward track in front of extra freight No. 2324, Concord to Boston, at 2:06 p. m. The locomotive struck the obstruction and ran over the plank, throwing the brake-beam to one side. Railroad officials were notified by the engine crew and word was telephoned to the police.

But a little over a week ago a similar attempt to wreck a train was made at the same place, stones and iron being piled on the track. At that time the obstruction was seen by the fireman of an outward bound train and the agent at Wedgemere notified. He romoved the stones and iron before the train reached the place.

Both the local police and the railroad police are working on the two cases. It is thought that the desire of the person who attempted to wreck the train was to get the work train from the Wilmington car shops which carries the strike breakers to Boston each afternoon, as both attempts were made in the afternoon and both were on the inward track.

FINE 15 AUTOISTS

Fifteen automobilists arrested in a Winchester police crusade against violators of the automobile laws were fined $10 each when arraigned at Woburn Tuesday, before Judge Maguire. They were charged with failing to stop and not giving the proper signals.

Thirty-eight drivers were arrested in one day in the crusade.

He was rushing through the station when a pretty young woman stopped him.

"Would you please help The Working Girls' Home?"

NEW ACT EFFECTIVE AUG. 9TH

One of the remedial amendments to the existing statutes which have to do with non-support cases is Chapter 297 of the Acts of 1922 relative to the entry of temporary orders providing for the support of wife or children, in desertion, non-support, and bastardy cases. The act amends Section 4 of Chapter 273 of the General Laws, substituting a new section as follows:

Section 4. The district court, or a trial justice, at any time after arraignment and before an appeal from such court or trial justice is perfected by entry in the superior court, and the superior court at any time after such entry and before final determination of the case, may, upon motion of the complainant or district attorney and upon notice to the defendant, enter such temporary order as may seem just, providing for the support of the wife, or children, or both, pendente lite, and said order, wherever made, shall continue in force until modified or revoked by the court before which the case is pending. If any such order is made by a district court, or by a trial justice, an appeal to the superior court shall not vacate such order. Violation of an order made by either court may be punished as for a contempt by the court before which the case is then pending.—[Approved May 9, 1922.

The original bill was introduced by Representative Drew of Boston, the object being to obviate the suspension of ordered support payments when the defendent in a district court took an appeal. The matter was referred to the Committee on Legal Affairs and a case was cited by the petitioner where the defendant, having been found guilty in the lower court, took an appeal, and thereupon suspended payments, there being no way for new orders to be issued by the Superior Court under the then existing statue, and the wife was deprived of support for a period of six or seven months before the trial in the upper court.

The bill was not drafted in a proper manner and was referred to Representative Samuel W. Mendum of Woburn a member of the Legal Affairs Committee, to see that the purpose of the bill was properly expressed, and Mr. Mendum, after considerable study and consultation with judges and probation officers, brought in a draft and took charge of the matter in the House, where the bill was passed without opposition and the latter passed out opposition and later passed by the Senate and signed by the Governor.

The result of this amended statue is that while the appeal in a criminal case takes up the whole case, yet the order providing for support of the wife or children during the pendency of the case continues in force, notwithstanding an appeal, and a violation of the order may be punished as for a contempt.

This statue ought to be of great assistance to the judges in cases where, but for the amendment, husbands found guilty of non-support might escape paying under the orders of support by taking an appeal to the higher court.

PRESIDENT SNYDER MADE AIR FLIGHT

Pres. Frederic S. Snyder of the Boston Chamber of Commerce inspected the new airdrome site at Jeffries Point, East Boston on Wednesday from the observation seat of an Army DH4 airplane, piloted by Lieut. R. C. Moffat of the Framingham flying field. Pres. Snyder started the flight, which was his first, from Framingham at 9 o'clock in the morning and completed it by 9:45.

He motored back to Boston and made a report to aviators and a group of the chamber's "minutemen" at a luncheon in the City Club, where they discussed raising the balance of $13,879 necessary to supplement the State's $35,000 appropriation before construction can start.

TENDERED SILVER TEA

Last Thursday evening a most enjoyable silver tea was given to the Ladies' Auxiliary of Clan Mackinnon Order of Scotish Clans by their President, Mrs. Grace Hamilton at her home on Vine street. Among those present were Grand Chaplain Margaret Dowell of Malden and Grand Conductor Jennie Green of Everett.

Mrs. Hamilton assisted by her daughter made a most charming hostess, Mrs. Aken and Mrs. MacMaster of the Auxiliary greatly assisted. Refreshments were served and beautiful musical selections rendered, Miss Hamilton being pianist for the evening. Games were also enjoyed by the young ladies present. All too quickly the time passed and the ladies reluctantly bade their hostess good night.

Miss Kathryn Cosgrove of New York, is spending the summer at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Ed. Flemming of Pond street, Winchester.

BUILDING DROPS

Only One Permit Issued During the Month of July

Due evidently to the railroad strike, the inability to secure various supplies and the general uncertain business conditions, building in Winchester took a big slump during the past month. But one permit was granted by the building department, that being for a garage.

Winchester has lagged behind surrounding places all through the spring. While nearby towns and cities have in some instances experienced a real building boom, we have only slightly increased over pre-war conditions. The month of May, however, was the best yet, and gave promise of a return to normal conditions. Present indications provide a gloomy outlook for the many people who are in town daily looking for houses to lease or rent.

During the six months beginning January 1st, 93 permits were granted, the estimated cost of this construction being $206,410. By months the permits issued were:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| January | 6 | April | 28 |
| February | 2 | May | 25 |
| March | 11 | June | 21 |

The estimated cost was:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| January | $9000 | April | $60,750 |
| February | 450 | May | 38,500 |
| March | 7000 | June | 90,710 |

None of the permits granted were for manufacturing or business buildings and but 18 were for residences, the estimated cost of which was $145,500.

A comparison with former years follows:

| Year | No. Permits Granted | Estimated Cost |
|---|---|---|
| 1915 | 196 | $424,365 |
| 1916 | 220 | 517,170 |
| 1917 | 120 | 251,355 |
| 1918 | 54 | 95,960 |
| 1919 | 120 | 228,850 |
| 1920 | 153 | 308,935 |
| 1921 | 192 | 336,778 |

NEW SCHOOL BUILDINGS

At a meeting of the School Building Committee held last Thursday, Messrs. Kilham, Hopkins & Greeley were unanimously chosen as architects for the new Wyman School on Church street.

This concern is well known for the numerous school buildings which they have designed in Boston and suburbs. They were architects for the Banks School in Waltham, have just been chosen as architects for one of the new Junior High Schools in the same city, and have been awarded within the last few days the new High School in Belfast, Maine, one of the new schools in Braintree, and a school in Milton.

They will begin on plans at once, and it is hoped that actual building will be begun during the month of November.

The committee at the present time is considering sketches which are being submitted for the new Chapin School, architects for which are Messrs. Ritchie, Parsons & Taylor, and it is expected that final plans will be approved within the next two or three weeks.

DRUNKEN DRIVER FINED $100

George Campbell of Cambridge was fined $100 for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor in the Woburn court Tuesday, fines of $10 for drunkenness and $15 for assault upon an officer being added. His companion, Patrick White of Medford, was fined $10 for drunkenness.

The men were arrested on Monday night at about 12 o'clock at the corner of Cross and Main streets by officer James Farrell who was doing traffic duty at that place. According to testimony offered the men drove up to the officer and asked certain directions. Farrell noticed they were drunk and told them to get out of the car. When Campbell got out he attacked the officer, and it took Farrell and four other men who arrived on the scene to get him to the police station. White was riding in the car with Campbell.

HOME FOR AGED PEOPLE

The vegetables and fruits which have been left at the Home have been much enjoyed and are gratefully acknowledged. If there are others, having a surplus of fresh fruit and vegetables in their gardens, who will remember the Home at this season, their kindness will be greately appreciated.

The fire department answered a call Wednesday evening for a blaze in Dr. D. C. Dennett's garage on Main street. There was little damage, the carburetor catching fire. It was quickly extinguished.

JOHNSTON—HUNT

A quiet wedding took place Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Hunt of Rugg street, St. Albans, Vt., when their daughter, Laura Anna, was united in marriage with George Warren Johnston, of this town. The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by her two nieces, Laura and Eleanor Gray, as flower girls. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Stanley Cummings, pastor of the First Congregational church, the double ring service being used. Mrs. N. N. Atwood played the wedding march. The bride wore a gown of white georgette crepe trimmed with crystal beads and her veil was of tulle. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and white sweet peas. The little flower girls wore pink and white organdy dresses and carried baskets of sweet peas. An unusual feature of the wedding was the presence of four generations of the bride's family. Among the out-of-town guests were Judge and Mrs. E. M. Doughty, Miss Julia Doughty, Egbert Doughty and Miss Jessie M. Hunt, of Brooklyn, N. Y. Harry and Heman Hunt, of Fairfax, Mrs. Harley Herrick and Miss Doris Herrick, of Richford, and Miss Julia Dewey, of Burlington. The bride is a graduate of St. Albans high school and St. Lawrence University, Canton, N. Y., and for several years has been a teacher in the Winchester High School. The groom is a World War veteran having served twelve months overseas with the 30th Division. He has a position with the Edison Electric Illuminating Co., of Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will make their home in Winchester.

O'LOUGHLIN—MAGUIRE

The matron of honor was Mrs. John Ronan of Somerville, cousin of the bride, and the best man was Mr. Daniel O'Loughlin, brother of the groom. The bride was gowned in blue beaded georgette and carried bride's roses. The matron of honor wore blue canton crepe and carried Killarney roses. A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, for the immediate families of the young couple. They will spend their honeymoon at Hampton Beach.

BASEBALL

By Mack

The game Saturday on Manchester Field was about the worst ever seen on that playground. Jim Trayers of big league and minor fame, was given a chance to show the former admirers of his in Winchester that he was still there as a pitcher. But Jim is done; if he doesn't know it, everyone else does and some kind friend should advise James to lay his glove and slicked shoes aside and bid baseball adieu. He has been pitching twilight baseball for the Dorchester Town Team, one of the strongest teams in this circuit and the Monday night before he beat Malden K. of C. 8 to 6, with Queen pitching for Malden. He asked me for a chance to show the Winchester fans what he could do, and as I knew he had been essaying a come-back I tried him out and you fans who saw the game know the result. After James had been walloped for nine hits in five innings, Frank Tansey the High School southpaw was put in and went along all right for an inning, but in the next, Frank must have thought that they moved the home plate up to the plains for he could not locate it.

Al Davidson in his wildest days could not show anything like Frank for wildness. The team Winchester had in the field was better man for man than Arlington, but the pitching was something terrible to watch. Winchester got nine hits off O'Neil and made two errors, only one of which resulted in runs. The trouble with most of the semi-pro teams and Winchester is no exception is that all managers are having difficulty in securing good pitching. We can pay for a good man here, but one and all seem alike when they go in the box. I have my eye on a dark horse who is unknown in this section and if he lives up to expectations we will see some pitching the rest of the season.

Notes

Hatch appeared again on first after two weeks' layoff and put up his usual classy fielding game, besides driving out three fine hits.

Mahoney on third base is as fine a fielder as there is in the semi-pro ranks, but is absolutely helpless at the bat. He will be replaced by a better batter, if not as good a fielder, for Saturday's game.

Zarakov, the big fellow who started the game will be seen again Saturday. He is considered a good fielder, a fast base-runner and a fair hitter.

Cleary, who played the latter part of the game at second did not seem to be able to fill the bill.

Todd, in left field is the Brown University outfielder and has been playing with the Chelsea K. of C. He failed to show anything here and I saw him play in Malden Monday night and he did not look any better there. He was taken on through recommendation of some good judges of ball players.

I am in communication with a first-class man to fill the rightfield position and if he is secured, with Quigley and Mack, Winchester will have an outfield to be proud of.

I have a much better team for the twilight games than I do on Saturdays, because I am able to secure players who are getting big money for the Saturday games.

It was a bad day all around Saturday for Woburn and Winchester. "Kiko" Weafer was batted all over Library Field and Joe Matthews got a whaling in Newton, although reports from there say he got poor support.

Morrison, who pitches the twilight games is about as easy a pitcher as we have seen in a long time. In two games against hard hitting teams he has held them to 10 hits for both games. He is a very cool pitcher and no matter how the breaks go, he is still on the job working the next batter.

The man I expect to get is a left-hand pitcher, and if he can show as much as he did Monday night working out, some of our opponents are going to have trouble.

Bob Walsh at short is playing good ball and hitting the ball for an average of .347. Mack is leading the team with .382 for 13 games. We are doing enough hitting to win ordinary games, but when the other fellows hit your pitcher harder, there is only one result.

It is earnestly hoped that the Finance Committee will favor a decent stand and locker room on Manchester Field. If possible a town meeting should be called about Oct. 1st and money should be appropriated so that the work could be done this winter; also, money should be appropriated for tennis courts at the lower end of the field. One baseball diamond is all that is required on Manchester Field. We talk and prate about civic pride when we have not any, especially when we do not put to proper use a piece of property worth a quarter of a million dollars. The trouble with us here in Winchester, is we see to much of the small things and do not look ahead for the future.

Sunday sports will be an issue here next spring, when the question of Sunday sports will be put on a ballot. Readers, you notice that I say Sunday sports. That means everything in the sport line. So these few lines are to let the dozen or so "kickers" who are in the game as habitual "kill joys" know what they are going to have their troubles if they try to beat Sunday sports.

Baseball Tomorrow

The Brookline Town Team, which has been beating all comers, will be here tomorrow. This team has been secured through the efforts of Chas. Brown of Rangeley, who has had to stand some "hot air" from the Brookline manager, as both are employed by the same firm. There is no question, but Brookline has a fine team, but if we realize our hopes here, we will have a better one. Mullowney of Boston College, has been doing the pitching. We play a return game at Brookline the following day, Sunday.

AMATEUR-PRO TITLE EVENT AT COUNTRY CLUB

Only one more championship tournament for the New England professional golfers remains to be played this season, namely, the first annual Amateur-Pro title event, scheduled for Monday, Aug. 21, at the Winchester Country Club. This event is open to all members of the New England Professional Golfers' Organization. It will be a 36-hole medal play event, 18 holes in the morning and 18 after lunch. The team having the lowest gross score for the 36 holes will be proclaimed the first amateur-pro champions of New England.

While entries for this event do not close until Aug. 15, practically every pro in New England has already selected his amateur partner. Frank Ouimet and Harry Bowler, the Winchester pro, will pair up, and as Winchester is one of those courses that Ouimet plays exceptionally well, this pair will take a lot of beating.

Dick Marden and Bert Nicoll of Belmont is another couple that should make this interesting for the rest of the field at Winchester. Bert is shooting great golf at the present time, as is proved by his round of 69 at Poland Spring last Monday. Two other teams that show up well on paper are Billy Quinlan and Chase McGrath and D. B. Peters and Stewart Sanderson.

SUMMER DENTAL CLINIC

The local chapter of the American Red Cross has again gone over the top by financing a demonstration of the work that can be done by a dental clinic for children under school age through five weeks of the summer. Through the tireless efforts of Miss Cunningham, the public health nurse, we have been able to round up many of the pre-school children who were in need of dental attention. We found that it was impossible to treat pre-school children only, but by having them come with their older brothers and sisters and by doing work for all, we have been able to accomplish excellent results. The clinic has run five weeks from June 26 to Aug. 1st, four mornings a week. These pre-school clinics will undoubtedly be carried on in other towns in the future and if Winchester continues this work, it will be known as one of the first towns to establish the precedent of a pre-school clinic during the summer.

It is generally recognized by authorities that the child's teeth are of more importance than the adults. Perfect first teeth mean efficiency in the class room and better health, and for this reason we desire to handle the youngsters from two years of age until the second teeth come, thus gaining their confidence from childhood.

We have handled 85 patients, of whom 55 per cent have been of pre-school age. Undoubtedly this per cent would increase another year. We have totalled 367 operations, handling from four to seven patients each morning.

Respectfully submitted,
Roy Y. Raymond, D.M.D.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

A wise man keeps his mouth closed at the right time.

Some men would rather be called a game sport than a good citizen.

Occasionally one man may abuse another by praising his enemies.

A man may knock and knock and never make a hit.

Nothing pleases some people more than the opportunity to spread bad news about their neighbor.

The contractor in charge of the construction of the new Bacon street bridge has already made great strides in the work. From present indications the structure will be finished well within the allotted time.

This seniority proposition sounds something like the indulgent parent when he says "all right boys, only promise not to do it again." The result would sound along a similar line of "it cost us nothing the last time; let's try it again." The public says "it cost us a lot; we don't want it again."

The observance of Traders' Day this year received little consideration from all concerned. The Chamber of Commerce, in view of the attempts made on previous years, was not enthusiastic to take up the matter of arranging an outing and none of the merchants or business men were interested enough to take it up individually. Evidently the clerks desired the holiday, for this week, when it became apparent that no move was to be made in the matter, there was a request that Wednesday the 16th be set aside for observance of the day as a general town holiday. The Chamber of Commerce accordingly set aside the day for a holiday. There will be no concerted outing, each and every one spending the day as he desires.

As yet no resignation has been received from Mrs. Charles Zueblin to the Town as a member of the School Committee. Mrs. Zueblin's resignation was sent to the chairman of the School Committee three months ago, she departing for a summer in Europe immediately after. The resignation was later presented to the Town Clerk, who refused to accept it as being a personal communication to the chairman of the School Committee and not an official resignation to the Town. Since that time the School Committee has been making every endeavor to secure an official resignation from Mrs. Zueblin. Two candidates are talked of to fill the vacancy, if it is really to occur. One of these is Mrs. Maurice C. Tompkins, whose name it appears has been presented to the Selectmen by interested citizens. The other is said to be Mrs. Joseph Ryan, who is reported to be the choice of the School Committee. Mrs. Tompkins is receiving active support all over town, but viewing the attitude of the School Committee in its recent dismissal of Principal Thompson of the High School, few residents have any idea that the board will recognize popular selection in the matter, and as there are five members on each board—the Selectmen and School Committee, a deadlock is possible in the matter. It has been suggested that in such an event the selection be put to popular vote.

Stoneham town team defeated Winchester town, 3 to 2, Wednesday evening at Stoneham in a seven-inning game that was finished in 40 minutes. It was a light hitting contest, both Cogan and Morrison pitching well. The former held Winchester to three hits, and ought to have figured in a shut-out.

RAPID PROGRESS AT NEW BRIDGE

Rapid progress is being made at the new Bacon street bridge. During the week the big 16 inch water main was laid and connected, and the work of removing the old stonework has been about finished.

The work of dredging a seven foot trench across the river at the north side of the new bridge, for the water pipe, was started on Monday, and by afternoon a diver was on the scene ready to make sure that the depth was uniform and the bottom level. The diver was used both Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning. On Tuesday afternoon the five sections of iron water pipe, all jointed together, were lowered in a cradle into the trench and covered with crushed stone. On Wednesday the two end connections had been made and water turned on through the pipe.

The work of demolishing the old stone bridge will be very rapid, the big derrick and clamshell bucket making short work of the task.

The man who loses his temper is in the position of admitting to all who witness his exhibitions that he is not master of himself. A loss of temper means loss of self-control. No man can enjoy the luxury of losing his temper regularly and enjoy long life. Neither can such a man win the loving loyalty of his associates.—Tom Dreier in Forbes Magazine.

Abnormality in Mankind.

Regardless of whether "genius is to madness close allied," eccentricities no doubt could be found in all great men. But if the truth were known would not something just a trifle abnormal be discovered in everybody? Is it not too much to expect that the brain should always be well balanced under the terrific strain to which modern conditions of life subject it? What a dull place the world would be if everybody always did the conventional thing!—Exchange.

Distinction Few Would Covet.

The distinction of being the only woman to be married in a blazing church probably belongs to a recent bride in England. When the bridal party arrived at the church they found the building ablaze and a small army of firemen deluging the flames with water. Nothing daunted, the prospective bride declared that, fire or no fire, she would not leave the church unwed, and to the accompaniment of flying sparks and clouds of smoke the marriage ceremony was performed.

Her Smile Was to Come Off.

One Sunday evening I was out with my best beau. We first went to the show and then for a walk. When we were about three blocks from his home we met his father. My beau tried to hide, but his father saw him and took him home. I followed, and when they came to his house, I stood there and listened to him yelling. The next day at school I made fun of him, but he only smiled and said sweetly that mine was coming, because his father had told my father.—Chicago Journal.

Supposing

If you and a score of your friends were to pool so many dollars a month, each, and loan the money to one of your number to build a home, while paying you the usual interest, you would be doing him a great favor and all the rest of you would get a good return for your money and be amply protected.

That is exactly what a co-operative bank is and does—under State supervision and in a well ordered and economical way.

It is an ideal service for savers and for home builders.

THE GUMMING GAME IN SUDAN

In England the House of Commons is debating a loan to Anglo- Egyptian Sudan in order to develop cotton growing areas to supply the mills of Lancashire.

Already the Sudan provides one humble and unsung commodity which most of us employ daily, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society .

From Mahogany to Monkeys

Your stenographer seals and stamps your letter to be whisked away to distant friends on that modern magic carpet, the post office, because its flap and its stamp have been touched with adhesive gum which may come from Sudan. The sticky trail leads a geographic Sherlock Holmes from your mahogany desk straight to the palm-fringed banks of the Nile where predatory crocodiles lie in wait for chattering monkeys to come down to the river for their evening drink.

So that you may paste two and two together, tawny, scrawny camels and khaki donkeys, heavy laden with gum from Kordofan, make their way to Dueim, above Khartum, there to be yelled at and unloaded by rancons, half-naked natives. Their precious cargo is loaded upon the diverse craft which clutter the shores for shipment to Omdurman, Khartum's neighbor city. From there it can be sped by rail to uses which the natives never heard of and could little understand.

Don't be too hard on your office boy who licks your stamps instead of using a sponge to wet them. In its natural state gum is edible, and the natives carry it about and eat it with as much relish as your daughter would eat a bonbon. Perhaps to his juvenile palate even the prepared form has a savory flavor.

Two Rivers in One Channel

Khartum lies where the two Niles, the White and the Blue, meet but fail to mingle. As far as the eye can reach the two currents flow on; the blue crowded along the eastern river bank, while the creamy wider ribbon seems to elbow its path more assertively. Egypt's geographical destiny is written in the merging of these rivers. The White Nile contributes more largely the moisture that keeps the land of the Pyramids from being parched. The Blue Nile bears down the sediment that spreads a fertile blanket over the lower river.

JAMAICA: WHERE PIRATES HAVE YIELDED TO GINGER

Stringent restriction of Chinese immigration to Jamaica, announced because of the rapid increase of its yellow population, draws attention to this most important of the West Indian units of the British Empire, which may be taking advantage of our own experiences with orientals in Hawaii. This bit of British territory near our own shores is the subject of the following bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Jamaica already has one race problem, says the bulletin, for this might almost be called an African island with a thin veneer of British government, so great is the preponderance of negroes in the population. Of the approximately 858,000 inhabitants fully 95 per cent are blacks or mulattoes, and the numbers of the dark-skinned races are still further increased by the presence of about 20,000 East Indians. Barely 2 per cent of the population consisted of whites in 1911, and at that time the Chinese were less than one per cent.

Isle Of Fountains

Jamaica, like Hawaii, lies just in the edge of the tropics; and nature seems to have intended it to be a fairy island. Heavily wooded mountains occupy much of the interior, and among them countless streams tumble. "Xaymaca," the native Indian name of the island, which has been Europeanized, means "Isle of Fountains."

Palms of several sorts including coconuts, bamboo, bananas and a wide variety of other tropical trees clothe hillsides and valleys. Some of the views from the high central hills over rough foot-hills valleys and plains, and out to the deepest of blue seas are hardly to be surpassed elsewhere in the world .

But there are other aspects to Jamaica than beautiful scenery. Much of the country is undeveloped and that in cultivation in the interior is largely in the hands of negro peasant proprietors, who tend their fruit trees, their yam gardens, and their patches of the 'root that made Jamaica famous'—ginger. Many gaunt chimneys stand in the plains to mark the sites of sugar plantation manor houses of the island's palmier day's. Along the coastal swamps swarms of mosquitoes attack workmen and wayfarers, who must carry smouldering brands or continually wave branches about their heads.

Port Royal "Wickedest City"

Kingston, the capital, is almost as much a black man's town as Port-au-Prince. The two white persons to every hundred negroes who nomially are a part of the city's population, live in special suburbs and manage shops strets are given up almost entirely to negroes. Even the policemen and many of the judges are black.

Jamaica's history has in many ways been like that of Haiti, but it has stopped short of the Haitian climax. Columbus discovered the island and called it Santa Gloria. For a century and a half it was Spanish; then it fell to a British expedition sent out by Cromwell. Port Royal, its chief port, became the rendezvous of British buccaneers under the leadership of the notorious Sir Henry Morgan. The town, peopled largely by the men and women who lived on pilate gold, and gilded by their easily spent loot, gained the reputation of being "the richest and wickedest city" of its day. But like Sodom and Gomorrah it was struck down. A severe earthquake occurred in 1692 and Port Royal, its very stones stepped in iniquity, slipped into the sea.

Becoming Island Of Bananas

Under Spanish exploitation the Indian inhabitants of Jamaica were killed or died. The Spanards brought in some negro slaves to replace them, and in the 18th century British plantation owners imported more than 600,000 Africans, building up a large sugar and rum production. When slavery was abolished in 1834 many of the white landlords left the island and numerous large sugar estates and mills were abandoned. In late years Jamaica has become a more and more important factor in supplying bananas to both British and American tables. Its advantage over the Central American banana countries lies chiefly in the fact that it is two days nearer the markets.

The British have given some measure of self government to the Jamaicans but have retained final control. A governor is appointed by the British king and presides over a legislative council of which 15 members are appointed and 14 elected. Elected boards in the 15 parishes administer local affairs.

Good Both Ways.

Successful business men say opportunities for a young man to earn money are as good today as any time in the past, and everybody says opportunities to spend money never were better—Louisville Courier-Journal.

CANTON: CHINA'S FORCED-OPEN DOOR

Canton, which was the seat of the "Southern Republic" of China, and which has recently fallen before the armies of the north, is described in the following bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society as the most important portal through which Western influences have entered China:

If the well-worn phrase " the open door to China" were applied specifically, Canton would undoubtedly fit the description more truely than any other city, says the bulletin. But the explanation would have to be added at times the Canton portal has been kept open only by the forcible planting in it of the heavy foot of the Powers.

Where Europeans First Traded

There in 1517 the first commercial contracts were made between China and the West when the Portuguese obtained permission to trade with the Cantonese. Later the Dutch, the English, the French, and finally, the Yankees sent their ships and traders to the city. For a time it was the only city which the authorities of China permitted to have intercourse with "the Western barbarians."

Canton's priority was not alone in trade. The first Roman Catholic missionaries to China settled in 1571 at Macao, a few miles down the river from Canton, and ten years later began work in Canton itself. The city, too, had one of the first Mohammendan mosques to be established among the Chinese; and there in 1807 the first Protestant missionary to China settled.

Pricked By Western Ideas

Although the Catonese were probably more alert to begin with than the Chinese of other regions, they undoubtedly have been quickened and made more progressive by the constant stimulus of contact with Westerners during the past 400 years. Their western visitors aroused their curiosity, with the result that the Cantonese are, par excellence, the emigrants of China. Thousands of them have graduated from the United States and Canada, South America, South Africa, and Europe, where, while serving as cooks or laundrymen, restaurateurs, shop-keepers, or lottery magnates, they have in some measure absorbed western ways and ideas. Back in Canton, they have not failed to leaven somewhat the oriental lump. It is not strange, then, that from Canton have come on numerous occasions pressure against conservative Peking for reform, and at times revolution. Some sort of breach between north and south China was inevitable in recent years; and it was equally inevitable that Canton, greatest city of the South, should lead it.

But though the leaven of Western ideas is working in Canton, it has not lifted the teeming old city of a million souls from its thoroughly Chinese appearance and customs. Its narrow, ally-like streets, none too clean, hemmed in by low houses and set off by great black and gold and black and red signs, are the streets of any typical Chinese town. Through them patter the bare feet of coolies like those of their countless predecessors whose calloused soles have worn deep channels in the flagstones. Along the river banks are anchored acres and acres of small, brown, flimsy boats of which a family lives as their ancestors did in the time of Marco Polo.

"Cat Meat" Means What It Says

The food of a large part of the Canton populace is not that of America. In the markets one may buy not only the flesh of the cattle and horses, but also that of dogs and snakes. And an order for "cat meat" in a Canton market doesn't mean that the house pet is to be fed; it means just what it says. The gourmet shopping in Canton may have the choice of rats "on the hoof" in cages, or may purchase the more convenient dried article with its long curled tail. And if this variety in meats is not enough, he will find for sale the flesh of lizzards and the fins of sharks, and for meat substitutes, ancient eggs and dried oysters.

The white residents of Canton for the most part live on an island of land made in the river, separated from the Chinese settlements by a wide canal. Two wars were fought by Great Britain, however, largely for the the admission of foreigners to the city of Canton proper, and some few whites take advantage of this hard-earned privilege.

"BOAST NOT THYSELF OF TOMORROW"

[Written for The Winchester Star]

Tomorrow!—where Tomorrow is,—
Is not for man to know;
It may be here, it may be there,
In grief or deepest woe.
As yet, Tomorrow is not made,
In chaos still it lies;
And nothing but the breath of God
Can bid the morning rise.
Then let this moment be the time
We give our hearts to God,
Lest, ere another day arrive,
We sleep beneath the sod.

"BLESS GOD FOR MEMORY"

[Written for The Winchester Star]

How often, when Thought is out
Upon its journeys, does the spirit breathe
In gratitude, "Bless God for Memory."
Even the harrowing agony of grief,
Temptation, pain and sin, aye, bitter sins
Man's soul would not forget. 'Tis sweet to know
The blessing of affliction—and it is good to see
Iniquity uncovered, while the Almighty
In patience waits, would the sinner hide
Aught, worthy of repentence? Light of Truth!
Search the deceitful heart, that no deep guilt,
Too late, too late, for Mercy's lingering day,
Wake at the last, to be forgot no more.
—Eugene Bertram Willard.

HAS THOU A TEAR FOR ME?

[Written for The Winchester Star]

Sympathy, Celestial maid,
Hast thou not a tear for me?
Oft we've wept for others woe.
Wilt thou not one tear bestow?
O,the treasure of thy tear!
Passing tender, passing dear!—
Wealth is naught but shadow's shade,
Compared to thee, Celestial maid.
—Eugene Bertram Willard.

MORE ROAD MAPS

Those fine auto road maps we told you about a fortnight ago lasted just ten days. Last week we could not supply them. This week we received a double order. They are the finest maps you ever saw. Everybody wants one.

The map covers New England. It is convenient—not a great flimsey sheet; not a tiny page that cannot be read. It is in colors—you can distinguish a road from a river, a north and south way from an east and west way and a state boundary from a township line. It gives all the information you wish. It is accurate.

If you want a really good auto map (or a map of New England for any use whatever) we recommend it. Once you have used it, you will always need it.

Senator Baird's Driver, After Twenty-five Years, No Longer Has Indigestion

"For twenty-five years I was a sufferer of indigestion. Could not eat anything but broiled meats and boiled potatoes—could eat no other vegetables or fish or pastries. I couldn't sleep well and never a night went by without a smothering condition assailing me.

"I have taken just two bottles of O'Brien's and now I eat anything and sleep the night through—believe I am permanently cured," writes Arthur Cawfield, 615 Pearl St., Camden, driver for United States Senator Baird.

O'Brien's neutralizes the injurious gases that form in the digestive organs. It gives instant relief to sufferers of indigestion, heart-burn, pains in stomach and all digestive troubles.

O'Brien's is a non injurious, safe, easy remedy—a doctor's prescription. Requires no denials. Get a bottle today.

PACIFIC ISLETS DISCOVERED AND REDISCOVERED

The reported discovery by an American pleasure craft of hitherto unknown islands in the Pacific near Kingman's Shoal, south of Hawaii, has been followed by a statement from the Hydrographic Office of the United States Navy that the reported find probably is a rediscovery of Washington and Palmyra islands, situated near the latitude and longitude given. A bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society briefly describes the islands mentioned:

There would be nothing new in the rediscovery of Pacific islands, says the bulletin. Many of them have never been inhabited or were abandoned years ago, and to all appearances are virgin islands. A number of small islands have been reported as new finds over and over again, and in several cases double and treble names testify to this circumstance. The most recently reported discovery is in a region fairly well frequented by ships since it is within 300 miles of the mid-Pacific station of the Canada-Australia cable on Fanning Island and is even closer to the steamer lane between Honolulu and American Samoa.

Only Six Feet Above Sea

Palmyra Island, which lies about 50 miles south of Kingman's Reef, was discovered 120 years ago by the American ship "Palmyra." In 1912 the United States took formal possession of the island and made it a part of the Territory of Hawaii. It is of coral, 5½ miles long by 1½ wide and its highest point is only 6 feet above the sea, making it a precarious place of residence in case a tidal wave should strike it. There are no inhabitants.

Washington Island, about 100 miles southeast of Palmyra and only 75 miles from the Fanning Island cable station, was discovered in 1798. It is 3½ by 1½ miles and its "highlands" top those of Palmyra by four feet. The soil is rich and the island is covered by a luxuriant growth of coconut tress. Something over 100 people live on the island.

Kingman's Reef itself has on its rim two tiny islands that have appeared on large-scale charts of the central Pacific for many years.

This Bird Is Fat.

Young albatrosses are so laden with their own fat that one of them may go five months without taking any nourishment, says the American Forestry Magazine. This is likewise true of young pigeons and certain sea fowl.

A. BURNHAM ALLEN

Well Known Druggist Dead After Short Illness

Mr. A. Burnham Allen, proprietor of Allen's Pharmacy, one of Winchester's best known business men, died at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital on Monday afternoon after a short illness. He went to the hospital a fortnight previous to his death to undergo an operation for what was thought to be appendecitis. When the operation was performed it was found that he was suffering from a complication of diseases, and it was at once realized that his condition was serious, no hope being held for his recovery.

Mr. Allen was 65 years of age. He was universally liked by all Winchester people with whom he came in contact, his even, pleasant disposition making him many friends. He was a native of Chelsea, Vt., and in early life he entered the drug trade, conducting pharmacies at various places including Clinton. For 21 years he was a cigar salesman for the Boston firm of Estabrook & Eaton.

Eleven years ago he took up his residence in this town and purchased the drug store at the corner of Mt. Vernon and Main streets formerly conducted by Mr. F. N. Abare. He conducted this business up to the time of his death.

He married Miss Mary A. Leland of Clinton, who survives him, together with one daughter, Mrs. Arthur H. Abbott of 379 Main street, this town. He also leaves two step-brothers, Dr. J. N. Allen of St. Johnsbury, Vt., and Mr. Herbert W. Allen of Medford, also one sister, Mrs. A. B. Bicknell of Tundbridge, Vt. He was a Mason, being affiliated with William Parkman Lodge of this town, and was also a member of the Clinton order of Odd Fellows.

The funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon at 1:30, being largely attended by friends and business associates. Delegations were present from the Odd Fellows and Masonic lodges of Clinton, Estabrook & Eaton company and other business firms. The service was held at the First Baptist Church and was conducted by Rev. Clifton H. Walcott, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. W. E. Waterbury of Boston. There was a most profuse display of floral tributes and the stores in town were closed during the service. The pall bearers were Messrs. Edmund C. Sanderson, William H. Hevey, Frank H. Knight and John Whittemore of Roxbury. The burial was in Woodlawn cemetery, Clinton.

FELIX O'CONNOR

Winchester friends of Mr. Felix O'Connor of Forest Hills, long a resident of this town, were grieved this week to learn of his death, which occurred on Monday after a short illness. He was custodian of the Natural History Building on Boylston street, Boston, and had formerly been for many years in the employ of the Institute of Technology.

Mr. O'Connor was 54 years of age and was born in this town, where he made his home until about 15 years ago at the time of his marriage. He was prominent in musical circles, being at one time a member of the Woburn National Band and for many years conducting "O'Connor's Orchestra." He was a graduate of the Winchester High School.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Mollie O'Connor, he leaves a son, Felix O'Connor, Jr. Three brothers and two sisters also survive him—Messrs. Joseph E. O'Connor, well-known as a letter carrier at the local postoffice; John W. O'Connor, also of this town; James A. O'Connor of Stoughton, Miss Ella M. O'Connor and Miss Catherine C. O'Connor, both of White street, this town.

High mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Mary's Church yesterday morning at 9:30, largely attended by a host of friends and business associates of the deceased. The mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Joseph A. Quigley, with Rev. Fr. Moynihan of Stoneham, deacon, and Rev. Fr. Nathaniel J. Merritt, sub-deacon. Mrs. Mary McGrath was soloist. Services at the grave were held by Rev. Fr. Charles Ring of St. Joseph's Church, Roxbury. The pall bearers were Messrs. Edward Irwin of Lynn, John Fleming of Haverhill, Joseph O'Connor, Jr., James McCraven, Jeremiah Sullivan and James Kelliher of Hollliston. The burial was in Calvary Cemetery.

The mothers and children of the C. D. of A. will hold a truck ride to Canobie Lake this Saturday. The committee in charge includes Mrs. Nora O'Melia, Mrs. Annie Vayo, Mrs. Mary Kelley and Mrs. John Mawn.

SHUH SHUH GAH CANOE CLUB

Notice is hereby given to occupants of space in the Shuh Shuh Gah Canoe-house that the house is to be removed during next week, and that they should remove their property at once.

For forty years the little red boat-house of the Shuh Shuh Gah Canoe Club has stood at the end of Bacon street bridge, until it has become a land mark. The widening of the street and the construction of the new bridge necessitate the removal of the building.

There is a certain service to the public resident in the Wedgemere section that can be performed by a canoe-house in that locality. It is probable that a new location for a canoe-house might be obtained from the Metropolitan Park Department, in case of sufficient public interest.

If readers of this notice are interested and will communicate with C. F. A. Siedhof at 9 Harrison street, Winchester, it may be possible to arrange that the Club continue in existence.

RUNAWAY PHONES PA, BUT DOESN'T COME BACK

Salvatore Scaturo has reported to Chief of Police William R. McIntosh this week that Antonio Scaturo, 17, his eldest son, ran away from the family home at 90 Swanton street two months ago and has failed to come back, although he has telephoned his father on two occasions.

Young Scaturo told his father he was all right when he talked to him on the telephone, but refused to tell him where he was staying. The father believes that he is in New Hampshire. When he left home he had $35.

Mr. Scaturo desires very much to have his son return home and told Chief of Police McIntosh that he is fearful harm may befall him. He also intimates that if Antonio will return to the family fireside on Swanton street, in the Winchester Italian colony, he will receive a welcome like unto that accorded to the prodigal son of Biblical fame by his father.

The young man is of medium height, firm build and dark complexion. When he left home he wore khaki pants, dark colored coat and a mixed colored cap.

TRADERS' DAY WEDNESDAY

Next Wednesday, August 16th, will be observed in Winchester as Traders' Day. On that date all Winchester stores and business houses will be closed. Residents should note the occasion and provide for their supplies and provisions in advance.

NEARLY READY FOR CEMENT AT BRIDGE

The contractor at the new Bacon street bridge is nearly ready to pour cement for the western abutment. It is very probable that this work will be commenced early next week. The work at the bridge is progressing very rapidly, the coffer dam for the western abutment being in place on Wednesday and the work of dredging for the eastern side being now almost completed. A steam concrete mixer has been erected and is ready for work and the steam pump is set up.

CELEBRATION OF THE ASSUMPTION

Italian Residents Plan Big Affair Tuesday Night

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the celebration of the Feast of the Assumption, August 15th, are pleased to announce that the services of Gallo's Symphony Band, conducted by Signor Stanislao Gallo, has been secured for the evening concert on Manchester Field. This is credited with being the best Italian band in this section, and from past experiences the music will be of a quality seldom heard here.

The celebration, wholly arranged for and carried out by Italian residents, has become an annual summer feature, not only for this town, but every surrounding place within a radius of many miles.

The Italian residents will attend morning mass at St. Mary's Church, following which they will march in procession through the Italian quarter of the town, the route of the parade being decorated. These decorations in themselves are an exceptional feature, some being particularly elaborate.

In the afternoon another parade will be held, the marchers being accompanied by a band and the route ending on Manchester Field, where later the real concert by the band and the fireworks will be held.

The band concert on Manchester Field will be from 7 to 10 o'clock, and the fireworks will commence at dark. The fireworks will be furnished by an Italian firm, the American Fireworks Co., and from past exhibitions they will constitute the finest display of the year.

The committee in charge includes James V. Barbaro, chairman; Alfredo Rolli, secretary; Marcellino Ficocielo, Francesco Ciacalone, Guiseppe Rania, Mistretta Salvatore, Domenico di Mambro, Frank Reego, Guiseppe Ferro, Nicola Tarquino, Antonio Seraguso, Raffaele Pendo and Roberto Galante.

Anderson of Grove place and is a registered nurse, graduating from the training school at the Winchester Hospital. The couple plan to make their home in Braintree.

THREE FORDS MIXED IT UP

Three Ford touring cars mixed it up at the junction of Church, Canmbridge and High streets Saturday evening at 5.30, two of them being badly wrecked as a result. Mrs. Eva Church of Cambridge, a passenger in one of the cars, complained of injuries to her stomach by being thrown against the back of the front seat in the crash.

According to accounts of the affair a car directed by Mrs. Frances A. Nelson of Lexington, containing her mother and three children, was proceeding on Church street with the intention of turning south at Cambridge street. At the turn Mrs. Nelson saw a car coming up Cambridge street and turned to her right. She struck a car coming from that direction operated by Walter H. Church of Cambridge, meeting it head on The Ford which was traveling north on Cambridge street was turned up High street and was not damaged. It was driven by David R. Jones of Merrimac, N. H.

The car Mrs. Nelson was driving was owned by Walter J. Rose of Lexington.

The accident occured near Lloyd street, and the two men were attended by Dr. Simon and afterward taken to their homes. According to their story of the accident they were trying to avoid another car when their auto turned turtle. The car was badly wrecked.

CHILD STRUCK ON SWANTON STREET

At 8.25 Sunday night, Pietro Porcello of Medford, driving a Chevrolet touring car containing his wife, son, daughter and another girl, struck a child at the corner of Swanton and Washington streets. The child, Cartado Inccigrold, daughter of Pasquale Inccigrold of Quigley court, received a cut over the right eye and bruises about its head, and was attended by Dr. Sheehey.

HELD UP AND ROBBED

Frank Lesage, living at 205 Cambridge street, reported to the police that Thursday night, about one o'clock, he was held up by two men on Cambridge street in the vicinity of Wildwood. While one man held a revolver pointed at him the other searched his clothes and took $1.16 in change after which he was allowed to proceed. The robbers overlooked a $5 bill in their search.

STREETS BEING OILED

The work of oiling the streets about town began this week. The main streets in the center will probably be oiled next Wednesday, the stores being closed on that day and the work being less likely to create inconvenience. The work of oiling the outside streets is progressing rapidly.

FATHER AND SON TOURNAMENT

Fifty-five Teams Took Part in Annual Event at Country Club

The annual Father and Son tournament was held on Wednesday at the Winchester Country Club, and as usual this popular event drew one of the largest fields of the year to this popular course. A day made to order came as a climax to the play, and the tourney was by far the most successful of the series to date. Fifty-five teams took part, representing clubs from all parts of the State.

A feature of the play was that no less than three teams tied for best net, which must be played off before the two prizes are awarded. The result proved conclusively that more than one family has been brushing up the game "en masse."

The best gross went to Messrs. M. Lewis Crosby and A. Morris Crosby of Chestnut Hill, their score being an 85 and they winning the pair of golf bags. Two net prizes were offered, two pairs of ivory faced wooden clubs and two leather jackets. A three-cornered play-off will be necessary to determine the winners before these trophies are awarded, for F. H. and J. H. Eaton of Merrimack Valley, A. J. and C. O. Wellington of Woodlawn and C. A. and R. R. Rideout of Winchester wound up their day's play with net scores of 72, the handicaps beings respectively 14, 19 and 21.

The tournament was a selected drive competition, play being exactly as in mixed foursomes. If a drive went scurrying into sand or woods there still was the second "serve." It was after leaving the tee that the casualty list began to assume proportions because there a shot into the soup remained right in the toureen until another shot—perhaps several more—spooned it out. And on the greens. Ah! There's where it took a calm and collected opposing pair to step in and prevent fratricide or patricide or whatever it is when a man kills his own father or son.

FATHER AND SON TOURNAMENT

On the eighth green C. R. Corwin of Brae-Burn and Tedesco ran a long approach putt two feet from the cup. It was a sweetheart. Up stepped Arthur, champion of Mount Washington and neighboring peaks, and missed fire. Then, forgetting the rule of alternate swipes, he tapped the ball in, dad having to replace the ball, add a penalty stroke and take another putt for the team. "I hadn't heard of that rule, said Arthur. "No but you'll hear all about it when we get home," replied the head of the family.

Playing with the Corwins were the Smiths, A. P. and E. C. of Winchester. On the 16th green young Eli, not to be outdone by the younger Corwin, pulled exactly the same trick. He was not on speaking terms with his dad the balance of the afternoon, but they probably did a bit of talking in the evening.

Howard North of the Wellesley Country Club continued his annual practice of playing first with his father, now in his 71st year and the oldest man playing yesterday, and then with his 16 year-old son, who shaded his granddad by only two shots. E. B. Richardson of Monoosnock and Otto Hockmeyer of Vesper kept peace in their families by playing with one son and then with another.

BASEBALL

By Mack

The newly constructed town team in the game with Brookline showed the fans of Winchester what a regular ball team can do with the addition of a heady pitcher, a new shortstop and second baseman and a live outfielder and spare catcher. We made the Brookline town team look like a plugged nickle among gold dollars. The Brookline team is made up of all college and prep school stars, with the exception of Walter Kelly, who is an old time minor league player, and all are rated as good hitters and fielders.

Durant, who pitched for Winchester has always been considered a good man and given a two or three-run lead can generally be depended upon to hold the other side. He was caught in good shape by Flaherty, whose arm is still weak after the injury he received at Woburn.

Fred Sawyer, who opposed Durant is rated as a fine semi-pro pitcher and should win a majority of the games he pitches.

We went to Brookline Sunday afternoon for a return game and if the Saturday game was good the Sunday game was better, as there was more baseball contained in it. We had the same team with the exception of Gray in the outfield and Morrison pitching, and he held Brookline to five hits in 11 innings, Winchester finally winning 4 to 3, to the delight of the 200 or 300 Winchester fans who accompanied the team.

To the Public Spirited Citizens of Winchester and Others

For the last 12 or 15 years Winchester has been always noted throughout the State for its fine ball team. We have been in the habit of bringing only the best of teams and players here for the benefit of the Winchester people. Doing this costs a great deal of money. This year an appeal was sent out, but met with a poor response and we were unable to go ahead and put a representative team on the field. The result has been that the brand of ball has not been up to standard. Finally, after many futile attempts to get a team the present manager decided to take a chance and put the kind of a team on the field that the people of Winchester had been in the habit of seeing you people who saw the game Saturday know the result. Of course, one game does not make a season, but the same team played the following day with the exception of the pitcher and the game was still a better one than Saturday's. Now then, if the citizens of this town expect to see this kind of a team represent Winchester, it is earnestly hoped there will be a hearty response to the appeal for funds sent out by the president of the association and any who have not received an appeal and feel like contributing to the success of the team can send checks to the undersigned at the Town Hall.

Now that you citizens have this matter before you in the proper light, we are sure that Winchester will be once more in the limelight.

Fred Waldmyer, President,
Winchester Baseball Asso.

Aug. 10th, 1922.

Notes

The man who tells the writer he can't dig players has another guess coming, but we have to have the funds to get them.

I put a notice in the Globe early in the week for players and received enough replies to make up three teams as good as the one we had Saturday and perhaps better. Their names are all on file and will be kept for future reference.

The crowd saw a game that they will probably only see once in a life time, and Mike Quigley helped to make it so.

That catch off Sawyer's bat in the ninth inning with two gone was a regular Harry Hooper catch and Mike instead of keeping the ball as a souvenir gave it to one of the kids in the outfield.

That is something I want to speak about now. We are losing too many balls on the field and very soon some one of these fresh kids who are in the habit of making off with a ball will be caught and an example made of him. Balls are still high priced and three or four an afternoon mean five or six dollars loss.

Now, I suppose you want to know something about the new players we had Saturday.

Bob Walsh, of course you all know and you saw what he could do when playing his regular position. I looked over another infielder for a short time, but failed to see any medals on him as a hitter or fielder. His name was O'Connor and came from Cambridge. The joke was on Bob when we found him sitting on the bench as the game was about to start. It is a question whether the manager or Bob was the most surprised. There is not much chance of replacing that boy while I am managing the team.

Bill Walsh at short, comes from Dorchester and plays with the J. J. Connolly Club of the twilight league. He is also a playground instructor in that section and was a member of the Boston College high team. He played short as well as anyone we ever had there and better than a great many. He is a heads-up player and in the game every minute and made a hit right off with the Winchester fans by his aggressiveness.

Gournith at second comes from Everett, and is considered by semi-pro managers as a clever fielder and a good batter. He also plays the game every minute and will show better later.

"Winger" McCarthy at first we all know. He took Ralph Hatch's place for Saturday and Sunday and "Winger" said it seemed strange to hear the Winchester crowd rooting for him rather than against him. He is playing better ball this year than ever before and makes a good addition to any team.

Durant the pitcher, whose nickname among the ball players is "Dogie" has always been rated as a good pitcher and has pitched for some good teams, winning the majority of his games with the proper backing. But the manager of the Winchester town team does not expect him to pitch a no-hit game every Saturday.

Swaffield, who played right field, is an all-round player and can cover infield and outfield as well as catch, which he has been doing all season up in the central part of the State. He is a former Brown player and coaches the Leominster High School and football teams and makes his home in Watertown. He is a much better batter than he showed Saturday and is due in the next game.

Tomorrow we will have the same lineup in the field against an all-star team of the same caliber as Norton's and Kelley's all-stars. There will be a big crowd on hand early.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

The Somerville Civic Club will be held tomorrow as the attraction. This team is rated as one of the best in this section, and are now engaged with the other Somerville teams in an elimination contest for the city championship. They beat the Lincoln Club Monday night with Davidson pitching and were at it again Tuesday when rain interfered. They have a hard hitting and fast fielding team and are very confident of beating Winchester. Allie Shea or Westland will pitch and Durant and Flaherty will be the battery for Winchester. We play a return game Monday at Somerville.

In court Saturday, William J. Mearles of Wilmington, was charged with operating a car in Winchester while under the influence of liquor. For this offence he was fined $100, and for drunkenness $10.

The Selectmen have authorized the Highway Department to purchase a ton Ford truck with dump body. On small hauls about town, where considerable distance is to be traveled, it is anticipated that this truck will save much time. The town is also considering purchasing a loader for the department, it being felt that much time can be saved in loading sand, etc., by such a machine.

NEJD AND HASA: A PROBABLE POLITICAL ENTITY

If France has made a treaty with the Sultan of Nejd and Hasa, as reported, the man who runs a watch factory in Massachusetts, owns a cotton plantation in Georgia, or makes phonograph records in New Jersey has a right to prick up his ears, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The American business man is alert to news of his customers, even though that commercial abstraction, the "ultimate consumer," is the wearer of a wrist watch who has halted his camel caravan under a friendly palm, an olive Arab maid whose trousered costume of American cotton cloth is set off by a goat's hair toque, or a band of roystering pearl divers who seek somniferous surcease from their work among the sharks by gazing nightly at the very ancient contortions of a drab lady of Arabia to the tune of a new American graphophone.

A Song For a Mermaid's Tear

To note that a prima donna has traded a song for a mermaid's tear from the waters off the mountain of the mist, does not sound like trade. But when Mme Blank, whose voice commands ten dollars per seat, is in the market for a string of Bahrein pearls, the jewelers on Fifth avenue, or Bond street wax business-like. Yet the first statement is as literal as the second. If one translates Arabic place names into English but does not translate commodities into dollar marks he has a ready antidote for much that seems mystical. As for the song, it may be recorded and produced again for the ears of the divers who gathered the pearls.

The daily life in the oasis patches of desert rimmed Nejd, with its dromedaries and dates and horses of high pedigree is fascinating enough, but the Persian Gulf coastal strip from Keweit down to Katar is all the stranger for the presence of customs of many far away lands.

Here slavery survives in spite of international conventions to the contrary, and nomad sheiks wear dollar watches. Here the flea-bitten camel is the freight car and the Arabian horse the limousine, though automobiles have been introduced and a railway runs down from Bagdad, through Eden-land, to the head of the Persian Gulf. However, the shrine of romance of this new land which is emerging, along with Hejaz, Mesopotamia and Transjordania, as a political entity, lies in the waters off the Bahrein Islands.

Depends on Whims of Pretty Women

Here brown men play with death so the swains of many races may spell their love of women in pearls. A pearl buyer at Basra casually let fall the enduring truth which will be seized by the slogan writer wro tries to "promote" Bahrein—"As long as there are pretty women there will be men buying pearls."

The stalwart, naked diver who clamps his nostrils with a forked bone, plugs his ears with beeswax and ties a stone to his feet, faces other perils than sharks. Poison rays may sting him, there is the ever present danger of staying under water, too long, and the slower death from successive bleedings of the nose, caused by deep diving. The diver has little time to think of dangrs but he must not become too absorbed in his submarine search to jerk the cord which signals his comrades to pull him up.

Night Life is Tumultuous

The diving season lasts from June to November and the waters during that period are flecked with several thousand boats from which the divers work. In each of these boats are from half a dozen to a dozen men and ashore are many buyers, traders, and "hangers on." Of the night life one writer says:

"A night on this barbaric, tumultuous beach is not readily forgotten. A long row of mud-walled, straw-covered coffee shops stretches the length of Menameh's water front, and from red sunset till flaring, noisy dawn the revels of the careless boatmen run their brawling course. There are cheap, gaudy native theaters, too, where slovenly Arab girls, all bads, bracelets, anklets, spangles, and tattoo work, wriggle and sway through the sinuous dances of the Oriental midways."

From these islands the Phoenicians are believed to have gone north to the Mediterranean. They are only twenty miles off the coast of Hasa, to the south of El Katif, city of underground water which gushes from many springs.

Mr. George Brine of Atlanta, Ga., spent a few days in town this week visiting his father, Mr. George R. Brine of Washington street. Mr. Brine, who is vice-president and general manager of the Atlanta Electric Company, and a director of the Atlanta baseball club in the South Atlanta League, left on his return trip Wednesday.

YOU CAN'T STOP BREATHING
AND LET THE LUNGS REST

—o—

SOMETIMES a simple little sentence can contain a thought that will change all your ideas on an important subject.

When you talk about your advertising "campaign?" Is advertising, to you, something to be used or not used, according to your needs as you see them?

Well, here is a man who has started business men to thinking merely by saying "There is no such thing as an advertising campaign."

He is Mr. I. H. Detrich who, according to Collier's, built a yearly retail business of $1,250,000 in twelve years in a city of 75,000. He says:

"There is no such thing as an 'advertising campaign,' unless you want to admit there is such a thing as a 'breathing campaign,' or a 'bathing campaign.' You can stop breathing and let the lungs rest, as Stephen Leacock once said, but more of you will soon be at rest than your lungs. Just so with advertising. It goes on all the time; your advertising or your competitor's advertising. You can make a short, special drive in some one city if you are a manufacturer or a retailer, and you can call that a campaign. But the bread-and-butter advertising, which you do for a living, can't be defined by any such limited word."

Sales miracles are always with us. Seldom, however, do they cause comment because there is nothing spectacular about them.

Most of the sales miracles are wrought through steady, persistent work in one direction. Results are not always immediate nor startling. Gradually, however, a constant repetition of the story, either through salesmen or through advertising, impels belief in the service or the product offered, or both, and the sales miracle is accomplished.

No better means of advertising exists in this town of 11,000 population than through the columns of the Star. It reaches Every Home and Every Member of Each Family.

An advertisement in the Star will return its cost many times over.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

A man who wins never occupies a neutral position.

A ragtime philosopher says it is easy to stand pat if you have a comfortable seat.

There is no doubt as to a man's credit being perfectly good when he wishes to borrow trouble.

Promptness in a store clerk is a very good thing, for when you ask information of some of them they certainly do make it snappy.

Fair weather Tuesday night.

Taken a strike vote in your house yet?

From observation, the drunken automobile driver stands today about an even chance of acquital; and at the worst a fine of from $100 to $125. The fact that his breath smells of liquor, that he drives his car in a zig-zag and dangerous manner, or that he staggers when he walks, is as likely to be discounted in his trial as it is to be used as evidence. If he has enough pull, his name is omitted from published reports of his trial, and judging from some of the names that do appear the typesetter is not sorry. In other words, if a man wants to take a few drinks—or more—and then see how fast his car can run, why worry. If a sober, law abiding driver fails to see a small circular sign at the corner of a busy street or a still smaller tin sign on the corner of a building, and is held up for wrong use of a one-way street he is fined $10 or $15. The difference is a little greater than 10 per cent, for the latter is reasonably sure of the fine. An officer of the law hides behind a tree and arrests a sober and capable driver for traveling over 20 miles an hour on a straight and open road. Unless he is a physician or can prove his hurry exceptional—or possibly be drunk—he, too, is sure to be fined. Where does the difference come in? The fact is our law sentences are too elastic. The driver who does not fear to go on the road with a load of liquor inside him, never fears a fine of $100—and there is always the even chance of getting away with it. Many people are awaking up to these facts—especially after the case has been discharged after an appeal.

A new method of advertising has sprung into vogue in town. It is easily and effectively accomplished, and consists only in writing the message the advertiser seeks to convey upon our smooth streets. As the pedestrian crosses the street he meets the message, written in large letters of chalk. As the auto driver turns the corner, the "word" is spread on the street before him. These are advertising days. Soon we may expect to drive our cars over a continuous way of high art advertising signs. If they are put in colors and arranged effectively, we will have hard work to distinguish the street from the flowing fields, and the drunken driver will have still another alibi. We have a by-law regarding posting trees and poles, which appears also to be somewhat out of date, for we notice that our poles are beginning to hold important messages to the populace. We trust that our Board of Selectmen is alive to the possible revenue to be derived from such advertising. Surely a "street concession" is valuable—especially about the centre.

Of the many strange and previously unheard of acts in the railroad situation, the top of the list is reached in the recent aggitation to call out the remainder of the union workers on the job because of the presence of United States soldiers and guards which are protecting the workers and the railroad property. "Union workers fear for their lives as long as these guards are employed!" The union men must quit their job through fear of their protectors! What nonsense. No better illustration of what this big railroad strike means has yet been given. Do you imagine that the men who run the trains which pass through Winchester would actually prefer to have all railroad guards removed and go on taking a chance in having someone wreck their train at the Bacon curve—which has twice been attempted—than to run their train with the knowledge that a competent body of men is working constantly for their protection? Do you imagine that they would have no fear of being mistaken for strike breakers and being beaten up—if the guards were removed. The massacre at the coal fields in Illinois gave ample illustration of the spirit abroad. The Boston Herald cites the situation fully: "shall the United States of America remain a government 'of the people, by the people, for the people,' or shall it become a soviet government of organized labor, by organized labor, for organized labor?"

IS THE GOVERNMENT TOO WEAK TO PROTECT ITS CITIZENS?

Because the owners of non-union mines have subscribed money to county authorities in order to get sufficient policemen, officials of the United Mine Workers have protested, called these special policemen "thugs" and "gunmen," and through vigorous propaganda have attempted to raise false issues. Equally well might those who desire to loot bank buildings and bank automobiles object to private guards. Burglars undoubtedly would prefer that homes, apartment houses and office buildings should have no private watchmen. Even the American Federation of Labor building in Washington pays for policemen. Railroads have commonly had their conductors made special policemen.

In order to protect loyal men who desire to work as shopmen the government has placed around the shops extra policemen and watchmen, some members of the national guard, some deputy marshals. These protectors of the men, who are working in order that railroad trains may run with safety to passengers and freight, are not even privately paid; they are representatives of the government whose duty it is to maintain order in the United States.

There is no more reason for objecting to these guards than there is for objecting to the police force in a city. The duties of policemen and of guards is to maintain order.

An attempt was made a few years ago to have the policemen become members of unions, and already some thirty cities had permitted their police forces to unionize, when the police strike in Boston focused the attention of the country on the threatened menace. This attempt to unionize the police failed.

Today we read that railroad men are going out on strike in protest against the employment by the government of the necessary force to maintain order around railroad shops. Such sympathetic strikes are notice to the people of the United States that organized labor insists that no man shall work in safety in this country without its permission. These sympathetic strikes are notice that the people may starve and freeze, and that industry may cease if any man dares to work without Jewell's permission.

The history of strikes shows that many strikers and their sympathizers are ready to resort to violence in order to win. Protection by the government is therefore necessary.

Tomorrow officials of many railroad brotherhoods are to meet in Washington evidently for the purpose of attempting to overawe the government. The sympathetic strike at Chicago and threatened strikes elsewhere are plainly a part of this attempt to overawe the government.

Labor leaders, drunk with power, as the result of the eight years of the last administration, with "collective bargaining" now become "monopalistic bargaining" recognized by the government, evidently believe they are stronger than the government; that with impunity they may throttle industry, stop the operation of the railroads, terrorize honest workmen and control the United States.

Democracy is on trial! Warren G. Harding is on trial! The government is on trial!

Shall the United States of America remain a government "of the people, by the people, for the people," or shall it become a soviet government of organized labor, by organized labor, for organized labor?

It is about time grand juries were in session and that labor leaders learned that the government of the United States still functions.

It would be a sorry spectacle if the administration in Washington should admit that it cannot protect its citizens lawfully working in private employment.—[Herald.

AND NOW BASEBALL

Editor of the Star:

May I make a correction through the columns of your paper, inasmuch as the manager of the Winchester town team so widely advertised the twilight game for Wednesday, August 9th, and the colored champions of New England being the attraction.

The ball fans should know the truth about this wonderful team. As a matter of fact Mr. McKenzie knew that this was not the team he represented it to be. He knew they were nothing more than a pick-up team from West Medford. He is also aware of the fact that the Boston Tigers are as good as any semi-pro team in New England, black or white, and he can get them by giving a guarantee of one hundred dollars ($100). I am sure they will give as good an exhibition of baseball as has ever been played on Manchester Field.

We do not know why such statements should be made. All the alibis from here to France cannot explain away this affair, for who in all New Enyland knows more about baseball and players than Mr. McKenzie.

DID AFRICA PEOPLE PREHISTORIC EUROPE

The recent discovery in a cave in Northern Rhodesia of a human skull apparently many thousands of years old seems to put Africa on the map for the first time as the probable field of development for men who played an important part in the life of prehistoric Europe. Where the most important old human skulls have been discovered heretofore and what their locations seem to indicate is told in the following bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society:

Europe has long been recognized as merely the stage on which late acts of the great drama of the development of man and his civilization have been played, says the bulletin. None of the races that has lived in Europe during the long period of man's life on the earth is believed to have originated there. Hitherto all evidence pointed to Asia as the source of the succeeding waves of human immigrants as it was the source, at least proximately, of the thousands of horses, deer and cattle that swarmed into the country during interglacial periods.

Africa Considered Only Bridge In Past

Races had come across the land bridges from Africa, but for the most part they had merely used northern Africa as a path, coming from Arabia or farther Asia. The one exception kuown was the strange appearance along the southern fringe of Europe at one time of a race akin to the negro pygmies of present-day central Africa. But these small negroids were an unimportant factor and soon vanished.

So far as Europe is concerned, the Heidelberg men were the earliest known human inhabitants. A single jaw-bone discovered in Germany represents the data form which conclusions have been drawn in regard to this race which is supposed to have lived some 200,000 years ago. They are classed as the first wholly human beings of whom fossils have been discovered, and are supposed to have been later by probably a quarter of a million years than the ape-man whose skull was discovered in Java.

Europe's Inhabitants 73,000 B. C.

The Heidelberg men were apparently succeeded about 75,000 years ago by a long persisting type of whom many fossils have been found—the Neanderthal man. Skulls and bones of this widely diffused people have been found in France, Germany, Belgium, Croatia, on theChannel Isles, on the rock of Gibraltar, and in Malta. They were cave-dwellers hunters and for more than 50,000 years lived off the herds of horses, deer, and cattle that abounded in Europe during that period.

These Neanderthal men were much more advanced than the men of Heidelberg, but still they were lower in the scale than the savage of the present day. They were squat, burly, big-headed and thick-skulled. Their brows projected markedly over cavernous eyes, they were almost chinless, and their knees were permanently bent. The first skull of these people discovered more than 60 years ago was so widely divergent from existing skulls that one scientist insisted that it was a malformation. It was only after the discovery of other fossils that the former existence of this race was generally accepted.

First Neanderthal Discovery In Africa

Though Neanderthal remains have been discovery at the very edge of northern Africa, notably in Gibraltar and Malta, there has been no general tendency to look upon Africa as the source of that people. The skull and bones recently discovered in northern Rhodesia, however, are believed to be of the general Neanderthal type and their discovery opens up the possibility that it was from Africa that Europe's Neanderthal horde came. The "Broken Hill Skull," as the African fossil is called, is in some ways more primitive than the European Neanderthal skulls though it is believed to be more recent. These facts give added weight to the belief that the skull recently found was nearer than the European fossils to the original point of dissemination of the Neanderthal men.

Exceptions.

"Sometimes, John," said Brashkin's wife, "I do get a little discouraged, and think you are hard to please." "You don't say so," was the astonishing rejoinder. "Yes, but I must admit there is one thing you never found fault with—the way I look when I wear my last year's clothes."—Detroit Free Press.

Supposing

If you and a score of your friends were to pool so many dollars a month, each, and loan the money to one of your number to build a home, while paying you the usual interest, you would be doing him a great favor and all the rest of you would get a good return for your money and be amply protected.

That is exactly what a co-operative bank is and does—under State supervision and in a well ordered and economical way.

It is an ideal service for savers and for home builders.

THE BLUE NILE: IT KEEPS EGYPT'S AGRICULTURE ROSY

The advisability of damming up the Blue Nile not far from Khartum in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan so that the rich triangular region between the two mighty forks of the most historic river in the world may be turned into a granary for all the Sudanis being considered by the British Government, newspaper dispatches say.

The Blue Nile, or the Bahr-el-Azrek as it is called locally, rising in the highlands of Abyssinia, together with two other affluents from the same source, furnishes the world-famous Nile with much of the rich sediment which for centuries has enriched the plains of lower Egypt during the flood season, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Rich Region Almost Unknown

Down through a region little known and almost devoid of inhabitants or any form of cultivation, rushing over numerous cataracts and rapids, the Blue Nile cuts its way from its source, the beautiful broad sheet of water known as Lake Tsana. The lake, which in the future may become the reservoir for the irrigation of a vast area, lies 6,000 feet above sea-level and about 2,500 feet below the normal level of the plateau in a basin resembling somewhat the crater of a volcano. Near its southeastern corner, through a great fissure in its almost inaccessible rim, the river issues, and circling around the mountains strikes out in an 850 mile course toward the northwest to join the chief branch of the Nile at Khartum of Kitchner fame.

The vast plains of Sennar or El Gezira on its left bank are among the richest on the continent and it is these that the irrigation projects are to develop. In Sennar, the Dinder, a Blue Nile tributary which also rises in the Abyssinian highlands, adds, during the rainy season, its sediment-laden flood to that of the already swollen river, and together at Khartum they discharge over 10,000 cubic meters of water per second, thus outdoing the White Nile itself during that time.

Main Nile Dammed Already

From July to October this mighty flooding goes on, the waters of the Blue Nile, so called because of their clarity and blueness at ordinary seasons, mingling their chocolate brown with the greenish-gray color of the White branch of Father Nilus.

This great difference in the volume of water from Abyssinia is due to the heavy rain that falls in the mountains of the country not far from its eastern coast. The Nile system in itself may be said to be a simple one, its basic source being that steadily flowing river from the tropics which is fed by the great lakes in the eastern and central portion of the continent, augmented at times by a great volume of water from its Abyssinian affluents.

Since 1902 the inhabitants of Egypt near the mouth of the Nile have had their water supply replenished during the season of low water by the reserve supply stored in the Assuan Dam.

Inhabitants "Hard-Boiled"

Long stretches of the area north of the Blue Nile are almost entirely uninhabited, one traveler reporting that he traveled "86 miles in Abyssinia and had not seen a dwelling or a sign of culivation." And even when one encounters inhabitants in the country further to the east he finds them "unashamed of any crime or vice." They perpetrate their crimes with perfect indifference and recount them with gaiety and laughter as part of the regular conversation during meals.

Up in the highlands near the river's source despite the burning tropical heat of the day, one is glad to crawl snugly beneath his blanket when night has fallen. The beautiful blue lake encircled with mountains and dotted with islands leaves much for future explorers to do, as few data concerning it have been gathered and few soundings made. The sudden gusts and squalls which rush down the valleys across it give plenty of variety to its some-time deceptive calm. Hippoptamuses, which the natives hunt for their hides, infest its waters.

The mystery which has always clung to the Dark Continent still encompasses much of this virtually unknown region, but its promise is great when man learns to harness to the power it possesses, to give water to its thirsty and dry sections, and wrest from it the wealth of its natural gifts.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Send your friends a post card of your home town. Wilson has them all.

Mr. John Watters is a Councilor at Camp Wanalancet, N. H.

Playing cards? Of course—at Wilson the Stationer's.

Mr. Winthrop Palmer of Wolcott road is at Camp Devens.

Sergt. Thomas F. McCauley of the police department has returned from his vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Pattee (Miss Grace Brownell) of Canal street are the parents of a daughter, born this week at the Winchester Hospital.

Among the approaching weddings is that of Mr. Hugh Gates Dugan of Hinsdale, Ill., and Miss Elizabeth Fitch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Fitch of Oxford street.

Bridge is the game! Wilson's pad scores are laid out properly and eliminate disputes. We sent them to Portland, Me.; Hillsboro, N. H.; Duxbury, Mass., and Saconnett, R. I., this week on order. Have you tried them?

Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Dodge leave Monday for a trip to Strong, Me., Mr. Dodge's home town. He will attend a family reunion, at which he will meet for the first time in 27 years, two uncles residing in California. Mr. Dodge is well known as manager of the Winchester Garage.

The decorations at the iron gateway to the police station, adjoining the fire station, should not pass away without mention this summer. The scarlet runners twined about the arch, with their bright red blossoms and green leaves, have been much admired this season. The decoration is due to the thought and care of members of the fire department.

Rev. Doremus Scudder of Mt. Vernon street, seriously injured last week at Williamstown by being struck by an automobile, is reported much improved, and a complete recovery is looked for if no complications arise. He was struck by a woman driver and for a time it was feared that he had suffered a fractured skull.

MOVING AND PAYING RENT AGE-OLD WORRIES

The modern head of a family who must move or worry about rental rates and leases, whether on May 1 or some of our other "moving days," may think that Americans are alone in having such troubles. But according to a bulletin issued from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society families are having similar tribulations whether in Japan, Persia, or England, and have had evictions and harsher penalties hanging over them since men wrote on clay tablets 4000 and more years ago.

Rented habitations we have had with us always, like the poor—and perhaps the two are not altogether unrelated, says the bulletin. Nomads alone seem able to escape the shadow of the rent man, a reflection which may make a somewhat tenderer place in our hearts for the Gypsy.

Landlords and Rental Agencies in Babylon

The very earliest records of daily transactions that have been found, the clay tablets on which were written the contracts of Babylonia 3000 and 4000 years ago, show that the renting of houses was a flourishing business among the landlords of Babylon and Nippur. The existence of commission merchants and labor agencies leaves little doubt that real estate and rental agencies also existed much as they do today. One can almost picture the frantic house-hunting engaged in by one Sinidinnam, perhaps accompanied by Mrs. Sin, and doubtless led by a bright young man from the Nippur Rental Agency, which preceded the execution of the following lease dated the "fourth month, first day" in the year 2052 B. C.:

"The house of Damu-ramu, from Damuribam, Sin-idinnam, the merchant, has rented as a dwelling and possession at a yearly rental of one-third of a shekel of silver."

The ordinary dwellings of Nippur were probably mere shacks of sun-dried with mud roofs, but even for such poor accommodations the rental was cheap from a modern point of view. At most a shekel is believed to have had little more purchasing power than $5 has today, so Sin-idinnam had the use of a house for less than $2 a year. The highest rentals set out in the clay leases of Babylonia were six shekels or about $30 a year, a striking contrast to rentals in some more pretentious modern apartment houses where the charges exceed $1000 a month.

Notaries and Oaths 4000 Years Ago

Babylonian procedure in regard to real estate was little different from our own. Formal contracts and deeds had to be attested by a notary, and in swearing the person taking the oath raised his right hand. An official copy of the transaction, on a clay tablet, with the notary's attestation was deposited in the temple, the court house of those days.

There was an excellent reason for paying one's rent promptly in Babylon, for creditors could seize one of the debtor's household for a hostage and hold him until a satisfactory settlement was made. Interest rates were rather discouraging, also, "the usual rate" referred to on clay tablets being 20 per cent. Instead of a penalty of ten per cent as provided in modern notes if legal steps must be taken to collect, Babylonian notes provided for the doubling of the debt.

Tenement Houses in Rome

Little is known of rental customs in Athens, Rome and Byzantium but probably they were little different from those of Babylon and New York, though rates were naturally higher than in the former and lower than in the latter. Rome had its tenement houses of several stories housing numerous families; but they were built of sun-dried brick and stucco and have long since crumbled.

In Japan today one of the pressing economic problems is the rapid increase of rents. Charges for the use of the bamboo and paper dwellings that make up the majority of the habitations in the cities have increased five-fold in the last five years and there is much congestion.

Even in Teheran, Persia, congestion has inevitably created tenement houses. In spite of their injunctions of religion and custom to seclude their women, the families of many Persian workmen use a common street door and occupy rooms opening on a common court. The rent is approximately $1 per rom per month, a price which does not appear very small when it is understood that the unskilled laborer receives about 50 cents for each day he works.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

We have grown during the past few years. We recognized that our old time methods of handling our customers' work of all kinds were rather outgrown. So we decided to take a step forward in the growth of our organization.

We have now the pleasure of informing you that our "Service Department" with Mr. B. E. Cass in charge, will be ready to give you the best service possible whether it be to place a gas meter, deliver a gas range, attend to some appliance adjustment or to connect a gas water heater. All work done for our customers will be in charge of this department.

The usage of the word "Service" has been overdone but service itself is always appreciated.

Whenever you want any of our "Service," just telephone Arlington 2000 and ask for "Service Department."

MORE ROAD MAPS

Those fine auto road maps we told you about a fortnight ago lasted just ten days. Last week we could not supply them. This week we received a double order. They are the finest maps you ever saw. Everybody wants one.

The map covers New England. It is convenient—not a great flimsey sheet; not a tiny page that cannot be read. It is in colors—you can distinguish a road from a river, a north and south way from an east and west way and a state boundary from a township line. It gives all the information you wish. It is accurate.

If you want a really good auto map (or a map of New England for any use whatever) we recommend it. Once you have used it, you will always need it.

WILL WHOLE CITIES WEAR GAS MASKS IN NEXT WAR?

Loaded with high explosives of today, the modern air bomb will cave in the whole fronts of buildings, shatter armor, and demolish all sorts of military objects, including the destruction of life by concussion, says the bulletin, which is based on a communication from Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, assistant chief of Air Service, U. S. A. For instance, the whole water-front at Halifax was destroyed by an explosion in the harbor.

Heretofore projectiles from large cannon have been designed to pierce the armor of battleships, and then cause their effect by driving the fragments through the bulkheads and into the various parts of the ship. Twenty-five such shots went clean through the German flagship Derfflinger inthe Battle of Jutland, but, aside from killing about 200 of the personnel, never destroyed the speed of this ship. These twenty-five shots altogether had no more than about 1,000 pounds of explosive in them.

Single Air Bomb Would Wreck Ship

But one of the present air bombs, which weighs one ton and contains from 1,000 to 1,400 pounds of explosive, dropped on her from an airplane, would have wrecked this ship to such an extent as to put her completely out of action and end her usefulness as a war vessel.

Our cities in this country are particularly subject to the destructive effects of bombardment on account of the inflammable charactor of the construction and in many cases the difficulty encountered in getting people out of them in the event of such an attack.

Why Some Cities are Likely Targets

New York is a notable example. It is situated on a narrow peninsula, and so marked out by two rivers on each side of it that it cannot be mistaken from aircraft, either by day or by night. Communications off this peninsular for people trying to get away from a bombardment attack are very bad, so that the population could not get away, and the conflagration which would be incident to it would be more serious than anything that has ever occurred in any city.

Bombardment from airplanes is not confined to a coast-line because there is no coast-line in the air. The airplanes can fly inland to the limit of their gas, if unopposed, and deliver their loads of bombs. Airplanes can carry now from one to three tons of bombs, and a group of 100 airplanes is able to carry 100 tons, as distinguished from the groups that we had during the war, when one group of four American squadrons could carry only 3½ tons to the trip.

FINE CELEBRATION

Italian Fireworks and Concert Best Yet Given

The best band concert ever given in Winchester, the finest display of fireworks yet seen on Manchester Field and the biggest crowd which has ever been in Winchester sums up the celebration of the Feast of the Assumption by the Italian residents of this town on Tuesday.

As is customary, the day's exercises opened in the morning with mass at St. Mary's Church, following which there was a parade through the Italian section of the town, the houses and streets being decorated with American and Italian flags.

In the afternoon there was a procession to St. Mary's Church, where the statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary was placed upon a litter and taken in the line. The gathering, numbering about 500, then marched by way of Mt. Vernon street to the centre, Washington street, Swanton street, Chester, Irving, Florence, Swanton, Cedar, Swanton, Holland, Oak, Spruce, Swanton, Nelson and Westley streets back to the church. Around the statue were many little Italian girls, all dressed in white and wearing garlands of flowers. The American and Italian flags, both of beautiful silk, were carried side by side, and the music was by Gallo's Symphony Band.

In the evening the program opened with a band concert on Manchester Field by what is considered to be the finest band ever to visit this town. There were 40 pieces, conducted by Signor Stanislao Gallo, and a program of operatic and Italian music was given which evoked deafening applause from the thousands who listened on the field and in the automobiles on the Parkway. The concert continued until 9:30, when the fire works opened.

The fireworks lasted nearly an hour and were set off as though by clock work. The display was magnificent, it being about equally divided with set pieces and air displays. Many new novelties were introduced, the most interesting being two tumblers, who vaulted parallel bars, and a magnificent pure white waterfall stretching half way across the field. There were included also a very handsome piece showing crossed American flags, aerial birds and other exceptional displays, the colors of which were magnificent.

As usual the Parkway was lined with automobiles from Washington street to beyond Mystic avenue, a force of six Metropolitan officers doing duty there. Cars were parked in favorable positions on the Parkway before five o'clock in the afternoon, and by six o'clock the line extended nearly to Mystic avenue. All the streets about the centre were filled with cars. The open space on Waterfield road was filled, Common street was filled, cars were parkd on Main stret from the centre to Washington street, and Church street and the Congregational Church drive were filled.

The crowd was by far the largest yet to attend any similar celebration in Winchester, it being estimated that over 10,000 people were on the field and in the vicinity during the evening. Every police officer on the local force was on duty and Chief McIntosh and Sergeant McCauley laid out a very effective and well designed traffic plan in handling the crowd. Officer Hogan in the centre had his hands full during the entire evening, and did a good job throughout. After the fireworks, the centre presented a sight not soon forgotten by those who saw it, the great mass of people and autos filling it to overflowing.

To the committee of Italian residents headed by Mrs. James V. Barbaro, all commendation for the fine concert and fireworks display should be given. This committee included Alfred Rolli, secretary; Marcellino Fiocociello, Francesco Ciacalone, Guiseppe Rania, Mistretta Salvatore, Domenico di Mambro, Frank Reego, Guiseppe Ferro, Bicola Tarquino, Antonio Seraguso, Raffaele Pendo and Roberto Galante.

PICKPOCKETS BUSY

Pickpockets were busy in town Tuesday night in the big crowd on Manchester Field, several people reporting losses. One man lost his pocketbook containing $25. Another man from Nova Scotia, visiting Mr. Grant Clark of Clematis street lost about all he had with him, the thief taking $40 in U. S. currency, $20 in Canadian money and a note for $500 on a banking house.

Among the flowers on display at the Star office, are several beautiful specimens from Miss Hattie E. Snow of Forest street.

MR. WILLIAM ALLEN

Mr. William Allen, well known through a residence in this town of over 30 years, died at his home at 165 Washington street, Friday night of infirmities due to his advanced age of 88 years. He was ill but a week.

Mr. Allen was a native of London, England, and was a machinist by trade. When the United Shoe Machinery Company opened its factory here, he came to Winchester and took up his residence, working for that company until it moved to Beverly. Since that time he had retired.

He was a member of the First Congregational Church and for many years was a familiar figure at the annual Traders' outing, held each August, several times taking the prize offered for the oldest man in attendance.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. William Joyce of this town, with whom he made his home; Mrs. William Fieldhouse of North Andover, and one son, Mr. William Allen of Rome, Ga.; also 16 grand children and 31 great grand children.

The funeral services were held at the residence on Monday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. Arthur L. Winn. The pall bearers were five grandsons: William, George, Albert and Charles Joyce of this town, William Allen of Stoneham, Mr. Arthur Fieldhouse of North Andover, and Mr. Patrick E. Fitzgerald. The burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

BOYS PUSHED AUTO IN LAKE

When A. R. Bates of Medford went to get his Hudson touring car at Medford Boat Club Sunday night it had disappeared. He was unable to find it and reported it as stolen to the Metropolitan Police. Monday forenoon as steward Fred Morris of the club was passing through the entrance driveway he saw the top of a car in the water in the lower lake. Investigation revealed that it was Bates' car.

Bates, it appears, had run his car on the grass at the side of the drive facing the high bank just outside the gate. He was gone about a half hour before he missed it. From indications it appeared that a gang of youths and boys had released the brakes and run the car backwards over the bank and into the lake. The car was almost submerged, only the front wheels and the front part of the top being above the water.

Monday afternoon the contractor who is building the new roadway on the Parkway at that place ran one of the steam rollers to the bank and hauled the car out. Although filled with mud and water, one touch of the starter was all that was necessary to start the engine, and the car was driven off as though it had stood in the garage for 36 hours, instead of on the bottom of the lake. It was not damaged other than having the rear mudguards bent.

HORSE WENT INTO CESSPOOL

Friday afternoon one of a pair of horses of Thomas Quigley, Jr., while drawing a load of wood at the rear of a house on Richardson street, went through into an old disused cesspool. For a time it was thought that it would be necessary to secure aid from the fire department to get the animal out, and a message was sent to the fire station for assistance. Asst. Chief Gorman responded, but before he arrived the driver, aided by town men, succeeded in freeing the horse, which was not injured.

OUTING AT CANOBIE LAKE

Seventy-five mothers and children enjoyed an outing on Saturday at Canobie Lake, Salem, N. H., the affair being arranged by a committee of the C. D. of A. under Mrs. Nora O'Melia, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Kelley and Mrs. William Vayo. The trip was made by auto trucks, the party taking a picnic lunch. A most enjoyable day was spent.

MR. DOWNS MADE FUEL ADMINISTRATOR

Mr. Jere A. Downs, one of our fuel administrators during the war, has been appointed to serve for this town during the present shortage, it was announced the first of the week. Mr. Downs made a very efficient official during his previous appointment and his selection will be a source of satisfaction at this time.

Winchester Lodge of Elks held its regular August meeting in Lyceum Hall on Tuesday evening. A number of applications were acted upon. Owing to the fireworks on Manchester Field the meeting was held early and there was no business session.

ELKS WENT TO PROVIDENCE

Large Party Enjoyed Traders' Day at Rocky Point

Traders' Day fell on one of the hottest days of the summer this year, a circumstance similar to that of last year. Fortunately for many of the merchants the same date was assigned for the annual field day and outing of the Providence Lodge of Elks at Rocky Point, R. I., and in view of the fact that no concerted outing was arranged for the Traders this year, a large party of them holding membership in the fraternity journeyed to Providence and participated in the fun at the seashore.

The Winchester party was made up of some ten automobiles and left the centre shortly before eight, reaching Providence in time to witness the closing review of the big morning parade. Through the efforts of Mr. Charles W. Meek, formerly a resident of Providence and a member of the Providence Lodge, every courtesy was extended to the local visitors.

At Rocky Point the heat of the day was thoroughly on accord with the spirit of the party, most of which spent the larger part of the day in the water at the fine bathing beach. Following luncheon a ball game was enjoyed, it being played by the Woonsocket and Providence teams. In this game "Jack" McKenzie, well known as an old High School pitcher and more recently as an expert twirler on our town team, occupied the box for Woonsocket. Unfortunately the Providence team won the game 7 to 4.

Following the baseball, sports were run off until well into the afternoon, many of the Winchester visitors winning prizes. In fact almost every member of the local party was awarded a souvenir in one event or another.

At noon a regular Rhode Island clam bake was served in the large pavilion, a feature which many of the Winchester visitors had not previously enjoyed. During the dinner the Governor of Rhode Island was present and spoke.

A large number of the Winchester party remained until evening, when they enjoyed the display of fireworks. Others left the resort at six, returning to town at dark.

Among those who attended were the following:

T. D. PHILOSOPHIZES

Evidently the philosophic calm of Thomas Dreier was not much disturbed by the explosions at our school meeting, judging by the following which appeared in the August number of "The Vagabond."

At one of our special Winchester town meetings recently the question before the house was this: "It has been decided that we are to build four new schoolhouses. Shall we build one each year for four years, or shall we build two schools this year and two next?" You might think offhand that such a question could be answered without any great display of emotion. It wasn't. The meeting started at 7:45 and lasted until nearly 10:30. Men got all excited, used harsh language, indulged in oratory that made one wonder what they would do if the fate of the whole country was at stake—gosh, it was exciting. Being a sort of philosophic individual, able most of the time to detach myself from what is going on immediately about me, I thought of words of Puck, "What fools these mortals be."

BRIDGE PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

Work is still going on rapidly at the new Bacon street bridge in course of construction, although the visable action is not so pronounced as during the earlier stages of the work. The trench for the west abutment has been finished and concrete is being poured. Steel reinforcing rods are on the ground for the job and a big pile of sand and crushed rock has been made on the road above the mixed to keep the concrete work in continuous operation. The work of excavating for the east abutment is now about to be started.

ANDREW V. HARROLD

Andrew Vincent Harrold, 28 years old and formerly a sergeant in the Marine Corps, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew P. Harrold, 211 Washington street, yesterday after a long illness.

Mr. Harrold was born in Winchester and graduated from the Winchester schools. He was for some years a chauffeur, and in May, 1917, he enlisted in the Marine Corps. He did not have the good fortune to get across, being stationed in Philadelphia during the war and serving as motorcycle dispatch rider and ambulance driver. He left the service with the rank of sergeant.

He was taken sick in October of last year and in April he underwent an operation at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. He failed to improve after the operation and steadily failed until his death.

In 1919 he married Miss Mary Barry of Westchester, Pa., who survives him, together with a year-and-a-half-old son, Andrew V., Jr. He leaves also his parents, Andrew P. and Alice M. (Cogan) Harrold, three sisters and four brothers—Mrs. Leo T. Hannon, Mrs. Frank Hobley, Miss Eileen R. Harrold, Charles J., James H. of Jersey City, George W. and Frank E.

He was a member of Winchester Council, K. of C., and of Winchester Post 97, American Legion.

High mass of requiem will be celebrated at St. Mary's Church on Monday morning at 9:30, which will be attended by escorts from the Marine Corps and the Legion. The burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

NOTICE TO WINCHESTER POST NO. 97

All members of Winchester Post No. 97, American Legion, are requested to attend the funeral of Sergt. Andrew Harrold.

Post will assemble at Legion House, Monday at 8 o'clock.

"ROLLIE SMITH IS GOLFING SURPRISE

R. L. Smith of Winchester, who managed to squeeze into the first division with an 89, after a play-off, furnished a surprise by winning the Pittsfield Country Club's annual golf tournament Saturday. Smith defeated W. A. Whitcomb of Worcester one up in 19 holes in the finals in the afternoon. He took his match from L. A. Wilson of Upper Montclair, the medalist, one up in 18 holes in the morning. Whitcomb defeated John Winslow of Worcester 4 and 3 in the other semi-final match.

In the finals, Smith was two up starting the eighth, but the match was squared on the 11th. Smith won the 12th with a birdie 3 by sinking his approach. Whitcomb squared the match with a birdie 2 on the 15th and the next three holes were halved in par figures, although Whitcomb missed by a scant margin a 30-foot putt for the match on the 18th hole.

Wilson had a 10-foot putt for the match on the 18th hole in the morning, but putted so far over that he missed his next stroke and conceded a short putt to Smith, giving him the match.

HOT DAY WEDNESDAY

Wednesday was probably one of the hottest days of the summer. Fortunately it was observed as Traders' Day here and practically every business house and store was closed. A hot land breeze made seashore as warm as inland, but those who were able to get into the water were the more fortunate. The glass in the square registered as high as 108 during the day.

Taking advantage of the closing of the stores, Supt. of Streets James Hinds had all the roads about the centre covered with the yearly coating of oil, so that yesterday morning opened with this sticky mess well trodden in.

DOG SHOT BY OFFICER

Residents of the Bryer Farm on Washington street at the Highlands reported to the police Wednesday that a strange dog had run into the barn and hidden itself in the hay. Fearing that the animal was mad, they asked the police to shoot him.

Officer Donaghey went to the farm and found that the dog had burrowed into the hay and was laying there making strange noises and forthing at the mouth. He shot it. The owner of the animal is unknown.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Bond, of Highland avenue, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, last Friday. Mother and daughter are doing nicely.

LETTER FROM MR. CHIDLEY

The following letter was received on Monday by Deacon Charles E. Swett from Rev. Howard J. Chidley of the First Congregational Church, now traveling in Europe. Mr. Chidley's letter assures his friends that he is improving in health.

His return voyage will soon begin, as he is to occupy his pulpit the second Sunday in September.

Boston Hotel, Rome.
July 24, 1922.

Dear Mr. Swett:

I thought I had better report to the church clerk that I was still keeping the faith, though in Rome. I caught the Cameronia at Lisbon after a wonderful trip from Paris and Madrid, via Biarritz, Burgos and Sequoria. I was entranced with Spain, especially Castille. Have visited Gibralta, Algeciras, Malaqa, Monte Carlo and Nice; also Geneva and Piza on my way from Lisbon.

Rome is cool and our hotel is on one of the seven hills, so we get the breeze. They say it has been so hot in Cairo that the flies died. I hope it cools before we get there!

I have not suffered with the heat so far. I am feeling much better. Can stand the sight-seeing famously and thrive on it, so I am quite delighted. The neuritis has not all left my shoulders, but I hope it will disappear as I get stronger.

Will you give my loving greetings to my loyal church friends. My gratitude to them is strong and deep as I think how they made all this possible for me.

With cordial salutations to you and Miss Swett and Miss Folts.

Sincerely,
Howard J. Chidley.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

"The love of reading," said Montesquien, "enable a man to exchange the wearisome hours of life, which come to everyone, for hours of delight."

In books a Winchesterite can forget himself, his humdrum environment and vocations. In books a Winchesterite can travel as on a magic carpet to the poles and the far Antipodes. Neither time nor space offers any barrier to us. Such blessed oblivion is not to be gained by mere dipping into magazines. It comes from genuine absorption in a book.

With our Winchester public library offering the best of what the great minds of the world have thought and the most brilliant minds created, and with our modern bookstores within easy reach of every Winchesterite spreading before us, is there any excuse for seeking rapid society or purposeless diversion? And is it not the duty of parents to encourage the love of books and reading in their children? More books, less restlessness.

"A house without books," said Horace Mann, "is like a room without windows. No man has a right to bring up his children without surrounding them with books, if he has the means to buy them," and Sydney Smith said, "we should accustom the mind to keep the best company by introducing it only to the best books."

Don't boast about the furnishings
That grace your little nest,
But give them frequent burnishings
And let them look their best.
It's good to boost, 'tis often said,
But show some hesitation,
Lest to our Winchester assessors you are led
To boost their valuation.

Speaking of knickerbockers—a Winchester gentleman comes forward with the suggestion that skirts were invented before people wanted to be moral, but it might be fatal to carry that theory too far.

Statistics show that doctors collect one-fourth of their fees. What do our Winchester medical men have to say to this?

Winchesterites who live faster than others do not go as far.

Some people have a knack of stating things in a most subtle way, a way that beats plain statements all to holler for wit and delicacy. So the Winchester gentleman who had been entertained at dinner at his friend's house, in most royal fashion, said in leaving, "I want to thank you for your remiscent hospitality." Of course the fair sex will not know—or are not supposed to know—the real meaning under this remark, but the men folks will wink appreciatively.

The ingenuity of the small boy of this period is likely to send quicker to destruction or into some invention which will make him famous and wealthy. Recently The Spectator saw a small boy who had managed to affix a motor to his ordinary bicycle. While The Spectator watched the boy had difficulty in starting it, but suddenly it went off like the wind, with the small lad hanging on and looking both triumphant and scared. Now The Spectator is wondering if he was able to stop the thing or had to ride it until it ran down.

Little questions for this week: How many Winchesterites forget what a man has done, and judge him by what he is doing now?

That moonshiner less than a thousand miles from Winchester who said that he had never heard of the Volstead Act was lamenting over the opportunities for business he had lost.

ABOUT THE SPARROW

The Nomad gave an interesting letter iin the Boston Transcript from a Mr. Charles F. Cunningham of Health Hill, Brookline, which gives a different view of the English sparrow than that which some of the ornithologists have given. Although the Nomad is not entirely favorable to the English sparrow himself yet he is fair enough to give this letter, which I am sure many of our readers will agree with. My own experience with birds about the bungalow in Dedham leads me to agree with this defense of the sparrow.

A. H. S.

"I have had," Mr. Cunningham says, "several nests of English sparrows on my piazza screen each year for several years. On a post of the same piazza, about ten feet from these nests, a pair of robins build a nest and raise their young. Near my house are several elm trees, the leaves of which tree, as you know, are eaten by canker worms and the elm beetles; in fact, were nothing done to prevent it every leaf would look like a piece of lacework before summer was over. Watching to see what the English sparrows fed their young on, I saw that they were flying back and forth between the elm trees and their nests with canker worms in their beaks which they dropped into the widespread mouths of their little ones as fast as they could fly back and forth. All day long, a day of twelve hours with no rest—I did not count the number of canker worms destroyed, but the number was large. I do all I can to encourage these little friends of the elm trees to live near me.

"Again, as I was walking across the Public Garden one morning I noted that a strong northwester had blown in great swarms of the brown-tailed moth. I noted the air was quite crowded with English sparrows, darting about, seizing the moth on the wing, plucking off its wings and eating the moth, in fact plucking the wings off more moths than they could eat, evidently for the sporting instinct of man and animals and birds to destroy more than they need to eat at the time. Alas! man had killed off so many of these little friends, there were not enough to destroy but a small proportion of the moths. But they were doing valiant work, which I did not see anyone else doing. I know all birds and squirrels will eat the green buds from trees, as you noted; but this is generally the case when other food is scarce. The little birds could find nothing to eat; they must have something. Can we begrudge them a day's food? The trees do not begrudge them, because, for every bud so taken, nature enables them to send out more buds to take their place.

Mr. Cunningham proceeds to rebuke the Nomad for the slogan (not his, but a correspondent's), "Kill a sparrow a day"; and he goes on: "Imagine a large crowd of boys out to kill sparrows; what would happen is that not only English sparrows, but nearly all sparrows would be exterminated, and our trees would be at the mercy of the innumerable worms and insects that do uncalculable harm in money value to our agriculturists and horticulturists. There are many kinds of sparrows, viz.: Chipping sparrow, field sparrow, fox sparrow, grasshopper sparrow, Ipswich sparrow, savanna sparrow, sharp-tailed sparrow, song sparrow, swamp sparrow, tree sparrow, vesper sparrow, white crowned sparrow, white throated sparrow, English sparrow and junco—fifteen in all.

FILLING STATION PERMIT GRANTED

At the continued heading before the Selectmen Monday night for the permit to the Colonial Filling Station, Inc., to operate a gasoline filling station at the corner of Main and Park streets, the permit was granted. The old building on the corner, one of the oldest in town, will probably be torn down to make room for the new station, which is reported to be very attractive in design.

1800 AUTOS IN TOWN

Latest report of the number of automobiles owned in Winchester is given as 1800 machines. It is anticipated that before the first of the year this number will reach 2000.

Mrs. William Tucker of Manchester was in town this week visiting her mother Mrs. Annie E. Sharon. Mrs. Sharon observed her 70th birthday Tuesday.

VICTIMS SENT TO WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

Two of the injured persons in the automobile crash at Reading Tuesday evening, when William M. Wood, Jr., son of President William M. Wood of the American Woolen Co., was killed, were taken to the Winchester Hospital. The injured men were Samuel Ramsey of Medford and Edward Brackett of Wakefield. Ramsey is suffering from a broken leg and a fractured skull. He was taken to Dr. Brown's office Wednesday for ex-ray treatment. These men were in the second car hit by the Wood machine, which was overturned.

Boston papers stated that William M. Wood, Jr., was born here, but there is no record of his birth at the office of the Town Clerk. The family resided here many years ago, living on Vine street.

Besides Mr. Wood, Major Alexander Gardner of North Andover was also killed in the smash and two other occupants of another car which figured in the smash were badly cut and bruised. The Wood machine was a $15,000 Rolls-Royce sedan. It was smashed beyond repair.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

One of the improvements in the streets about town is the rebuilding of Central street, which has been in poor condition for some time.

The south crossing over the railroad tracks in the centre was torn up Monday and Tuesday. As this crossing is largely used, there was considerable congestion of traffic, cars being obliged to use the north side. New sleepers and planking were laid at the crossing.

Late Friday afternoon an express train passing through the centre towards Boston narrowly missed striking an unknown man. Unaware of the swiftly approaching train, he was crossing the tracks, and but for the prompt action of a bystander, who pulled him off the rail, would have been struck.

Owing to a fire caused by a hot axle on one of the cars, an inward bound freight stopped on the centre crossing last Thursday night for some 10 minutes or more while the blaze was extinguished. The blaze had started burning the floor of the car. The closing of the crossing held up many autos, the square on both sides of the track being filled with them.

THE BASEBALL EDUCATION OF MR. JACKSON

To Editor of the Star:

Several years ago there appeared in the papers a series of cartoons entitled "The Education of Mr. Pipp." Now if it would not be too much trouble I would like a little space in your paper for "The Baseball Education of Mr. Jackson." It seems to this self-appointed spokesman of the colored people in Winchester that I was guilty of high treason and various other crimes because I brought a crowd of so-called colored champs to Winchester and handed them a beating. If the score had been close we would never have heard a word from Mr. Jackson in regard to this game.

Now then, I have never yet been guilty of bringing a team to Winchester and advertising it falsely or under false pretenses. Mr. Kennedy, the manager of the Mystic Giants, called me up several times on the phone and also sent me the following notice which appears under this reply. His team had won their Saturday game from one of the Bank League teams and had also played a 3 to 1 game with Concord Junction, the night before they appeared in Winchester. So, with the conversation and the line of press-agent stuff in the Boston daily sporting columns which Mr. Jackson does not read, I naturally thought I had a mighty good attraction, for the Winchester fans to see.

No one was more disappointed than myself at the exhibition put up by the alleged colored champions, and if Mr. Jackson was on the field he probably heard me get after the manager several times for bringing the team to Winchester.

Mr. Jackson further states that it was a picked-up team. Here is where he shows his profound knowledge of matters pertaining to baseball. Of course if Mr. Jackson was managing a ball team he probably could go out in any back alley and pick up a regular team, but the majority of managers have very much trouble trying to locate good players in any section of the State.

I was not responsible for Mr. Kennedy's team. All I had to do was to put on my own and win my game, which I did, to the satisfaction of nine out of 10 on the field, and when they saw this bunch of misfits on the field they insisted I play this game out, when I wanted to call it in six innings.

I don't care whether Mr. Kennedy picked up his team in West Medford or South Africa, it was up to him, not me, to put on the opposition.

Now for the further baseball education of Mr. Jackson, who states I can get the Boston Tigers for $100, I will state I can get the Boston Tigers for a third of $100, and when I pay $100 for a team I want something besides the Boston Tigers, that have been beaten by every second-rate team in this section the past two weeks. Now if Mr. Jackson will confine his activities to something he knows what he is talking about and let baseball and other affairs to those who are in the habit of taking care of them, he will greatly oblige.

Yours very respectfully,
Edward McKenzie.
"Mack."

Dear Sir:

I would like to arrange a game for Saturday, 15th, with your team. If you are booked for that date I would like you to give me a twilight date. I have a fine aggregation and they are a good attraction on any field. Call me Wednesday between 8 and 9.

Yours for clean sports,
Wm. Kennedy.

BASEBALL TOMORROW

Winchester will visit Woburn tomorrow for the third game of their annual series. The first two having been lost through the errors and ability of the Woburn team to get to the Winchester pitcher. In the game at Library Field, Woburn will face a greatly strengthened lineup, and good pitching.

We do not expect Durant to pitch a no-hit game, but with any kind of support he should be able to hold Woburn in check. The team will be composed of the following players: Durant, p; Swaffield, c; Hatch, 1b; Gourville, 2b; Bill Walsh, ss; Bob Walsh, 3b; Quigley, lf; McKenzie, cf; Blowers, rf, and McKeering, utility. Game at 3:30 sharp. McKinnon, umpire.

"Milesians."

There are several theories as to the origin of the name Milesian as applied to the Irish. One is that the country was first settled by colonists from the island of Melos (modern Milo) in Greece; another that the name is derived from Milesius, an early conqueror, while still others claim the term is taken from the Latin "miles," a knight.

A Lake on Shipboard.

When one contemplates that so much energy is exerted to the end of keeping the water out of a ship, it looms up as an astonishing fact that there is of necessity a great deal of water within the hull of the vessel. A modern liner has enough water in her hull to make a good-sized lake. About 1,740 tons of water is carried by a big passenger vessel. The drinking water for the use of passengers amounts to 550, and there are about 830 tons of sea water being used for ballast. The six boilers contain 360 tons. The tanks are situated between the double hulls of the vessel.

The Winchester Exchange and Tea Room will be closed until August 21.

Marionette Shows in Italy.

Most Italian cities have permanent resident companies of marionette managers. Genoa has a very good show now and always has an excellent season at Christmas and at carnival time and at Easter, when a Venetian manager generally brings a good company of marionettes to town.

The Compleat Hostess.

At the Gardens', on Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Garden, vivacious, supple, with a sort of frosty, golden beauty, guiltless of make-up, but essentially artificial, was being everything to all men, and much to some women. —"From Latchkey Ladies," by Mr. Grant.

A Verbal Salad.

The following telegram, writes an Irish reader, was sent by a constable from an outlying district to his sergeant: "Motor just passed at furious rate in direction of town. Killed heifer, containing four gentlemen and two greyhounds, one of which was a clergyman."—London Morning Post.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

If some of us knew half as much as we think we know we wouldn't have such a good opinion of ourselves.

The farmer back in the country wants $2.50 wheat, but in town expects to buy wheat cakes for ten cents.

It is fortunate that there are just as good compliments floating around as ever were fished for.

Although otherwise stingy, a man may be willing to lend a helping hand to himself.

The display of fireworks on Manchester Field Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Italian residents of the town were as good or better than any of our numerous displays of years gone by. Our Italian people have never given us a poor display. Their fireworks and music have never been equalled. It has become a matter of pride with them to uphold their record in this respect and this year they fairly outdid themselves. Their program provided an evening of exceptional enjoyment to thousands.

Chief of Police McIntosh and his efficient officers should be congratulated upon their work in handling the traffic and crowd of people in Winchester Tuesday night. It has been conceded by all that this was the biggest crowd this town has ever seen here. Not only were there more people, but the number of automobiles was probably swelled to double the number of last year. There was not an accident reported during the evening, the waits by the autos were not long and the pedestrians—many of them children—were accorded ample protection at every crossing. It was the best handling of a big crowd we have ever seen.

Do you ever stop to think in summer months how fortunate you are to live in Winchester? Do you appreciate on a day like Wednesday the privilege of going into the cooling waters of Mystic Lake? Do you ever congratulate yourself that the cool and beautiful Fells are but a step from your door? Have you ever thanked the man who started the removal of the tannery, tenements and freight tracks and conceived and planned Manchester Field? Think of some of these things over. Winchester is a pretty good place after all!

The railroad unions have threatened to call their members out on strike through fear of their personal safety from acts of violence by the armed guards (U. S. officers) hired to protect railroad property and lives. Read the following extracts (only a few) which appeared in one paper and then form your own opinion of how you would feel if these guards were removed. Would you be likely to threaten a strike unless our police force was taken from our streets?

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 14—Railroad officials today placed at $400,000 the damage caused by the fire of undeturmined origin which burned a round house and a score of locomotives, here yesterday. Loss of the engines, which were in the freight service of the Boston & Maine and Maine Central or used by the Portland Terminal Company, will not cripple service on the roads, officials said.

Sheriff King F. Graham, who began an immediate investigation into the cause of the fire, stated that he was satisfied the fire was not caused by spontaneous combustion, nor from any other ordinary cause in the wooden structure in which it started. "We are satisfied that it was of incendiary origin," he added.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Aug. 14—A dynamite explosion late last night damaged the 400-foot St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad bridge across the Sac River at Ash Grove, 15 miles northwest of here.

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 14—Discovery of a mis-set switch on the main line of the Boston & Maine railroad between Caanan and Grafton stations a short time before the arrival of a Montreal express this afternoon led to an investigation by railroad police in the belief that another attempt, the second in two weeks, had been made to wreck the train.

MEN are apt to overestimate the value of $20,000 insurance payable in one sum, part or the whole of which may be lost by unwise investments, and to underestimate a guaranteed income of $100 per month through entire life of beneficiary.

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 14—Three hundred men and boys today attacked the local roundhouse of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, where strike breakers were employed. Railroad guards with revolvers drawn were unable to check the crowd and every window in the roundhouse was broken. As the attackers were about to enter the building, the riot squad arrived from police headquarters and drove them away. No one was injured and no arrests were made.

SPARTA, Ill., Aug. 14 (By A. P.)—Thirty cars of coal being hauled from non-union fields in Kentucky were uncoupled from a Mobile & Ohio train, unloaded and the coal set afire by a crowd of men at Percy, near here, late yesterday, according to advices here today. The fire was still burning today.

CHICAGO, Aug 14—An appeal for protection in which it is charged that the rail strike situation at Channing, Mich., was very critical as a result of repeated acts of violence and the kidnapping of non-union employes was sent to Gov. Groesbeck of Michigan today by H. E. Bryam, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway.

"For the past two days, strikers, ambushed in bush and swamp, have been shooting into bunk car trains, dispatcher's office, roundhouse and outbuildings," the telegram declared.

THE OUTRAGE IN THE DESERT

Has any labor union leader or any labor organization of any kind repudiated or in any degree disclaimed the inhumanity of the railway workers who deserted their trains in the deserts of the far Southwest and left the passengers, helpless and inocent, to shift for themselves in a temperature of 120 degrees outside the cars and 130 degrees inside?

The country has read with mixed amazement and indignation the details of the sufferings of the men and women, grandmothers and children, at Needles, California, and in the Arizona wastes—how babies were born aboard the stalled trains, how a mother went sleepless for seventy-two hours to save the life of her little boy a year and a half old and won her battle through the help of townspeople who furnished her with a meagre supply of milk, how strikers and their sympathizers refused aid of any kind to the marooned travelers, and how the strikers tried to intimidate stranded women by telling them their relief train would be blown up before it reached Los Angeles.

It is an astonishing tale, and without doubt in all essential respects it it true. When trains are wrecked by placing obstacles on the tracks, or tampering with switches or bridges, there may be reasonable doubt as to the idenity of the parties guilty of such crimes. But in the midst of the blistering sands of the desert these travelers were abandoned by railway men whose names and affiliations are well known. It was a strike measure. And it has not been disavowed by any of the officials in charge of the strike. The public notes the fact and draws its own conclusions.—[Herald.

WOMEN PINNED UNDER MACHINE

Two women were pinned beneath an automobile when it struck a pole on Cambridge street Wednesday noon. They were taken to the Symmes Hospital, Arlington, before the police arrived at the scene. The car, a Briscoe touring car, was badly wrecked and the pole was broken off.

NEW BUICKS HERE

The Winchester Buick Company will show commencing Monday, Aug. 21st the 1923 Buick models.

No single season in recent years has seen so many improvements in Buick cars as the present one; and never has the Buick line been so complete.

The engine, for example, is fitted with longer pistons and connecting rods, adding to the smoothness and long wear for which the Buick engine has always been noted. A new rear spring suspension has been devised which is undoubtedly the highest development of the cantilever type yet achieved. The frame, the transmission, the rear axle, the brakes, the bodies and their equipment, each shows the hand of the skilled designer by some new and valuable features.

The insurance companies have rated all fourteen models as Class "A" fire risks, because of the safety of their electrical and gasoline systems and have materially reduced the theft insurance rates. This means a big saving in insurance premiums over cars not so rated; it also indicates the close attention to detail that has been paid to these Buick cars for season of 1923.

As in the case of the six-cylinder models, the Buick four-cylinder cars have been redesigned this season, not merely in the sense of giving them a new appearance, but with the object of making them better and more efficient automobiles in every department of motoring service.

These changes begin with the frame, which has been entirely redesigned, and continue through the important mechanical units of the car, from an easier and simpler method of oiling the rocker arms to an improved method of driving the speedometer.

The body is larger and roomier, with lower lines and added grace of appearance. There are new and improved fenders, top, windshield, headlights, side curtains.

There is an improved spring suspension, new upholstery, improved dash equipment, new arrangement of seats, longer and lower steering column, and a number of other features that add materially to riding and driving comfort.

There is a transmission lock to prevent theft which reduces insurance rates materially. Other improvements place the Buick Fours in Class "A" as fire insurance risks, securing for the owner lower insurance rates.

These are part, and only part, of the changes that apply to all four-cylinder models. Each model has its own special improvements, because each has been redesigned as a unit.

Bond and Gertrude M. Moore of Brookline, and Harold A. Bond of Arlington. They have filed an appeal to the Superior Court. The questions which are to be settled by a jury are whether or not the will was executed according to law, whether the deceased was of sound mind at the time and whether or not there was fraud or undue influence on the part of Mrs. Mary H. Bond of Winchester, widow of the deceased, Fay Brackett of Arlington, her niece and Marion Foster of Arlington, her niece, or any of them.

Marion S. Grush of Winchester has asked to be appointed as administratrix of the estate of her mother, Mrs. Addie L. Stearns of Winchester who died June 7. The estate is valued at $25,000, all in personal property.

Florence M. McCarthy of Winchester has been sued for $5000 in an action of tort by Eva G. Nutting of Winchester. She alleges that on June 7 she was attacked and bitten by a dog owned by the defendant.

Mrs. J. M. Mason and daughter Margaret, of Mt. Pleasant street, leave today for Rockport, where they will remain for three weeks.

CHILD HIT BY WINCHESTER AUTO

Eva LoPresti, six-and-a-half year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank LoPresti of 31 Chestnut street, Arlington, is at the Symmes Arlington Hospital in a very serious condition, suffering from a factured skull. Tuesday afternoon the child was struck by an automobile operated by William N. Smith of 1 Cliff street, Winchester, as she was crossing Mystic street, about opposite No. 61, and not far from her own home. According to the story told the police by Mr. Smith after the accident, the child ran out from behind another automobile which was standing in front of 61 Mystic street, and directly in front of his car. He stated that he did not see the child soon enough to avoid hitting her. He took the child to the hospital in another machine. At the hospital it was found that the child's skull was fractured and her condition was very grave.

THE MARIMBAS OF MOZAMBIQUE

The most familar importation from Mazambique is not mentioned in consular reports or trade lists. Mozambique is the home of marimba music; there the xylophone is known as the "native piano," and an American ballroom probably is the place where a Bantu visitor would feel most at home.

Commenting upon the new trans-Zambesi railway, just opened, the National Geographic Society issues from its Washington, D. C., headquarters a bulletin which says:

The new line which terminates at Chinde leads back into Nyasaland, adding that protectorate to the Transvaal and Rhodesia hinterland which already are tapped by coastal railways running through Portuguese East Africa, which is the official designation of Mozambique.

Abounds In "Local Color"

Despite its railways and the economic development they will bring, Mozambique is likely to retain for a long time its local color; tapped by romantic fiction writers until the very word is a synonym for the exotic and mysterious. Strangely enough the land of man-eating lions and the world's most pestiferous ants provides dainty Miss America with music for her dancing, ivory for her fan, and atmosphere for the novels of her leisure hours.

The M'chopis, purest of the Kafir tribes, foster the classic music of the Mozambique marimba. The instruments of this tribe have resonators of wild gourd placed beneath the xylophone keys. Apertures in these gourds are covered with membranes from the wings of bats. The resulting sound is what is described as a "snarling rattle," continuing several seconds after the sound within has ceased. Augmenting this weird effect, the notes are in minor key.

Xylophones And Drums

The native orchestra is composed entirely of xylophones and drums, but there are many sizes of the former and numerous varieties of the latter. The drums are used to give a rhythmic background rather than to accentuate the tempo or emphasize the tonal effects. A few years ago these drums would have sounded strange and barbaric to American ears. Today a New York or Chicago visitor would have only to close his eyes and, as he listened to the minor key moanings of the marimbas or the regular and ceaseless thrumming of the drums, he might fancy himself hearing his favorite orchestra in a fashionable grill. For clever jazz conductors have found that the regular cadences of drums have a hypnotic quality which makes the table occupant prefer the lesser exertion of "ordering another" to the greater effort of getting up and going on his way. Any native batuque, or ball, of consequence, last two or three days.

All of which may furnish the moralist with a happy phrase about American night life being founded too much on the bats' wings of Mozambique; may give comfort to the musical historian who spends years trying to "preserve" primitive musical instruments and harmonies; or prove once more to the easy-going philosopher that the Colonels' ladies of Broadway and Michigan avenue are akin to the Julie O' Gradys of the Kafirs.

It also explains why the geographer need not search Shaw or Chesterton for paradox. It would take high fictional imagination to achieve the cold facts of "The influence of Mozambique social life on the music, literature and hotel business of America."

BAKU'S TRAGIC TORCHES

The skies above Baku are once more illuminated by the eternal fires of the world's most famous oil region. Near the spot where Zoroastrian or Parsi priests guarded the sacred flames which burned for more than a score of centuries, eighteen modern wells are now ablaze, according to press dispatches. What this great natural waste means is brought out in the following bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

If American relief work is inaugurated in South Russia and if arrangements can be made with the new governments of the Caucasus, the race between charity and starvation may be run largely with Baku oil, says the bulletin. Already the white nights of north Russia are beginning to wane and the ice which coats the Neva early in the fall will soon be creeping down the queen of Russian rivers and stopping transportation on the one life line of commerce upon which large scale relief work on the lower Volga can depend.

Food May Depend on Fuel

The iron rails of Russia have disintegrated with neglect and traffic. The great Russian waterway will be open for at least two months more. And the fuel long used in the Volga steamers and tugs is petroleum and its by-products, principally masut, a thick residue from the refineries. Fuel and food are intimately connected in any plan of Russian relief on the lower Volga and the wastage of petroleum in Baku is a matter of deep concern.

Before the time of the Saracens, Baku was noted for its natural gas and sacred fires. At Surakhani, where, from the days of Zoroaster to 1879, the colorless flames of naptha gas were never extinguished, a temple of the fireworshippers, built in the time of Marco Polo and restored in the time of Shakespeare, can still be seen, although the lighting of naptha gas is no longer allowed here or on the waters of the Caspian at Bibi Eybat. Fireworshippers on pilgrimage to Baku in the days just preceding the American Revolution had the tradition that the fires of Surakani had begun to burn soon after the flood and that they would continue to burn until the end of the world.

From Fire Temples to Riches

When, in 636, A. D. the Arab hosts appeared in Persia and fireworshippers became Moslems under the sword of the Prophet, large numbers of Zoroastrains fled to India. Their great Tombs of Silence on the slopes of Malabar hill in Bombay, where loathsome vultures await their gruesome opportunity as consumers of coruses, stand as present day reminders of political and religious forces which removed the Parsis from their ancestral homes and placed them in control of modern finance at the gateway to India.

The modern city of Baku is a combination of the new and the old, of the East and the West. Since the establishment of the Azerbaijan republic and the selection of Baku as its capital, some changes have been made. But in general, Baku is what it was before the war.

In the spring of 1918 there was sharp fighting between the Christians and the Tarters for control of the region. At this time a large part of the Tarter section was destroyed by shell fire from the Caspian. The romantic Kis-Kale or Virgin Tower, which the Tarters used as an observation post still bears the marks of shell fire which, however, failed to do serious damage to Byzantine walls. The ancient walls of the older citadel bear pook-mark lines which join the apertures in the battlements and which show where Russian and Armenian machine guns sprayed the ramparts and drove the Tarter fighters from their best points of vantage. Then came the British, with a small force from Enzeli. But they soon withdrew, leaving a badly mixed problem to find its own solutions.

The Baku oil fields in 1917, in the midst of war and revolution produced nearly 50 million barrels of oil. But during the winter of 1917-18, labor troubles and the closing of the 540 mile pipe line to Batum on the Black Sea reduced the output. Political and social unrest have demoralized the oil industry which in Baku had reached a high degree of efficiency.

Riches of Baku Furnish Peace Prizes

During the troubles in 1918, there were frequent threats by various factions that the wells of this famous region would be fired to keep them from falling under foreign control.

Baku was the field in which Alfred B. Nobel, already noted as the inventor of dynamite and for his success as a manufacturer of explosives, gained the fortune which on his death was partly devoted to the establishment of the Peace Prize and the almost equally famous prizes for distinction in physical science, in chemistry, in medical science and in literary excellence. Theodore Roosevelt, Elihu Root and Woodrow Wilcon have been recipients of the Peace Prize founded on profits from Baku oil. Other Americans who have been honored with noble prizes are Albert Abraham Michelson, for his researhes in the velocity and qualities of light; Theodore W. Richards for his study of atomic theories; and Alexis Carrel, for his success in suturing blood vessels and in the transplantation of human organs.

Clever!

A fascinating Chicago widow had her ex-husband in for dinner and he presented her with a check for allmony due her. She took it, laughingly, saying: "This is taxation without representation."

Dr. Johnson's Dictionary.

Doctor Johnson received for the dictionary which made him so famous about $8,000 and spent seven years completing that work. For his other writings he received small amounts

Musical Note.

A very deaf old lady, walking along the street, saw an Italian turning a peanut roaster. She stood looking at it awhile, shook her head and said: "No, I shan't give you any money for such music as that. I can't hear any of the tunes, and besides it smells as if there were something burning inside!" —The Congregationalist.

Pride and Vanity.

I would much rather fight pride than vanity, because pride has a stand-up way of fighting. You know where it is. It throws its black shadow on you, and you are not at a loss where to strike. But vanity is that delusive, that insectiverous, that multiplied feeling; and men that fight vanity are like men that fight widges and butterflies. It is easier to chase them than to hit them.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Area and Coast Line of Brazil.

The total area of Brazil is estimated at 3,301,350 square miles. It has 4,000 miles of coast line, with many harbors, and the Amazon river system, which enables ocean going steamers to travel inland for 3,000 miles.

YOU CANT STOP BREATHING

AND LET

THE LUNGS REST

—o—

SOMETIMES a simple little sentence can contain a thought that will change all your ideas on an important subject.

When you talk about your advertising "campaign?" Is advertising, to you, something to be used or not used, according to your needs as you see them?

Well, here is a man who has started business men to thinking merely by saying "There is no such thing as an advertising campaign."

He is Mr. I. H. Detrich who, according to Collier's, built a yearly retail business of $1,250,000 in twelve years in a city of 75,000. He says:

"There is no such thing as an 'advertising campaign,' unless you want to admit there is such a thing as a 'breathing campaign,' or a 'bathing campaign.' You can stop breathing and let the lungs rest, as Stephen Leacock once said, but more of you will soon be at rest than your lungs. Just so with advertising. It goes on all the time; your advertising or your competitor's advertising. You can make a short, special drive in some one city if you are a manufacturer or a retailer, and you can call that a campaign. But the bread-and-butter advertising, which you do for a living, can't be defined by any such limited word."

Sales miracles are always with us. Seldom, however, do they cause comment because there is nothing spectacular about them.

Most of the sales miracles are wrought through steady, persistent work in one direction. Results are not always immediate nor startling. Gradually, however, a constant repetition of the story, either through salesmen or through advertising, impels belief in the service or the product offered, or both, and the sales miracle is accomplished.

No better means of advertising exists in this town of 11,000 population than through the columns of the Star. It reaches Every Home and Every Member of Each Family.

An advertisement in the Star will return its cost many times over.

MORE ROAD MAPS

Those fine auto road maps we told you about a fortnight ago lasted just ten days. Last week we could not supply them. This week we received a double order. They are the finest maps you ever saw. Everybody wants one.

The map covers New England. It is convenient—not a great flimsey sheet; not a tiny page that cannot be read. It is in colors—you can distinguish a road from a river, a north and south way from an east and west way and a state boundary from a township line. It gives all the information you wish. It is accurate.

If you want a really good auto map (or a map of New England for any use whatever) we recommend it. Once you have used it, you will always need it.

More persons are devitalized, disabled and poisoned by the impurities contained in smoke-polluted air than by the noxious ingredients in food and water.

In the gas service, however, we have a remedy to stop the growth of this evil. The steady change from soft coal to gas is cleaning up our industries. This, coupled with the almost universal use of gas in our homes is assuring us a wholesome and unpolluted atmostphere in our residential sections.

We may not witness it in our generation, but in the next one, smoke and soot will not be permitted in our cities. When that day comes, gas service will have reached its greatest stage of usefulness and development. Every new gas-burning appliance that is sold, every new customer taken on our mains, brings that day just so much nearer to all of us.

Ever popular Harry Roselle (one of the best-known dancing masters in the country) is dieting no longer. His letter about O'Brien's explains it:

"I am for the first time in over two years, eating everything and anything put on the table. Before taking O'Brien's, I was suffering from intestinal trouble of an aggravated form—was treated by specialists—operation was advised—lived on milk for months—soon as I ate solid foods, back would come the trouble.

"The first dose of O'Brien's gave me instant relief, I have continued it and am now eating three man-sized meals daily with no discomfort whatever." Harry W. Roselle, Morgan's Hall, Camden, N. J.

Sure of Finding Fire.

When Alphonse Dindon, French murderer, was on his way to the guillotine with an unlit cigarette in his lips, one of the attendants asked him if he would like a match. "No, thank you!" was the bland answer. "I'll light it when I get there!"

THE PATHS WE TREAD

(Written for The Winchester Star)

What are we seeking? Is the ceaseless yearning
For something distant, ever unattained,
No deeper than the heart's impassioned burning
For pleasures sweeter than it yet hath gained?
Oh! clouded eyes, when perfect in your vision,
And straying feet, your toilsome journey o'er,
How clear shall seem, from the green land
The paths we tread to reach its shining shore!
Our souls, perplexed by earth's discordant noises,
And dim, uncertain light, their strife shall cease,
When near and sweet arise Angelic voices,
Chanting the Heavenly melody of peace.
—Eugene Bertram Willard

A traveled friend has observed how differently the horsemen of different lands urge on their steeds. The British click their tongues; the Norwegians make a sound like a kiss; the Arabs roll a long "r" and the Neapolitan coachman barks like a dog.

K. OF C. AFFAIRS

Plans for the three-day Carnival to be held at the K. of C. Home October 12th, 13th and 14th are now well underway and include a series of dancing parties now being held every Monday evening in the hall on Vine street.

The dance committee, Messrs. Frank Dineen, Gus McFeeley, Terence Cullen, and others of the younger knights, are making a complete success of these small affairs—an increasing number of young folk taking advantage of the good dance floor, excellent music and cool breezes from Wedge Pond. They are also attracting auto parties from the surrounding towns and with the continued patronage will possibly become a fixture of the Home Council when the Carnival is a thing of the past. With that end in view the management is trying to eliminate all disturbing features.

The three chairmen in charge of the booths at the Carnival are Messrs. Luke P. Glendon, Gus McFeeley and James V. Haley. Each, with his committee of lady helpers, will run weekly whist and dancing parties in aid of his particular booth.

The first of the whist parties will be held at the Home on Vine street this Friday evening under the direction of Mrs. Bernard McFeeley, assisted by Mrs. Frank Dineen, Miss Nellie Sullivan, Mrs. Tom Farrell and Mrs. J. Chris Sullivan. Many very attractive prizes have been secured for the occasion.

Next Monday evening, August 28th a Whist and Food Sale will be held under the direction of Mrs. Richard Glendon, assisted by Mrs. Henry Longfield, Miss Elizabeth Shinnick, Mrs. P. Kenneally, Mrs. Edward McKenzie and others of Mr. Luke Glendon's helpers which include many of the best workers of the town.

The date selected by Mr. James V. Haley for the whist party for his booth is Monday evening, Sept. 3rd. Although handicapped by a late start, Mr. Haley is rapidly getting his helepers together and without doubt when fairly started will give the other booths a run for their money.

All parties for the Carnival will take place at the Home on Vine street, and the management is making every effort to secure attractive features of entertainment. Tickets on an automobile, to be given away October 14th, may be obtained from the chairmen of the three booths, from the general chairman, Mr. Terence Cullen and from Grand Knight J. C. Sullivan.

AUTO ABANDONED BY THIEVES

After it had stood in her driveway for three hours, Mrs. Edward Russell of Cambridge street requested an investigation by the police of the auto left there by four men Sunday forenoon. The police found that the car had been stolen and that it was owned by David F. Howe of Newton. It had been abandoned because it ran out of gas.

DUGAN—FITCH

A summer wedding of much interest among Winchester's young folk was that of Saturday evening when Miss Elizabeth Fitch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Fitch of Oxford street, was married to Mr. Hugh Gates Dugan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonso G. Dugan of Hammond, Indiana. The wedding took place at eight, at the residence of the bride's parents, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Murray W. Dewart, former rector of the Church of the Epiphany. The decorations were of pink gladioli, with blue larkspur and palms.

The bride's gown, brought from Paris by the groom's sister, Miss Forrest Dugan, was made of a beautifully embroidered white net over chiffon and taffeta, trimmed with pearl ornaments. Her veil was attached to a coronet made of rose point lace, adorned with orange blossoms. The cap contained a bit of her mother's wedding veil and the lace was her twin sister's bridal head-dress. She wore the gift of the groom—a platinum and diamond bar pin.

Mr. A. G. Dugan, Jr., of Hartford, Conn., brother of the groom, was best man and Mrs. Donald O. Mcleran, twin sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore her wedding dress, made of ivory satin with touches of real lace.

A reception followed immediately after the ceremony, largely attended by many friends, Mr. and Mrs. Fitch and Mr. and Mrs. Dugan assisting in receiving.

After a short wedding trip in New England, the couple will make their home at the Lyndora Hotel, Hammond, Ind., Mr. Dugan being associated with the American Steel Foundry Co. at that city.

MRS. MARSHALL W. JONES DEAD

Word was received yesterday evening of the death, during the afternoon, of Mrs. Marshall W. Jones of Highland avenue. Mrs. Jones died at a private hospital at Portland, Me. Several weeks ago, accompanied by her husband, Mrs. Jones went to Bethel, Ms., remaining until a week ago at the Bethel Inn. She had not been in the best of health for a considerable time, and the change to the Maine woods was in an endeavor to benefit her condition. She failed to improve however, and a week ago was taken to Portland.

She had made her home in Winchester for about 17 years, and was formerly active socially, being interested in the Home for Aged People and other town organizations. She was a member of the Congregational Church. Besides her husband she leaves one son, Mr. M. Walker Jones.

Definite arrangements for the funeral have not at this time been complete, but it has been decided to hold the services at the Congregational Church on this Saturday afternoon. at 2.30 O'clock, with Rev. D. Augustine Newton of Reading officiating. The burial will be in Wildwood cemetery.

C. P. WARREN
Candidate for Senator for the Sixth Middlesex District and Representative for three years. When Mr. Warren first went to the Legislature he was accorded an unusual honor by being placed upon the important Committee on Ways and Means (finance committee of the Legislature). He has served that committee as clerk for the past two years. Representative Warren is receiving strong support in all parts of the District, as leading men and women are convinced that he is the man best qualified to succeed Senator Parkhurst.—Pol. Adv.

MR. GEORGE H. LOOMIS

Mr. George H. Loomis, father of Mrs. William A. Kneeland of Highland avenue, died suddenly at his daughter's home on Wednesday of heart failure. Although he suffered slightly from the infirmities of his age, 69 years, he had been in apparent good health, and was ill but fifteen minutes.

Mr. Loomis was a native of Westfield. He resided there until within a few years and was prominent in business and public life there, having been a member of the Board of Selectmen and Chairman of the Board of Assessors. He retired from active business upon coming to Winchester, where he made many warm friends.

He married Miss Nellie M. Mixer of Somers, Conn., who survives him, together with an only daughter, Mrs. Mabel L. Kneeland.

The funeral services are to be held at Westfield, where he was born and lived, this Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the residence of his brother, Mr. J. Wells Loomis. The burial will be at Westfield.

CHARLES P. BOSTWICK DEAD

Charles P. Bostwick, aged 65 years, a former well known resident of this town, died at the Relief Hospital yesterday forenoon as the result of an accident. He fell down a flight of stairs at his home in Charlestown on Sunday night, receiving severe internal injuries.

Mr. Bostwick is well known to many older residents. He was born in Yonkers, N. Y., and lived in this town for years. He was the son of Frederick R. and Emma C. (Kniffin) Bostwick. For many years he was in the employ of the Kelley & Hawes Co. He is survived by one brother, Mr. Edward R. Bostwick of this town.

The funeral services will be private and are to be held this Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the undertaking rooms of Kelley Hawes. The burial will be in Wildwood cemetery.

BASE BALL TOMORROW

Woburn Legion will be here tomorrow in the fourth game of the series. That means a lively afternoon of baseball. Winchester will play Flaherty behind the bat and possibly one other change in the lineup. Game will start at 3:30 sharp and Finn will umpire.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Metcalf and family of Wildwood street, returned this week from Rockport, where they have been spending the month of August.

FINED $85

About 12 o'clock Wednesday night officer Farrell, directing traffic at Main and Swanton streets, gave directions to a touring car to turn into the latter street. He was amazed when the auto swerved to the right of the road onto the sidewalk and finally stopped up against the stone wall and a telephone pole in front of the Stratton estate. Approaching the car and questioning the driver, he found that the party was drunk.

When Frank L. Delaney of Somerville, who was driving, got out of the car he could not stand, and another man lay on the floor too drunk to sit up. Two other men got away while the officer was taking in Delaney and his companion, Philip Sherry of Somerville.

Delaney had no registration nor license, but when Sherry was searched he was found to have the registration, which showed the car to be owned by Susan E. Hughes of Somerville, his aunt.

In the Woburn court, Sherry was fined $75 for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor and $10 for being drunk. Delaney, who was running the car, was fined $10 for drunkenness. The fact that Sherry had his license saved him from further charges. In default of payment of their fines the two were taken to East Cambridge yesterday afternoon.

C. D. OF A. WHIST

TRIED TO CUT RAILROAD SIGNAL WIRES

On Monday, when Fred Russell, overseeing work on the Russell Farm over the Medford line, was in the neighborhood of the Grove street bridge over the railroad tracks, he noticed suspicious actions on the part of two colored boys. Investigating, he found that they were trying to cut the main signal wires running close to the bridge. He surprised them and took them into custody, notifying the Winchester police by telephone. The nearest police station to the point is on the Parkway near the Bacon Mill, and the boys were taken there and placed in charge of Metropolitan officers until turned over to the Medford police.

Burke of Cambridge. A young lady with Burke fainted after the accident and was taken into a nearby house, where she was treated by Dr. Sheehy. Dolan's car was owned by Thomas W. Baker of Boston and was a Buick runabout. Both cars were badly damaged and it was necessary to tow them to a garage.

THE FUEL SITUATION

The following communication was received by the local fuel administrator from Mr. J. J. Storrow, Massachusetts Fuel Distributor:

August 18, 1922

To All Local Emergency Fuel Distributors:

I have just had a meeting of the leading wholesale oil distributors in Massachusetts. They tell me that there is plenty of kerosene in Massachusetts at the present time and they believe the supply can be maintained; that the supply of kerosene cooking stoves is also normal at the present time and can be maintained provided people begin buying now and do not all come in a rush in September or October as happened during the war in the fall of 1917.

Cooking by a kerosene stove is cheaper than coal. It is more comfortable than coal during these warm days because the heat can be turned off instantly when no longer needed and the kitchen allowed to cool.

The way for us to avoid standing in a fuel line next winter with a card calling for a bag of coal and perhaps the thermometer down to zero is to take adequate measures right now, not tomorrow but today.

Here are my suggestions:

1. Don't burn a pound of anthracite this month or next month, or October.
2. Cook and heat water for your household with a kerosene stove or gas stove.
3. Buy a portable kerosene heater. It is handy. It is cheap. It can easily be moved from room to room during the chilly autumn mornings; it will save coal; it will save money. It will perhaps keep you out of the coal line next winter. If you live in a city and prefer a gas stove, buy that. At any rate it is up to you to help and the coal you can get along without will keep either your family or some other family warm next winter.
4. Get some soft coal immediately. You need not burn much of it now but burn some now, enough to get acquainted with it. We don't want a lot of wild eyed people rushing around the first really cold day next winter, saying they can't get soft coal or they can't keep their families from freezing with the soft coal they have. Maybe they won't be able to keep them from freezing unless they have taken time by the fore lock and learned how to burn it now.
5. Get your kerosene stove or your gas stove Monday morning. Get your kerosene heater or your gas heater Monday morning. Get your soft coal Monday morning.
6. Don't blame anyone, and especially please don't blame me next December if you choose to disregard this advice now and burn any anthracite you have on hand now and find yourself in a wild rush for stoves and heaters and soft coal next December.

Kerosene can be bought anywhere in the State. Kerosene stoves and heaters can be bought today at any hardware or probably at any house furnishing store or general country store in the state. Gas stoves can be bought in any city where there is a gas company.

Very truly yours,
James J. Storrow,
Massachusetts Fuel Distributor

EDISON COMPANY ANNOUNCES REDUCTION

President Charles L. Edgar of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston announces another reduction in the Company's popular rate from 10 cents to 9½ cents per kilowatt hour in effect on meter readings after Aug. 31. In calling attention to this cut for the Schedule "A" customers, President Edgar said:

"When we discontinued the coal clause and 5 per cent increase on this class of business on March 1 last I anticipated a continuance of business revival, and advertised the hope and expectation of the Company to make the reduction now announced.

Business is increasing everywhere in a healthy way, homes are building, old houses are being renovated or remodeled and such improvements mean more users of electric service. Costs of wiring for electric service, fixtures, etc. are approaching a pre-war basis and the Edison Company strives to facilitate in every way the use of its service in the home when its convenience and economy mean so much.

Schedule "A" customers number approximately 136,000 (88 per cent) of the 153,000 users of Edison service—they are the owners or occupants of residences, apartments, small stores and shops. They afford 42 per cent of the Company's income for electricity sold. Continued improvement in business conditions with consequent increase in the Edison Company's income will, I am sure, bring added developments in Edison service and steadily lowering of rates."

Interest in the lawn party to be held Saturday afternoon, Sept., 2d, at the residence of Mrs. Bowen Tufts through the fact that three girls, Molly Tufts, Miriam Grosvenor and Constance Kedian, have worked for the affair since last summer. They are 12 and 13 years old, and will have a nice showing of needle work, basket work and candy.

MR. THOMPSON GOES TO CHICAGO

Word was received this week stating that former Principal Edward E. Thompson of the High School has accented, among many offers, the position as teacher of Latin and French at the Oak Park High School, Chicago, Ill. This school has 2200 pupils and is one of the largest in the country.

Mr. Thompson has had under consideration a number of attractive appointments. He would have much prefered to have remained nearer at home, strong interests and friendships have been formed here during his stay in Winchester, but in view of the opportunity for advancement in his profession and the financial attraction of his appointment, he will go to Oak Park.

He returns from Great Chebeque Island, Me., with his family on Sunday, and it is reported that he plans to leave for Chicago within a few days. Winchester people view his departure with universal regret, rejoicing, however, in his advancement.

Residents on lower Mystic Lake have entered a protest against the growing bathing beach on the lower end of the Parkway. There are no bath houses at the place, which has been growing rapidly in popularity, and the bathers have been dressing in the bushes. Recently signs have been placed about the beach prohibiting bathing. A hearing held at the place on Saturday was attended by over 100 persons, including Mayor Haines of Medford and Captain Hawkins of the Fells Division of the Metropolitan Park Police. Residents in the neighborhood are up in arms over the bathing, objecting to the noise and disrobing of the bathers. What will be done in the matter is under consideration.

John Turner of Cambridge, while driving his Ford sedan on Main street near the Metropolitan garage, struck John McCarthy, Jr., son of John McCarthy of Main street, Thursday night. The boy was taken to his home and reported not seriously injured.

ACCIDENT AT SCITUATE

In avoiding an ice wagon at Scituate Saturday afternon an automobile said to have been owned by Mrs. Davy of this town skidded into a disabled touring car, injuring two women. The stalled auto was owned by Mrs. Harriet A. Smith of Scituate. It had a flat tire, which was being fixed by William Clapp, driver of the ice wagon. He left his wagon standing in the street while he made the repair, and in avoiding the wagon Mrs. Davy's car skidded into the auto. Mrs. Rebecca Summers of Cleveland, Ohio, was badly cut about the head and chest and Mrs. Smith was slightly hurt. Mrs. Summers was taken to the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, where she was last reported as resting comfortably.

A year-old son of officer William Rogers of the Winchester police force fell from a second story window of his home on Clark street Friday, a distance of 25 feet. The child escaped with only slight bruises.

TAKE GOLF, for instance. Did you ever stop to think how likely it is that you will hurt someone, some day,—another golfer, a caddie or a passerby.

THE COST is negligible, yet it affords complete protection against liability for injury to anyone caused by your participation in any game of Golf, Baseball, Basketball, Football, Hockey, Polo, Tennis or any other athletic sport or game, with but few exceptions.

GAS NEAR HEART IS VERY DANGEROUS

Gas around the heart is not only painful and distressing. It often is the warning of conditions, which if not corrected may become dangerous. Many times the gas is caused by derangement of the digestive tract. Food is not digested properly. Gas forms and presses around the heart, interfering with its action. In acute indigestion this often results seriously. One or two Jaques' Little Wonder Capsules give quick relief. They assist in the proper assimilation of food.

BASEBALL

By Mack

The Winchester Town Team greatly strengthened, visited Woburn, Saturday and was given a set back by McMahons team 5 to 3. They are still wondering in Woburn how they did it, and some of the Woburn fans suggested to the writer that he find out where Doc Mahon got his horse shoes.

Durant pitched gilt edged ball and deserved to win. The catcher who is supposed to be a good one, was unable to handle his delivery, which did not help Durant any, and two or three errors on the field put him in bad almost before the game started. Durant allowed two hits in the first inning and three in the next eight, besides striking out seven men and that kind of pitching will win nine games out of 10. On the other hand Winchester hit Linscott freely, getting to him for 11 hits, but hit into two double plays which hurt. Mike Quigley was the big noise with the stick for Winchester, getting four hits out of four times up, one of them a three bagger with two on.

The same teams will meet here next Saturday afternoon and Flaherty will be behind the bat to hold Durant, which will probably mean the game for Winchester.

Notes

There will be no more twilight games this season, as it is getting too dark and teams do not get here in season to start the games early.

We had Blowers in right field for the game Saturday. He has been with Kelley's All-Stars all the season, and showed up good but for a wild heave from the outfield, and they all do that.

Bob Walsh showed the Woburn fans how third base should be played, besides getting two fine hits.

Mack, besides playing center field for Winchester, is also playing for Woburn Legion and Woburn Collegians.

We will have Doherty, the Arlington catcher on hand if things don't break right for Charlie Flaherty and the fans who have seen this boy in action know what he can do behind the bat and with the stick.

Bill Walsh at short, while a fine fielder and aggressive player, does not seem to be much of a hitter, although in every game he plays with the J. J. Connolly Club, he manages to get a hit and got two Tuesday night against Reading.

Somerville Civic Club will be here one week from Saturday, Sept. 2. This team has won 26 out of 28 games played on their home grounds and Babe Ruth with the rest of the New York Yankees could not beat them there. If the team cannot beat you, the spectators help them by a lot of rough stuff.

Saxony Worsted Mills will play at Lexington, Sunday. Matthews does not know whether he will pitch or not.

I have been after the Lexington team for some time for a game, but they do not seem to want anything of Winchester. I am trying to get them here for Labor Day afternoon.

We will play here until Oct. 1st or later if we can use the field and will be able to give the people who have been away, a chance to see the team in action.

WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB LOST

The tennis team of the Winchester Boat Club visited Lexington Saturday and completed a tournament with the Lexington Tennis Club, losing the match 3 to 4. Winchester's team included Stephen Thompson, Philip Boone, Chandler Symmes, William Davis and Dr. Robert B. Blackler.

A week ago the Boat Club defeated the Highland Club at Winthrop 4 to 2. The boys expect to play the Windsor Club of Watertown this Saturday.

MR. JACKSON MAKES A PROPOSITION

Editor of the Star:

I wish to thank my self-appointed instructor for what he has taught me, and I assure him that I will use it with what else I have learned about base ball during the past twenty years.

I heard a joke on the stage which seems to explain the frame of mind Mr. McKenzie is in at present: One actor said to the other, "you are so crooked that when you go around a corner you meet yourself coming back."

I did say and will repeat that Mr. McKenzie advertised a base ball team as being the colored champions of New England, when he knew they were not; as the letter which they wrote to him proved that they did not claim to be such as he represented. If this is not misrepresentation I would like him to tell us what it is he has failed to prove otherwise.

Now Mr. McKenzie's newspaper talk is about the cheapest thing on earth. If you are sincere, and wish to be fair to all concerned let us have at least one game or a series of three games with the Boston Tigers, to be played on a Saturday afternoon or a holiday. We will guarantee the sale of two hundred tickets at twenty-five cents each or as much more as people will give.

If you doubt us in the least we will place in the hands of the treasure of the Winchester Base Ball Association fifty dollars whenever you sign up with the Tigers.

If properly advertised I am quite sure you will have the largest crowd you ever did on Manchester Field and will collect more money.

Because the Tigers lost three consecutive games is no reason why they should be classed as a second rate team.

Beginning last Friday they started on a week's tour through New Hampshire, Vermont, Canada; returning the last of this week they will be ready for business.

Altho you stated in last weeks STAR that you could get them for a third of a hundred, I was informed by one who has financial interest in them that they have received as much as four hundred and fifty dollars for one game.

Geo. Jackson

BIG FIREWORKS DISPLAY IN MELROSE ON SATURDAY

Melrose Post of the American Legion are to conduct a monster carnival on next Saturday on the lot at the corner of Crystal street and the Boulevard which is on the shores of Ell Pond. The main feature of the affair will be the staging of a large display of fireworks at 10:30 in the evening. Melrose did not have any fireworks on the Fourth of July so the Legion have assumed the expense of bringing the Randolph Fireworks Company there with one of their best displays. The boys have made arrangements to take care of a large crowd from out of town and will have parking space for many cars.

Another big attraction of the Carnival will be the dance board, the largest in the State, which was brought on from Roslindale. Music for the dancing will be furnished by the Y. D. band of Reading. This band will also give several band concerts throughout the afternoon and evening.

Wednesday morning shortly after 1 o'clock, Joseph Oslaczansky of Somerville, driving a Packard touring car, failed to see the excavation in Main street near Lake street and ran into the ditch. He was accompanied by a man and three women, none of whom were injured. The car was not damaged other than one tire being cut.

An alarm of fire was rung in from box 31 Wednesday afternoon for a fire in a Marmon touring car owned by Mr. Marshall W. Jones of Highland avenue and driven by Mr. Howard Cosgrove. The wiring of the car was burned out, but no other damage resulted.

WINCHESTER PEOPLE IN INTERESTING MOTOR TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. John Brooks Clark and family, of Wedgemere avenue, have just completed an interesting motor trip to Knoxville, Tenn., 1078 miles, over approximately 800 miles of perfect road, a delight to the motorist, and 200 miles of the worst road imaginable in Virginia and Tennessee, riding right through innumerable brooks and one river, over detours worse than cow paths, much of it absolutely impossible in wet weather for any car but a "Ford." In their big "Marmon" they breathed a prayer of thanks for the good weather.

Going via Delaware Water Gap to Harrisburg, Pa., where they are making extensive repairs and enlargements to the beautiful capital, down through Allentown where the street lamp posts have a flower garden with hanging vines midway up the posts, giving a charming effect to the scrumpulously clean main street, and other Pennsylvania towns to historic Gettysburg, they paused a while to view that sacred ground, annd then crossing the Mason and Dixon line into the dear old Southland, paying tolls over bridges and roads that were a joke, especially when an eight mile speed limit sign appeared, for one could just barely move over them.

The views in the famous Shenandoah Valley, the historic spots, Christianburg on top of a mountain, and the Blue Ridge Mountains, were undescribable, so beautiful they were. Interesting sights like the caverns and natural bridge kept anticipation keen. Then they struck the really poor roads, where they lost much time in detours.

Each little town left a gentle remainder—perhaps a lot of pickannies eating watermelon on the porch of some miserable little hut or shack, now and then calling out in their friendly way. "Your lights is on" (they burning constantly to save the battery), or a fine monument the pride of the town, one place four weeny kittens alone by the road wailing for their breakfast, and finally an inspiring view of the Great Smokey Mountains.

Of all the appealing things on the entire trip was a sign at the confines of the city of Morristown, Tennessee, in large letters, "Hurry Back." They arrived safely in Knoxville with no rain until an hour after arrival, when a terrific down pour came.

This is called the 114 per cent city, having grown that much in ten years. One enterprising shoe man in town uses hay to decorate his store and windows, his slogan being, "make hay while the sun shines."

At present they are at the Club House at "Sunshine" in the Smokey Mountains, where they are spending a few days before starting back, via Asheville, N. C., where they hope to motor over the new government road up Mt. Mitchell, and then to Washington, Philadelphia and New York.

"NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH"

William Collier's success "Nothing But the Truth" has been chosen as the opening play of the Boston Stock Company which begins its second season at the St James Theatre August 28th. The splendid record of this Company of last season established it a permanent institution, the finest organization of its kind in the country. Both the press and public were loud in their praise of its achievements and laud it as a worthy successor to the old Boston Museum.

The players of last year who have returned for their second season are: Walter Gilbert, Viola Roach, Mark Kent, Ralph Remley, Lucille Adams and Harold Chase. The new members of the Company are Eveta Nudsen born in Vermont, Edward Darney, a native of Worcester, Mass., Houston Richards a Bostonian, and Miss Anna Layng, one of the best mothers on the legitimate stage. During the coming season at least five original productions will be produced for the first time on any stage with the ultimate view of presenting these plays on Broadway.

Charles R. Hector, popular conductor of the now famous Boston Stock Company Orchestra, has arranged special programs of music which will be given preliminary to performances.

THE PRISONERS GO DRY

According to the announcement of E. E. Dudding, president of the Prisoners Relief Scciety, a poll was taken at the request of a United States Sentor among the immates of 322 penal institutions. The result was 133,413 in favor of the Eighteenth Amendment and only 909 against it.

The safest conclusion is the simple one that these prisoners belong, in a surprisingly large proportion, to that great majority of Americans who wanted prohibition, like it now they have it, and intend to keep it on the statute books.—[New York Globe.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

If I didn't like the man I worked for, I'd make him like me so well that I would learn to like him.

The average poor were once able to put in a little coal in the summer, but now the poor need all their money for gasoline.

If boys would adopt the wearing of skirts, we could then tell which were girls and which were not.

Last week Wednesday was said to have been the hottest day of the summer, while Sunday night the temperature is reported to have been as low as 40. You can't beat our New England weather for spice and variety.

A healthy appetite is usually regarded as a good sign, and the 40 Boston police officers who suffered severe pains after last week's banquet are all back again on the job. The printed menu looked attractive, but it's lucky that beans are not included.

We stated last week that few men who dared to drive an automobile when drunk feared a fine of $100 for so doing. From this week's news we were in error—the fine should have been placed at $85. Evidently the high (?) cost of drinking is coming down.

Those new stands for the traffic officers which have been installed in Medford square are the best yet. Medford may have the worst roads in this neighborhood, but it has it over surrounding places in one respect. One of these stands would probably be welcome by our officer in the square. A platform raises him above the foot traffic, giving him a commanding outlook and taking his feet off the hot pavement, while a mirror aids him in watching traffic behind him. On hot days the umbrella over his head shields him from the scorching sun and probably benefits his judgment.

It looks as though the Metropolitan Commission will have its hands full before long handling the bathing situation in this vicinity. Last week during the hot weather the lower Mystic Lake and the river all the way to Charlestown was one vast bathing beach. From the newly started swimming place at lower Mystic all the way down the river there were bathers by the thousand. There are no bath houses until into Somerville, and while many dressed in their homes, the vast majority disrobed at the point where they entered the water. The bathing went on not only through the hot days, but through the greater part of the nights. Already the residents at the lower end of Mystic have entered protest over the condition, objecting to the cars, noise and method of disrobing. Farther down the river the Commission controls much of the land bordering the water and the situation is not so objectionable. The matter will have to be handled and it presents quite a problem, for aside from the objectionable features under present conditions, there are no safeguards against accidents—if one accepts the safety of numbers. Our own nearer beach at "Sandy" has the only life guard anywhere in this neighborhood, and this place is visited now by truck parties for its bathing. The conditions might well be considered by our local authorities. There is quite a little agitation to open a bathing place in Wedge Pond, which will undoubtedly be done sooner or later—the sooner the better. An excellent location is that point nearest the center between the Congregational Church and the Calumet Club.

One reason why you meet the drunks on the road: "* * * * * Charles Henderson, who booked the men after their arrest, testified that although he found liquor in the car of one of the men, he saw nothing wrong with the conduct of either. In dismissing the charge, Justice O'Brien said 'The odor of liquor on a man's breath is not sufficient, in my opinion, to convict him of operating an automobile while under the influence, unless he has previously been convicted of drunkenness.'"

THINK of the many families that have been robbed by procrastination.

A LESSON FROM THE SCHOOL MUDDLE

Mr. Thompson's letter in reply to the so-called charges issued by the School Committee (printed in the Star of June 30) was conclusive in settling any question in the public mind regarding the lack of "reasons" influencing his dismissal as head of our High School, even if it did not convince those whose minds were either already made up or who, having taken their stand, were temperamently unable to admit that they had been mistaken, and many things said therein will be remembered for future reference by the fathers and mothers of the Town. He did not mention one thing which has been touched upon in our editorials and which may well be made the subject of some plain talk in the future, namely the habit of careless and unrestrained faultfinding, begun without knowledge of the facts and continued without regard to what they may clearly show.

There are in the Town a few people of excellent standing interested in the schools and in general intelligent and well intentioned—along with some others who cannot be so described—who have for years, privately and publicly, been finding fault with the High School. Whether they have been actuated by sympathetic interest, as has doubtless at times been the case, or whether they have been concerned to establish alibis for pupils who have failed to do the work required, as has certainly happened on occasion, or whether they have just wished to make trouble, as seems incredible but as may be true, the result has been that they have created an atmosphere of persistent doubt which has affected parents and pupils, and teachers to a degree. The school work has been well done. The teaching force has been excellent and the principals competent, so that for those pupils who have wished to prepare for college there has never been any difficulty about meeting the entrance requirements, and for the others, in so far as the equipment has permitted, the results have been good. The harm caused by the faultfinding has been internally, to diminish the enthusiasm and self-confidence important to secure the very best school spirit and, externally, to prevent the cordial support essential to educational progress.

Further, persons have, in the past, been elected to the School Committee, who without knowing the conditions, have announced that they would make radical changes. Fortunately, they are as a rule opened minded and soon became convinced that while improvement was possible, as it always is, the teaching and supervision was entirely competent—or they were unable to carry the rest of the School Committee with their impractical ideas.

This has been the situation, and we judge that Mr. Fausey and the new members of the School Committee thought that although all the figures available for the college entrance preparation matter have always been favorable to the work done in the High School, it would be popular to make some wholesale changes, thereby providing their efficiency. It has been well that Mr. Thompson had gained a sufficiently strong personal hold on the pupils and teachers and parents to assure the protest made and it may be hoped that the next election will place on the Committee two members who will be less influenced by irresponsible faultfinding. We hope that the others will be inclined to be surer that they are right before they go ahead another time and that in consequence the High School may be given that cordial support warranted by the facts, as shown in a long series of reports and authoritatively by the survey made by the U. S. Department of Education.

And the faultfinders should be quieted. That is the essential thing. It should be clearly understood that the school authorities should receive criticisms but that plain faultfinding, without knowledge of the facts, will not be approved by the public and that a repetition of the offense after the facts are shown to be creditable will brand the offender as an undesirable member of the community. Here is where your job comes.

TO THE VOTERS OF WINCHESTER

Under our primary system no opportunity is offered the voters, either as a body or through their delegates, to meet and confer upon the relative merits of candidates for public office. The candidates present their claims and the voters are obliged to act individually upon such information as they can obtain, most of which is based upon declarations, often exaggerated, of the candidates themselves. This situation is the occasion and my reason for writing this letter.

One of the offices to be filled this fall is the senatorship from the district in which Winchester is included. Our present Senator, Hon. Lewis Parkhurst, has not sought renomination and Representative Samuel W. Mendum of Woburn, is a candidate to succeed him.

Woburn feels that it can fairly claim the senatorship at this time, because the other communities in the district (with the exception of Stoneham which is also in Mr. Mendum's representative district and has offered no candidate) have had the senatorship since Woburn has. This claim is not of great importance. The best man should be selected without reference to his residence.

I have had the pleasure of knowing Mr. Mendum since his college days. He has always been a student of public affairs and his knowledge of politics in the larger and better sense is most extensive. He has served with distinction in the last three sessions of the House of Representatives. He is an accomplished and eloquent speaker, able both in the committee room and on the floor of the House to make his views favorably known to his associates.

He is clean, conscientious and courageous.

In his previous legislative work he has helped to advance Winchester interests in every possible way. His experience will be of the utmost value to Winchester and to the whole district.

In my long acquaintance with Mr. Mendum, I have always admired his independence, his courage and his willingness to stand up and be counted for what was right and honest and progressive, even when not at the moment upon the popular side.

Winchester has always admired and supported men of independent thought and action.

In voting at the coming primary on September 12 you will do the State, the District and Yourself a distinct service in putting a cross against Mr. Mendum's name.

There are too few men of his type in the public service.

Respectfully yours,
Ralph E. Joslin

AMASA HARRINGTON

Winchester Man Who Is a Candidate for Representative

Mr. Amasa Harrington of Sanborn street, a resident of Winchester for the past 11 years, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative. He is widely and favorably known, and announces that he is running on the platform of a business man's experience.

Mr. Harrington was born in Waltham and has long been identified with the iron and steel business. From 1880 to 1886 he was associated with the firm of Fuller, Dana & Fitz, and in the latter year associated himself with the E. P. Sanderson Co., iron and steel and carriage hardware. He was given the position of secretary and credit manager of the firm in 1900 and last year was made manager of the auto tire department of the company. He is prominent in Masonic circles, being secretary of Winchester Royal Arch Chapter, recorder of Orient Council and master of Mystic Valley Lodge of this town.

POLITICS QUIET

Although the primaries are but two weeks distant, politics are very dead in this town, the only activity discernable being that created by the various candidates themselves. With the home-coming of many vacationists next week, things are expected to liven up a bit. Winchester has itself a four-cornered contest over State Representative, but the two most prominent candidates, Messrs. Harrington and Bateman are still undergoing the final grooming before starting out in earnest for the nomination. Mr. Alfred D. Radley is active, and has secured prominent support in the contest. Messrs. Mendum and Warren, seeking the Senatorial nomination, are also active in town, and each appears probable of securing active support.

Another Senatorial candidate who has active friends in town is Mr. Stanley A. Dearborn of Wakefield, who is out for the Republican nomination.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Jessie Doane Blake of Somerville has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Arleine Frances Blake, and Mrs. James Miller Flinn of this town. The wedding has been set for October the 14th. Mr. Flinn is popular and well known in this town, where he has made his home for many years. He is prominent in the Calumet Club, where he previously held the office of treasurer, and also in the Winchester Boat Club.

Mr. William C. Corey of Wilmington, Del., was in town the first of the week visiting his mother, Mrs. Charles E. Corey of the Parkway.

THE TIME TO REGISTER

Now is the time to register to vote in this fall elections. If you are not a registered voter in this town, and are eligible, you should immediately place your name on the list.

The Board of Registrars have announced that they will be in session to register new voters at the Town Hall on Wednesday, August 30, from 2 to 5 p. m. and from 7.30 to 9 p. m.; also on Thursday, Aug 31, from 2 to 5 p. m. and from 7:30 to 9 p. m.

Hold these dates open. Do not neglect to register and then complain at election time.

SECOND ABUTMENT NEARLY DONE

The second or east abutment at the new Bacon street bridge is now nearly completed, concrete being poured today or tomorrow. Owing to the width of the span it was necessary the first of the week to install a longer boom to the big derrick at the work, this somewhat delaying the progress which had been maintained previously. Carpenters are already at work making the big arch forms for the upper concrete and the false work will be rapidly erected.

GO TO YOUR POST OFFICE

If you are seeking information, go to your Postoffice: Recently we received a letter asking if we could locate a lady whose name was unknown to the writer, but who had three young children: They had met on the boat returning from a vacation trip, but had neglected to exchange cards; The names of the children were furnished us, but the only other clue we had to work on was that the husband was in the navy.

We found the lady she was looking for, and furnished the writer with the proper information.

MEET S'GRAVENHAGE, ALIAS THE HAGUE

Where is S'Gravenhage? Give up? Perhaps you know it as Den Haag. No? Well, it is only our friend The Hague dressed in its native costume.

This uniquely labled town, which is the only city of importance before whose name we place "the" in English, is still more oddly named when its Dutch appellation is translated, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society. The bulletin, which follows, is issued in connection with the approaching conference at The Hague which will take up the unfinished work of the Genoa conference:

It Means "The Hedge"

S'Gravenhage, which is the proper name of the Dutch capital we call "The Hague," says the bulletin, means something like "the hedge-enclosed space of the Count." This term was probably really descriptive in the early part of the thirteenth century when it was applied to a rual hunting lodge, but hardly fits the present-day city, almost as large as Minneapolis, from which are governed seven million Netherlanders and their colonial empire of nearly fifty million souls. On many Dutch maps the unwieldy name has been shortened to "Den Haag" which we in turn have changed to "The Hague." As we use it, then, the name means—if it means anything after its metamorphosis—"the hedge" or "the hedge enclosure."

The Hague is not a typical Dutch city. It does not have the commerce and industry of larger Amsterdam and Rotterdam nor the distinctive Dutch quality of the smaller towns. It is cosmopolitan, and may be compared to Washington in that its chief business is governing, and that it is well built, has beautiful avenues and trees and is rich in parks. But there is much of the strictly Dutch atmosphere. Numerous canals cross the city's thoroughfares and in the center of the town is a sizable lake called the Vyver—the fish-pond—a survival of the hunting lodge days of 700 years ago. Gleaming white mansions and government buildings are grouped about this pond, which serves as a reflecting pool to set off their appearence.

Promenading Is "National Sport"

The Hague's shops and cafes are excellent. Lange Pooten is the City's Fifth Avenue and Michigan Boulevard; and there of a late afternoon and evening, the crowd of promenaders seems out of all proportion to even a population of 360,000. Strolling of an evening is such a favorite pastime of the Dutch city-dwellers, though, that one traveler has dubbed it "Holland's national sport."

To the east of the city is a magnificent wood—"the Bosch"—which is a remnant of the heavy forest that once covered all this portion of the coast of the Netherlands. Roads and walks extend into this beautiful natural park; and deep in its interior, beside small lakes, is a royal villa, portions of which were erected hundreds of years ago. It was in this villa that was held in 1899 the first Hague Conference called by the late Tsar of Russia.

Dutch Atlantic City Near By

To the north of the city is a smaller fragment of forest, and through it extends a beautiful avenue leading to the coast, only three miles away. The terminus of this road is Scheveningen, Holland's Atlantic City, a feature which adds materially to The Hague's popularity as a conference place. The broad hard beach of this seaside resort is dotted with hundreds of queer, hooded, toadstool-liks beach chairs, and at the water's edge are drawn up scores of the 'bathing machines" without which no European beach would be complete.

It was not by chance that The Hague was chosen as the situation for the Peace Palace which Andrew Carnegie donated in 1913. For hundreds of years the city has been the center of European diplomacy. It might be known as "the City of Treaties." From 1688 onward The Hague has been the scene of dozens of conferences and treaty makings, many of them of world-wide importance. It was this background of world diplomacy that led many to believe that The Hague would be chosen as the seat of the League of Nations.

Sticks as Receipts.

In one of the corridors of the British houses of parliament there is a curious exhibit which looks like a bundle of kindling wood. It represents all that is left of the account "books" used by the exchequer during the Middle ages. The bundle consists of "tallies," notched sticks on which accounts were kept. When an account was paid a stick was split. One-half was kept and the other half was given as a "receipt." When the crude system was abandoned, and proper books were kept, there was a vast accumulation of these tallies, and early in the last century an official had the happy thought of saving on fuel by using this vast hoard of tally-sticks as kindling wood. It was actually by the overheating of a stove by using too many of these tally-sticks that the old houses of parliament caught fire in 1834 and were burned down.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK—

THAT if business is falling off, you should step right out of the rut and increase it by the right kind of ADVERTISING.

THAT getting the business is not always a selfish proposition. Modern business entails a certain amount of service that is of as much interest to the buyer as to the seller.

THAT you will find in the stores of your city, the obliging clerks, the ones who greet you with a smile, who wait on you courtesly, solicitous of your every wish, who answer your questions politely, who are willing to take the trouble to supply any information wanted—they help to make better business.

THAT "mail order" houses succeed because they advertise. You can beat them at their own game by advertising in your local paper.

THAT many citizens would be pleasantly surprised if they were to investigate the various kinds and classes of merchandise obtainable in their city. With this knowledge, they could spend all their money at home. A DOLLAR SPENT IN YOUR OWN CITY HELPS YOUR CITY. A DOLLAR SPENT IN SOME OTHER CITY, HELPS THAT CITY. BUY AT HOME.

THAT your city is the best city in which to live. Don't hesitate to tell the world about it.

Collector of Taxes, William H. Stinson, is enjoying a few days of well earned rest in camp on the Concord River.

Swimming at Wedge Pond has become popular in town again. A new bathing place has come into favor, it being located at the foot of the Town Way between the Calumet Club and the Congregational Church. A float and spring board are among the attractions enjoyed by the bathers.

THINKING OF YOUR LOSS

after that fine plate glass of yours went to smash? It need not cause you financial loss—only a little inconvenience until you can have a new one put in. Carry our plate glass insurance.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

If you are using defective gas tubing, discard it. Do not mend it.

It is criminal carelessness to try to keep in use gas tubing that will permit even an infinitesimal amount of gas to escape, by patching it with tire tape, putty, rags, soap, or bread dough, as has been shown upon investigation to have been done in many instances.

Worn-out gas tubing should be replaced by purchasing only the best grade of tubing. It may cost a few cents more, but it is worth it.

Ask for and insist upon having only the highest grade, for such tubing is absolutely odorless and will last longer than the inferior articles which are sold for a cent or two less per foot than the superior make.

Customers who need tubing purchase wisely when they come to this office. Only the best grade of tubing and that best fitted for the service required, is permitted to be sold.

SENATOR'S DRIVER RIDS HIMSELF OF INDIGESTION

After Suffering For 25 Years, Now Eats Everything

"For twenty-five years I was a sufferer of indigestion. Could not eat anything but broiled meats and boiled potatoes—could eat no other vegetables or fish or pastries. I couldn't sleep well and never a night went by without a smothering condition assailing me.

"I have taken just two bottles of O'BRIEN'S and now I eat anything and sleep the night through—believe I am permanently cured," writes Arthur Cawfield, 615 Pearl St., Camden, N. J., driver for United States Senator Baird.

Here's another case where a man had tried every known remedy without results. Only when he tried O'BRIEN'S did he secure relief—the first real relief in twenty-five years.

You, too, may be suffering from Indigestion; or, perhaps, Dyspepsia, Heartburn, Gastritis, Colic, Ulcerated Stomach, or other digestive troubles. If so, by all means try O'BRIEN'S. For, here's a preparation compounded after the prescription of a Massachusetts doctor. Ever since 1898—twenty-four years ago—O'BRIEN'S has been bringing stomach health to the afflicted.

MICHOACAN: A STATE YOU MAY NOT HAVE MET

Michoacan, March 1922.—No, the printer didn't make a mistake. There's another one. But it happens to be a state in Mexico instead of in the United States; and it is hotter both climatically and temperamentally than the Wolverine State.

In a bulletin issued from its Washington, D. C. headquarters the National Geographic Society tells about Mexico's "Michigan," where revolutionary disturbances have broken out recently.

Kept His Boots On

Michoacan is not very well known to the outside world, says the bulletin, "chiefly because under the present railroad development the state is not on the road to any place. If you go into Michoacan you go because that is your destination. Many modern forces which have molded other parts of Mexico, have not, therefore, made themselves felt very strongly in Michoacan. A number of its quiet little towns of eight to ten thousand souls, descendants of early Spanish settlers, are the centers of conservatism. But paradoxically, the state as a whole has always been a veritable revolutionary cauldron, for its large Indian population seems to inherit the combativeness of ancestors who were never conquered by the Aztecs. Like a few European nobles who may wear their hats in the presence of their king, the old chief of the Michoacan natives alone had the right to stalk into the presence of Montezuma with his boots on.

Hidalgo, who in 1810 started the revolution against Spain which resulted finally in the formation of the Mexican Republic, first raised his standard in Michoacan, and after his execution Morelos, a native of the same state, continued to keep the fight alive. During the early period Michoacan was the 'Valley Forge" of the Mexican revolution. Morelia, the capital of Michoacan, is named after this local as well as national hero—one of the few towns of prominence named after a man born within it. The original name was discarded a few years after Morelos' death.

Coast-Line Without a Port

Michoacan has a coast-line of 100 miles on the Pacific but not a single port. The situation in Central America is directly reversed here. In Central America the Pacific coast is the region of development, heavy population and culture; Michoacan's Pacific coast is largely waste land very sparsely settled. A relatively few miles inland the Sierra Madre mountains form a great rampart from the Pacific, and among these mountains and on the plateau inland is centered the life of the state.

The mountainous portion of Michoacan is the Switzerland of Mexico, a region abounding in scenic beauty unsurpassed elsewhere in the republic. There are high mountains, deep valleys, and the most beautiful lakes in Mexico. Forming part of the western boundary of the state is Lake Chapala, the largest body of fresh water south of Lake Michigan and north of Lake Nicaragua. It is to this hill-encircled, forest-rimmed lake that many of the wild ducks and geese are winging their way when their southward flight appraises the people of the Michigan of the north that winter is approaching. Tens of thousands of these fowl are killed on Lake Chapala every winter, but apparently without materially reducing their numbers.

City Known for Its Candies

Because of the great variety of its products Michoacan might almost stand alone. It is the greatest cereal growing state of the republic, and in addition is a heavy producer of coffee to drink with the cereals, sugar to sweeten the coffee, fruits for a side dish, vanilla with which to flavor the family desserts, wines to top off with, and tobacco with which to make the after-dinner cigar. Even the cabinet woods with which to make handsome dinner-tables are produced in abundance. And sweet-meats for the drawing-room are not lacking. Morelia is known all over Mexico, even by those whose knowledge of its rich associations is somewhat hazy, because of an especially toothsome concoction of candied quinces.

HIGH SCHOOL ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS

Pupils coming from other communities who wish to enter the High School should, as far as possible, make arrangement for their entrance by calling at the Principal's office on Saturday, September 2 and Monday September 4 between the hours of 9 and 12.

Examinations for the removal of failures are to be given in Room 14 of the High School at 9 A. M., and at 2 P. M., Tuesday September 5. An examination lasts for an hour and a half. On account of the crowded schedule of the day, it is necessary that pupils be prompt for examinations.

Books taken out for summer study should be returned to Mr. Lovering Tuesday, if possible.

BONDS NOT PASSED UPON

The School Building Program bonds, reports to the contrary notwithstanding, have not yet been passed upon by Ropes, Gray, Boyden and Perkins. While there is no intimation that the bands are not correct, the question of their legality has not yet been determined.

WHERE PUPILS WILL GO

Editor of the Star:
Winchester, Mass.
Dear Sir:

May I use the courtesy of your columns to make an announcement regarding the schools to which pupils in the grades will go during the following year.

So far as possible pupils up to and including the sixth grade will attend schools in their own district. Where schools are too small for them to do this, they will go to the nearest school available.

Grades I—VI inclusive of the Washington district will attend the Washington School.

Grades I—V inclusive of the Chapin district will attend the Chapin School. Grade VI of this district will go to the Prince School.

Grades I—IV inclusive of the Rumford district will attend the Rumford School. Grades V and VI of this district will go to the Prince School.

Grades I—V inclusive of the Wyman district will attend the Wyman School. Grade VI of this district will go to the Prince School.

Grades I—IV inclusive of the Mystic district will attend the Mystic School. Grades V and VI of this district will go to the Gifford School.

Grades I—IV inclusive of the Highland district will attend the Highland School. Grades V and VI of this district will go to the Gifford School.

All pupils of grades VII and VIII will attend the Wadleigh School.

The entrance age for pupils to the Kindergarten is four years and nine months, and the entrance age for pupils to Grade I is five years and nine months. There are two kindergartens, one at the Chapin School and one at the Prince School.

Very truly yours,
J. R. Fausey,
Superintendent of Schools

THE POSTMASTER SAYS

The party who "stole" my geranium from the rear of the postoffice building might at least, send me a card of thanks. They have got something they could not have obtained from anyone else, and I hope they appreciate it. If they had asked for a slipping or cutting from the plant, I should have been pleased to have given it to them, and their conscience would not be uneasy.

MANCHESTER FIELD WON

Manager Flaherty's Manchester Field base ball team defeated Mathews' Leonard Field nine for the junior championship of Winchester on Wednesday afternoon at Manchester Field by the score of 5-0. Donlon, who was easily the star of the game, struck out twelve men and allowed but two hits. He had the Leonard Field team at his mercy all the time.

POLITICS

Politics remain largely inactive in this town, although rallies were held in the square on Tuesday night by three candidates, including Representative Samuel W. Mendum, candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination. Although we have right here at home a four-cornered fight on for the Republican representative nomination between local citizens, the active political work of the past is noticed by its absence among the voters at large.

From indications Governor Channing Cox will receive a substantial vote here, and the fight for Representative will be a close contest. In fact the only activity of note at all is in this contest, it being largely in support of Mr. Amasa Harrington.

MISSING FROM HOME

The police and relatives are searching for 15-year-old Lucy Peluso, a student at the Winchester High School, who disappeared from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Peluso, of 21 Spruce street. The parents believe that a telephone call received by the girl Thursday night had something to do with her going away.

It has been learned that a girl giving her name as Lucy Peluso, aged 19, and Paul Maullari, 26, of Boston, had applied for a marriage license at City Hall, Boston. The license is returnable today.

Maullari and the Peluso girl have been keeping company for some time. They wanted to get married, relatives said, but the parents objected.

REV. DOREMUS SCUDDER RECOVERS

Rev. Doremus Scudder of Mt. Vernon street, seriously injured by an automobile at Williamstown early in July, returned home from the hospital this week nearly, if not fully, restored to health.

Dr. Scudder, who is executive secretary of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches, suffered a broken nose, fractured skull, broken jaw and bad lacerations to his scalp and face when his head was crushed into the gravel road by the auto. He will take a further rest before resuming his duties.

FOUR BOYS TAKEN IN STOLEN AUTOMOBILE

Four North Cambridge youths were turned over to the Somerville police Sunday afternoon after they had been arrested in Winchester, where they were riding in the automobile stolen Saturday night from Fred L. Kelley, 16 Bailey street, Somerville. The boys were Ernest J. David, 16, of 115 Dudley street; Bartholomew R. Shugrue, 16, of 5 Wilbur street; Frederic Burke, 15, of 126 Read street, and Gerard J. Curtis, 16, of 20 Russell street, all North Cambridge. They were released on bail and appeared in the juvenile session of the Somerville District Court to answer to the charge of unlawful appropriation of an automobile.

Mr. Kelley left his car outside a theatre on Claredon aave., West Somerville, Saturday night. When he and his family came back they found the machine gone. The license number of the automobile was sent to nearby police and patrolman William Cassidy of Winchester recognized the stolen car in Winchester sq. about 2 a. m. Sunday morning. He commandeered another car and captured the occupants of the machine.

Lieut. Thomas Damery and patrolman Charles Fulton, came over to Winchester Sunday afternoon and took the boys back. It is alleged that the boys confessed and said they had borrowed the automobile to go to Pinehurst, Billerica, for a dance. They said they planned to abandon the car in North Cambridge in the morning, the police allege.

Another Somerville car, stolen Friday night, was found abandoned the next morning in North Cambridge. The police are trying to learn if the boys know anything about this case.

REGATTA AT BOAT CLUB

Labor Day plans at the Winchester Boat Club will include an interesting, and what promises to be an exciting, regatta this season, for a program of exceptionally good water sports has been arranged for next Monday afternoon by Fleet Captain George B. Cummings. The program will open at 2:30 and the Medford Boat Club has been invited to participate, which will bring a husky crowd of paddlers up from the lower end of the lake.

The list of events includes the following:

| | |
|---|---|
| Club fours | Hand-paddle fours |
| Singles | Hurry-scurry |
| Tail-end | Blindman's race |
| Tandem gunwale | Tilting |

Following the sports a dance is to be held at the Club, opening at 8 o'clock. Many of the club members are planning to spend the afternoon and evening at the lake, enjoying lunch in their canoes.

TRIBUTE TO PROHIBITION

[From the clipsheet issued by the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Washington, D. C.]

In a letter to Mr. Gifford Gordon, Melbourne, Australia, Judge S. D. Murphy, of the Juvenile Court of Jefferson County, Alabama, pays a striking tribute to prohibition. His letter is as follows:

"I feel that I am entirely safe in saying that since the abolishment of the saloon, crime has been reduced fifty per cent. That this is true is shown by the fact that during the era of the open saloon the city authorities built a jail, at an approximate cost of $100,000 in which to house an average of one hundred and fifty prisoners. A few years after the building of this jail our prohibition laws were enacted, and very soon thereafter the number of prisoners was so reduced that the jail was closed, and was not used except as a storage house for several years. Finally the city loaned it to the Juvenile Court, by which it is now used as a Receiving Home and Parental School. There is no sentiment whatever in this city and state for the return of the saloon, and no one would be elected to any office on such a platform. That this is true is illustrated by the fact that at a recent meeting of our state legislature a bill was introduced authorizing the sale of a malt beverage similar in taste and looks to beer, but without alcohol. This was defeated, because of the fear that it would be an 'entering edge' to other legislation favoring the sale of beer."

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Marriage intentions have been filed at the Town Clerk's office during the week as folloys:

Ralph Wiliam Hatch and Mildred Carol Foreman.

Carl Richards McElhiney, 16 Baldwin street, and Margaret Helen McPartlin, 31 Chestnut street, Woburn.

Frederick John Larson, 993 Main street, and Jennie Elizabeth Johnson, 121 Main street.

KEELER—O'LEARY

Miss Margaret Cecilia O'Leary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O'Leary of 25 Nelson street, and Mr. William Henry Keeler of 286 Washington street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Keeler of Winthrop, were quietly married on Monday evening at St. Mary's rectory, Rev. Joseph M. Fitzgibbons performing the ceremony. The couple were attended by Mr. William Flannery of Winthrop and Miss Mae T. O'Leary of this town, the bride's sister.

The bride wore a wedding dress of white canton crepe and carried bride's roses, her bridesmaid being gowned in silver gray canton crepe with picture hat to match and carrying a bouquet of pink roses. The double ring ceremony was used.

A small reception, attended only by members of the immediate families, followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, the couple receiving with Mr. and Mrs. O'Leary and Mr. and Mrs. Keeler.

Both the bride and groom are widely known to a host of friends, Mrs. Keeler having been for the past seven years in charge of the clerical department at the Star office and Mr. Keeler foreman of the printing department. Following an automobile tour through the White Mountains, they will reside in their new home now under construction at the corner of Washington and Swanton streets.

TO BE MARRIED THIS FALL

Among the early fall weddings will be that of Miss Almena Cogswell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Cogswell, and Mr. George A. Chase of Wolfville, Nova Scotia. Miss Cogswell graduated from Jackson College in 1917 and from the Katharine Gibbs Secretarial School in 1919. Since that time she has been secretary to the Registrar of the Harvard Graduate School of Education. Mr. Chase is a graduate of St. Andrews College. During the World War he served with the Canadian Army and was decorated for bravery at the Battle of Ypres.

TWO DRIVERS FINED

Winchester police officers had two cases in the Woburn court on Friday morning, one driver of an automobile paying a fine of $30 and another $10. Officer William Rogers, who is doing traffic duty at the corner of Main and Swanton streets, had Louis H. Dennis up for reckless driving. The officer testified that Dennis drove down Main street at a reckless pace and failed to heed his signal to turn into Swanton street, driving down the closed part of Main street. Dennis paid $30. The other driver was arrested by officer O'Connell, who testified that he was driving over Cambridge street at 40 miles an hour. This driver, John W. Ritchie, was fined $10.

INJURED BY AUTO

Miss Emeline Rogers, 54 years of age, of 44 Glen road, was seriously injured in a peculiar accident on Cambridge street Saturday evening. According to reports of the affair Miss Rogers had alighted from an electric car at the corner of Glen road. A Dodge sedan, driven by Mrs. Margaret W. Jones of Newton Highlands, stopped to allow Miss Rogers to cross the street in front of it, when it was struck by an Oldsmobile driven by Frederick S. Lang of Roxbury and Hull.

The collision pinned Miss Rogers between the Dodge and the electric, she receiving severe injuries. She was taken to her home and treated by Dr. Dennett. The autos were slightly injured.

OFFICER STOPPED RUNAWAY

After a horse attached to a D. Whiting & Sons milk wagon had run from Clark street clear through town up Main street to the centre, it was stopped by officer Donahue before it could do any damage, on Wednesday afternoon. Although the animal ran nearly a mile, most of the distance through the narrow space by the open street work on Main street, no damage resulted and there was no one injured.

With the young son of policeman William Rogers on the seat of the wagon, the horse started on its flight. The boy could not stop the animal, but officer Donahue made short work of capturing him. That no one was injured is considered a miracle.

FUNERAL SERVICES SATURDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie Merrill Jones, wife of Mr. Marshall W. Jones of Highland avenue, who died at Portland, Me., last week Thursday, were held at the First Conbregational Church Saturday afternoon with a large attendance of friends and relatives. The display of floral offerings was large and very beautiful. The burial was in Wildwood cemetery.

Mrs. Jones was a native of Gardiner, Me., and her father, Capt. Merrill, followed the sea. She had ben married to Mr. Jones more than 30 years, and before removing to Winchester, which has been the family home for 17 years, she and her husband had lived in Brookline. In Winchester Mrs. Jones long maintained an interest in the Home for the Aged. Besides her husband she is survived by a son, M. Walker Jones of Winchester; and a sister, Mrs. William Towne of California.

MASSACHUSETTS CITIZENS' ALLIANCE

Plans for the formation of a local branch of the Massachusetts Citizens' Alliance were outlined at a meeting held last Thursday evening at the residence of George H. Hamilton, Wedge Pond Road.

Members of various organizations had been invited as well as representatives from the different churches. The League of Women Voters, American Legion, Fortnightly Club, W. C. T. U., and nearly all of the churches were thus unofficially represented at the meeting.

Mrs. Jeannette H. Mason, of Boston, organization secretary of the Citizens' Alliance Campaign Committee was present and explained the work of the Alliance.

The Citizens' Alliance of Massachusetts is a mobilization of all the forces in the state that stand for law and order and the upholding of American ideals. It has been formed by four of the leading organizations in the state, the Massachusetts Federation of Churches, Churchmen's Union of Greater Boston, Anti-Saloon League, and Mass. W. C. T. U.

Through its campaign committee, it is at present directing its efforts entirely for the ratification of the Prohibition Enforcement Code which is designed to harmonize the laws of the state with the Federal Statute and thus make it possible to have real enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.

This code was passed by a two to one vote in the Mass. House of Representatives, a three to one vote in the Senate, and signed by Governor Cox. His Excelleency also recommended its passage in his annual message last January.

Operation of the law is suspended by reason of the petition of the liquor forces and the question of ratification by the voters will appear as a refefendum on the ballot at the November election.

The question will be Referendum, No. 4, and will read: "Shall a law (Chapter 427 of the Acts of 1922) enacted to enforce in Massachusetts the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which provides that except as authorized by the act, the manufacture, sale, barter, transportation, importation, delivery, furnishing or possessing of any intoxicating liquor, as defined in the act, shall be a criminal offense and be punished in the manner prescribed by the act, which law was passed in the House of Representatives by a majority of 134 in the affirmative to 68 in the negative, and in the Senate by a majority of 28 in the affirmative and 9 in the negative, and was approved by the Governor, be approved?"

Massachusetts is one of the three states which are the only ones that have failed to pass an enforcement code and for lack of adequate legislation law-breaking is on the increase and serious conditions are the result.

Failure to ratify the code will not produce any change in the present situation, as the Federal law is supreme but cannot be satisfactorily enforced without proper legislation.

To promote a clear understanding of the situation and arouse every voter to a realization of his duty, the Citizens' Alliance is organizing local branches in every community.

Those present at the meeting Thursday evening voted to organize a committee in Winchester and formed themselves into a committee for that purpose.

The following were chosen as officers for the temporary organization:

Chairman, Mrs. D. C. Dennett; vice-chairman, Mrs. Grace M. Hamilton, secretary; Mrs. H. L. Tibbetts, treasurer; Mr. George T. Davidson, with the following as directors; J. Albert Hersey, E. W. Comfort, Kenneth F. Caldwell.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING
August 28, 1922.

The Board met at 7:30 p. m. All were present.

The records of the meeting of August 21 were read and approved.

Jurors 1922: Mr. W. R. McIntosh as a constable of the Town of Winchester appeared with a venire calling for two men of Winchester to serve as Traverse Jurors at the Superior Criminal Court to be holden at Lowell within and for our County of Middlesex on the Tuesday after the first Monday of September next. They are to appear and attend said court on Tuesday, the 5th day of September 1922 at 10 o'clock a. m.

Messrs. Howard L. Bennett, 272 Highland Avenue and Marshall K. Berry, 17 Wildwood street were drawn.

Elections (State Primary Sept. 12, 1922): The Board signed the warrant calling for a Town Meeting for the State Primary to be held on September 12, 1922. The Board appointed the following persons to serve as election officers at the State Primary:

| Democrats | Republicans |
|---|---|
| Henry J. Donovan | J. Leslie Johnston |
| Thomas F. Flaherty | Joseph T. McCauley |
| Timothy H.Haley | Frank T. Olmstead |
| Joseph D. Mawn | Kenneth M. Pratt |
| James H. O'Connor | William E. Ramsdell |
| James A. Riley | John F. Kelley |
| Robert H. Sullivan | Dr. Harrie Y. Nutter |
| James T. Ledwidge | James M. Flinn |
| Dwight D. Elliott | Joseph A. Blackham |
| Robert V. Donaghey | Ralph F. Arnold |

Licenses 1922 (Garages): Mr. A. Van Allen Thomason and Mr. A. G. Thomason's petition for a garage liat the hearing to consider Mr. A. G. Thomason petition for a garage license at 16 Lawson Road. As no one appeared in protest and as a favorable recommendation was received from the Chief of the Fire Department the Board voted to grant Mr. Thomason a license to conduct a garage at this location, being effective until May 1, 1923 unless sooner revoked.

School Building Program: Messrs. James S. Allen, Harry C. Sanborn, Albert M. Chandler of the special school building committee, Mr. George J. Barbaro representing a special committee whom the Board asked to interview the various property owners of land to be taken by the town for the proposed Chapin School site and the Town Counsel, appeared to talk over informally the School Building matter. Mr. Barbaro made a written report covering in great detail the interviews which his committee, consisting of Mr. James Hinds, James J. Fitzgerald and himself, had had with the property owners in question.

Coal: Mr. Willey stated he had been able to purchase one carload of bituminous coal for the town.

Sidewalks (Gravel): Petition was received from Lorence M. Woodside and four others requesting that a gravel sidewalk be constructed along their various properties on the westerly side of Highland Ave., to correspond with that on the easterly side of Highland Ave., from 147 Highland Ave., to Fells Road. The petition states that "this request is made not alone because a walk is very much needed at this particular place but also to enable the property owners to improve their various lands by the planting of trees and shrubs which cannot well be done without the establishment of a definite sidewalk line." This matter was referred to the Supt. of streets for report.

Signs (Clocks): Mr. Frederick Kerr appeared before the Board to find out whether it was necessary or not for him to obtain a permit to place some kind of an electrical clock on the drug stores owned by the Allen estate and Mr. Knight. It was found that no permit was necessary provided the clock is not allowed to project over 6 inches over the sidewalk. The clerk was instructed to notify Mr. Kerr to this effect and to add that if the clock in question projected over six inches a permit would be necessary.

Meeting adjourned at 11:15 p. m.

George S. F. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen.

ARLINGTON WATER CIRCUS TO BE NOVEL AFFAIR

The Arlington Water Circus and Path of Jewels Carnival to be held at Spy Pond, Arlington, September 12th to 16th inclusive promises to be the most gigantic affair of its kind ever held in this section of the country.

The Middlesex Sportsman's Association and the Arlington Lodge of Elks have combined to handle this magnanimous production and have instructed Harry S. Orr, the Director, to spare no expense to promote a production second to none.

The show opens with a concert by Charlie Young's fifty-piece concert band which is followed by a mammoth decorated canoe parade—with two hundred and fifty decorated canoes

The big Water Ballet Chorus composed of a hundred young ladies singing especially arranged numbers is followed by water events such as canoe races, swimming races, high and fancy diving.

The Moxie boy assisted by twelve frolicking Moxie Beauties sing and dance on the Oyster Shell Float—a new and novel feature especially arranged through the courtesy of Frank M. Archer of the Moxie Company.

A canoe drill of great interest will be shown at each performance.

Canoe races, singles, doubles and war canoes in fast speedy races, high and fancy divers featuring Neptune and Neptune's Daughters. Feature fireworks display every night at the close of each performance.

A path of Jewels Midway brilliantly illuminated with twenty four concession booths to be erected will be a feature par excellence.

The show, taken as a whole, will be the biggest event of its kind ever held in this section of the country. New and novel features will predominate and a sensational free act will close the production each night.

It is estimated that a hundred thousand people will visit Spy Pond on these dates.

A flock of a hundred wild duck will mingle with the performers and the entire show will be produced under the blaze of eight big search lights.

A good time is assured all who attend.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

A woman said that "everything goes round in a sewing circle."

A girl who's work in the factory was polishing mirrors, was discharged because she couldn't keep her mind on the work.

The girl with bobed hair may think she is handsome, but so does a bob-cat.

Burning the candle at both ends is the worst way on earth to make both ends meet.

That some of our town boards seem to hold little or no knowledge of business ethics in handling the various appointments coming under their jurisdiction is increasingly evident. Whether this feature of our Town affairs is due to the composition of our boards or simply to a care-free style or temperamental method of doing the Town's business is open to discussion, but there is certainly food for thought in some of the cases which are continuing to come to light. We are led to cite an instance brought to our attention this week, whereby our Board of Health has effected a consolidation of the positions of office stenographer and dental clinic assistant. Taking over the dental clinic from the Red Cross early in the Spring, the Board continued the services of the assistant, Miss Grace Hatch. After passing the summer with the expectation that she would resume her duties next week, the assistant was notified Saturday that her office had been consolidated and that Miss Elinor Lawlor, office stenographer, would assume her duties. That the Board was well within its rights in effecting an economy in its action, and even to be commended for so doing, is unquestioned. The ethics of notifying its assistant of her dismissal from the position a week before resuming the dental work, after waiting all summer, is decidedly open to criticism, especially so when the STAR is informed by Mr. Carl F. Woods, chairman of the Board, that the decision to do away with the assistant was made as long ago as last February in conference with the Finance Committee. Mr. Woods states that the employees of his department are employed only week to week—that his Board has the power to terminate their service at any time. While it was generally thought that a Town appointment carried from March to March, the STAR nevertheless employes its force on the same basis of week to week. Its management would consider that it was doing a grave injustice to any of its employees however, should it knowingly allow them to remain idle for two months and dismiss them a week previous to the date of their return. A period of two months gives ample opportunity for the seeking of a new position, it will be admitted, while a wait of that period with the expectation of resuming former duties, only to receive a formal notification of dismissal, is disconcerting to say the least. Our departmental Town affairs have not run at all smoothly during the past few months, and much of the criticism has been along this line.

Work was started Friday by the Boston & Maine Railroad repairing the Swanton street bridge, which has been in bad shape for some time.

Thursday forenoon a truck loaded with coke, owned by the J. F. Winn Co., ran into the ditch on Main street. The truck struck one of the town teams in the accident, bruising the hand of the driver, John Richardson. The truck was pulled out of the excavation by John Tansey, engineer of the steam roller.

Among the provisional appointments made at Camp Devens this month was that of Mr. Preston B. Rowe of Myrtle terrace. Mr. Rowe received the rank of 2d Lieut., asst. battalion supply officer, headquarters 8th Battalion.

The estate at No. 22 Glen road, owned by Margaret W. Hall and consisting of a concrete dwelling, garage and 17,000 sq. ft. of land, has been sold to Eleanor S. Jackson, who will occupy it.

TO THE CITIZENS' OF WINCHESTER

August 30, 1922.

Before announcing my candidacy for Senatorship of your District, I consulted no boss, dictator, or ward leader, if you have any, but consulted the records of my opponents to ascertain what achievements they had accomplished. Not finding anything of which either could boast or rely upon for advancement. I am somewhat amused and surprised to read the unsigned political ad appearing in some papers in behalf of Mr. Warren and the letter of commendation written by a former law partner in behalf of Mr. Mendum. Upon what do the gentleman base these laudatory generalities? What legislation did either originate for the benefit of the people?

Singularly enough, both gentlemen ended their career as Legislators with a grand atni-climax, but true to form nevertheless, never heeding the ancient Biblical saying: "There is a time to speak and a time to keep silent," one preserving his usual silence when it was his duty to speak, and the other voting alone to unseat as good a judge as ever graced a Massachusetts Bench. Surely the gentlemen would much rather explain their records, or have their friends explain, than have the voters confused by honey words of praise. Both are estimable gentlemen and of high standing. It is their records only that we bring before the people for explanation.

(1) How many times have you, Mr. Warren, during your three years of service in the legislature addressed that body on the floors of the House?

(2) Is Mr. Mendum correct when he says that Mr. Warren addressed the Legislature but once in three years?

(3) Were you, Mr. Warren, designated by your Committee or was it referred to you, to present the reinstatement of the Judge's pension bill, or however it may have been named, to the Legislature, and did you do it, or did you back down at the last moment, and why?

(4) Why did you, Mr. Mendum, vote to unseat Judge Pierce, being the only member of either House so to do?

5) Have you Mr. Mendum heard the whisperings about the State House to the effect that your vote was the result of a deal?

(6) Have you heard and have you denied, or is it true, that you voted to unseat Judge Pierce upon the pledge of Mr. Poland to support you for the Senate?

(7) Is Mr. Poland supporting your candidacy?

(8) Mr. Mendum, have you ever heard a judge charge the jury that if one of their number is in opposition to the other eleven that that one should pay attention and digest the reasons and arguments of the other eleven and weigh carefully the evidence to see if he, himself, is not in the wrong? Did you do that in your vote against Judge Pierce?

Our District opened with a Wakefield Republican as Senator. There was a gentleman's agreement that a Wakefield Republican should again have the office when the other towns and cities had been served. All now have been served, too well served, some of them. Why not be fair? Wakefield's candidate if he accomplishes nothing will not have fallen far behind the Legislative records of his opponents. If the active practice of law in the Courts of this Commonwealth has taught him anything it is when to speak and when to keep silent.

Respectfully yours,
Stanley A. Dearborn,

BASE BALL

There will be no game in Winchester tomorrow due to the counter-attraction at Woburn, where the House of David will play Woburn Legion. This team is a big attraction wherever they appear and hundreds of fans in Winchester will want to see them out of curiosity. There will be two games played Labor Day. The morning game will be at Woburn held in conjunction with the Legion Field Day there. In the afternoon we will meet the Colonial A. A. of Boston rated as one of the best semi pro teams in the State. They hold victories over the East Lynn All Stars, the Lafayettes of Salem, Newburyport and other strong team. This is not on the Managers word for we have seen all these win in the papers, 'Al' Foster the Manager is so confident of his team that he is willing to play on a win or lose basis which very few managers care to do. Durant will pitch the afternoon game at Winchester and Flaherty will catch both. In the morning we will have a first class man to share against Woburn and should return to Winchester winners. The A. M. game will start at 10:15 and the P. M. game at 3:15. Finn will umpire the afternoon game. One week from Saturday Sept. 9th the St. Mary's of Lynn the pick of the semi pro league of that city will be here. McKee of the Lynn Item has charge of the teams and claims they are almost as good as the Cornets. Sunday, Woburn Legion will meet Lexington at Lexington and as there will be a number of Winchester boys in both lineups a large crowd will go over from here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Simonds, left this week for South Royalton, Vt., where they will remain for a few weeks.

Manager Hutchinson of Stoneham Theatre, has booked Paramount Pictures for the coming season. Starting Monday, September 4, will be Paramount week, when all Paramount features will be presented. The usual changes will be made on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Phone orders will have choice of reserved seats. No advance in prices for Paramount week.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE TWENTY FIFTH MIDDLESEX REPRESENTATIVE DISTRICT

The direct primary is a source of embarrassment to any candidate who makes a claim to modesty. There being no party issue to discuss, the candidate is forced to attempt to convince the voters that he is better qualified to represent them than his opponents.

After much deliberation I decided to become a candidate for nomination to the House of Representatives in the belief that my previous experience would enable me to be of service to the citizens of this District.

Briefly, I shall set forth some of the more important things I was able to accomplish in my previous holding of office.

The first year I was in the House I introduced the Bill and secured for the citizens of Boston a better quality of illuminating gas. It was the only Bill that passed the Legislature that year adverse to the interests of the Public Service Corporations. The next year I compelled the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad to give a five cent fare within a five mile limit in Boston. I also drew the Police Listing Bill, under which the Police of Boston and not the Assessors made a list of all persons twenty years of age and over as a basis for the voting list. I was also a member of the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs that drafted and reported the Charles River Basin improvement.

The next year as a member of the Committee on Ways and Means I dissented from the report of the Committee and forced through the House, against the Committee, a bill empowering Boston to tax the leasehold estates in the Commonwealth flats, that had previously escaped taxation, and thereby added at that time $500,000 of taxable property to Boston.

As a member of the Senate I was the only dissenter from the report of the Committee on Railroads and Street Railways sitting jointly, permitting the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad to build several street railway lines in the western part of the State to enable the citizens of the so-called "Hill Towns" to get their produce and themselves to market. I claimed in debate that the New Haven could not afford to build those trolley lines,—that they admitted would not pay for ten years.—and if built it would be at the expense of the service elsewhere. I stated that the New Haven was headed for a Receivership (its stock was then selling for $154.00 per share); that it would never be able to build the lines, and that the true solution was a system of State highways and the use of auto trucks. I was laughed at, but within two years from that time the New Haven went on the financial rocks and the people of the "Hill Towns" came to the Legislature asking for $2,500,000, for a system of State Highways that they might get themselves and their produce to market by means of autos. And the State Highways are now built.

At the present time the most important matter is the exercise of strict economy in governmental expenditure and the reduction of taxation. Having served on the Committee on Ways and Means, I am aware of the constant effort required to prevent unnecessary appropriations. With Europe in a state of financial chaos, and we in this country bearing a burden of taxation greater than ever before in our history, economy was never as necessary as now. It was for that reason that I felt impelled to lead the fight against our town spending $559,000, for new schools at this time. I was convinced from an examination of the evidence that it was not necessary from the standpoint of safety or of education; that education was acquired from the system within the schools, not from the schools themselves; that education was not acquired from bricks as against clapboards or shingles; and that there was no method whereby a pupil could receive a hypodermic injection of knowledge.

At the present time there is much criticism of legislators and the quality of legislation. The fault is with the voters. There is too much carelessness and indifference in the selection of candidates. People give away their votes for the mere asking as they would a crust of bread. The question is:—who of all the candidates is best fitted by experience and training to represent you. It is not a question of good fellowship or personal popularity, or of the solicitation of some friend. If the citizens of this District desire to have me represent them in the House of Representatives, I shall be grateful,

Respectfully yours,
Thomas M. Vinson,
High Street, Winchester.

K. OF C. AFFAIRS

At the next meeting of the Council, Tuesday, Sept. 5, plans for the Carnival scheduled for Oct. 12th, 13th, and 14th, will be fully discussed and a program of events for those three days decided upon by the Carnival Committee.

The third of a series of Whist and Dance Parties will be held at the Home this Friday evening, Sept. 1st under the direction of Augustus McFeeley. The whist, in charge of Mrs. Bernard McFeeley, will be held in the lower rooms. The usual preparations have been made for the affair, with a goodly assortment of prizes to choose from.

The regular Monday evening social, falls on Labor Day, Sept. 4th, and will be held as usual under the direction of the Carnival Dance Committee, Messrs. D. F. Dineen, Augustus McFeeley and Thomas Farrell. In conjunction with the dance Mr. James V. Haley and his assistants will run a whist in the lower rooms. As this is the first of a series of parties in aid of his booth a large and enthusiastic gathering is anticipated.

The Whist last Monday night in aid of Luke Glendon's booth was a complete success—financially and socially. Miss Elizabeth Shinnick had charge of the subscription books on an embroidered centerpiece which, when awarded, went to Miss Marion Sullivan. Mrs. Henry Longfield conducted the Food sale, which added to the variety of the affair. A dance and whist, to be run by the "Cullen Brothers" for the same booth, is scheduled for Friday evening Sept. 8. The whist will be conducted by Mrs. Richard Glendon, Mrs. Bernard Cullen, Mrs. M. C. Ambrose, Miss Mary Kenney and other members of Mr. Glendon's committee.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Barnard returned from Melvin Village, N. H., this week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Nowell, who have been spending the summer at Belgrade Lakes, Maine returned home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Merrill have returned from Wonalancet, N. H.

Miss Matilda Currin has returned from Annisquam.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Simonds and family will spend the next few weeks at Lovell, Maine.

A Triumph for Value

IN the past two months Firestone has built and marketed more tires than in any similar period in its history.

This steadily increasing public preference is proof of the recognition by car owners of the greater values offered by Firestone. It is a tribute to Firestone men—all stockholders in the company—all actuated by the operating principle of Most Miles per Dollar.

The high average performance of Firestone Cords is without equal in the annals of tire making and is reflected by the general tendency to specify Firestone for hard service. Taxicab and bus lines, buying tires by the mile, are universally equipping with Firestone Cords.

There are many reasons for the high quality of Firestone tires but chief among the special manufacturing processes are double gum-dipping, thus eliminating internal friction by insulating each cord strand, and air-bag cure, insuring a well-balanced and perfectly shaped product.

Don't speculate in tires—you will find the right combination of price and quality in Firestone. Come in and let us tell you about the service these Cords are giving other car-owners whom you know.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

The Winchesterite who has known octogenarians or has read the novels said octogenarians read when they were young has met with the phrase "a break neck pace," implying that the rapid rider was on his way to death. To say indeed that a man had met with "a broken neck" was sometimes a delicate ambiguity. If he was of the nobility he might have been a horseman, given to fox hunting who had leaped one gate too many. If he had been a sheep stealer he might have broken his neck in an abrupt descent from the gallows. Even now there are grandparents who say, "That child will break his neck one of these days." But the steeple chaser who broke his neck in several places expects a complete recovery. The speeder on the highway apparently considers a broken neck for himself a slight annoyance, while a broken neck for anybody else is something of which he takes no account whatever, Harvey found that many physicians could not be convinced that the blood circulated. The reckless motorist looks down with disdain on all who do not class broken necks with minor accidents.

Old-fashioned folks here in Winchester sometimes said of a man, "He doesn't know beans." The expression implies not merely a lack of experience in a truck garden, but a general intellectual equipment. However, recent debates in Congress show that there are Democratic legislators who, despite their Free Trade proclivities, know beans, and are quite willing to protect all that are grown by their constituents.

Every "bee-line" home here in Winchester will avoid the gossips buzz.

There is romance in everything—even digging ditches in our Winchester streets—but not to the ditch digger.

It takes a vacation to make the average Winchesterite appreciate that Winchester is one of the finest towns on earth.

Community singing develops the community spirit. And what could be better for Winchester than that? Let us plan for some community singing on a large scale.

Whenever a large gift to religious, patriotic, charitable or educational objects is announced somebody plans another gift or at least wishes to do so. Assuming that a capitalist gives a million, and that a thousand persons of small incomes write for some laudable purpose it is probable that the wholesale benefaction led many craft to follow in the make. What is done by the press in the matter of publicity must bring a great deal of aid to charitable exchequers. But how rarely is this recognized by those who complain that news of crime is published. There is no system of philosophy or religion that does not take into account hope and fear. Practically ayy statements of gifts and endowments are made in hope that someone else will do likewise—if one village sends a poor consumptive to a mountain home the next may pay for a new boat to replace one lost by a poor fisherman. Many reports of criminal actions frighten others from the downward path, or scare culprits out of town, or furnish information to officers of justice. Of course this is not a matter of statistics like the potato field of an agricultural county or the coal product of a mining section. No one can print columns of figures proving that the benefactions of June were inspired by the publicity of January or that a reformation was partly due to the fate of evil doers. It is enough for the press to say that it is asked to mention cases of well doing and that the underworld disapproves vehemently and vindictively of intrusive reporters.

Everyone is entitled to an opinion, but don't try to impress yours on a Winchester policeman.

A clever product of Winchester high school now conjugates in this way—auto—autoing—autopsy.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

Do you know that the average bill for gas service is one of the least expensive items, one of the smallest necessary outlays in the household budget?

For example, gas service used exclusively for a typical winter's month can do the following things for a family of five persons living in an eight-room house:

Automatically heats 1000 gallons of water.

Cook 90 meals in about 75 hours, a saving in time of at least two full days over the old coal stove.

Give 250 hours of eye-comforting illumination.

Lightens the work of cleaning at least 25 per cent; save on redecorating; assures the housewife freedom from drudgery and eliminate the smoke and soot nuisance.

There is no other service at your disposal that gives so much for so little money.

HIS STOMACH COULDN'T STAND A DRINK OF WATER

Brooklyn Man Suffered Intense Pains Until Relieved by O'BRIEN'S

"For years I have suffered with a bad case of indigestion; in fact, it was so bad that when I took a drink of water a gas would form in my stomach, causing severe pain," writes C. P. Grove, 557 Elder Lane, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"After taking one bottle of O'Brien's I noted a vast improvement; can drink water and enjoy it—now on second bottle and really believe your medicine will cure me."

Mr. Grove's case is not unusual. Like multitudes of other sufferers from stomach trouble, he tried this medicine and that, always without results. Only when O'BRIEN'S was called to his attention did he secure relief.

O'BRIEN'S for DYSPEPSIA is a time-tested preparation compounded since 1898 after the prescription of a Massachusetts doctor. For all stomach disorders, such as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Colic, Ulcerated Stomach and Gastritis, it has really worked wonders. Thousands can testify to its health-building qualities.

If you have stomach trouble of any kind—chronic or otherwise—you surely owe it to yourself to try O'BRIEN'S. For, you risk nothing—O'BRIEN'S is sold on a money-back guarantee. Go to your druggist for a bottle—now, before your health is completely undermined.

ROBBED NURSES HOME

Thief Who Stole at Hospital Quickly Captured by Police

Within five minutes after receiving a telephone message that a thief had entered and robbed the nurses home at the Winchester Hospital, Saturday, chief of police McIntosh had gathered the man in and had him at the Hospital for indentification. This was readily done, both by money and jewelry and by various nurses who saw him enter and leave the building.

The theft was committed Saturday noon at about one o'clock. Two of the nurses were sleeping in their rooms, but the rest were either on duty or at lunch at the hospital adjoining the home. Several nurses saw the man enter and later leave. He was in the home about ten minutes and they thought he was a telephone or electric light inspector, for he did not hesitate in going in the side door.

When they returned from lunch they found their rooms ransacked. Bureau drawers were pulled open and closet contents tossed about. They immediately realized they had been robbed and telephoned the police.

Taking officer Cassidy with him, Chief McIntosh started up Washington street. At Ridgeway he saw a man answering the description given. He arrested him, and when searched a big roll of bills and change was found in his side pocket. At the hospital he was identified by the nurses as the man seen entering and leaving the home.

The man gave his name as William L. Howes, aged 28 years, of Brockton. It is thought that he had carefully planned the robbery before-hand. He entered the room of eight nurses, taking a watch, a ring and various sums of money in lots of $20, $8, $4 and $6. All was recovered except the ring, which it is thought he threw away.

In the Woburn court Tuesday morning he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the Massachusetts Reformatory. He appealed the sentence. He is thought to be the same man who robbed the nurses home on Jan. 6th, when money was stolen. It is said that he was arrested in California in 1920 for impersonating a U. S. army officer, being given five years at Fort Leavenworth. He was released recently from that prison on parole.

MRS. ALMIRA E. ANDREWS

Mrs. Almira E. Andrews of 18 Brooks street and Chatham, Mass., died at the Emery homestead on Oyster Pond road, Chatham, Saturday, Sept. 2, after a short illness.

Mrs. Andrews, the daughter of the late John and Mary Atwood Emery, was born in Chatham on December 17, 1857. She was educated in the public schools of the town, being graduated from the High School.

On December 25, 1895, she was married to the Rev. Samuel B. Andrews, at that time the pastor of the Congregational church of Chatham. Following their marriage they made their home in Westfield, Salem, Conn., and West Barnstable for a number of years. After the death of her husband in 1910 she made her winter home with her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. Albert F. Blaisdell and the late Mrs. Mary E. Blaisdell of this town, returning to Chatham for the summer seasons.

During her years of residence at Chatham she was devotedly interested in the various activities of the Congregational Church, of which an early and direct ancestor, the Rev. Stephen Emery, was minister in 1749. The present church building at Chatham was built by Mrs. Andrew's father, the late John Emery.

The funeral services, which were largely attended by the townspeople, were held at the family home at Chatham, on Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. Inor Partington of the Congregational church officiating. The interment was in the Union Cemetery at Chatham.

Mrs. Andrews is survived by one brother, Benjamin V. Emery of Chicago; a brother-in-law, Dr. Albert F. Blaisdell and a nephew, Dr. J. Harper Blaisdell of this town.

DISAPPOINTING HOLIDAY

Labor day turned out to be a big dissappointment to many pleasure seekers, a downpour of rain keeping everyone under cover during the entire day. Opening during the night, the rain fell throughout the day, the weather clearing at six in the evening. The fall of rain is said to have been one of the heaviest on any day this summer.

Owing to the rain most of the sports scheduled for the day were postponed or else called off. The regatta at the Winchester Boat Club was postponed until this Saturday afternoon, when it will be held at the club beginning at 2.30 p. m. The base ball game was cancelled and the mixed tournament at the Country Club could not be run off. The only event which was held in town as scheduled was the dance in the evening at the Winchester Boat Club.

MISS CULLEN WEDS DR. QUINN IN THE NAVY YARD CHAPEL

In the chapel of the Charlestown Navy Yard at 9:30 on Wednesday morning, Miss Margaret Ellen Cullen of 10 Hill street, daughter of the late Mrs. Mary Cullen, was married to Dr. Milton James Quinn of the United States Medical Corps and attached to the Brooklyn Navy Yard. Dr. Quinn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Quinn of St. Joseph, Missouri. The ceremony was performed by Capt. Eugene N. MacDonald, chaplain, who was also celebrant of the nuptial mass.

Miss Cullen's gown was of imported chiffon velvet in pearl gray, with hat of the same, faced with pink georgette and she carried Killarney roses. She was attended by two of her nieces, Miss Ruth Esther Poland as bridesmaid and little Marietta Cecelie McDonald as flower girl. The bridesmaid's dress was of salmon pink georgette over satin of the same shade with a hat of black panne velvet faced with salmon pink georgette and embroidered in silver thread. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. The little flower girl was gowned in rosebud challis with poke bonnet of rose colored crepe-de-chine and horsehair straw and she carried a basket of moss rosebuds.

Dr. Quinn had as his attendant Dr. Walter Garnett Nelson of Washington, D. C., on duty at the United States Marine Hospital, Chelsea.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and the Mass. Homeopathic Hospital Training School, and served 18 months in France with Base Hospital Unit 44. Since then she has been stationed at the Chelsea Marine Hospital where she remained until 3 weeks ago when she was mustered out of the service.

Miss Cullen was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Benjamin F. Cullen of Winchester. During the Mass Miss Mabel M. Coty of this town rendered two very lovely vocal selections, A Perfect Day and Dolan's Ave Maria.

Following the marriage a wedding breakfast and reception was held at the bride's home, 10 Hill street, which was attended by the immediate relatives of the bride, Fr. McDonald was also a guest at the breakfast. Dr. and Mrs. Quinn were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. They will enjoy a three weeks' tour of Maine and southern Canada, after which they will make their home in Brooklyn, New York.

TRUCK STRUCK SEDAN

Two men were taken to the Winchester Hospital and one of them arrested for drunkenness and later fined $10 after the light auto truck they were riding in struck a sedan driven by Mrs. William McGill as it was turning from Cambridge street into Foxcroft road Friday evening.

The truck was owned by Daniel Walker of West Somerville and was operated by John Lodge of North Cambridge. With Lodge were Carl Johnson of Arlington and Richton Muller of Cambridge. The truck was just behind the sedan, and when it turned, struck the rear wheel and side. The truck was overturned and the three men thrown out, it being badly damaged. The sedan had a rear fender and tire rack smached.

Dr. Sheehy was called and attended the men. Both received numerous cuts, bruises and sprains, and after treatment Johnson was arrrested for drunkenness. He was in the Woburn court Saturday morning and fined $10.

HATCH—FOREMAN

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Foreman on Thursday evening, August 31st, when their daughter Mildred and Mr. Ralph W. Hatch were joined in marriage.

The ceremony was performed at eight o'clock by the Rev. Alliston B. Gifford of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Mr. Ronald K. Hatch, brother of the groom, was best man, while the bride was attended by Miss Jessie M. Dearborn as maid of honor and Miss Kathleen Morse as bridesmaid.

The bride wore a dress of white georgette trimmed with georgette rosebuds, and her wedding veil was caught with a spray of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids were dressed alike in quaint frocks of sunset taffeta and carried Orphelia roses.

An informal reception was held after the ceremony, which was largely attended by friends and relatives of the bride and groom.

The house was beautifully decorated with pink and white asters, dahlias and asparagus fern.

MR. RADLEY HAS THOROUGH TRAINING

Editor of the Star:
Dear Sir:

I am glad to heartily endorse the candidacy of Mr. Alfred D. Radley for Representative from this District. I have known Mr. Radley as a neighbor and friend for ten years and have always found him dependable and possessed of a sane, well-balanced point of view on public questions.

Mr. Radley has had a thorough legal training, being a graduate of the Harvard Law School and has had many years of experience in the practice of law in Peoria, Illinois and Boston.

With the many disturbed political and social conditions facing us today it is important that we elect to public office men of integrity who believe in orderly processes of government under the law and who have no selfish or improper motives to influence their judgment.

Mr. Radley fully meets these specifications and will, I believe, strive at all times to represent the best judgment of his district and to bring a trained mind to the solution of the problems coming before the Legislature.

Yours very truly,
Carl F. Woods,
93 Bacon Street,
Winchester, Mass.

MISSTATEMENTS MADE

The wedding of Miss Brenda Bond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert T. Bond, and Mr. Albert Paine Smith, son of Mr. Albert P. Smith, to have been held last evening, has been postponed, cards to that ekect being issued last week. The postponment of the ceremony has been the subject of considerable insinuation by certain Boston papers, much to the discomfort of the two families, and notwithstanding the fact that the decision to advance the date was made by Mr. Smith and Miss Bond.

In connection with the publicity given the incident, Mrs. Bond has given the following letter to the Star: My Dear Mr. Wilson:

I very much appreciate the opportunity to use valuable space in the Star to correct misstatements appearing in certain Boston newspapers of Sept. 7th.

No special delivery letter derogatory to "Jack" Smith has ever been received by me, and Brenda's engagement announcement and all her wedding arrangments have had Mr. Bond's approveal and co-operation. Upon the decision to postpone the wedding the conventional notices to that effect were sent out, thereby complying with customary social usage.

Sincerely,
Lora A. Bond.

BRIDGE PROGRESSING

Although the slowest stage in the construction of the new Bacon street bridge has been reached, the work continues to show considerable progress from day to day. Last week the big piles used in supporting the concrete arch were driven into position in the river and work begun on building the forms for the concrete. Already the arch has been built on the piles, and the wing walls at the side are set up ready to be placed in position as soon as the arch is completed.

As soon as the arch is finished the steel reinforcing rods will be put in position, a day and a half job, and then the pouring of the concrete will be started. It looks now as though the start on pouring the concrete will be made early next week, and there appears little doubt but what the bridge will be open to travel well within the allotted time.

AUTOS STRUCK AT LAKE ST.

Hunting of Malden, collided. All the cars were damaged, but no one riding in them received injury.

Nelson rendered many vocal selections during the evening and Mrs. McDonald was assisted in serving by her sisters, Mrs. Harry E. Brown and Mrs. George R. Poland, and Miss Mabel W. Kelley.

WRECKED ON TURNPIKE

Mr. Daniel T. Leahey of this town, driving a Peerless car, was in a bad accident on the Newburyport turnpike Sunday night at Saugus, several of the occupants being injured, and Walter L. Scott of Troy, N. Y., owner of the car, being brought to the Winchester Hospital suffering from a broken collar bone. The Peerless was being driven from Nahant to Woburn, Mr. Scott and his party having toured from New York over the holidays and returning to Woburn from a drive along the North Shore.

When crossing the turnpike the Peerless was struck by another car. It had three wheels torn off and was badly wrecked. Two ladies in the party were taken to the Melrose Hospital for treatment.

MENDUM ANSWERS DEARBORN

Stanley A. Dearborn, Esq., in the September 1 issue of the "Star" asks about my vote on the Judge Pierce matter. That vote was the result of my honest conviction, uninfluenced by anybody, or by any other considerations than my own study of the case, the report of the investigating committee, the speech of Representative Jordan, one of the petitioners, and the speeches of members of the committee, on their report giving the petitioners "leave to withdraw."

Let me quote from the concluding portion of the report: "At most, it may be said that in this matter, the receipt of the gifts was indiscreet, under the circumstances the participation of the respondent [the Judge] in the concerns of the attorney imprudent, and in its public aspect the appearance of their relations unfortunate."

I desire to say that my feelings of personal sympathy for Judge Pierce were great. My regard for the dignity and impartiality of the Supreme Judicial Court of this Commonwealth, and my jealousy of its reputation were very great.

Let me further say that no less than 210 of the 240 members of the House were in attendance on the day of the debate. The only vote taken was a standing vote. Only 146 in all voted. I draw no inferences from the fact that more than 60 did not vote. I question no member's motives. Here is the provision of the Massachusetts Constitution under which the petition was brought: "the governor, with the consent of the council, may remove them [judicial officers] upon the address of both houses of the legislature." My vote was against the acceptance of the "leave to withdraw" report of the committee.

Other questions asked by Mr. Dearborn are not worth dignifying by making reply thereto.

In seeking some personal political advantage in thus publicly re-opening the closed case of Judge Pierce, Mr. Dearborn is doing the Judge anything but a kindness.

As this is political advertising space, I beg to append something of my record.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE TWENTY-FIFTH MIDDLESEX REPRESENTATIVE DISTRICT

In last week's Winchester Star I read with great interest a letter of Thomas M. Vinson, one of your candidates for the nomination for Representative. In this letter Mr. Vinson states his record and says, "that economy in Governmental affairs and reduction of taxes are the most important matters for the consideration of the next Legislature." Granting this is true, it is meet and proper to examine Mr. Vinson's record for economy and reduction of taxation in the Town of Winchester. I have not had the time to examine Mr. Vinson's legislative record, so shall confine my remarks to his record in the Town of Winchester.

It will be remembered that in the Winchester Town Meeting of March, 1921, Mr. Vinson attempted to drive through an exhorbitant appropriation for High and Read streets, located in his thinly settled neighborhood. As I remember it, he succeeded in getting an appropriation of $20,000 for fixing High and Read streets, and then tried for another appropriation for $20,000 for water on these streets. The citizens at that meeting became exasperated and not only denied him the $20,000 appropriation for water but on reconsideration cut his $20,000 appropriation for fixing High and Read streets to a $10,000 appropriation for fixing "all streets in the rural district." Does it seem that Mr. Vinson was interested only in economy and reduction of taxation in Winchester when he endeavored to get an appropriation of $40,000 for two rural streets where there are not more than half a dozen inhabitants, including himself?

It may be of interest also to examine Mr. Vinson's record for accuracy of statement. He states that he led the opposition to the school program. This certainly will surprise many of our older and more prominent citizens. Many of you who attended a certain meeting for the school program will remember Mr. Vinson's glorious description of the sanitary and up-to-date conditions of the Winchester schools! You may remember also his statement that he had consulted the State Fire Commissioner O'Neil who approved the fire conditions of the schools and that on this last statement he was reminded by Mr. Roland Sherman that the state fire commissioner's name was Neal and not O'Neil.

In my opinion, no public problem can ever be properly solved unless facts on both sides are clearly ascertained and accurately stated. A legislator is not an advocate, he is a public servant, enacting laws that affect the welfare and happiness of all the people of the Commonwealth. These laws must be based on truth and justice or they become a mockery and a sham.

GUILD TO HOLD REUNION

Sunday, Sept. 24th, the Laymen's Retreat Guild will hold its annual Reunion at St. Gabriel's Monastery, Brighton, Mass. The several committees in charge are making every effort to make the event the most memorable one in the history of the Guild. The beautiful and spacious Monastery grounds will be open to the public. Owing to the large new membership that has been added to the Guild in the past year the exercises will be conducted in the open air. The wives, mothers and sisters of the members of the Guild are also invited to the Reunion, as the services will be open to both men and women. In fact all are welcome, whether members of the Guild or not, as this will afford an opportunity, to those who have not as yet allied themselves with this movement, to become acquainted with it.

Mass and Sermon

By special permission of His Eminence, the Cardinal, those who attend the Reunion will be privileged to assist at a solemn high mass celebrated in the open on the Monastery grounds at 10:30 Sunday morning Sept. 24th. A special sermon will be preached by a well known eloquent missionary. Further announcements of the program of the Reunion will be made later.

COUNTY POLITICS

In marked contrast to Suffolk County, where various officials are fighting with their backs to the wall for their jobs, everything is peaceful and serene in Old Middlesex. Not one of the Middlesex County officials has a contest on his hands. The only contest in the county is where a vacancy will occur by the retirement from office of District Attorney Endicott P. Saltonstall of Newton.

County Commissioner Erson B. Barlow has served the county for several years. He is a well known Lowell business man and a prominent Elk.

Another popular official is clerk of courts Ralph N. Smith of Arlington who was the unanimous choice of the judges of the supreme judicial court to succeed William C. Dillingham of Malden, who died while in office. Mr. Smith has been connected with the clerk's office for twenty-five years and for ten years served as first assistant to Mr. Dillingham.

Ex-mayor Charles E. Hatfield of Newton who was appointed to the office of county treasurer to succeed J. O. Hayden of Somerville who also died in office, will be a candidate for county treasurer. Mr. Hatfield was mayor of Newton from 1910 to 1914 and was also chairman of the Republican state committee for the same period.

Thomas Leighton, Jr., of Cambridge, Register of Deeds, has been connected with that office since 1895. In fact it is the only place that he has worked. He served for sixteen years as an assistant to the late Edwin O. Childs of Newton and upon the death of Mr. Childs was appointed as register.

Among the prominent endorsers of assistant district attorney James C. Reilly of Lowell, who is a candidate for both the Republican and the Democratic nominations for district attorney, are District Attorney Endicott P. Saltonstall of Newton, first assistant district attorney Charles W. Blood of Newton and assistant district attorney R. H. Beaudreau of Marlboro.

George Stanley Harvey, another candidate for district attorney and a great grand niece of Gen. Lafayette were guests of the Lafayette club of Lowell at the club's annual outing at Tyngsboro recently.

Arthur K. Reading of Cambridge, another candidate, has many workers among the French-Canadians in Lowell. The vote in Lowell, this being the home city of Mr. Reilly and Gen. Pearson, will be interesting to look over.

According to B. L. T.

"The sol-distant human race appears to its best advantage, perhaps its only advantage, in work. The race is not ornamental, nor is it over-bright, having only enough wit to scrape along with. Work is the best thing it does, and when it seeks to avoid this, its reason for existence, disappears."—Chicago Tribune.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

First meeting of the season of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held at the home of Mrs. Daniel Kelley, 4 Dix street on Friday, Sept. 15th at 3 p. m. It is interesting to note that in the checking up of more than twenty states that have nominated Congressmen to date, it is discovered that of the 256 Congressmen named 220 were nominated, and of these 182 have voted for prohibition enforcement and 38 are wet. In short only one dry Congressman has been defeated for renomination and of the new Congressmen two-thirds are for prohibition enforcement. The states that had voted at the time the analysis was made were Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Missouri, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and West Virginia.

The primaries held since then in Mississippi do not alter the situation, for while it will be necessary to hold another primary, to determine which of the two Democratic candidates is nominated, both are dry and whichever goes to the Senate to take the place of Senator John Sharp Williams, will stand against any wine or beer proposition. Both candidates nominated for Governor of Ohio are dry.

Hon. C. C. Crabbe, author of Ohio's dry enforcement measure, was nominated for attorney general, in spite of the bitter opposition of the anto-prohibition forces. We trust Massachusetts will not fall behind these states on Sept. 12th but will stand for all that is high and noble and nominate only such candidates as are known to stand for the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

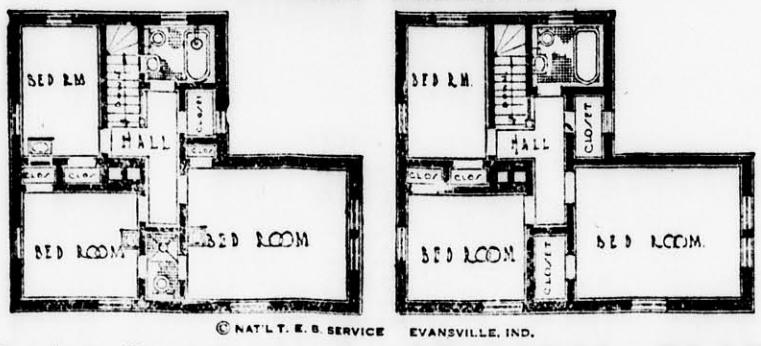
PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS FOR INEXPENSIVE ADDITIONS TO HOME COMFORT AND HEALTH —WITHOUT REBUILDING



© NAT'L T. E. B. SERVICE EVANSVILLE, IND.

Comfort, Convenience and Privacy Multiplied Many Times

ORIGINAL PLAN

Second Floor Plan of a Two-Story "House" Changed Into a "Home" of Convenient Comfort

There's nothing in which Dad and the boys would find greater comfort and satisfaction than a shower and toilet room separate from the bathroom. It would help mother and "sis" out too, by taking the men folks out from under foot on the road to the bathroom.

Lavatories in the bedrooms also are conveniences that more than pay their way in comfort and privacy.

Here's a plan of the second story of a "one bathroom" house transformed at very moderate expense by adding those conveniences. A perfectly practical rearrangement of closet space has provided ample room for the added toilet and shower bath. The worth of the original bathroom has been doubled by adding a shower. The amount of building alteration required is trivial. Medicine and toilet cabinets over each lavatory cost little and are a final refinement.

The cost of the added plumbing equipment is not to be considered seriously alongside of the added encouragement for the family to keep clean and healthy. It is worth remembering that education in habits of personal cleanliness is the most valuable training a child can get.

Modern knowledge of hygiene calls imperatively for frequent bathing and washing of hands. Clean hands and clean bodies do not harbor and carry the germs of communicable disease.

No matter how necessary and commendable this cleanliness is, however, human nature demands full convenience and opportunity as the price of practicing it.

The figures of your plumbing dealer for some similar improvement in your house will be far less than the increased property value that would result from it.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

Be a true friend, and all the rest that is needed will follow.

Real friendship, like all other things, costs; but also, like them, it pays.

It is chance that makes brothers and sisters, but hearts that makes friends.

The making of Friends, who are real friends, is the best token of man's success in life.

Judge not your friend until you shall stand in his place.

About this time of year there is more or less complaint over the non-receipt of the STAR by various subscribers. It might be wise therefore for you to make sure that your paper is changed from your summer address. If you do not receive it promptly, notify us. Please remember that we desire every subscriber to receive his copy. If you do not get it we will gladly send another copy. Do not feel that if you do not get your paper we are trying to save a copy. We are printing extra papers just to take care of those who fail to receive their issue at this season. Remember also, that we receive many requests to change addresses without any signatures whatever. You may be among these. Do not fail to notify us immediately if you do not get your copy of the STAR.

Local politics continue very inactive in this town. Outside of a few street rallies there is little indication of interest in who is selected for the various offices. The State and County aspirants continue to conduct a campaign of "knocks" which apparently have little weight with Winchester voters. That Governor Channing Cox will poll a large vote here is one of the outstanding features, Winchester residents realizing that they have had ample opportunity to see what kind of an executive he makes and being satisfied with his administration. Indications are that he will receive the State nomination by a big margin. Our local candidates for Representative are not putting in any great amount of personal work; although Messrs. Vinson and Radley are at work for the nomination. The other two candidates, Messrs. Harrington and Bateman, appear content to allow the voters to decide in their choice. Both of these are considered strong men for the office, and although not active in the campaign they will figure prominently in the returns. Our Senatorial contest is being more generally fought out, Messrs. Mendum of Woburn, Warren of Arlington and Dearborn of Wakefield, all working hard. How big a vote will be polled next Tuesday at the Primaries is open to estimate, but do not blame the other fellow if you stay away and your candidate loses the nomination.

GOVERNOR COX DESERVES RENOMINATION

Channing H. Cox has made, in our best judgment, an altogether admirable Governor of Massachusetts. The faults which certain groups of politicians find with him—like his opposition to the county rings—count in his favor with the solid citizenship of the state. He plainly deserves renomination as a mark of the approval of the party, and re-election as evidence that he has retained the confidence of the State.

The argument which Mr. J. Weston Allen makes in behalf of a single two-year term has no relevancy. Our change to the biennial system has left us without precedent. We have ordinarily given our governors three single year terms. It would be as much of a departure now to limit a Governor to a single two-year term as to advance him to two terms of two years each. Some states follow one practice and some another; but the more usual custom is to re-elect a good Governor, just as we re-elect a good President, and we know no better man with whom to start the system than Channing Cox.

The Star does not ordinarily express a preference between Republican aspirants for a nomination. It likes better to print the news on both sides and let the voters themselves make the choice; and then, with that result before us, to give our readers for election day such advice as seems to us pertinent. In this case, however, it is not exactly a choice between two aspirants for nomination; it is rather a question of whether the party should put the seal of its approval on Channing Cox's work; to do this we believe is so essential in fair play and good sense that we depart from our practice enough to say so, and to do this with becoming emphasis.

We have nothing but praise for the public services of Mr. J. Weston Allen, but we do deplore the practice of using the proper performance of the duties of a prosecuting officer as a stepping-stone to political preferment. In this there is something essentially objectionable. We should not want a judge to have his decisions on the bench made the basis of a subsequent campaign for elective office. We might in time question if that were not his motive for making the decisions. To a certain extent the attorney-general's office partakes of this judicial quality, and we like to feel that its incumbent is doing his duty, in turning the rascals out, from his love of righteousness and hatred of wickedness, rather than as a possible stepping-stone in politics.

In all these circumstances it is highly desirable that Massachusetts should renominate Channing Cox. We hope the Republicans of the state will get together with promptness and determination to bring this result to pass.

THINK of the many families that have been robbed by procrastination.

ENDORSES MR. BATEMAN

Editor of the Star:

I desire at this time to say a few words in advocacy of the candidacy of Mr. Thomas R. Bateman for representative to the legislature from our district. During the past three years I have served with Mr. Bateman as a member of our local Finance Committee and have had a most excellent opportunity to observe his qualifications and general turn of mind. I have found him very prudent and careful in his judgment on all matters pertaining to the town's appropriations for our various departments. While he has scrutinized very closely all requests for money, he has never been niggardly in advising expenditures for things which he believed the town ought to have. This applies to all items of our municipal budget.

He not only has been a conscientious and hard worker as a finance committee member, but he, during the three years of our service together as town officials and before such service, has been a good citizen which is better than anything else. I believe the interests of the people of Winchester will be in good hands if we send Mr. Bateman to Beacon Hill.

Very truly yours,
E. H. Kenerson,

"If ye will inquire, inquire ye"

A FEW VOLUNTARY TESTIMONIALS

From letter of Frederic S. Snyder of Winchester. (Mr. Snyder is President of Boston Chamber of Commerce):

"I shall be glad to endorse your candidacy for senator from the district which includes Winchester and welcome the opportunity to do so."

From letter of R. E. Joslin, for many years town counsel of Winchester, in the "Star":

"Mr. Mendum has served with distinction in the House. He is clean, conscientious and courageous. There are too few men of his type in public life."

From the "Reveille" for June, published by Woburn American Legion Post:

"Editor's Note: During the last year, the Officers of the Post and the Editors of 'The Reveille' have found Representative Mendum offering a courteous and obliging response to any favor that was asked of him. He went further than that and voluntarily kept us informed of the progress of all legislation before the General Court which affected the ex-service man. We take this means to voice our appreciation."

From Herbert H. Richardson, town counsel of Stoneham, in "Independent":

"Mr. Mendum has ably represented Stoneham in the House, giving unsparingly of his time and study to Stoneham matters and successfully championing her cause in committee hearings and on the floor of the House."

"The undersigned, former Republican mayors of Woburn, cordially commend to you the candidacy of Samuel W. Mendum, Esq. of Woburn, for the State Senatorship. Mr. Mendum has resided here for a long time. He is one of Woburn's most public spirited and highly esteemed citizens. He has represented his district (Reading, Stoneham, Woburn) in the Legislature for the past three years. He is particularly alert in looking after the interests of his district and his constituents and is an exceptionally conscientious and able public servant.

"Woburn has not had the Senatorship for fourteen years. Meantime every other place in the district has had it with the exception of Stoneham and that town presents no candidate now.

"Mr. Mendum deserves the nomination on every consideration of character, public service and ability. Those who know him need no endorsement of him from us or from anybody. We ask those not familiar with him and his record to accept at its face value this voluntary endorsement which we believe represents the opinions and sentiments of his Woburn friends and neighbors."

Conway's Band to Play at Exposition

Famous Musical Organization Engaged to Entertain 1922 Visitors

For the second consecutive season and the third time since the Eastern States Exposition was established, Patrick Conway and his band will be the feature musical attraction at the annual fall show in Springfield, Mass., from Sept. 17 to 23.

Those who heard Conway's band in 1917 and again last year know the sort of music this band can play. The veteran conductor has an enviable reputation and is known to millions of music lovers, for those who have not seen Conway and who have not had the pleasure of hearing his band play in person, know it through the medium of phonograph records for Conway has made records for all of the leading phonograph manufacturers in America.

As in other years, the Exposition will open Sunday, Sept. 17, and in accordance with established custom there will be special concerts by Conway's Band in the Coliseum building in the afternoon and again in the evening On week days, Capt Conway and his associates will play for the races at the grandstand in the afternoon and will appear every evening at the Horse Show

There will be musical attractions other than Conway's Band, also. Services of two additional bands have been engaged. There will be five orchestras and a score of junior musical organizations that are to compete for special prizes offered by the Exposition management in a series of contests that were announced recently.

LADY ASTOR WILL LEAD FOES OF LIQUOR TRADE IN ENGLAND

(Special from Monitor Bureau, London, August 14.)

To an American, accustomed to the disappearance of the outward material evidences of the evil of drink from the public places in his own land, the manifestation of the power of the liquor trade in British politics and society is appaling.

The public house is everywhere, and upon its soldid foundation is erected an edifice, the loftier ornaments of which are in the House of Lords, the Cabinet, the editorial rooms of great newspapers, the vicarages, deaneries, and even archepiscopal palaces, and in the most exclusive drawing rooms of that society which in England is a political force.

It takes high moral courage to fight the drink traffic in England. Political disaster and social ostracism lie that way for those who are not solidly buttressed with wealth and position. Nevertheless the fight progresses both in Parliament and out. Shrewd observers feel that its success will hinge somewhat upon the maintenance of the prohibition law in the United States, and the effect it will have on international trade. British manufacturers are already suspecting that a drinking nation cannot compete in the world's markets with a sober one. As this suspicion deepens into conviction the powers of the British manufacturing community will be thrown on the side of sobriety and enhanced production.

Meantime haste must be made slowly. At her beautiful estate at Cliveden on the banks of the Thames, Lady Astor, M. P., talked with the correspondent of the Christion Science Monitor about the bill for the regulation of the liquor trade which she has introduced into Parliament

What is your view of prohibition in America? "What struck me most during my recent visit was the unanimity that whatever the physical and social results of prohibition, it had done incalculable good by smashing and eliminating from public life the drink caucus. In England the drink trade organization with its wealth and ramifications is a real menace to clean public life."

To Americans it might seem that the proposition that local option should be granted to communities to enact such liquor regulations as might be desired is not even susceptible of argument. In England it is looked upon as revolutionary. Lady Astor has challenged the strongest force in British politics—save one. The moral force of the nation is with her and in the end will win.

Rare Example of Courtesy.

When a very young girl, in order to reach my place of employment each day, I had to walk quite a distance after leaving the street car. One morning it was raining heavily and I had no umbrella. As I alighted from the car a young man stepped up to me and quietly walked along by my side, shielding me from the rain with his umbrella. I was very shy and did not know what to say or do, so said nothing. When we arrived at my destination, I tried to thank him, and he gravely bowed and went on his way.—Exchange.

First Duty of the Poet.

Poets do not write for poets alone, but for men. Unless, therefore, we are advocates for that admiration which subsists upon ignorance, and that pleasure which arises from hearing what we do not understand, the poet must descend from his supposed height; and, in order to excite national sympathy, he must express himself as other men express themselves. —Wordsworth.

GREEN OLIVE CATSUP

Good catsup is to steak and cold meats, what apple sauce is to roast pork, or mint sauce to lamb—an added something that makes the course delicious.

Green olive catsup is out of the ordinary—the kind that wins friends immediately. Put one dozen large cucumbers, one pint Spanish green olives (stoned), and four large white onions through the food chopper. Sprinkle four tablespoonfuls salt and four teaspoonfuls white pepper over mixture. Add one quart vinegar and put in sterilized bottles or jars. This catsup is delicious on steaks and chops, and is an excellent accompaniment to all sliced cold meats.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

The "Son of Heaven," better known as the Emperor of Japan, thinks that a gas water heater is the most necessary thing in the world. He recently cabled to this country for four automatic gas water-heaters for his palace in Tokio.

America has demonstrated to the world the luxury of hot water on tap, and of the bath-tub, which was first built and used in Cincinnati in 1842, 60 years ago. Today the bath-tub can be found everywhere on the face of the earth. Bathing as a habit has received a tremendous impetus as the result of the world-wide use of gas service for heating water.

The Emperor of Japan will now join the Bath-a-Day Movement with the aid of American gas water-heaters. You, too, can join and have running hot water at your faucets if you will take further advantage of your gas service.

WILDWOOD MAN WANTS WORLD TO TO KNOW HIS CASE

O'BRIEN'S Brought Relief Where Specialists Failed

So glad was Geo. I. Stein, of Wildwood, N. J., at the results secured by taking O'BRIEN'S for DYSPEPSIA that he goes on record as indorsing this premier preparation for troubled stomachs. Here's what he says:

Wildwood, N. J.

For the General Public's Good:

"I have doctored for the last four years and have been examined by specialists and find that I have gained more relief from O'BRIEN'S DYSPEPSIA MIXTURE in one and one-half bottles than in all the medicine I have taken in four years. I have lost all bad effects of the stomach. I am too glad and truthfully recommend this wonderful O'BRIEN'S DYSPEPSIA MIXTURE."

Sincereiy yours,
GEO. I. STEIN.

If you have stomach trouble of any kind—Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Colic, Ulcerated Stomach, Gastritis, or other digestive disorders—if you have tried this remedy and that, doctored with physicians without results, don't give up hope. O'BRIEN'S may just fit your case.

O'BRIEN'S is prepared after the prescription of a Massachusetts doctor. Since 1898 it has been bringing health and happiness to multitudes of sufferers. It should bring relief to you. At any rate, it won't cost anything to try. for O'BRIEN'S for DYSPEPSIA is sold on a money-back guarantee. No risk involved. Go to your druggist for a bottle.

Extend to Include Human Nature.

A gentleman who, we imagine bears a mental resemblance to our colleague the Nomad, left the crowded city the other day for a tramp over the hills. On his return he remarked to a friend who asked him what kind of a time he'd had, that he was glad to get back to the haunts of men. "The day was perfect," he went on to explain, "but I had a raging toothache, and the truth is I never swear in the presence of nature." Such respect for our dear other mother is commendable and we earnestly advise our golfers to adopt the same rule.—Boston Transcript.

REFERENDUM ON THE STATE PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT CODE

November 7, 1922

A bill designed to carry into effect so far as Massachusetts is concerned the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States was passed in the House of Representatives by a vote of 134 in the affirmative and 68 in the negative, in the Senate by a vote of 28 in the affirmative and 9 in the negative. It was signed by the governor May 17, 1922, but its operation is suspended pending the action of the electorate on a referendum, November 7, 1922. The referendum will appear on the ballot as follows:

"Shall a law (Chapter 427 of the Acts of 1922) enacted to enforce in Massachusetts the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which provides that except as authorized by the act, the manufacture, sale, barter, transportation, importation, exportation, delivery, furnishing or possessing of any intoxicating liquor, as defined in the act, shall be a criminal offense and be punished in the manner prescribed by the act, which law was passed in the House of Representatives by a majority of 134 in the affirmative to 9 in the negative, and was approved by the Governor, be approved?"

The Eighteenth Amendment is a part of the fundamental law and never will be repealed. The question is, therefore, not one of Prohibition as a policy, but one of supporting and enforcing the constitutional mandate of the people of the United States. Every consideration of law and order and public welfare demands that Massachusetts keep faith with her sister states and back up her ratification of the amendment with a code to enforce it.

Out of a general moral sentiment favoring a strict enforcement of National prohibition, which has been meeting persistent obstacles, a healthy, promising organization has been born having for its purpose a unification of the forces working for the peaceful, moral and spiritual support of law and order as well as the enforcement of prohibition.

Committees of three each from the Massachusetts Federation of Churches the Church Men's Union of Greater Boston, the Massachusetts Women's Christian Temperence Union and the Massachusetts Anti-Saloon League met and selected 13 other members, and these 25 men and women formed the nucleus around whom the Citizens' Alliance of Massachusetts, the new organization, has been formed.

Already thousands of members have been enrolled and the work of adding members is rapidly progressing in every city and town in the Commonwealth.

A meeting of the local Citizens' Alliance will be held at the home of Mrs. George H. Hamilton Wedge Pond road, Saturday evening at 7:45 p. m.

This is an important meeting all members are requested to be present and others that are interested.

Mrs. H. L. Tibbetts,
Secretary.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK—

THAT if business is falling off, you should step right out of the rut and increase it by the right kind of ADVERTISING.
THAT getting the business is not always a selfish proposition. Modern business entails a certain amount of service that is of as much interest to the buyer as to the seller.
THAT you will find in the stores of your city, the obliging clerks, the ones who greet you with a smile, who wait on you courtessly, solicitous of your every wish, who answer your questions politely, who are willing to take the trouble to supply any information wanted—they help to make better business.
THAT "mail order" houses succeed because they advertise. You can beat them at their own game by advertising in your local paper.
THAT many citizens would be pleasantly surprised if they were to investigate the various kinds and classes of merchandise obtainable in their city. With this knowledge, they could spend all their money at home. A DOLLAR SPENT IN YOUR OWN CITY HELPS YOUR CITY. A DOLLAR SPENT IN SOME OTHER CITY, HELPS THAT CITY. BUY AT HOME.
THAT your city is the best city in which to live. Don't hesitate to tell the world about it.

HEARING HELD

Parents of 36 Pupils Heard by School Committee

The School Committee granted a hearing on Wednesday night at its offices in the Prince School to parents and representatives of 36 children living on Harvard and Irving streets, who, having been refused admission to the Washington school, have refused to send their children to the Chapin school. The School Committee with the exception of Mr. D. W. Carpenter were all present. Led by Rev. William H. Smith of the New Hope Baptist Church, fourteen residents in the affected district attended as follows: Rev. William H. Smith, Mr. Charles Smith, Mr. Allen Schmidt, Mr. Charles B. Kirby, Mr. Simon Barksdale, Mr. William Guy, Mr. Robert Scanlon, Mr. Peter Ferro, Mrs. George Cromwell, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Richardson, Mr. George Jackson and Mr. James Green.

The situation stands with the 36 children refused admission to the Washington school and their parents refusing to send them to the Chapin school where they have been redistricted. The hearing was held upon the petition of the parents.

Rev. Mr. Smith acted as spokesman in opening the remonstrance. He and the majority of those attending voiced their objections to the new arrangements.

From testimony presented it appears that without notice of the change, some 34 or 36 children whose parents for over 20 years have resided in the Washington school district were refused admission to that school on the opening day. Inquiry and investigation revealed that they were redistricted to the Chapin school. Since the opening day these children have been sent each day by their parents to the Washington school and each day refused admission.

The parents claimed at the hearing that children in this neighborhood had been sent to the Washington school for over 20 years; that they were given no information regarding the change, but were allowed to send their children to the school as usual on the opening day, when they were refused admission; that the Chapin school is considerably farther away than the Washington school; that to reach it their children are obliged to travel over two of the worst streets in town, viz. Florence and Chester streets; that according to the statements made by members of the School Committee the Chapin school is not fit to send their children to, and other objections.

Mr. Barbour of the School Committee stated that the distance under the new redistricting was not over a quarter of a mile greater, and that owing to the "teacher load" and "economic phase" it was not possible to send these children to the Washington school. He stated that the only real reason for objection presented was that of travel. The distance, he stated, was negligible. As regards the streets, he stated that efforts should be started immediately to have the Town place them in repair, so that the children could travel safely in stormy and winter weather.

It appears, according to the Committee, that numerous changes have been made in the school districts this fall. All of these, it also appears, depend upon the Washington school. This school has not previously had a sixth grade and has been considerably over-crowded—so much so last year that one class had to be taught in the corridor. In placing a sixth grade class in the building this year the crowded conditions have been overcome, but a redistricting has been necessary.

The petitioners claimed that the school has not been over-crowded and that last year the seats in two rooms were taken up and stored in the basement. They also claimed that it was better to send the sixth grade to the centre than to compel the smaller children to endure the hardship of the longer walk over poor streets. One petitioner claimed that he contributed to the new sidewalk on Washington street on the representation that it would be a distinct aid to him in providing a safe, dry walk for his children to reach their school.

Supt. of Schools Fausey stated that in making up the year's budget with the Finance Committee one teacher was omitted. In making the new district rulings this fact had to be considered. If these children were to be continued at the Washington school another teacher would be necessary. As it now is, all the children in town are taught, with a teaching staff of one less than a year ago.

In reply to the question as to why, after notice was given in the STAR that pupils in the Washington district would attend that school, where they had gone for 22 years, they were refused admission and ordered to the Chapin school without notice, Mr. Fausey replied that this was an oversight, and that in making the statement of opening he regarded these children as in the Chapin district and not the Washington.

This led to discussion, Mr. Fausey stating that as far back as 1916 this section being listed by the Committee of that year as in the Chapin district. Reply brought out the fact that although the Committee may have so listed it, the district still continued to attend the Washington school.

It was brought out that in the redistricting made this year, the Committee have so far as possible followed what will be done when the new school buildings, now under process of negotiation for erection, are finished. It is not possible to redistrict the town complete at this time, and some other changes will be necessary.

The petitioners stated their firm intention of refusing to send their children to the Chapin school at this time, and the School Committee took their remonstrance under advisement.

MEMORIAL WINDOW UNVEILED

At the regular morning service in the Unitarian church last Sunday the memorial window, given by Mrs. Frank Moseley, was unveiled in the presence of a large congregation. The ceremony was simple. Mr. and Mrs. Moseley's grandaughters, the Misses Downer, removed the curtain, which had covered the window, Mr. Reed read a letter from Mrs. Moseley offering the window to the Society, and a note of grateful acceptance, on behalf of the Society, from Mr. Alfred H. Hildreth, Clerk of the Standing Committee. Mr. Reed's sermon dwelt upon the significance of the memorial. The window, from the studio of Messrs. Phipps, Ball, and Ross, of Boston, is most satisfying in conception and execution. It occupies all the window space on the north side of the church. Three central figures, Love, Faith, and Truth are surrounded, and surmounted by other virtues in varied design. The whole gives a coloring which not only adds a new beauty to the entire interior of the church, but lends to the auditorium a light both restful and devotional.

CENTRE A BAD PLACE

Winchester centre has been a bad place during the week past. The relaying of the electric railway tracks from the turnout on Main street just north of the crossing to the crossing itself has completely cut off the street in front of Hersey's store and closed one-half of the south side of the railroad crossing. Cars coming from Woburn and travelling over Church street have been obliged to cross the railroad twice, while the closing of the Bacon street bridge has thrown added traffic through the square.

On Wednesday a big car waiting at the gates for the passing of a train became stalled after the gates were raised, and a big volume of traffic at just that time resulted in considerable congestion. Officer Donaghey had his hands full straightening things out until the automobile had been pushed to the side of the street across the tracks.

Just how soon the centre will be open is not known, it being reported that the tracks on the east side of the crossing are to be raised as soon as the present work is completed.

Goddu of Goddu avenue. The couple plan to make their home on Cliff street, Mr. Goddu having recently purchased the residence formerly occupied by Mr. Flavel Shurtleff.

MR. THOMAS R. BATEMAN
Who Received the Republican Nomination For Representative

PRIMARY ELECTION

Rain Cuts Estimated 2000 Vote to 1562

Rain during the afternoon cut the estimated vote at the primary election Tuesday from figures set at about 2000 to an actual vote of 1562. The bulk of the vote was polled during the fair weather of the morning. Of the vote polled the Republican party furnished 1433 and the Democrats 129, the total being divided between 979 men and 583 women. The Democratic party had some 167 enrolled voters previous to election and thus turned out a very good percentage. The total voting strength of the town at this time, independent of party affiliation, is 4414, 2308 of which are men and 2106 women.

Interest in Winchester was centered largely in the Representative contest between four local candidates on the Republican ticket, Selectman Thomas R. Bateman winning out by a substantial margin. The surprise of this contest was the large vote polled in Medford by Mr. Thomas M. Vinson, who carried that city by a large margin over the other candidates. His lead was not sufficient, however, to off-set Mr. Bateman's lead secured in Winchester. Mr. Alfred D. Radley ran second in the district, Mr. Vinson third and Mr. Amasa Harrington fourth.

The vote follows:

Representative

| | Winchester | Medford | Total |
|---|---|---|---|
| Bateman ..... | 558 | 169 | 727 |
| Radley ..... | 391 | 80 | 471 |
| Vinson ..... | 135 | 219 | 354 |
| Harrington .... | 277 | 55 | 332 |

Second on the ticket was the contest for State Senator, there being three candidates running for the Republican nomination. In this contest Mr. Charles C. Warren of Arlington won out, defeating Mr. Samuel W. Mendum of Woburn by a large margin, and also defeating Mr. Stanley A. Dearborn of Wakefield. Mr. Warren polled a big vote in Arlington and Medford, which undoubtedly did the trick. Mr. Mendum was close behind in Winchester and carried his home city by a big margin.

The vote follows:

Senator

| | Arlington | Stoneham | Wakefield | Woburn | Winchester | Medford | Total |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Dearborn | 97 | 254 | 638 | 109 | 125 | 1044 | 2267 |
| Mendum | 153 | 304 | 232 | 1033 | 545 | 794 | 3061 |
| Warren | 1784 | 227 | 132 | 82 | 581 | 2188 | 4994 |

On the remainder of the Republican ticket the nominations went about as predicted. Governor Channing Cox received a substantial vote, as did Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. Joseph E. Warner gave Alvan T. Fuller a close race, about 100 votes separating them. Jay B. Benton received a big majority for Attorney General and J. Arthur Baker won out here over Alonzo B. Cook, although Mr. Cook received the nomination. Mr. William Adriance received the Republican nomination for State Committeeman.

On the Democratic ticket the choice of the State was generally reflected in Winchester. Mr. Joseph A. Scott, unopposed, received the nomination for State Representative from the district and Mr. Whitfield L. Tuck won out over John F. Daly for Congressman.

The summary of the contested offices as voted in Winchester follows:

On Monday evening, amid decorations of cut flowers and autumn foliage, Miss Frances Louise Crooker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Crooker of Fells road, became the bride of Mr. Clarence Albert Sawyer of Knowles avenue, Saugus. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents and was largely attended, guests being present from many surrounding towns and cities, including Connecticut, Rhode Island, Maine, Brookline, Newton, Somerville, Lynn, Athol and other places.

Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, pastor of the Grace Episcopal Church of West Medford, was the officiating clergyman, the ceremony being performed by him at seven-thirty. The double ring service was used, and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride's dress was of georgette crepe, trimmed with lace and silver, and her veil of tulle, which was her mother's, was caught with an orange blossom wreath. She carried a shower bouquet of lillies of the valley and white roses, and also a lace handkerchief which her mother and her grandmother carried at their own weddings. The bridesmaid wore a dress of peach colored satin with lace, caught with velvet flowers. She carried a beautifil bouquet of shaded tea roses. The wedding march and incidental music was played by Mr. R. B. Crooker, uncle of the bride.

A reception followed the ceremony until nine o'clock, the newly married couple being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Crooker, Mr. and Mrs. Seward N. Sawyer, parents of the groom, and Miss Helen T. Barrett and Mr. Marston S. Crooker.

CANOE RACES ALL GO TO WINCHESTER CLUB

The Winchester Boat Club senior club four won its canoe race from the Medford Boat Club four at the postponed Labor Day canoe regatta and water sports at the Winchester end of Mystic Lake Saturday afternoon. About a half dozen Medford paddlers showed up at the regatta, which resulted in a clean sweep for the Winchester canoeists in the races and novelty water sports.

The four race in canvas canoes was an eighth of a mile contest and was won by a couple of lengths by the Winchester crew which included Kenneth Pratt, stroke; Ted Clifton, 2; Clarence Russell, 3; George Cummings, helmsman. The Medford crew comprised Ted Bell, stroke; Colby, 2; Childs, 3; Webster Harlow, helmsman. The Winchester junior crew finished in third place.

Ted Clifton won the single paddling eight of a mile race. He beat by four lengths Kenneth Pratt, whom Clifton led from the start in a field of a dozen paddlers.

The tail end race was marred by the stiff wind. George Cumings had better luck than the others with the puffy wind and won the contest over Kenneth Pratt.

The blind man's race was the big mirth producer, or more individual canoeists endeavoring blindfolded to paddle out around a buoy and back to the clubhouse boat, about an eighth of a mile.

But one, Vincent Clark, succeeded in doing the stunt. Each paddler had a partner who stood on shore and "coached."

Ted Clifton and George Cumings won the tandem gunwale race from Kenneth Pratt and Lee Court handily.

In the hand paddle canoe club four race John Mathewson, Parker and Robert Hart and John Ordway defeated Kenneth Pratt, George Cumings, Ted Clifton and Lee Court.

The hurry-scurry race was won by Kenneth Pratt over Parker Hart. The tilting tournament, the finale of the regatta, was won by Ted Clifton, tilter, and Kenneth Pratt, paddler from the crew composed of Vincent Clark, tilter and Lee Court, paddler.

A dance was held at the club in the evening.

DUMAS SPENT TWENTY YEARS WRITING "MONTE CRISTO," FOX MASTER FILM

Have you read Alexandre Dumas' "Monte Cristo?" But have you?

Millions of American and English lovers of fiction are happy in their belief that they have absorbed the great masterpiece from cover to cover. And some doubtless will insist they know every detail of the story. Yet the truth remains that they have read but a mere digest of the original tale.

The fascinating story made its first appearance in Paris in 1844 and was published in twelve volumes of nearly three hundred quarto pages each. Dumas told his intimate friends that he had started the story shortly after the end of Napoleon's reign and had spent the greater portion of 20 years in completing the work. In 1850 an edition was published in Paris wherein the narrative was cut to five volumes, and later the English translation appeared, but the edition had been cut to the now popular two volumes.

The above facts were brought to light by Emmett J. Flynn, who directed the screen version of "Monte Cristo" at the William Fox West Coast studios. The picture is to be shown at the Stoneham Theatre, starting next Wednesday. John Gilbert, a new Fox star, has the leading role, with Estelle Taylor supporting him. Fifteen other character parts are played by one of the most capable casts ever assembled for a big picture. The cost of the prodction is said to have been near the half-million mark.

THE BIG MYSTERY PLAY, "THE BAT," AT THE WILBUR THEATRE, BOSTON

New England theatre-goers are promised a thrilling time when they visit the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, and see the famous mystery play, "The Bat" with the original New York company that played the great success in the Metropolis for two years and 10 days.

Do you like a ghost story? Do you like to gather around an open fireplace with a group of congenial friends and contest for the honor of telling the weirdest story of the evening, the story that will produce the most thrills and shivers to the square inch, to be anatomical, of backbone? If you do like this sort of thing, and there are few youngsters aged six to 60 who don't, you will thrill and gasp and quite thoroughly enjoy the gripping mystery play, "The Bat."

That the playgoer in that frame of mind is satisfied with "The Bat" is not only proven by the spectacular success of that play in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and London, but also by the fact that Mary Roberts Rineheart and Avery Hopwood have collaborated on this particular "good story." Mrs. Rinehart is internationally known as a writer capable of devising the most ingenious and surprising mystery plots for stories and plays known to modern literature and Avery Hopwood has come to be known as one of the real masters of the art of dramatic technique and play construction. Together these two authors have made of "The Bat" one of the best "stories" ever told in the American theatre.

SHUBERT VAUDEVILLE

Blanche Ring and Charles Winninger Head Brilliant Musical Revue Cast in "As You Were" at the Majestic Theatre, Boston

Blanche Ring and Charles Winninger appear at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, next week beginning Monday afternoon, Sept. 18th, as the stars of "As You Were." This is a two-act revue in six scenes, a condensed version of a very popular musical success of that name.

As part of the vaudeville bill, besides Miss Ring and Mr. Winninger who will present their own original specialty, Bert Baker, well known vaudeville star will also be seen with his company of four, in the laughing hit "Prevarication." There is plenty of laughter here and you will find Du-Teil and Covey another laughing team. Others on the vaudeville half of the entertainment are the three Pasquali Brothers, never before seen here, Elby & St. Leo, Edgar Atchison Ely and others.

The story of "As You Were" is woven around a man who obtains a box of these cure-all pills, swallows them, and is transplanted to another land. His adventures make good clean fun.

Daily matinees are given as well as the evening performances. Notwithstanding the elaborate nature of these new Shubert unit vaudeville shows, the same popular scale of prices as last season will prevail with a dollar as the top price at night and 50 cents afternoons.

Mrs. Sarah E. Jones, wife of Mr. Thomas H. Jones, for many years custodian of Waterfield building, died suddenly at her home, No. 28 Harvard street, Monday afternoon. She was in her usual health at noon when her husband left her, and when her son Spencer returned from work in the afternoon he found the house open and no sign of his mother. He assumed that she was at a neighbors, but when his sister came in she said her mother had told her she was not going out. A search revealed Mrs. Jones lying on the floor in the pantry. The children summond aid, Rev. William H. Smith, living nearby, responding. He found that Mrs. Jones was dead. Medical exmainer Stewart of Woburn was notified, who pronounced death due to appoplexy.

BOWLING OPENS THIS MONTH

Chairman Bart K. Stephenson announced this week that the bowling committee of the Calumet Club is planning the most active season in the history of the organization, and in view of the interest already manifest, secretary James P. Heaton has issued entry cards for the annual fall tournament.

This tournament is scheduled to start October 2nd and the entry list will close on Sept. 23rd. It is reported that in addition to almost all of the regular teams of last season, several new combinations are to be entered this year. The fall tournament is one of the most popular of the several tournaments run off annually on the Calumet alleys, and as a number of expert bowlers have recently become members of the club, a most interesting tournament is anticipated.

The work on the alleys which has been progressing for the past two weeks is now completed, they being in first class condition for the winter's bowling. The bowling committee announces that the alleys will be open for members beginning this Saturday night, and that special bowling will be held until the tournament opens, with Saturday night attractions to be announced.

POST OFFICE NOTES

We had six substitutes on duty one day last week, and the next day we had five: Two regular carriers on vacation, one out sick, and one gone to a funeral; one clerk out sick and one gone to a funeral. To add to our troubles, we were flooded with political "stuff," of which you probably received your share. Do you wonder your mail was not delivered on time, or that some of it was not forwarded properly? You were very patient, and we appreciate your forebearance.

This morning someone left a lighted cigarette on the blotter of the shelf in the lobby, thereby setting it on fire. Please be careful, you might destroy our palatial quarters.

HANS E. JANSEN

Hans E. Jansen, aged 54 years, reputed to have been one of the strongest men in this town, died at the Winchester Hospital Friday after a long illness. He had been an inmate of the hospital for about three weeks.

Mr. Hansen was a native of Denmark. He was single and had made his home for many years at 20 Chapin court, working during his residence here in a leather factory.

Funeral services were held on Sunday at the home of Mr. Thomas C. McCormack, 8 Chapin court. The burial was in Wildwood cemetery.

PROHIBITION

(From the Christian Science Monitor of Sept. 8)

The organized fight against prohibition and for a modification of the Volstead Act, insofar as California is concerned began yesterday in simultaneous meetings in San Francisco and Los Angeles, led by agents of the National Association against prohibition . . . . . Mr. Metson, a lawyer explained the purposes of the San Francisco meeting as being:

First, to organize the San Francisco branch of the N. A. against prohibition to lead the fight in central and northern California.

Second, to fight in every way for an uprising of sentiment against the prohibition of personal liberty in the United States.

The campaign against the constitution of the United States in southern California will be led by the branch organization in Los Angeles. Mr. Metson explained that this is the first definite, nation-wide movement against prohibition to appear on the surface of affairs, and that while many small movements have been started locally, this is the first time an effort has been made to build an organization against the law in each State, the several organizations co-operating to nullify the prohibition amendment. . . . . The general plan of the association and the phase of its work is most dangerous to the anti-liquor people is the systematic foundation of branch associations in every Congressional district, each branch to work to the end that it may have enough members to influence the nominations and elections so that prohibitionists or dry candidates cannot be placed in public office.

Each branch also is scheduled to work assiduously against every local municipal, county or State ordinance for the enforcement of prohibition. These branch organizations question all candidates as to their standing on prohibition, and if their answers do not favor liquor, they are put under the ban of the entire association.

Each State is to have a political bureau, established and maintained by the National Association against prohibition, with a national political bureau in Washington. Active branches have been formed in Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Missouri, Colorado, Texas and California, while the association announces that it has completed preparations for the launching of similar organizations in 20 other States.

One of the first steps to be taken in California will be the solicitation of signatures to a petition for a referendum on the question of the sale of wine and beer. It also was said that the association would "carry the fight against prohibition into the Anti-Saloon League and other prohibition organizations, and make it a fight to a finish."

TOOK WOBURN BRIDE

A very pretty wedding took place Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. Catharine McPartlin, 31 Chestnut street, Woburn, when her daughter, Margaret Helen, became the bride of Carl R. McElhiney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Winslow McElhiney of 16 Baldwin street, this town.

The ceremony took place at St. Charles' Rectory, the Rev. John P. Gorham, pastor of St. Charles' church performing the ceremony at 7 o'clock. The bride was attired in white canton crepe, trimmed with white satin and wore a picture hat to match. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses, lilies of the valley and sweet peas.

Miss Agnes McPartlin, a sister of the bride was bridesmaid. She wore gray Canton crepe and picture hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas. Mr. Edward Coyne was the best man.

The gift to the bridesmaid was a string of pearls and the gift to the best man was gold cuff links.

The house was decorated for the occasion with cut flowers and ferns, pink and white prevailing with palms and lanterns very much in evidence.

The buffet lunch was served and a large number of guests were present at the reception. Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. McElhiney were showered with a large number of beautiful and useful gifts.

Vocal and instrumental selections were enjoyed during the evening, the Misses Ruth McElhiney and Lillian Reardon presiding at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. McElhiney left on a trip to the White Mountains and upon their return will reside at the bride's mother's home.

CURRENT EVENT LECTURES

There are 10 lectures in the series, which will be held at the High School assembly hall on the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month at 3 p. m. beginning Nov. 8th. Tickets at $5 for the series may be obtained from Mrs. C. P. Whorf, 10 Cabot street, and Mrs. W. E. Grush, 18 Everett avenue.

It is requested that checks made payable to "Winchester Smith College Club" be sent with applications, and tickets will be forwarded.

FIRE AT HIGH SCHOOL

Fire smoldering in a heap of rubbish in the boiler at the High School necessitated the attention of the fire department Monday morning about ten o'clock, a still alarm being sent to the central fire house. The smoldering paper and rubbish caused considerable smoke, and this was being rapidly driven through the building by the fans.

The source of the fire was soon discovered and the teachers were notified that a fire drill would be held. This was done, the pupils filing out over the new fire escapes. Chief DeCourcy sent over the combination and his own car and soon had the blaze out. There was no damage and no excitement.

Making 20 Years of Racing Serve Car Owners Today

IN the early days of automobile contests, Barney Oldfield—out to win every race—studied tires. His consistent success led other drivers to ask for tires constructed to his specifications.

Twenty years of road and track victories—with a steady and increasing demand for tires as he built them—convinced Barney Oldfield that these speed tests pointed the way to a better tire for everyday use.

The enthusiastic reception of Oldfield Cords by the public proved he was right. Scores of the most prominent dealers in the country—and many thousands of car owners, experienced in the use of tires—bear witness by their decided preference that Oldfield is doing a bigger and better job of tire making.

This volume, handled in an effective way in every phase of manufacture and distribution, has resulted in price quotations far below what you'd expect on tires known to be better built and more enduring.

Practically every important race event for three years has been won on Oldfields. The Wichita Test Run in which an entire set of Oldfield Cords covered 34,525 miles on rough roads proves the mettle of the Most Trustworthy Tires Built in everyday driving.

The Master Driver and Tire Builder has given the public a new standard of tire wear and tire cost—a true economy that every car owner should know about.

Your Oldfield dealer has these facts—talk to him.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

There is no folly that can equal the throwing away of friendship.

A friend that must be bought wont be worth the price you pay.

Some friends are made by nature, some by contract, some by interest and some by souls.

The most you can do for your friend, is simply to be his friend, he will want no other reward.

A friend is one who knows all about you but loves you just the same.

BULLETIN OF THE ZUEBLINS

Luzern, Switzerland,
August 31.

To the Editor of the Star:

Here is a bulletin of the Zueblins in case anybody else wants resignations. There are doubtless some who will be resigned to this distribution of the family.

John is at a boys' school in the land of his ancestors, at Glarisegg, Steckborn, Switzerland, where the boys work outdoors and in, to the satisfaction of the most modern and efficient superintendents of schools, incidentally learning German as even the best German teacher could not hope to teach it in an environment of English. This is to offset Anne, who goes next week to a Paris Lycee with a Mt. Holyoke chum. Mrs. Zueblin and I go back to Vienna for the rest of this year, where I have found the saddest and neediest people I have met in Europe, but where Americans, especially thru the Quaker mission, are trying to atone for the incredible stupidity of American and European politicians. In January and February I lecture in Great Britain, while Mrs. Zueblin goes to Munich for the winter. In March I shall be back in New York for the winter lecture season. I suppose the family will stay over here two years so that both the children will feel at ease in French and German on their return. Then they will not have to strain ears as I must, when I attend the sessions of the League of Nations next week.

We have seen great suffering and wondrous natural beauty which still leave us grateful that Fells Chalet is where it is and now stands, I believe, with the acceptance of Wolcott Terrace on one of the highways of the world.

With unfailing neighborly feelings for all of Winchester.

Charles Zueblin.

BASEBALL—BY MACK

Winchester Defeats St. Mary's of Lynn in a Close Game

Winchester won a well-played game Saturday on Manchester Field from St. Marys of Lynn 3 to 2 before a small crowd for this season of the year. Durant pitched a good game, allowing only five hits and striking out nine men, and his delivery was well handled by Flaherty, whose arm has come back in good shape again. We had several new faces in our lineup and all showed up well. This was especially so of the shortstop and second baseman. St. Marys came here with the reputation of holding the Cornets to a 4 to 3 score and given a good battery, would make a hard team to beat. Their infield is fast and the outfield can cover plenty of ground and they all step up to the bat as though they meant to hit it.

Notes

Ralph Hatch was away on his honeymoon and his place was taken by Gollner, who surely can field his position. He did not look very good at the bat, but watch him in the next game, for the fellows say he can hit.

Crowley on second base has been playing with the Dilboy Post of Somerville all the season and looked very good Saturday, both in the field and at the bat.

Spillane at short has been with the Haverhill pros all the season and expects to be taken south next spring by Mitchell of the Braves. He is called one of the best semi-pro infielders in this section.

Johnson who played right field, is the former Everett High pitcher and outfielder. He is considered as good a man as Durant and pitches Sunday ball in Rhode Island.

Baseball Tomorrow

Tomorrow we will have the Woburn Legion here as an attraction. This team has been greatly strengthened lately and will be out to clean up the annual series. Kroog, the former Tufts pitcher, will probably face Durant, with Leonard Weafer doing the catching. The usual big crowd will be on hand to see this game and an early arrival at the field is in order if you want seats.

Durant is out to beat Woburn and will pitch his best brand of ball against them and with Flaherty behind the bat he should be able to get away with a victory. The Winchester team will play as last Saturday, with the exception of right field, where a new man will be seen.

Mrs. Charles Palmer Downer, son of President Arthur T. Downer of the Winchester Laundries, Inc., and Miss Helen Marguerite Hutchins of Stoneham are to be married this week Saturday evening at the Stoneham Baptist Church. The ceremony will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents, 26 Congress street.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK—

THAT if business is falling off, you should step right out of the rut and increase it by the right kind of ADVERTISING.
THAT getting the business is not always a selfish proposition. Modern business entails a certain amount of service that is of as much interest to the buyer as to the seller.
THAT you will find in the stores of your city, the obliging clerks, the ones who greet you with a smile, who wait on you courtesly, solicitous of your every wish, who answer your questions politely, who are willing to take the trouble to supply any information wanted—they help to make better business.
THAT "mail order" houses succeed because they advertise. You can beat them at their own game by advertising in your local paper.
THAT many citizens would be pleasantly surprised if they were to investigate the various kinds and classes of merchandise obtainable in their city. With this knowledge, they could spend all their money at home. A DOLLAR SPENT IN YOUR OWN CITY HELPS YOUR CITY. A DOLLAR SPENT IN SOME OTHER CITY. HELPS THAT CITY. BUY AT HOME.
THAT your city is the best city in which to live. Don't hesitate to tell the world about it.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

An employe of this company, who, upon hearing any complaint or criticism of the service promptly reports the complaint, giving the name and address of the customer, does three valuable things:

He provided relief for the customer, making it possible through knowledge of local conditions, to remove the cause of the complaint.

He gives this company the opportunity to investigate and remedy the conditions complained of.

He has the satisfaction of knowing that he has helped the customer and this company.

We want our customers to know that we are constantly impressing these facts upon our employes, to the end that complaints may receive prompt and courteous attention.

A satisfied customer is the most valuable asset this company can hope to have. Any employe who fails to recognize this fundamental fact does not rightly represent this company and its policies.

RAN INTO TRAIN

Trolley Car Failed to Stop at Centre Last Saturday Night

Saturday evening when the electric car due from Arlington at 7:20 reached the centre the air brakes failed to hold and it coasted down the grade at Knight's drug store, broke through the railroad crossing gates and ran into a passing freight train. Six occupants of the car escaped by jumping before the electric hit the train, as motorman Thomas J. McFarland of Charlestown, was slowly pushed along the street while he held it back with his shoulder.

Strange to say the electric was only slightly damaged and was able to continue its trip after accident. It struck the train just between two cars. The front headlight and trolley rope box was broken off and it bounced back from the impact and stopped. The train went along without the crew being aware of the accident.

According to reports of the accident when the motorman attempted to stop his car on the grade in front of the crossing his air brakes failed to work. He then stopped the car by reversing his power. This caused the car to back, and as he alternately reversed and shut off his power, the car see-sawed back and forth once or twice.

It then appears that some boy who was at the scene pulled off the trolley. Just why this act was committed is not known. Some spectators thought it was done in a desire to stop the car and others thought it was committed in a spirit of mischief.

With the trolley off the motorman had no control of the car and it started towards the crossing. The motorman opened his door and called to the passengers to jump, at the same time getting off himself and attempting to hold back the car as it slowly ran down to the crossing. He could not stop it, but succeeded in retarding its momentum while the five women and one man jumped off.

Passing over the crossing was a long freight train bound to Boston. Contrary to published report, the train was travelling slowly and not thundering by at express speed. The electric broke through the gates and struck between two of the cars. It was slightly damaged at the front by the impact, bounced back a foot or two, then stopped.

In jumping from the car one of the passengers, Mrs. Mary C. Coleman of Kendall street broke two ribs. She fainted after she struck the ground. Another passenger, Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor of Arlington Heights, fell in leaving the car, but was only bruised.

The centre was filled with automobiles at the time, all waiting for the passage of the train, which was a long one, reaching almost from Winchester to Wedgemere. Several women in the autos fainted and became hysterical, and Knight's store had a busy time supplying resoratives. For a time there was considerable excitement.

Examination after the accident failed to find anything the matter with the car, Superintendent Leavitt reporting that all brakes were working properly. Just what caused the brakes to fail at the critical time is not known, but had the trolley not been pulled off, the motorman would probably have been able to have held his car until able to stop it.

Motorman McFarland stuck to his job and received much commendation for his efforts in holding the car and his endeavors to prevent the accident.

MISS IRENE COTY TENDERED A SHOWER

On Wednesday evening about forty-five friends surprised Miss Irene Coty at her home on Washington street and presented her with some very beautiful gifts in anticipation of her coming marriage to Mr. Henry McCue. Mr. McCue lived in this town until recently when he received a transfer to Manchester, N. H., in which city the couple will make their home. At the entertainment which followed the shower many well known artists participated, affording those present an evening of real enjoyment. Among the entertainers were Miss Mabel and Mr. William Coty, who sang many very lovely duets, Mrs. Mollie Maguire, soloist, Miss Mary Jane Kelley and Mrs. Helen Studley, who rendered by request their specialty, "I'm Missing Mammy's Kissing," Mrs. Frances Conlon, well-known local reader, Miss Lorraine King, Singer of Medford and Miss Katherine Trainor, Dancer. Guests were present from Allston, South Boston, Medford, Rochester, N. H. and Winchester. Mrs. Henry Coty was assisted in serving by Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald, Mrs. Eula Haley and Mrs. William Coty.

On Friday afternoon of last week Miss Irene Coty was tendered a surprise by her fellow-workers at the Library Bureau of Cambridge. She was presented with a beautiful pair of silver candlesticks.

FALL TOURNAMENT AT CALUMET CLUB

All entries for the Fall bowling tournament must be in by tomorrow night. James P. Heaton secretary of the bowling committee has already received returns from about 100 men who are eager to take another crack at their records. Bowling scores at the Calumet Club have shown a consistent improvement season by season. Three years ago only six men had an average of over 100 for the tournament. Year before last there were nine and last winter the number rose to fourteen out of a field of the same size as the year before. It is expected that this year will see still better records lining up.

Be sure and read the cash sale advertisement of The Winchester Exchange and Tea Room on the back page of this week's Star.

DOWNER—HUTCHINS

A wedding of prominence occurred at the Stoneham Baptist Church on Saturday evening when Mr. Charles Palmer Downer of this town and Miss Helen Marguerite Hutchins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Y. Hutchins of Congress street, Stoneham, were united in marriage by the pastor of the church, Rev. Mitchell Bronk, D. D.

The church was decorated for the ceremony with autumn foliage and an abundance of fall flowers, making a pleasing setting for the affair. The music was by Mrs. Arthur Webber, organist, and Harlow H. Hovey, tenor soloist, who rendered a program most pleasing and appropriate. The bride wore a dress of white crepe satin trimmed with old family lace, and carried a shower bouquet of lillies of the valley and bride's roses. The bride's sister, Mrs. Kenneth Miller of Milford, was matron of honor. She wore silver chiffon trimmed with silver and a rose tulle girdle. Mr. Henry H. Hesse of New York city was groomsman.

The Misses Ernestine and Phyllis Hutchins of Brisbane, N. Y., little neices of the bride, were flower girls, and the bridesmaids were Miss Edith Downer of Winchester, sister of the groom; Miss Blanche Furz of Malden, Miss Edna Jones of Boston and Mrs. Earl Bockus of Stoneham. The bridesmaids were dressed alike in gold chiffon with brown tulle girdles.

The ushers for moth the ceremony and the following reception at the home of the bride's parents were Messrs. Leroy T. Downer and Wallace F. Downer of Winchester, brothers of the groom; Kenneth W. A. Miller of Milford and Earl Bockus of Stoneham.

Both ceremony and reception were largely attended, a host of friends from Winchester, Stoneham and surrounding places being present. At the reception the couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. G. Y. Hutchins, Mr. Arthur T. Downer and Miss Edith Downer.

The groom, who was a member of the class of 1917, Dartmouth College, and who also served in France during the World War in the Ammunition Division of the Ordinance Service, is manager of the Lowell branch of the Winchester Laundries, Inc., of which corporation his father is president. The bride's father is prominent in Stoneham as the secretary of the E. L. Patch Company, of which he has been a member since its organization.

The newly married couple will for the present reside in Stonehom, following their return from a wedding trip which includes a tour of the White Mountains.

TWO FIRES

Two alarms of fire, coming in simultaneously, started the autos out in force Saturday afternoon. The first alarm was a telephone call for a chimney fire in the house occupied by Michael Donlan on Middlesex street. While the department was still at this fire, which was of little consequence, another telephone call was received for a fire in the residence of Mr. Ernest G. DeCoriolis at 67 Church street. This was followed immediately by a box alarm, rung in by excited residents. The fire was in a waste paper basket, and was extinguished before the department arrived, but there was lots doing and enough automobiles present to block Church street for half a mile.

A wedding of interest to many Winchester friends was that of Sunday afternoon at five o'clock at St. Mary's rectory, when Miss Mary E. Collins of Fitzgerald avenue, daughter of Mrs. Frances Collins, was married to Mr. Thomas P. Carroll of Woburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Carroll of Broad street, that city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Joseph M. Fitzgibbons of St. Mary's Church.

The bride wore a dress of white embroidered canton crepe with veil, and a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of brides roses and sweet peas. Miss Frances M. Collins, her sister, was bridesmaid. She wore a pink radium taffeta with picture hat of pink georgette with blue streamers, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas. Mr. Leo Sullivan of Woburn was best man.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, about 100 guests attending. The couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, the groom presenting the bride with a string of pearls. The bridesmaid received a silver wrist watch and the groomsman a pair of gold cuff links.

Mr. Carroll is a former World War Veteran having served over a year in France. He is a member of the Woburn Council K. of C., the Towando Club and the Campbell Post American Legion of Woburn. The bride is well known among the younger set of this town.

JOINT MEETING SOON

It is reported that the School Committee has sent a formal request for the holding of a joint meeting with the Selectmen to that Board. This will be for the selection of a member of the School Committee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Charles Zueblin. Mrs. Maurice C. ## MR. JAMES L. CAMPBELL

Mr. James L. Campbell, a resident of this town for the past 12 years and for many years identified with newspaper publications in this State and New Hampshire, died at his home, 3 Bacon street, Saturday, after an illness of several weeks. He was 74 years of age.

Mr. Campbell was born in Henniker, N. H., in 1848, the second son of James M. Campbell, a well-known New Hampshire journalist. He was educated in the public schools of Manchester, N. H., and in his father's printing office. He was in early life editor of the Manchester Union, and in 1872 he became a member of the firm of Campbell and Hanscom, owners of the paper. In 1879 he and Capt. George A. Hanscom bought the Lowell Times and published it until 1896. During the succeeding years Mr. Campbell was secretary and treasurer of the American Mason Tread Company of Boston and Lowell.

He married in 1871, Miss Kate Porter of Manchester, N. H., who died in 1889, and in 1909 he married Miss Susan A. Rowell, also of Manchester. He is survived by his second wife and by two sons, Donald C. Campbell of Spokane, Wash.; Kenneth E. Campbell of El Segundo, Cal.; by a daughter, Miss Louise P. Campbell of this town, and by a brother, George C. Campbell of Newton.

Mr. Campbell's church affiliations were with the Unitarian denomination. He was a life-long member of the Masonic order, for many years a member of Kilwinning Lodge of Lowell and more recently of William Parkman Lodge of this town.

The funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at the residence at 2 o'clock. The Masonic ritual was used and the service was conducted by Rev. George Hale Reed of the Unitarian Church. Officers of William Parkman Lodge acted as pall bearers and accompanied the remains to Lowell, where they were taken in charge by officers of Kilwinning Lodge and interred in Lowell Cemetery, of which the deceased was a trustee for many years.

CHILDREN MUST GO TO CHAPIN

The STAR prints this week a letter of reply from the School Committee to the parents of 36 children on Harvard street who were granted a hearing last week upon the matter of sending their children to the Chapin School instead of to the Washington School.

The Harvard street parents claim that for about 22 years their children have attended the Washington School and they desire that they continue to do so. In its reply the petition, the School Committee have made it plain that it intends to continue these children in the Chapin district and that they shall attend that school.

The letter to the parents was issued yesterday and they have not yet met to consider it, but individual expressions are to the effect that the affected parents will refuse absolutely to send their children to the Chapin School.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The Literature Committee of the Fortnightly has planned an enjoyable afternoon at the home of Mrs. William I. Palmer on Myopia road, Monday, October 9 when Dr. Vincent Ravi Booth will talk on "The Message of Dante to the Modern World."

So direct in its appeal to our present day world is Dr. Booth's address, that in Pittsfield last winter he was asked to give it for the third time within a few weeks and each time to a crowded house.

A social hour will follow the talk.

The Millinery Class will begin during the first week in October under the supervision of Mrs. Blanche Priest. For particulars communicate with Mrs. Balcke, Tel. Winchester 1148-R.

TRAIN TIME CHANGES

The present 10:39 outward remains as the last train.

There are a number of Sunday changes, the inward trains almost all arriving in Boston at a new time of one or two minutes difference from the present. The last train out from Boston will leave at 10:34 p. m.

Timetables showing the new changes may be obtained of the Winchester Trust Co., Franklin E. Barnes & Co., Edward T. Harrington Co. and George A. Barron.

DR. SCUDDER RESIGNS

Dr. Doremus Scudder of this town, who was severely injured the first of August by an automobile at Williamstown, has tendered his resignation as executive secretary of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches. Struck by an automobile at Williams College, Aug. 2d, for a time his recovery appeared doubtful. His wounds and exterior bruises healed rapidly however, and he was able to leave the hospital after five weeks' confinement. While he appeared on the rapid road to recovery, his nervous system remains in a shattered condition.

Dr. Scudder is one of the few men whose prefix "Dr." does double duty, it standing for degrees in both medicine and divinity. For the past two years he has been executive secretary of the Federation, and for 22 years he has been a medical missionary and minister in the Far East. At one time he was superintendent of all missions in Hawaii and he has been a pastor in a "labor church" at the Chicago stockyards.

If his health will permit, Dr. Scudder plans to devote the rest of his life to the solution of the problems of the Orient, with which he is familiar as a result of nearly a quarter century of work in Japan and Hawaii as head of the civil relief end of the Red Cross in Siberia during the World War.

A committee led by Rev. Frank Kingdom of the People's Temple is arranging a farewell banquet for Dr. Scudder.

BRIDGE WILL BE ATTRACTIVE

Work has progressed far enough on the new Bacon street bridge to give visitors an idea of the coming beauty of the structure. Both arch rings have been completed, they being set up in the seam-faced granite and making a most attractive appearance. The work of laying in the granite at the sides is also well under way.

The work of pouring the concrete arch begins this morning and it will be continued until the whole arch is completed, two shifts of men working night and day. It is estimated that the work will take 20 hours.

Monday, Oct. 2, at 3:45 p. m. Meeting of Winchester Council of Girl Scouts at the home of the Commissioner, Mrs. J. H. Ryan.

SEVERE STORM FRIDAY NIGHT

One of the worst thunder storms of the season arrived at the tail-end of the summer last Friday night, and while it lasted it kept Winchester residents on tip-toe. The storm came at the end of a sultry, hot spell of weather, said to have been the hottest in many years for this season. At sunset Friday evening ominous clouds gathered in the northwest and mutterings of thunder were heard. While a shower appeared probable, clear skies to the south made it an even chance that Winchester would escape.

After dark, however, the thunder increased, and by nine o'clock the crashes and rollings were continuous. For nearly two hours there was hardly a second's intermission from the celestial bombardment, crash after crash following in quick succession, while the display of lightning exceeded description.

The storm broke at about 11 o'clock, accompanied by thunder which rocked the town. The crashes culminated in one giant explosion which fairly shook the town, and which struck the residence of Mr. Michael C. Ambrose on Vine street adjoining the Knights of Columbus Home. The house, formerly owned by Mrs. H. C. Blood, was considerably damaged, a large hole being torn in the roof and one of the chimneys being knocked down. The bolt ran through several rooms and left by way of the celler. Soot from the chimney was blown about the house and shingles on the roof were ripped off and scattered over the lawn.

Mrs. Ambrose was at the K. of C. House, where she was in charge of a whist party, but Mr. Ambrose and the children were in the house. They were nearly stunned by the bolt but were not injured. Mr. Ambrose ran to the K. of C. House and telephoned the fire department, but it was found that no fire resulted from the lightning. The damage was estimated at $300.

During the excitement the K. of C. House was emptied of its occupants, one of whom, Miss Annie M. Carroll of Middlesex street, fainted. She was revived and taken to her home.

The lightning caused the fire alarm to sound several times and a number of telephones were out of commission. The fall of rain, while very heavy, was not exceptional under the conditions, most of the energy of the storm being expanded in the lightning and thunder.

Market Ratio of Gold and Silver.

At the present price of foreign silver, 68 cents an ounce, an ounce of gold, $20.67, is worth practically thirty times the value of an ounce of silver. The United States government paid a dollar an ounce for silver produced in the United States under a law passed during the World war, which provided for selling about 300,000,000 American silver dollars, melted into bullion, to the English government, and for the replacement of these silver dollars by purchase of silver from domestic producers at a dollar an ounce, regardless of its world value. On this basis the ratio of gold to silver value is about twenty to one.

MADAM GALLI-CURCI HERE

Madam Amelita Galli-Curci will be the first great artist to appear in the new million-dollar Memorial Auditorium which Lowell has erected to honor her soldier sons of all wars. Winchester people and music lovers generally will be glad to hear that such a world famous artist is to be first in order of appearance at the wonderful new building which Lowell will dedicate this week.

Friday evening, Oct. 6 is the date set for Madam's concert. Appearing with her will be Manuel Berenguer, flutist, and Homer Samuels, pianist, who is Madam's husband. She is making her Lowell concert the opening one of her tour in recognition of the honor that has been given her to make the first appearance in the great building.

The combination of Galli-Curci and the informal opening of the Auditorium is sure to attract local people to Lowell that evening. The main auditorium where the concert is to be given has nearly 3700 seats and the acoustic properties tested by a phonograph record are marvelous. In addition the building has a small hall of 800 seats for lesser attractions and ample quarters for the G. A. R., Spanish War Veterans, and Lowell Post, American Legion.

An advertisement in this issue will explain how tickets may be purchased by mail in advance of the public sale which opens Saturday morning at Chalifoux's store, Lowell.

POST OFFICE NOTES

In addition to "Postoffice Notes" which appear from time to time, the Postmaster begins in this issue, a series of articles relative to the history of the Postal department, which we think will be interesting as well as instructive.

There are over 50,000 postoffices in the United States, with more than 326,000 employees, and the annual receipts are over 460 millions dollars. It is the largest business organization in the world and the most efficient. During the year ending June 30th, 1922, over fifteen billion pieces of mail were handled by one branch of the service, of which 99.993% were correct! No other business organization in the world can approach that record.

Postoffices are divided into first, second, third and fourth classes; First class means offices whose gross receipts are over $40,000; a year; Second class is composed of offices whose receipts are under that figure, and over $8,000; Third class over $1,500; up to $8,000; Fourth class includes all offices where receipts are less than $1,500. Your local office is second class with receipts of $33,000 a year.

(To be continued)

SAVING CERTIFICATES TO ADVANCE

Postmaster Lochman wishes to announce that effective October 1st the prices at which Treasury Savings Certificates have heretofore been sold will be advanced.

On account of the continued increase in value in Liberty Bonds, as well as the general advance in all investments, and the gradual decline in interest rates, the Government has decided to reduce the rate of interest paid on Treasury Savings Certificates to a basis of 4% compounded semi-annually.

On and after October 1st these securities will be sold as follows:

$ 25 maturity value for $ 20.50
100 maturity value for 82.00
1000 maturity value for 820.00

These securities mature five years from the date of issue and being registered are absolutely safe-guarded against the dangers of loss by fire or burglary. They also have the advantage of being bought at a minimum price which increases automatically each month the certificates are held. Provision is made for their redemption before maturity if desired, in which case the interest yield is about 5% on the investment.

The Postmaster states that until October 1st he can sell Treasury Savings Certificates at present prices which will yield the purchaser an income of 25% on every dollar invested during the five year period to maturity. This will doubtless be the last opportunity to purchase a government security paying such an attractive rate of interest for many years to come.

The Postmaster will be glad to furnish full information and to fill all applications.

Scott Original "Great Unknown."

The expression, "The Great Unknown," is applied in a hundred different ways—in politics, in financial operations, in criminal investigations, in fact, every time there is doubt about the identity of something or somebody. The original "Great Unknown" was Sir Walter Scott. He had published his "Waverly Novels" anonymously. All literary England was wondering about the author, but Scott and his friends kept the secret because he was a clerk of sessions, and his superiors considered novel writing beneath the dignity of such a high official. "Serious" works he wrote under his own name, but for years all the fame and success due the author of the immortal Waverly books went to the "Great Unknown." The veil was only lifted after everybody had guessed the truth.

FACT vs. FICTION

By Charles Scanlon

Fiction—Prohibition was hastily enacted.

Fact—For more than 100 years prohibition was intensively and extensively studied and discussed. No question ever decided by the American people was better understood.

Fiction—Prohibition was the will and act of the minority.

Fact—Before national prohibition went into effect 34 states, acting separately for themselves, had adopted prohibition. More than three-fifths of the people and four-fifths of the territory of the country were under prohibition. The Eighteenth Amendment was submitted by a vote of more than two-thirds of both houses of the United States Congress and has been ratified by 46 of the 48 states or by twenty-three twenty-fourths of them. The only two states which have failed to ratify to date, Connecticut and Rhode Island, have less than one-thirty-fifth of the population and a trifle more than one-five-hundredth of the continental area, and if the water which is included in these states is not counted the area is further reduced by more than 300 square miles.

Fiction—Prohibition was "put over" while America's soliders were away.

Fact—The Congress which submitted prohibition to the states was elected (November, 1916) five months before war was declared on Germany (April, 1917). American soldiers are not drunkards. They helped Kentucky to enact prohibition after their return in 1919, raised the prohibition majority in Ohio from 28,000 to nearly 42,000, and in Michigan from 68,000 to 207,000.

Fiction—Prohibition is unconstitutional.

Fact—By a unanimous opinion of the United States Supreme Court, 1920, both the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Enforcement Code were declared to be constitutional.

Fiction—More liquor is consumed than before prohibition.

Fact—In 1917, the last year before prohibition went into effect, 600 distilleries in the United States produced 168,000,000 gallons of spirituous liquor. In the same year 1300 breweries produced 1,885,000,000 gallons of beer. The first year under constitutional prohibition three distilleries were in operation and 28,000,000 gallons of spirits were consumed, while beer practically disappeared. The liquor imported was less than one-half of one per cent of the consumption of pre-prohibition days.

Fiction—Prohibition interferes with personal liberty.

Fact—So do the Ten Commandments, according to the testimony of every liar, thief, libertine and blasphemer.

Fiction—Prohibition makes hypocrites.

Fact—The treason and anarchy preached and practiced by the liquor people will of course make patriots and Christians.

Fiction—Prohibition cannot be enforced.

Fact—Prohibition, and every other law for the good of the people, can be enforced by placing men in authority who have the inclination, courage and ability to do what they are paid and sworn to do.

Massachusetts has been selected as the battle-ground of the wet forces of the Nation. They hope to prevent our Commonwealth from joining with the other states in upholding the Federal Constitution.

The sentiment of the majority of our citizens is dry. This sentiment must be expressed on the ballot. A wet victory would be nothing short of a calamity.

We are facing a real emergency. Will you help us show that Massachusetts still stands for Law Enforcement?

Winchester Citizen's Alliance,
Mrs. H. L. Tibbetts,
Secretary.

Marriage Strenuous Ceremony.

Marriage is a strenuous ceremony among the Wakikuyu tribe in East Africa. The bridegroom, having paid down the first installment of ten goats to his prospective father-in-law, as dowry, sends three of his friends to waylay the girl at a certain prearranged spot. He carries her off to his mother's hut, while she fights back and weeps continually. After she has been placed in the hut she weeps for eight days more, while her husband remains away. The actual marriage takes place ten days later. Next morning the bride's girl friends come and make a great display of sorrow on losing their playmate. They stay for three days, during which period they weep endlessly. When they are gone the play is over; the husband builds his own hut, and the young couple settle down to married life.

When Critics Run Amuck.

Scholarly books have been dispraised because they were not exciting; fine novels have been sneered at because they were hard to read; cheap stories have been proclaimed great because they were a pretense of seriousness; sentimentality has been welcomed because it was warm hearted; indecency has been condemned for immorality; immorality has slipped through as romance; daring has been mistaken for novelty; painstaking dullness, for careful art; self-revelation, for world knowledge; pretty writing, for literature; violence, for strength; and warped and unhealthy egoism for the wise sincerity, which is the soul of literature.—Henry Seidel Canby, in the North American Review.

Queen Disliked Long Sermons.

Visitors to the Savoy chapel, off the Strand, are often asked to look at the "old hour-glass" on the pulpit. It is not "old," for it was not placed there until Queen Victoria restored the chapel in 1867; it is not an "hour-glass," for the sand runs for 18 minutes only. That period is said to have been chosen by the queen as a protest against long sermons.—Christian Science Monitor.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

September 18, 1922.

The Board met at 7:30 p. m. All present.

The records of the meeting of September 11th were read and approved.

Jurors 1922: William R. McIntosh as a Constable of the Town of Winchester appeared with a venire calling for two Traverse Jurors to serve at the Superior Civil Court to be holden at Lowell within and for our County of Middlesex on the first Monday of October. Messrs. Daniel Lydon, 9 Lloyd street and Ernest W. Hatch, 9 Cabot street were drawn. He also appeared with a venire calling for two Traverse Jurors to serve at the Superior Civil Court to be holden at Cambridge, within and for our County of Middlesex on the first Monday of October. Messrs. Fred C. Wormelle, 22 Symmes Road and Howard H. P. Wright, 18 Harrison street, were drawn.

Hearings (Ridge St): Notice was received by the Town Clerk that the County Commissioners of the County of Middlesex will meet at the "Selectmen's Room, Town Hall, in Winchester, in the County of Middlesex, on Monday, the twenty-third day of October, A. D. 1922, at ten of the clock in the forenoon" on the petition of Thomas M. Vinson and twelve others, which represents "that public necessity and convenience require the alteration, laying out, or specific repairs, of Ridge street, lying in and within the Town of Winchester."

Eastern Mass. St. Ry. Co (Car Tracks): Mr. Bryne reported that he had talked with Mr. A. B. Corthell, General Manager of the Boston & Maine R. Kirk St., Shepard Court, Florence Street and Lochwan Street are private ways and are therefore not under the Board's jurisdiction. The Clerk is to notify the Gas Company of this.

Sidewalks Granolithic (Mystic Ave): A letter was received from Mr. William M. Belcher asking that a small piece of sidewalk in front of 15 and 17 Mystic avenue be laid with granolithic. The matter was referred to the Supt. of Streets for report.

Two-ninths Departed.

The suburban lady's collie is undoubtedly awe-inspiring and toward cats is most aggressive. During the process of serving the Sunday dinner the maid let Lassie escape from the confines of the kitchen into the yard, and soon a tremendous racket was heard. The family rushed to the rescue. A neighbor was just rescuing her cat from the onslaught. "I wish you would keep that dog home," she said irately. "This is the second time he has killed this poor cat."

JOHANNESBURG: CITY OF GOLD

Johannesburg—or "Joburg," as the initiated speak of it—is among cities the "stormy petrel" of South Africa, just as truly as it is "the city of gold," says a bulletin issued by the National Geographic Society in regard to the region in which striking miners and revolutionists were recently opposed by infantry, cavalry, tanks and airplanes of the South African Government.

The city was born of the greatest gold discovery known to the modern world, continues the bulletin, and rose to the stature of a city in the space of a few years practically "on the diggins." It is almost on the crest of "the Rand," (officially Witwatersrand) the 50 mile ridge of gold-bearing conglomerate from which the world's greatest stream of gold has flowed since 1906 when production passed that of all North America.

Half World's Annual Gold

Before the World War the annual recovery of gold from the Rand reached $175,000,000, and by 1920 the output had again climbed to $138,000,000, an amount which represented roughly half of the entire world production in that year. In 1921 the peak so far attained was reached when gold valued at about $200,000,000 was taken from the Rand.

Johannesburg is situated about midway along the Rand, with a number of suburbs strung out on the slopes of the ridge. Much of the tremendous wealth that has come out of the reef has flowed abroad, a fact, incidentally, which is responsible for much of the bitterness among the white miners and the Boer farmers. But some of the millionaires and sub-millionaires have spent lavishly in the country, and these expenditures, as well as the millions spent in operation, have enriched Johannesburg. Excepting three cities near the Mediterranean, which may be considered as belonging to a separate civilization, Johannesburg is the metropolis of Africa. It has a population of more than 250,000 of which about 150,000 are white.

An Up-to-the-Minute City

It is a city of many substantial buildings, some of them of many stories resembling more nearly American structures than those of Europe. Wide asphalted streets, theatres, luxurious clubs, and the finest hotel south of the equator are other features that go to make 'Joburg' an up-to-date, comfortable city. In the suburbs are many fine residences; and the country club will compare favorably with similar institutions on any of the six continents.

But despite its opulence Johannesburg still has some of the earmarks of a mining camp. In the sumptuous clubs booted prospectors are to be seen side by side with carefully manicured financiers. The iron-roofed shack of the early days has not entirely disappeared; gambling hells and grog shops can be found with ease by miners in the city to spend their earnings in the traditional way of the mining camp. Nor is the city, for all its public improvements and architecture, entirely a twentieth century white man's community. More than 100,000 African natives live within its limits. Motor cars predominate in the traffic, but the heavy Boer wagon has not been thrust entirely out of the picture. And one can ride over the asphalt—or could a few years age—in a rickshaw drawn by a feather-bedecked Zulu.

City Has Had Stormy Time

Turbulence has been the lot of Johannesburg since its birth in 1885, and many of its problems have pivoted around the mine owners and laborers. The Boer War really grew out of the discovery of gold on the Rand and the influx of thousands of Englishmen. The ill-starred raid of Jameson was directed against Johannesburg, and at the same time the city was seized from within by the British mine operatives. Just before the outbreak of the World War there was an uprising of the white miners around Johannesburg very similar to the recent one, but the difficulties were patched up because of the greater conflict.

The obtaining of labor for the Rand mines has always been a problem of considerable proportions. With the mines working at capacity something over 250,000 workers are needed. The local negroes preferred work on the farms and among the livestock of the Boers. White men in sufficient numbers could not be obtained, nor could the owners afford to pay exclusively white men's wages. At one time 50,000 Chinese coolies were imported, but their presence caused much trouble and in 1910 the last of them were repatriated. In recent years tens of thousands of negroes from Portuguese East Africa have been brought in to supplement the local negroes that could be induced to

Climbing Fish.

In his "Natural History of Ceylon," Sir J. Emmerson Tennent states that on one occasion he saw hundreds of climbing fish crawling up the bank of a driedup pool, diverging in every direction on reaching the top to a distance of 50 yards and still traveling onward. The supposition is that they travel by night or before sunrise. One peculiarity is the large size of the vertebral column, quite out of proportion to the rest of the body. In migrating they keep their gills expanded and moistened by a curious vessel above the gills that holds water. When the fish leaves the water it carries with it enough water to moisten its gills as often as necessary to sustain life. The eggs float loosely at the surface of the water and hatch in two or three days. The color of this fish is a light brassy olive, with eyes of orange, its length is up to seven inches.

YOU CAN'T STOP BREATHING
AND LET THE LUNGS REST

—o—

SOMETIMES a simple little sentence can contain a thought that will change all your ideas on an important subject.

When you talk about your advertising "campaign?" Is advertising, to you, something to be used or not used, according to your needs as you see them?

Well, here is a man who has started business men to thinking merely by saying "There is no such thing as an advertising campaign."

He is Mr. I. H. Detrich who, according to Collier's, built a yearly retail business of $1,250,000 in twelve years in a city of 75,000. He says:

"There is no such thing as an 'advertising campaign,' unless you want to admit there is such a thing as a 'breathing campaign,' or a 'bathing campaign.' You can stop breathing and let the lungs rest, as Stephen Leacock once said, but more of you will soon be at rest than your lungs. Just so with advertising. It goes on all the time; your advertising or your competitor's advertising. You can make a short, special drive in some one city if you are a manufacturer or a retailer, and you can call that a campaign. But the bread-and-butter advertising, which you do for a living, can't be defined by any such limited word."

Sales miracles are always with us. Seldom, however, do they cause comment because there is nothing spectacular about them.

Most of the sales miracles are wrought through steady, persistent work in one direction. Results are not always immediate nor startling. Gradually, however, a constant repetition of the story, either through salesmen or through advertising, impels belief in the service or the product offered, or both, and the sales miracle is accomplished.

No better means of advertising exists in this town of 11,000 population than through the columns of the Star. It reaches Every Home and Every Member of Each Family.

An advertisement in the Star will return its cost many times over.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

True friendship consists not in the multitude of friends, but in their worth and choice.

The most that you can do for your friend is to be his friend if he knows that you are happy in loving him, he will ask for no other reward.

It is a most wonderful gift this making of friends, it means the going out of ones self and seeing and appreciating that which is noble and loving in another man.

The "Terrible Turk" is now considering the delicate matter of continuing his victorious massacre or resting on his laurels.

Winchester schools are again in the limelight. No one is surprised. It took just one week of the new year to start the trouble.

The Winchester police did another good job on Sunday when they handled the enormous traffic in our town. Officers were stationed at all important intersections and we escaped with only three slight accidents. The annual visitation of the Jews to their cemeteries in the north end of the town filled the streets and cars. The torn up centre at the railroad crossing added to the congestion. At one time a double line of automobiles reaching from the crossing to Rangeley, stood waiting to pass over the tracks.

Once again we record in this issue of the Star a miraculous escape from death at our deadly grade crossing. For years the Star has deplored the fact that it must need a public calamity to remove this menace to every resident of this town. For years we have predicted that sooner or later an electric car will be struck at this crossing. To this we now add any one of the thousands of automobiles passing over it daily. That recent accidents have passed without loss of life is certainly due to an ever watchful Spirit on guard at this death trap. Why is it that we must wait until some serious loss of life occurs before this crossing may be removed? We spend thousands on new school buildings, yet every child in town is in greater danger from this crossing than it ever has or will be from fire hazards in the schools. Not a day passes but what some person has a near escape from death there. Not a train passes over it but whose engineer is additionally watchful, with his hand ready for the whistle rope. Yet we continue to harbor this menace in our centre, deluded by the vain hope that fortune will continue to smile and watch over us forever.

POSTERS ANYWAY

The Town of Winchester voted most emphatically that it did not desire to entertain within its borders the unsightly posters and billboards which have proved such a detriment to many other suburban communities. Whether the vote was accepted as a challenge or not, we do not know, but almost immediately the Boston & Maine Railroad placed about its station in thick profusion a quantity of billboards and posters. Our residents have had them literally under their noses ever since they voted to do away with them. Surely the railroad would be expected to take to heart any endeavor of its patrons to build up their community, and why it has thus exercised its privileged right to the exclusion of the wishes of the Town we are unable to find out. The circumstance has been much noted, however, especially so in view of the freedom of other stations on the line from this objectional advertising.

LETTER FROM SCHOOL COMMITTEE TO PARENTS ON HARVARD AND IRVING STREETS

School Department,
Town of Winchester.
Sept. 21, 1922.

To the Parents:

Last year there were 147 pupils in five grades in the Washington School, a four-room building. This was too many children for four teachers to care for under the conditions, so in the middle of the year it was necessary to engage another teacher to teach a class in the corridor. This arrangement was unsatisfactory, both from the point of view of instruction and of health, and the Committee sought this year to correct it.

They found that there were about thirty-eight children living on Harvard and Irving streets, who might go to the Chapin School. Children from these streets had heretofore sometimes gone to the Chapin School. In 1915-1916 there were twenty-seven such children, who went to the Chapin School and in 1916-1917 there were thirty-four.

The distance these children would have to travel as a whole was about the same as to the Washington School and some of them were actually nearer the Chapin School. On the other hand, if the Harvard and Irving street children were retained in the Washington School this year, it would make necessary an additional teacher to teach in the corridor, as there would be about 150 children in the school.

The Committee found that with the September enrollment they could include the sixth grade in the Washington School and have an enrollment of about 110. This number could be taken care of satisfactorily by the four teachers. It was fair to do this, because the sixth-grade pupils of the Washington district had been sent to the Prince School for the past seven years, causing some of them to travel over two miles and cross the railroad tracks. This was a hardship to these children, especially at noontime.

The Committee found that by making changes in the Chapin and other schools, they could take care of the Harvard and Irving street children at the Chapin School, so they made the transfer in the belief that it was best for the organization of the schools and the welfare of all the children concerned.

The Committee have taken it for granted that when the new Chapin School is finished, the children from Harvard and Irving streets will go to that school, only about a block away. How can there be any race or class distinction in sending this year the children living on these streets to the Chapin School? They will meet there this year exactly the same children whom they will meet next year in the new Chapin School. If it is unfair to send these children to the Chapin School this year, it will be no less unfair to send them to the new Chapin School next year.

Would not the parents on Harvard and Irving streets feel (and with justice) that they had been discriminated against, if they should not be allowed to go to the new Chapin School. Since children of these two streets will, of course, attend the new Chapin School we fail to see any sort of discrimination in putting these streets into the new Chapin this year.

The Committee do not feel that in re-arranging the school districts any injustice to any child or to any section of the town has been done. We are confident that the present arrangement is for the best interest of every child. It is not only untrue, it is unfair to say that these changes have been made because of racial or social distinctions. Distance has been considered, room has been considered, grade of pupils has been considered, race and wealth have not been considered.

Newspaper stories quoting the Superintendent or the School Committee as having made uncomplimentary remarks about foreign children are false. We are not responsible for these false reports. Do not believe them or be misled by them. We have the welfare of your children at heart.

We have very carefully considered every side of the question and we must adhere to our decision that pupils from Harvard and Irving streets shall go to the Chapin School, and we hope that you will co-operate with us and send your children to the Chapin School.

Very truly yours,

PARENTS' COMMITTEE REPLIES TO SCHOOL COMMITTEE

To the Editor of the Star:

We wish to make a public reply to the letter we received from the school committee, because it is misleading. We believe the citizens of Winchester should know why we are contending for our children to remain in the Washington School.

The Washington School is not overcrowded, and it would not have been last year if the children from Swanton and Chester streets had been sent to the Chapin School where they belong.

Please note that nearly all the schools in town were over-crowded last year.

At the hearing Sept. 13th, Supt. Fausey said there were 122 children in the Washington School in 1921; the school committee say there were 247. They further state that in 1915 to 1916, 27 children went to the Chapin School from Harvard and Irving streets, and in 1916 to 1917 there were 34, but they fail to state that children on Harvard and Irving streets, from Washington to Florence streets, were not included in the number in question.

In 1916 the school committee voted to include a part of Harvard street from Florence to Chester in the Chapin School district, but when the parents went to Mr. Heron, who was then the superintendent of schools, he, being a man with sane, common sense and reasoning, readily agreed that our children should and would remain in the Washington School.

All of the sixth and a part of the fifth grades have been transferred from the Chapin School to the Prince School, and a part of the sixth from the Prince to the Washington in order that our children may be compelled to go to the Chapin School.

After sending four sixth grade children from Harvard and Irving streets first to the Prince and then to the Gifford, they finally decided to admit them to the Washington School, because they didn't dare to face the courts with such gross injustice. But they think they can get by with the others. They may succeed; if so, they must tell a better story to the courts than they have told to us.

We are going to fight to the very last ditch.

Mr. Fausey informed us to this effect: the people in Winchester have done about all they can do to me. Now I am going to run the schools to suit myself.

We were not surprised when they decided against us, remembering how they refused the request of more than a thousand Winchester citizens a short time ago, but we know there was an end to the great Empire of Germany, so there must be some limit for the school committee.

LET THEM SIT!

To the Editor of the Star:

In this morning's Globe I see the item of the Winchester Fire Department stating that the men have been ordered to stay in the back yard.

I think we have as fine a lot of firemen as can be found in the State, and a credit to the Town.

Let the boys stay where they can be the most comfortable in their 24 hour's wait for fires—always ready.

A NEW TEA ROOM

A new tea room opens in town this Saturday, it being conducted under the management of Mrs. May Belle Brown of Malden, recently in charge of "Parramatta," at Beverly, the former residence of Ex-President Taft. "Parramatta" is one of the beautiful north shore estates, and has entertained many notable guests.

Mrs. Brown's Winchester tea room is in Waterfield Building on Common street. She will serve tea from 2:30 to 5:30 each afternoon and a 50 cent luncheon from 12 to 2. She will also have on sale cake, bread, pies, doughnuts, cooked meats and salads.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

A son, Alfred Cyr, Jr., was born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. (Grace Davis) Alfred Cyr.

The Highway Department is repairing Highland avenue, extending the width of the roadway to the sidewalk line and patching the holes.

Mrs. M. A. Brown will open a Tea Room, serving noon lunches and afternoon tea, and also for the sale of delicatessen Saturday, Sept. 23, at Waterfield Building, Common street.

The fire department was called out yesterday noon at about one o'clock for a blaze in the house at 423 Washington street occupied by John D. Shinnick. The fire was among some bedding and was extinguished with slight loss by hand chemicals.

Saturday afternoon at the Water Carnival at Arlington, Miss Mabel Snodgrass of this town, already widely known as an expert swimmer, won the fourth prize for girls. Murray, a life guard at Sandy Beach this summer, together with Fred Dotten, figured in the rescue of the crew of one of the war canoes, when it tipped over during the racing Saturday evening.

Private John Lawhorn of the Marine Corps, who was grilled by the District Attorney in connection with the murder last spring of Ralph W. Brewster, ticket agent at the Winchester railroad station, is reported as having been away without leave from the Charlestown Navy Yard since August 21. He was discharged in connection with the murder.

Mozart Memorized Music.

Only once, so far as is known, have the secrets of the music used in St. Peter's at Rome, been violated. Mozart is reputed to have memorized one of the Masses while hearing it sung. Copies of the music are, as a matter of fact, so carefully guarded that members of the Vatican choir seldom handle them—if at all—at other times than during practice.

Sure Was Hazy.

A Richmond banker was approached by a negro minister whose father had served his family in slave days. The old man was a little more progressive than the ordinary negro pastor of the South and interested himself not only in the spiritual welfare of his flock, but in their worldly welfare as well. It was his custom, therefore, to lecture weekly on current events and his next talk was to deal with the subject of investments and securities. "Marse Henry," he said, "I'se goin' to talk to mah congregation on de ebils ob de bucket shop what's agitatin' folks so much all 'round de country, but I'se a little hazy on mah definitions. Could you tell me, please, what's de difference between a common, a preferred an' a rollin' stock?"—Wall Street Journal.

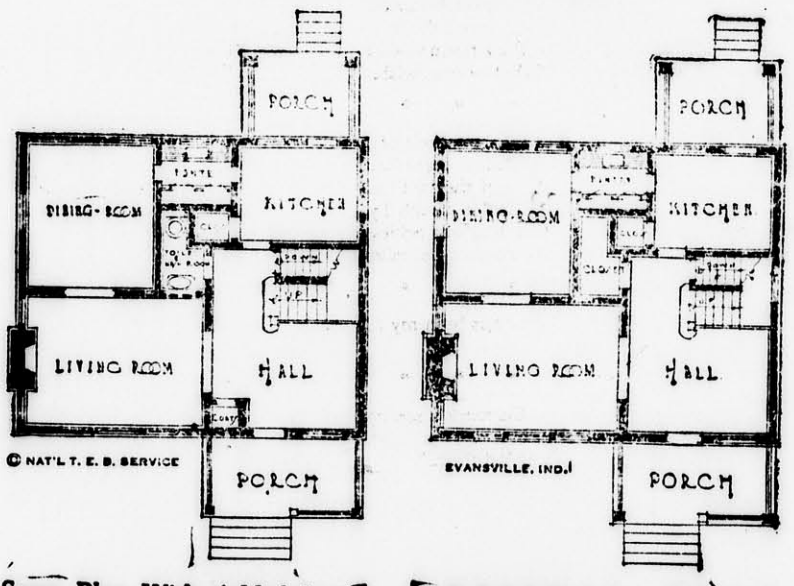
PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS FOR INEXPENSIVE ADDITIONS TO HOME COMFORT AND HEALTH —WITHOUT REBUILDING



Same Plan With Added Lavatory and Toilet Room — ORIGINAL PLAN

First Floor Plan of a Two Story House Changed to Save Many Hours of Stair Climbing

Years ago a bowl and a pitcher on a "wash stand" was the limit of facility offered for domestic ablutions.

Later on came the old time bathroom, with its carefully boxed in zinc or copper lined tub and other fixtures; which were next to impossible to keep looking clean, and were a sort of heaven for water bugs and roaches.

Nowadays, we consider a dwelling hardly modern with a bathroom that does not include a sanitary, labor-saving, built-in bath tub, with other modern fixtures, easy to clean and keep clean.

All along the road of progress in these matters, the doctors and experience have been teaching us that comfort and health both depend largely upon bathing, washing, and toilet facilities that are ample and so conveniently placed as to invite use. Thus it is that lots of us, in two-story dwellings with but one bathroom, would add such improvements as that shown here, if we could see how.

Here we have a plan of a typical first floor of a two-story "one bathroom" dwelling. By slight remodeling a convenient toilet and wash room has been added, with a medicine or toilet cabinet above the lavatory, without sacrificing a single advantage shown by the original plan; making this house many times more "liveable."

In the olden days, increased bath and toilet fixtures increased the housewife's cares. Now, however, we enjoy things of the sort that are practically self-cleansing.

In some such way your plumbing dealer might help out with your home comfort problem.

And 'what woman wishes God wishes.'"

* * * *

(Alluding to the educational methods of Germany before the Kaiser "reformed" them): "This degradation is all the more difficult to understand in view of the fact that the youth of Germany, although it was impaired in health by overstudy and not so toughened by sport as the English, achieved brilliant feats in the World war such as were nowhere equalled before."

"Thus the decision as to my going or staying, as to my renunciation of the Imperial Crown and retention of the Royal Crown of Prussia, was summarily snatched from me. The army was shaken to the core by the erroneous belief that its King had abandoned it at the most critical moment of all."

KABUL: A SEQUESTERED CAPITAL

Had you picked up a London newspaper a few weeks ago you would have wondered why a visit of an Englishman to Kabul without any official reason for going there commanded as much space as would be given the discovery of a new island or another trans-Atlantic airplane flight, remarks a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Kabul was not planned to be inaccessible, like Katmandu, of Nepal, nor is it insulated by temperment from foreign contact, like Lhasa, of Tibet. Pianolas and phonographs give the ear an inkling of the home life of Afghanistan's capital—a home life which is screened from the eye by interminable mud walls. Probably nowhere in the East is the immurement of women more complete than in Kabul. The extent of a man's walls is the barometer of his social station. The more prosperous he is the more wives he can afford; and the more wives he has the more walls he will need to guard them from the eyes of his neighbors.

One Wife and 50 Autos

Automobiles and even motorcycles jockey camels and elephants on thoroughfares that are wide enough; telephone lines and electric lights add a touch of the modern. The predecessor of the present amir had more than a hundred wives; the present ruler has one wife and 51 automobiles. When a western idea hits Kabul the impact often seems exaggerated. The story is told of one wealthy Kabulian who would have nothing less than a grand piano, which arrived minus a stool, so the purchaser had its legs cut off so he might play it while sitting on the floor in his accustomed cross-legged position.

Then, to, there are in Kabul machine shops, munitions works and factories for making soap and shoes and cloth, all built up under English supervision. Its tanneries established through the cooperation of British experts are sources of especial pride.

Splendid Isolation

The key to this anomaly is the "splendid isolation" policy of Afghanistan's amirs. The first casual visit of a European to Kabul is an historic event not because the Afghan is a dreamer, nor because he is afraid, but because he is extremely clever. He loves intrigue. He takes what he wants of civilization but keeps civilization at arm's length. He is a feverent Mohammedan, but realizes that there are more things in the world than Monhammed dreamed of. The Amir Habibullah summed up the Afghan philosophy of recent years when he proclaimed "Knowing the Koran, you may learn what else you choose."

One political result of this policy is that Kabul discloses the one absolute monarch reigning today whose word is unquestioned law among some seven million people It is a tribute to the enlightenment, rather than to any curtailed powers of the present ruler, that men no longer are tied to the muzzle of cannon nor have their tongues cut out. There frequently was more irony than cruelty in Afghan punishments. One amir of not so many years ago ordered three fingers cut off the hand of a man who had stolen three coins from a blind beggar. Upon another occasion he ordered that a baker who was repeatedly guilty of selling short-weight loaves be roasted alive in his own oven because there was so much spare room there. Yet the Afghan holds all life sacred to the extent that he will remove a flea from his person instead of killing it. A "swat the fly" campaign in Kabul would be impossible.

How Fashions are Set

The absolute authority of the amir often has a ridiculous side. One official English resident tells how an amir was informed one day that the government warehouses were overstocked with astrakhan pelts. The ruler thought a bit and announced "all my subjects who love me will wear black astrakhan." For days the guards had a busy time turning away from public buildings all persons who wore turbans.

Kabul has between 150,000 and 300,000 people. One can only guess at the population because the one effort at a census failed before the innate exclusiveness of the Afghan. Rather than tell their names and ages so many Kabul residents either left the city or hid away that business was disrupted and the census was abandoned.

Kabul's flat roof dwellings rise from the banks of the Kabul River nearly 7,000 feet above sea level and the peaks of the Hindu Kush jut into the skyline three times as high not far away. Hence its winters are cold and its summers mild. Its trade flows in three channels, northward through the Hindu Kush into Central Asia; eastward into India through the Khyber Pass and toward Persia by way of Kandahar, to the southwest.

We are indebted to Postmaster George H. Lochman for a delicious sample of his prize peaches, grown on his estate at the Highlands. For size and flavor we have never enjoyed their equal.

My commission expires August 15, 1924.

Seeing and Hearing.

The eye is a haven at which the treasure fleets that sail through the ocean of light are unloading, and their stores deposited in the vaults of the intellect; but it is through the whispering gallery of the ear that man reaches the heart of his fellow man most quickly and surely. Light and knowledge are for the eye, love and music for the ear. Hearing often times seems to me a nobler sense than sight, with richer benedictions attendant on it; with tender and holier offices assigned to it. Man's voice, tuned by sympathy, moving to the modulations of intelligence and love, may perform the sweetest and holiest ministry of human life. Do you wonder, then, that with books and with friendly talk I have learned to bear my affliction cheerfully.—William Henry Milburn.

SALTMARSH—BOYNTON

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Saltmarsh of Mt. Vernon street was the scene of a very pretty wedding Saturday afternoon, Sept. 16, when their son, George A. Saltmarsh, Jr., of this town, was united in marriage to Miss Margaret Adelaide Boynton of Brookline. Rev. Howard J. Chidley performing the ceremony.

Sherman W. Saltmarsh, brother of the groom, was best man and Miss Mary Olillio was maid of honor. Owing to the recent death of the bride's aunt, with whom she formerly made her home, only the immediate family were present.

After a short wedding trip, the young people will reside in Brookline.

The current issue of the London Graphic features in pictorial form the success of London's latest dramatic sensation ,"The Broken Wing," now at the York Theatre. The leading man in the cast, and according to the Graphic the star of the production, is Mr. Thurston Hall, formerly of this town. He takes the part of the villan. Mr. Hall resided here for many years and is well known to many of our residents. His mother was the wife of Mr. Henry C. Blood. He has been engaged in theatrical work, both legitimate and before the camera, for many years, being featured in many of the recent films.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK—

THAT if business is falling off, you should step right out of the rut and increase it by the right kind of ADVERTISING.

THAT getting the business is not always a selfish proposition. Modern business entails a certain amount of service that is of as much interest to the buyer as to the seller.

THAT you will find in the stores of your city, the obliging clerks, the ones who greet you with a smile, who wait on you courtesly, solicitous of your every wish, who answer your questions politely, who are willing to take the trouble to supply any information wanted—they help to make better business.

THAT "mail order" houses succeed because they advertise. You can beat them at their own game by advertising in your local paper.

THAT many citizens would be pleasantly surprised if they were to investigate the various kinds and classes of merchandise obtainable in their city. With this knowledge, they could spend all their money at home. A DOLLAR SPENT IN YOUR OWN CITY HELPS YOUR CITY. A DOLLAR SPENT IN SOME OTHER CITY, HELPS THAT CITY. BUY AT HOME.

THAT your city is the best city in which to live. Don't hesitate to tell the world about it.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man

The use of heat and power in units of gas, electricity and other forms gives to each man, woman and child in this country, the equivalent of 30 servants. The Smithsonian Institution believes that if our modern public utility companies were taken away it would require three billion hardworking slaves to duplicate their work.

A striking bit of information! But think how comparatively recent these aids to comfortable and convenient living have been made to serve us!

It was not so long ago that France had a tax on windows and poor people spent their nights in darkness and foul air. Our grandmothers had to wash the globes and trim the wicks of oil lamps.

Plenty of old settlers, now living, can recall the days when they ran a mile from the nearest neighbor's with a shovelful of blazing coals.

As if by magic, those things have now passed forever. Gas, electricity, the street car, telephone, telegraph—these have replaced your 30 servants.

YOUR AFFAIRS AND MINE

In all ages there have been true stories of boyish mischief or truancy, but in none have there been more reports of prompt and meritorious conduct among boys than in the generation that now is. Winchesterites have lately read in the daily press of a lad of sixteen who observed bubbles coming to the surface of a lake, instantly plunged in, and saved the life of his uncle. Whatever the pursuits of that boy may be, perception and performance make a strong team.

The most beautiful thing in the eyes of a man is a good-looking woman. Woman is well aware of it. Man does not deny it. No normal women has any objection to being admired, and she makes herself attractive for this purpose. Nearly every women desires good clothes and is careful in her personal appearance. If it is not for the purpose of being admired, why do women do these things? The average girl here in Winchester or elsewhere is on the lookout for her "prince", and understanding the weakness of men, makes herself look as attractive as possible. The average man admires a good-looking ankle, a pretty complexion, and a young woman full of fun and "pep." Our Winchester girls are all right—none handsomer to be found in the land.

A Winchester gentleman makes a prediction. It is that in a few years mail will be carried by invisible postmen. Letters and parcels will be loaded into air planes controlled by wireless. The airplanes, with nobody aboard, will rise in the air, say, at Boston, fly like an arrow and land in Chicago, operated and steered by wireless. Important experiments along this line have been successfully completed in France. Wireless-controlled airplanes, without crews, were kept in the air for an hour and navigated about as easily as if a pilot were aboard. The wireless-controlled airplane shows how man is conquering the invisible. It is millions of times more wonderful than the Hindu fakers trick of moving small objects without touching them—as the faker puts it, power of mind over matter.

"Lost—An Automobile Crank"—reads an advertisement in an exchange of the Star. A Winchester gentleman thinks he saw and heard him in a Winchester lunchroom the other day.

With plenty to drink, the Puritans, according to Dr. Eliot, were hard drinkers. Their pampered descendants have acquired easy drinking habits, but here in Winchester at least are experiencing some difficulty in finding plenty to drink.

As illustrating how times and customs change, a dozen or fifteen years ago the news dispatch from Albuquerque, N. M., stating that 400 members of the Albuquerque High School Girls League have pledged themselves to give up jazz dancing, "petting parties" and cigarett smoking, would have been regarded as a wildly imaginative hoax. It would have been impossible to conceive the occasion for any such recreation on the part of high school girls or, indeed, of the general run of grown-up young women. Today it is not astonishing to learn that girls of high school age have acquired a looseness of conduct undreamed of a few years ago; the thing that astonishes Winin Albuquerque or some other city, chesterites is that 400 of them, whether in Albuquerque or some other city, have suddenly come to their senses and decided to mend their conduct and their manners. It is a good sign and a hopeful one.

In a community not far from Winchester seven boys entered emphatic denial that they had broken certain windows, but agreed to make settlement for same. Here is a problem. Were they striving to shield playmates or were they more canny than candid? Probably no man in the community knows for boys are well able to keep secrets.

It takes no special proof to sustain the charge that a family of wealth and influence discourged a man who sought to win the hand of one of the second generation, but there is some doubt about his being kidnapped. The fact is that between novels and films the world has grown skeptical as to the extra touches of these romantic. tales.

If the monkey gland operation induces wife desertion, not a few married men will be willing to submit to it. A journalist in a city not a thousand miles from Winchester, after being operated on, mysteriously disappeared from Atlantic City, leaving his wife and two children unprovided for and has been discovered holding a position as tutor to a wealthy family at Los Angeles. There is more need of gland grafting to increase the sense of responsibility to one's family than of operations that further family abandonment.

There are people in Winchester who spell marriage m-o-n-o-t-o-n-y.

According to a Winchester medical man we need never fear population in excess of our area as long as people refuse to swat the fly.

A good Winchester gentleman who has made many journeys across the "big pond" says that taking the "roll" out of trans-Atlantic travel is taking food out of the mouths of the fishes.

Every normal Winchesterite loves music — everybody welcomes good music. In the poetic language of Edgar A. Guest:

It strengthens hearts courageous, and it urges men along.
The tide of battle often has been altered by a song;
No race can live without it, it is heard from pole to pole.
For music is the utterance and expression of the soul.

We catch it by the cradle in the mother's lullaby.
The sweetest form of music that is known beneath the sky;
And the youth must sing while wooing, and the soldier on the field
Will march to death undaunted with music for his shield.

We sing our country's anthem as a pledge that we are one
In the dreams for future glories and the struggle we have won,
And our race goes bravely forward, head-erect and clean and strong
In the fellowship of music and the brotherhood of song.

Consciousness of criminal carelessness overwhelms us as we read in a public print: "You encourage the highwayman everytime you dispatch a cashier with thousands of dollars to the bank." And we fear the accusing eyes of the Star's cashier will haunt us in our sleep.

And how many days will bread cast broadcast upon the waters return? inquires a Winchester radio fiend. It depends, in our opinion, on the wave length.

The Spectator.

Volta Father of Battery.

Allesandro Volta, an Italian inventor, is the father of the electric battery, his name being honored in the naming of the unit of electric energy, the volt.

Legal Fiction.

A fiction in law is an assumption made for the purpose of justice though the same fact could not be proved and may be literally untrue, and it is a rule that a fiction of law shall work no wrong. The fictitious characters of John Doe and Richard Roe for the purposes of various actions are well known.

SHAKERS, SUFFRAGE AND SPIRITISM

The idea of equal rights for women was introduced in America two years before our Declaration of Independence declared "all men are created equal." Spirit manifestations, akin to the recent popularity of other world communication, had a vogue in the colonies before the Revolutionary War.

These facts are recalled by the proposed abandonment of the Shaker Community in Enfield, New Hampshire, which is reported to have dwindled from 350 members to only six survivors, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

How an Idea Survived

Of all the religious groups that found sanctuary on the soil of colonial America the most remarkable, perhaps were the Shakers with their customs that were partly medieval and partly far ahead of their day, the bulletin continues. And the persistence of a firmly grounded religious belief is aptly illustrated by their survival to this day although their virginal vows carry on their tradition, and their deliberate isolation in self-sustaining communities gave few opportunities to make converts.

Shakers, Suffrage And Spiritism

The Shakers never had more than 5,000 members and the twelve communities remaining today reported 367 members in 1916, which means a population of not more than a thousand. The longevity of individual members, combined with their abstinence from meat and fish, their prescribed manual labor and hygienic living, have made their communities interesting human experiment stations for the biologist as well as the geographer. The bodily movements as they worshiped closely resemble the noon-day gymnasium exercises of many an American business man.

Arrested for Gyrations

Ann Lee, self-styled "Ann the Word" but known among her followers as "Mother Ann" founded the Shakers whose official title is "United Society of True Believers in Christ's Second Coming." After four children died in their infancy Ann Lee sought solace among an off-shoot of the Quaker sect in England which had been influenced by the early eighteenth century wave of "manifestations" among what we would call "mediums." Ann could not read or write, and her husband later deserted her. For her shouting, leaping and bodily gyrations during her exhortations she was arrested in Manchester.

While in jail the young woman asserted that the Christ appeared to her in a vision, told her he was one with her, and upon serving her sentence she gathered a few followers and set out to America to proclaim herself the embodiment of Christ in His second coming.

A Modern Miracle

On the way across the ship's captain forbade the Shakers to indulge in their athletic form of worship. Whereupon, according to Shaker literature, a storm arose, a plank was spung, and the vessel began to fill. "Mother Ann" reassured the captain saying two angels had appeared before her in a vision to promise her safe passage. Just as the crew was becoming exhausted from pumping a huge wave again struck the ship and jammed the plank back into place!

For two years "Mother Ann" worked in New York as a washerwoman, then, in 1776, she founded the first Shaker village at Watervliet, New York.

In such strange fashion was instituted, the year that America dates her national birth, the Western World's first experiment in communism. Later societies, or "families," grew up in New York, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine, Connecticut, Ohio and Kentucky.

The Shaker Platform

The cardinal principles of the Shakers' religion are virgin purity, confession of their sins, complete separation from what they term the world's vanities, and a communism which approaches political socialism. If a man and wife join a Shaker community they are supposed to live as brother and sister.

Until recently they prohibited the taking of photographs and they forbade pictures of all kinds as idolatrous. Even the cultivation of flower gardens for decorative purposes was frowned upon in former years. And there is still doubt among the older members about the propriety of musical instruments.

The Shaker community is as nearly self-sustaining as possible and about the only importations in their beginnings were iron for their plough shares. In their industrial and agricultural development they have contributed many valuable ideas which have been siezed upon for general use. They are credited with the revolving harrow, cut nails and the planing machine. Raising herbs for medicinal use was one of their early major industries.

Their Towns Spotless

A famous description of their central community, that of Mt. Lebanon, N. Y., is applicable to all their settlements. "No Dutch town has a neater aspect, no Moravian hamlet a softer hush," says this writer. "The streets are quiet; for here you have no grog-shop, no beer-house, no lock-up, no pound; of the dozen edifices rising about you--workrooms, barns, tabernacles, stables, kitchens, schools, and dormitories--not one is either foul or noisy; and every building, whatever may be its use, has something of the air of a chapel."

An elder and an eldress are the patriarchal heads of the villages. In the larger villages two of each sex are chosen, and their authority is unquestioned. The recruits of the societies are from world weary persons to whom the isolation appeals, and children attending their schools who are imbued at an impressionable age with their religious teachings. Each member of the community is expected to perform a share of the work, and by work the Shaker means manual labor. Many attempts to carry out the economic ideas of the Shaker villages have failed, apparently because the absence of the religious tie allowed members to depart too easily.

KAISER MEMOIRS COMING

His Personal Story to Appear in the Boston Post

The hottest discussion in history will burst upon the world next week when the first pages of the Kaiser's Memoirs appear in the Boston Post.

Every line of the book was written in the Kaiser's own hand. It is this fact which gives big significance to the book throughout. The Kaiser was not content to dictate his memoirs. He was consumed with the idea that he had a life story to present to the world, that could properly be presented only by his direct personal contact with every word of its phrasing.

The Kaiser disclaims any participation himself in the "Gott strafe England" sentiment of Germany. He maintains that, in fact, he made special exertions to foster good will with England.

He gives a striking account of his innocence in connection with the famous interview with himself in the London Daily Telegraph, following one of his visits to England.

In this interview he was quoted as saying that his own people were not friendly to England, although he insists that in his farewell speech he had urged cordial relations between the two countries.

"After my return," he writes, "the Chancellor (Prince Buelow) appeared, lectured me on my political sins and asked that I sign the document which was afterwards communicated to the press.

"I signed it in silence, and in silence I endured the attacks of the press against myself and the crown."

Beginning with next Sunday's Boston Post the Kaiser's Memoirs will be published in serial form by the Boston Post exclusively in New England. For the newspaper first rights in America a group of big papers paid a quarter of a million dollars. It will be the newspaper sensation of the year.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

At the opening meeting of the season, the Winchester Union last Friday had a very enjoyable session, transacting a great amount of business before the social hour which gave the members an opportunity to greet one another after the summer's rest. Not that it has been wholly rest for all the workers, as there has been considerable activity among those seeking to arouse the citizens to the danger of lethargy concerning the enforcement of the prohibition laws. Indeed, Mrs. Hamilton, former president and president of Middlesex County Union spoke at some length on this line, urging the members to do all in their power to stir up the forces of good in the community to contend against the well organized efforts of the "wets" to discredit the prohibitory amendment.

As the Middlesex County Convention is to be held in Wellesley, Sept. 27, delegates were duly appointed, but there will be room for other members in the delegation, as the distance will prevent so many from attending. There will be sessions at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. In order to get the 8:50 train fro mthe South Station it will be necessary to take the 8 a. m. train from Winchester. Those who get that train will be met at Wellesley by automobiles and given a drive through the college grounds, returning to the Congregationalist Church where the convention is to meet in time for the 10 o'clock session.

Delegates for the State W. C. T. U. convention to be held in Hyannis in October were also elected Mrs. Etta M. Adams, president; Mrs. Fannie A. Weld and Mrs. Anna R. F. Woodbury. Fuller particulars about the State convention will be given later.

At the close of the formal program there was a silver tea and a cake sale, the proceeds from which, about $25 are for the benefit of the local treasury. Three new members were admitted and an effort is being made to increase the membership very noticeably during the coming season.

CROWDED CONDITIONS SUNDAY

The estimate has been made that over 35,000 persons of Hebrew nationality passed through Winchester Sunday either by automobiles or electrics, the day being the date for the annual visitation to the Jewish cemeteries at the north end of the town. The automobile traffic was the heaviest this town has ever seen, but thanks to the efficient traffic service given by the Winchester police, only two accidents of importance were reported through the day.

Special electric cars were run as usual between the centre and the Highlands, together with other extra cars to the adjoining towns. In addition to the local police force, the State had Metropolitan officers and motorcycle officers on duty through the section.

The most serious accident of the day occurred at noon when Mrs. Annie D. Foster of Stone avenue was struck on Washington street by an automobile operated by Benjamin Marks of Boston. She was knocked down as she was crossing the street. She was taken to her home and attended by Dr. Cummings, who found her suffering from multiple bruises.

The other accident occurred at the corner of Washington and Mt. Vernon streets, a Chevrolet sedan owned by Clara R. Russell of 23 Hancock street and operated by Arthur R. Keehn of the same address, colliding with a Dodge touring car driven by Max S. Loftman of Fall River. The Dodge had the grease cups on the rear springs broken and a tire cut, while the front mudguard on the Chevrolet was bent. No one was injured.

First Pilgrim to Die in America.

The first death among the Pilgrims after their arrival on the coast of America was that of Mrs. William Bradford, wife of William Bradford, who later was governor of the Plymouth colony. Before a site was selected for a settlement and while the Mayflower was still riding at anchor in Cape Cod bay, Mrs. Bradford fell into the sea and was drowned.

RESULTS OF MR. HAYS' WORK

By Quinn Martin

(From New York World, September 10, 1922)

It is not the fault of the millions of persons in this country who make the motion pictures their only form of amusement that they have almost from the beginning been chary about their praise for the cinema play as a whole. But it does seem to us that even the photoplay ought to be given credit where credit is due.

We have made an investigation and a comparison of the quality of films being shown throughout the country at this time, as alongside those exhibited a year ago, or two years ago. We were prompted to do this because of a statement made by Will H. Hays in Minneapolis a few weeks ago, in which he said, in part:

"This new program has been under way less than six months, but the results are already showing. This season's run of photoplays will indicate plainly the results of a sincere effort and desire to make better pictures."

When we started in to dig out the truth about the statement, we snickered to ourselves, because we had a feeling we were going to be able to pin upon the cinema chief the brand of exaggeration, egotism and inaccuracy.

The fact of the matter is that after looking over reviews, criticisms and comment upon films written even as late as one year ago it is found that there not only is a great deal in what he says, but the evidence confronts us with the fact that today there are being exhibited in the theatres and put together in the studios a class of photoplay which, on the whole, ranks high above the class that was being turned out prior to the beginning of the present year.

This change has been most marked in the matter of the moral intent of the various pictures being made. Two years ago criticisms of firms were taken up to a great extent with protests against the sickening sex play stamp placed upon society dramas and the like. We find that within the year of 1922 we have not felt called upon more than half a dozen times to refer to indecency or obscenity in pictures.

So that after fair and thorough reflection, it looks to us as though better pictures, certainly cleaner pictures, are here! It is a long, long road before they reach the stage of excellence. But, as some one has said, Rome wasn't built in a day.

THE GEOGRAPHY OF HATS

No sooner have Easter bonnets emerged than milliners begin their hunt for new suggestions. The idea, and not the hat, most decidedly is the thing in women's headgear. Yet the hat itself is as old as history, remarks a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Perhaps the origin of the hat was the fillet, which was in almost universal use among smooth-haired people to keep back their stray locks. We have additions from time to time in both horrizontal and vertical directions until the creations worn in New York and Paris have come about, as well as the picturesque hats and caps worn with various national costumes for fickle Fashion makes her influence felt wherever people live.

By His Hat You Will Know the Persian

In Persia the headgear worn proves very useful to a stranger as well as to the natives in identifying both the residence and the social standing of the wearer. The Kurds in that country wear a hat which looks like a huge inverted black coffee-pot bound around with a gay silk handkerchief. The Bakhtiaris, who live in the mountains near the British oil fields, wear a felt hat that looks like a preserving kettle. The peasant or artisan wears a rough felt dome, the merchant or student the black pill-box, the porter a skullcap, the police officer a white lamb's-wool hat, and the ecclesiastic a cushion-like turban.

In the Holy Land, too, the hat is indicative of the station of the wearer. The Bedouin, the dweller in the "houses of hair" in the desert to the south, east and northeast wears a large flowing scarf of cotton, called the "kefeeyah," bound round his head by a twisted rope of goat's or camel's hair, generally about two inches thick. The Turkish soldiers of Bagdad during the World War, though they adopted a uniform much like that worn by British and American soldiers, retained the kefeeyah, which artists call the most picturesque headdress worn by men. The fellah, or farmer of Palestine, wears a turban consisting of four parts, a small white skullcap, over this another skullcap of white cotton, which in turn is surmounted by a red cloth fez with a large black tassel, and about the whole a scarf or shawl. Most of the Apostles belonged to this class.

Turban Worn by Farmer

The third class in the Holy Land, the merchants, artisans, teachers, scribes, and governing officials wear a turban similar to that worn by the farmers, except that the scarf is larger, cleaner, and of lighter and more delicate colors and materials.

An enormous chignon made of sheep's wool is worn by the nuns of the Ta-Tshang Nunery of Tibet, which one traveler says lies in one of the most desolate and wind-swept spots imaginable.

Much of the charm of the Turkoman of Transcaspia is due to his huge and fantastic cap made of shaggy sheep's wool, two or three times as large as his head, which he perches at a characteristically rakish and independent angle.

Looks Like Football Gear

The Arab woman of Oman wears a peculiar headdress that to the American mind suggests "blinkers" since it fits around her eyes and down her nose from its bridge to its tip after the fashion of football gear.

The Hindu woman's dress is made glorious by the sari, as distinctive a touch in her attire as is the mantilla of the Spanish lady. She drapes it about her body for skirt, allows its graceful folds to pass over her shoulders and head, where by a trick of moving it before her luminous eyes when the inspiration prompts she makes it a luring instrument of coquetry.

The children and young girls of Savoy wear little caps in shape like those an American baby wears, except that the turned back frill stands out over the face at the top. They are made of vivid red and blue or blue and green combinations and are tied under their chins with a ribbon. There is just a slight difference in this "begine" in each village and it soon becomes easy to tell just where any peasant comes from. In Mont Rond, for instance, the stiff part of the begine slopes back at a rather acute angle, while in St. Jean D'Arves the lace of the begine stands up straight. In St. Sorlin D'Arves the lace in the front of the begine is bent down flat and its back is squarer than that of St. Jean D'Arves. When it rains these women put on over these caps a very large flat felt hat, which takes the place of our umbrella.

Turkish Women Adopt Hood

When the Osmanli Turkish woman goes on the streets she wears a garment enveloping her whole person which resembles a scanty double petticoat made of any kind of cloth. The upper part is drawn hoodwise over her head and fastened under her chin. Her face is then completely hidden by a small square of dark-colored silk or muslin. Despite the fact that there is a tendency to do away with the cloak worn by Turkish women, it is still used to a great extent in the towns and some Christian women living in close proximity to Moslems have been forced to adopt the attire.

The Bulgarian woman wears a little round skullcap covered in gold braid with a long fringe hanging down the back which she covers with a large white scarf embroidered around the edges and fastened to the cap with innumerable ornaments and strings of coins. Everyone is familiar with the cute little white Dutch cap with its becoming flaps on the side, and knows the grace with which the Spanish lady wears her mantilla.

A Bow of Black Ribbon

The Alsatian woman wears a huge bow of black ribbon on her head. Occasionally you see a red or a plaid ribbon and sometimes it is ornamented with large bright flowers. The women of the Canali valley wear a snowy-white starched cap, and the Herzegovinian women in Aagusa wear fascinating long white lace veils attached to tiny red caps, which they decorate during festivals with bright yellow marigolds. The Sardinian farmer wears an enlarged edition of the Scotch cap, which serves him not only as a head covering but as a lunch bag from which he will take a loaf of bread at noon, and on which he occasionally sleeps at night.

The Wallachian farmer affects a small derby, smaller than Charlie Chaplin's well-known "lid," which he often adorns with a wreath of flowers. The elegant Saloniki dame wears a flat covered frame that could scarcely be termed a hat. It is usually crowned with an oval gilt plaque ornamented in seed pearls, and invariably has a fringed tail of dark green silk, also ornamented with a similar plaque, in which she keeps her hair.

But in one particular the peasant woman of Russia has the advantage of all of us. She wraps about her head one of those soft beautiful Persian or Cashmere shawls which is generally richer in texture and color than any creation of a 57th street milliner.

Streets "Lit by Smoke."

It was on January 28, 1807, that Pall Mall was lit by gas—the first street in any city in the world to adopt the new illuminant. The cartoonists of the period drew pictures which represented people choked by the fumes of the new illuminant, and all manner of ridiculous stories were circulated about it. Sir Walter Scott wrote from London that "there was a madman proposing to light London with—what do you think?—why, with smoke." Sir Humphry Davy is also credited with giving the opinion that it would be as easy to bring down a bit of the moon to light London as to succeed in doing so with gas.—London Tit-Bits.

FORMER DYSPEPTIC AMAZES FRIENDS BY DINING STUNT

Partakes of Banquet-Like Meal Without Overtaxing His Digestion—How He Does It

Some time ago here J. Armstrong, of 51 Garfield Ave., Woburn, Mass., invited some friends to a little dinner-party. Instead of eating specially prepared food, as was his custom on account of a long-standing case of indigestion, he surprised his friends by partaking of the entire menu. Here's what he ate:

Raw oysters with vinegar and pepper, escalloped oysters, cold turkey, baked beans, peach pie with whipped cream, spiced dark cake and strong tea.

When asked how he did it, Mr. Armstrong replied: "I have suffered from indigestion for 15 years. But recently O'BRIEN'S for DYSPEPSIA was recommended to me. I took four bottles and can eat anything now. One teaspoonful after this big meal and there will be no ill effects whatever!"

Nor was there any trouble with his digestion afterward, for O'BRIEN'S is a premier preparation for stomach disorders of all kinds. Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Colic, Ulcerated Stomach and Gastritis respond to its healing, soothing influence. O'BRIEN'S brings quick relief to troubled stomachs. Has been doing it since 1898. ## THE PUNJAB AND THE SIKHS

Good weather in the Dakotas, plus adequate transportation, means an ample wheat supply for the United States. In Punjab, the Dakotas of India, there is a third factor, religion, which may affect materially the wheat supply of the British Empire. This unknown quantity, religion, plays a part in the geography of the East which is often puzzling to the sons of the Occident, says the bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society, concerning recent revolutionary activities in the Punjab.

The Sikhs, who number fewer than nine per cent of the twenty-five millions crowded into this wheat-filled area of Kipling's tales, constitute the present disturbing factor. And, strangely enough, this religion which probably is the closest approach to Christianity that ever sprang from west of the Suez shows a development exactly opposite to that which marked the prevailing religion of Europe and America.

An Opposite Development

The Christian religions generally regard the " eye for an eye" doctrine of the Old Testament to have been superceded by the teaching regarding forgiveness unto "seventy times seven" which is to be found in the New Testament. The Granth, or Bible, of the Sikhs has in its early portion the injunction, "If anyone treat you ill, bear it. If you bear it three times God himself will fight for you and humble your enemies." It is interesting to note that this philosophy forms the keynote of Gandhi's activities.

However, in a second book, or New Testament, called "Granth of the Tenth Reign" is to be found this bit of poetry:

"I bow to the Arrow and the Cannon
Which destroy the enemy.
I bow to the Sword and the Rapier
Which destroy the will."

And it is because the latter passage today is more generally adhered to by the Sikhs, with whom religion is the most intense reality of life, that their minority population in the Punjab has become an important factor in India's geography, economics, and political history.

The region of the "five rivers," which is the meaning of Punjab, is one of the best known areas of India, since it not only is a favorite Kipling local, but also contains the semi-capital, Simla; the Sikh Holy City, Amritsar, of massacre memory; and the new capital, Delhi, with its world-famed bazaars. The entire Punjab comprises an area about equal to that of North and South Dakota. It rests upon a broad base along the foothills of the Himalayas, and a major portion slopes between the valleys of the Indus and the Sutlej to an apex south-west of their confluence. A rectangle lies west of the Indus along the Baluchistan border, while a second triangle, with the upper Sutlej as its base, projects toward the southeast.

The Mecca of the Sikhs

Near the geographical center of the Punjab is Armitsar, city of carpets and malaria to the outside world, but, what is more important in India, holy city of the Sikhs. Thirty-six miles to the west is Lahore, where the founder of Sikhism, Nanak, was born less than a quarter of a century before Columbus discovered America.

Nanak was succeeded by nine gurus, or teachers. The fifth of these, Arjan, compiled the Granth, and the tenth, Govind, added those portions which exalt the sword. The last of the gurus also initiated the ceremony of baptizing Sikh youths with water dripping from a two-edged sword, after which they must wear their hair long and carry a dagger.

Emancipated Their Women

The standard English work on the Sikh religion comprises six volumes, and Sikhism is one of the newer and simpler religions of India, at that! The Sikh teachings give their women greater freedom, break down rigid caste lines, forbid pilgrimages to Hindu holy places, and discourage the use of wines and tobacco. Sikhism embodies the concept of a universal god rather than a tribal diety, it is strikingly akin to Christian teachings regarding family life, but it differs from Christianity in holding fast to the Oriental belief in transmigration of souls and in a fatalism which is accepted more literally than the western mind ever accepted predestination.

The Sikh religion developed in that part of India which has been a corridor for many migrations and a battlefield for centuries. It has reacted upon the hidebound and age-long beliefs that are more peculiarly of the East and yet it has caused clashes with the British, notably during the Sikh wars, because it was able to meet sword with sword, where other Indian religions often employed subtler, and more perplexing methods, notably the non-cooperation tatics of Gandhi's followers.

COIMBRA: PORTUGAL'S PROPOSED CAPITAL

The proposel to move the capital of Portugal from Lisbon to Coimbra reported in recent dispatches following revolutionary activities, would not mean giving Portugal a new capital so much as restoring a very old one. This is pointed out in a bulletin just issued by the National Geographic Society dealing with the important part Coimbra has played in Portuguese history.

Coimbra, 120 miles north of Lisbon, was as truely a frontier town in its time, as Wichita, El Paso or Carson City, says the bulletin. But the time was ten centuries ago, not less than one; and the Coimbrans defended their lines not against red Indians but against black Moors. Fighting the infidels was the Old World's most popular outdoor sport in those days, and the flower of Europe's chilvalry—Frenchmen, Englishmen, Dutchmen and Germans—helped at odd times to make Coimbra "safe for Christianity" and to keep it a white man's country. It fell permanently to the Christians in 1064 and was soon made the capital of the region which before long became the new Kingdom of Portugal.

When Portugal Had Three Capitals

When the Moors had been pushed farther toward Africa, Lisbon was made a seat of the court and for a time the kings divided their time among three capitals, Coimbra, Lisbon and Santarem. After Lisbon was made the permanent capital, Coimbra, by way of partial compensation, was in 1307 given the University which had been established in Lisbon in 1290. Except for short periods the University of Coimbra has since remained in its location on the site of the old royal palace. Until recently it was the only university in Portugal and even now it is the dominant educational institution. After Bologna, Paris and Oxford, Coimbra is one of the oldest and most noted universities in existence. Practically all of the great men of Portugal, poets, philosophers and statesmen have studied there.

Coimbra is crammed with legends and memories of heroic times—sieges by the Moors, intrigues of the court, and deeds of violence and blood that have been made the subject for the poets and playwrights of the world. Best known of such incidents, perhaps, is that of the beautiful Spaniard, Inez de Castro, secret wife of Pedro, heir to the Portuguese throne. Across the River Mondego from Coimbra, near "The Fountain of Love" she was murdered by courtiers, jealous of her influence. When Pedro came to the throne he had the actual murderers tortured to death before his palace in Coimbra. And then he staged one of the most unusual incidents in all history. He had the body of his murdered wife exhumed, placed on a throne and crowned, and compelled all nobles to pass and do obeisance to the body. This "queen who reigned after her death," as one Portuguese poet has expressed it, was then interred with great pomp in a handsome sarcophagus in the convent of Alcobaca where the body of the king now lies beside her.

An Old World Pueblo

Coimbra is a city on the side of a hill—almost a bluff. From the farther bank of the Mondego it seems, with its white buildings rising tier over tier, like a gigantic Old World pueblo. At the top of the hill rises the University, its gray clock-tower topping all else. In the foreground is the river in its bed of sand. All day long some of the comely women of Coimbra, colorfully dressed, stand on the river's edge beating their white linen on stones and plunging it into the incomparably green water.

From the University-crowned hill the view is more spacious. The Mondego has been called Portugal's loveliest river, and the country around Coimbra its most beautiful region. In a broad curve the Mondego sweeps through flats and among low hills covered with the varying greens of olives and oranges, vineyards, fields of Indian corn and groves of poplars, while in the distance tiny white villages peep out from among pine-clad hills.

There in no mistaking that Coimbra is a "college town" whether the observer has viewed such communities in the Old World or the New. One stumbles upon bookshops everywhere in the steep, narrow streets of the city; and the cafes are filled with unmistakable college types. Bareheaded students, wearing their distinctive black jackets, are seen on all sides. There is little "town and gown" spirit in Coimbra. For more than six centuries the people have had the University in their midst and it has grown to the life of the whole city. Quiet orderliness is the keynote of the little city, and that is the reason, no doubt, why the Portuguese government is said to be considering transferring its seat from crowded, turbulent, commercial Lisbon.

THE CAPE VERDE ISLANDS

The man who travels much usually cards his memory indices with a series of superlatives. He must do this for his self protection. He can revise his estimates privateiy, and he may not expect you to agree with him, yet he must have this mental armor against the chance inquirer who fires the broadside bromides:

What is your favorite mountain?

Where did you see the most beautiful women?

What is the most beautiful view you ever saw?

All of which, says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society, is a caution to take with a grain of salt, for what you may conclude it is worth, the opinion of at least one travel writer that the Cape Verde Islands, second landing place of the Lisbon-to-Brazil fliers, is the most uninteresting place I have visited.

Their Single Superlative

According to this authority, The Cape Verde Archipelago is the place of all I have yet seen best suited to the treatment of the old time school geography. You can tell that it consists of an archipelago of ten inhabited islands, and others on which human beings have so far had better judgment than to settle; that it lies 300 miles west of Cape Verde, Africa, and point out that it tock its name from the aforesaid cape, which the youthful reader probably could be left to guess for himself; that all the islands are volcanoes, that there is a rainy season followed by epidemics, but that if the rainy season does not arrive, as has been the case on some of the islands, famine precedes the epidemic—and there you have the story.

It is true that the Cape Verde Islands do not compare with the exquisite Canaries, first landing place of the airmen, in beauty, human interest, faunal features, or salubrious breezes. Travelers pass them by. Baedeker ignores them. Yet, now that they are taking on new importance as an aireial halting place, the islands may be rescued from innocuous obscurity.

The naturalist would find on one of the islands a seabird unknown elsewhere and a plant-eating lizard. The student of economic geography would be interested to work out the reason why the inhabitants of one of the group, Brava, have developed a land-owning propensity which leads them into constant legal wrangles, while a spirit of 'come what may' and indifference to ownership of anything infests the other islands.

Englishman Founded Trade Center

Less than a century ago Sao Vincente had only a hundred people; today it is the commerce center of a group. And there must be a fascinating story anent the Englishman who founded a coaling station in a place where you have to import water, wood and food, and made it a busy little spot very far off the main streets of Atlantic traffic.

The export articles of the islands read like your itemized grocery bill: sugar, coffee, rice, bananas, lemons, oranges, grapes and nuts. Tobacco and millet also are produced. Plows are not widely used. Trees are suffering from giving too many goats too much liberty.

THE SCHOOL SITUATION

Statement from Mr. Carpenter of the School Committee

To the Editor of the Star:

The letter signed by Messrs. Jackson, Smith and Greene, evidently written under the belief that the school committee has done a gross injustice in changing the district lines and at the same time betraying such a total misunderstanding of the situation, suggests that another effort should be made to get the real facts before them.

I wish to present to these gentlemen, and to those they represent, the facts as they appear to me, and ask them to consider the solution of the problem from the view-point of what is best for all the children of Winchester.

I am not now speaking for the School Committee but solely as an individual who regrets, as we all do, that any citizen or body of citizens should feel that his or their children are being treated unfairly.

Let me now present the problem which we had to solve.

During the school year which ended last June, the number of pupils at the Washington school was so large that it became necessary both to employ an additional teacher and to use the halls for study and recitation. Such a condition is bad for the children—both educationally and physically. Certainly some of the parents thought so, because we received complaints about the over-crowding of the Washington School.

Furthermore we were faced with the knowledge that the State Fire Warden could at any moment forbid the use of the halls for any purpose except for the one purpose for which halls are intended. It is obvious that hazards arising from fire are much increased when halls are partially filled with desks and chairs.

What, under such circumstances, should a school committee do? The answer is plain. They must cut down the number of pupils by sending some elsewhere.

What pupils would they send elsewhere? The answer is equally plain. Those who are nearest to some other school. And who were nearest to another school? The children living to the south of the Washington. For those children the Chapin is for all practical purposes as easily accessible as the Washington.

So I favored redistricting the Town for the purpose primarily of relieving the over-crowding at the Washington. The children living on Harvard and Irving streets on the southerly outskirts of what was then the Washington district were selected solely and necessarily because of their geographical location to go to the Chapin School. No one of us had the least idea that any one would object to the transfer. And when the storm did burst a few weeks ago, no one was more surprised than the school committee.

I do not myself clearly understand even now the real source of the objection made by Mr. Jackson. Certainly no one can acquire a vested right to have his children go to a particular school. The growth or decline of population in this district or in that compels readjustments each year.

I dislike to think that Mr. Jackson and those whom he represents object to sending their children to the Chapin because the majority of the children there are of foreign parentage. If this is the root of the objection—and there are indications that it is—then it is Mr. Jackson and his friends who are raising the race issue, not the School Committee.

The School Committee have this year brought the sixth grade Chapin children to the Prince, where they form one sixth grade with Wyman and Rumford pupils.

I wonder what Mr. Jackson would say; I wonder what the Town would say if objection being made by parents in the Wyman or Rumford districts to having Chapin children at the Prince, the School Committee should send the Chapin children away?

No, I don't wonder, I know what the Town would say. No such objection has been made or ever will be, and no School Committee in Winchester will ever discriminate in favor of one child or against another.

If a School Committee, with or without the solicitation of citizens should ever assign children to one school or bar them out of another because of race, creed, wealth or social position, then in truth one might well despair of democracy.

Is not this dangerously near what Mr. Jackson and his friends are asking us to do.

I don't believe that Mr. Jackson really thinks that the committee has discriminated against his race. He simply prefers the Washington school and is using every means to get his desires. But other parents we know of would also like to change schools. They tell the committee so. Some prefer the Mystic to the Gifford, or vice versa.

The only proper course is to act with an eye single to the welfare of all the boys and girls. This I have endeavored to do—and so have my associates.

I am confident that an unprejudiced examination of the situation at the Washington school will conclusively demonstrate that the committee took the only action possible when it limited the number of pupils at the Washington school to the capacity of the four rooms in the building, and that no injustice to Mr. Jackson and his race was either intended or in fact committed.

THE WHY AND WHEREFORE OF THE NEW MASSACHUSETTS DRY ENFORCEMENT CODE

Title of the Law

"An Act to carry into Effect, so far as the Commonwealth of Massachusetts is concerned, the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States."

Purpose

The manifest purpose of this Act is to harmonize the State and Federal laws relating to intoxicating liquor, and to make possible the effective enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Necessity for the Law

The necessity for such concurrent legislation was so concisely and clearly pointed out by Governor Channing H. Cox in his address to the legislature in January, 1922, that we quote him in full:

"Officials especially charged with the duty of law enforcement report the difficulty of preventing traffic in intoxicating liquors since there is a variance between the Federal and State laws.

"The adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution has prohibited the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors within or into the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes. Federal legislation has been enacted to carry out the provisions of that amendment, and considerations of impelling force require that the laws of Massachusetts be made to conform to the laws of the United States in this respect."

Why Should the Voters of Massachusetts approve such a Law?

(1) Because the Eighteenth Amendment is operative in all territory subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, and Massachusetts is a part of the United States.

(2) Because Massachusetts was the eleventh state in order, and the first great industrial state to ratify the Eighteenth Amendment, thus becoming a highly important factor in securing the ratification of the necessary thirty-six states. Ratification by Massachusetts was completed April 2, 1918, or within less than four months after Congress submitted the resolution to the states, by a vote of 145 to 91 in the House of Representatives, and 27 to 12 in the Senate. Massachusetts should keep faith with her sister states and back up her ratification of the amendment with a code to enforce it.

Citizen Allance,
Mrs. H. L. Tibbetts,
Secretary.

MEET SCHOOL COMMITTEE MONDAY NIGHT

The Board of Selectmen will meet the School Committee on Monday night to select and appoint a member of the latter committee to succeed Mrs. Charles Zueblin, who resigned from the school board last May.

The meeting, of much interest to Winchester residents, is to be held at the Selectmen's rooms at the opening of their regular weekly meeting.

Thus far but one candidate for the vacancy has been put forth, she being Mrs. Maurice C. Tompkins. Mrs. Thompkins has received the support of the Citizens' Committee and has given her consent to accept the office on appointment.

SCHOOL MATTERS

Legal Battle Eminent in Fight Over Redistricting

A legal battle appears eminent in the latest school fight, Truant Officer Nathaniel M. Nichols going to Woburn Wednesday to secure summonses for the parents of children living on Irving street who have refused to send their children to the Chapin School after having previously sent them to the Washington School. The parents delare they will fight the case.

Following the situation as it stood last Friday noon when the Star was issued, conferences were held through until Monday between Supt. of Schools Fausey and Chairman of the School Committee, Robert F. Guild, and George Jackson, leader of the parent's committee.

According to report the Superintendent and the Chairman were willing to concede the point of redistricting at this time and allow the children to return to the Washington School. Furthermore, according to report, the officials required that these children attend the Chapin School on Monday and there ask for their transfer.

These conditions were complied with by the parents, it being said that the transfer was refused the children. The School Committee met Monday night and refused to send the children to the Washington School. It is presumed that the Superintendent and Chairman voted to do so and the remainder of the board refused to reconsider their previous action.

When this action became known, the parents of the children became more than ever determined to fight the matter.

Monday morning when the children of Irving street attended the Chapin School there was a fist fight between a little colored girl and an Italian boy. Truant Officer Nathaniel M. Nichols, who was waiting in Lynch's store opposite the school in anticipation of trouble, separated the children. He interviewed the police, suggesting that an officer be in attendance at the school at the noon opening to prevent trouble, and Sergt. McCauley visited the school. He found nothing to do.

Five residents having children who have been redistricted have received court summons, they appearing at Woburn next Tuesday.

Of the original 36 pupils who were included in the controversy, some 22, it is reported, are still out, the parents of the other children being afraid to continue to keep their children out. They have sent their children to the Chapin School under protest.

When the case comes up Tuesday it is expected that Judge Maguire will hold court. He being an old school committeeman, makes the case all the more interesting.

That the protesting residents are to have active support in their legal battle was evinced yesterday morning when announcement was made that the Boston Branch of the National Equal Rights League, meeting on Wednesday evening at the 12th Baptist Church, voted a resolution in their support both morally and financially.

John A. Hagan of Boston, who led the discussion over the removal of the pupils from the Washington School, claimed it was "purely prejudice," according to his best information. He declared the transfer of these pupils was simply making it a private school for which the taxpayers' money was to be used. He termed it undemocratic and said it was due to a spirit of "exclusiveness." He desired the spirit of the thing crushed.

MR. CHIDLEY TO SPEAK TO HIGH SCHOOL BOYS

Next Sunday morning at the First Congregational Church, Mr. Chidley will give the first of a series of talks on "Things That Make a Man" to high school boys. He will speak on "The Quality of Courage." This is not only for the boys of his own church, but any others who are interested to come.

The evening service will be held in the Church auditorium at 7:30 and will be supported by members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Mr. Chidley will speak on "Impressions in England." The musical program is as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Cujus Animam | Rossini |
| "God is Everywhere" | Nevin |
| Meditation | Massenet |
| Andantino | Bizet |
| Romance | Faure |
| "O rest in the Lord" from "Elijah" | Mendelssohn |
| Cavatine | Raff |
| The Voice of the Chimes | Luigini |
| "I do not Ask" | Spross |

MAY SING IN BOSTON

Mr. Richard W. Grant, former supervisor of music in the public schools and now musical director at the Penn State College, writes Winchester friends that he has entered actively upon his new duties. Mr. Grant has under his direction over 200 students who are taking the various courses in music, which include pianoforte, organ, voice, violin, theory, harmony and music appreciation. The Penn State Glee Club is without doubt one of the finest choral organization in the state and it is Mr. Grant's hope that it may be possible to have the organization appear in concert in Boston during its eastern trip next March.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL ENVELOPE DAY

Envelopes will be distributed on Thursday, Oct. 7th, throughout the town, and collected on Saturday Oct. 9th. This is the annual "Envelope Day" and the hospital is dependent upon your contributions and it is the desire of the committee that you make your contributions as large as possible this year.

THIRD ANNUAL CONVENTION OF AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

The annual convention of the Massachusetts American Legion Auxilary opened last Thursday evening with an informal banquet at Ford Hall. Mrs. Helen Bishop, department president presided. Among the honor guests were Mrs. Clarence R. Edwards, officers of Women's Relief Corps, and auxiliary military organizations of Massachusetts.

A number of ladies of the local auxiliary who attended the banquet reported a very pleasant and instructive evening.

Friday morning opened the two-days' session of the State Convention in the Augustus Gardner Auditorium of the State House. Mrs. Helen Bishop was unanimously re-elected State President of the Auxiliary. Stirring speeches and pleas in support of the Auxiliary were made by Gen. Edwards, Gov. Cox, Past State Commander James T. Duane of the Legion, Mrs. Lowell Hobart of Ohio, the National President, Mrs. Helen Bishop and Mrs. Clarence Edwards.

Late in November the State Auxilary will hold a bazaar. There will be a booth for Gold Star Mothers and these mothers, whether Auxiliary members or not, are urged to help on this booth. Anyone desiring further information or wishing to donate, call Winchester 955.

Anyone eligible for membership in the American Legion Auxiliary should take advantage of it and aid in such a wonderful cause.

HOUSE RANSACKED BY THIEVES

Returning from a week's automobile trip Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Percival B. Metcalf of Glen road found that their house had been ransacked by thieves. Entrance had been gained by breaking a piazza window.

The exact amount of goods stolen has not yet been determined, but much wearing apparel of both Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf. Several of Mr. Metcalf's masonic jewels and considerable other stuff has been found to have been taken.

The house was thoroughly ransacked from attic to cellar, everything being left in the utmost confusion.

TO CORRECT WRONG IMPRESSIONS

To the Editor of the Star:

To correct the wrong impressions given by Boston papers of the conditions at the Chapin School I would like to state that no trouble of any kind has come up for settlement except a quarrel of two children in the yard that was immediately settled. The colored and white children are as contented and happy as I have seen them in 20 years and I look for no trouble in the future. The police have had to take no part in settling any dispute of any kind.

Respectfully yours,
Nathaniel M. Nichols,
Attendance Officer of Winchester.

COAL COMING IN

Winchester is beginning to get a little hard coal, Parker & Lane receiving a car last week and another the first of this week. This firm anticipates receiving further orders at any time now. The Geo. W. Blanchard Co. expects coal in today or tomorrow, and further lots next week.

Dealers state that the price will remain about the same as in the spring. Coal is costing about 50 cents a ton more, but it is anticipated that the freight rate will offset this. The delivery will cost more, the ruling that only small quantities shall be supplied, necessitating additional cost in teaming.

TWO ACCIDENTS SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon another accident was added to the long list of mishaps which have occurred on Main street during the relaying of the new electric car rails, when a Pierce Arrow truck of the Metropolitan District Commission, driven by James H. McCarthy, collided with a Ford truck of the Geo. B. Blanchard Co. Both autos lost hub caps and the Ford had a sprung axle. Neither driver was injured.

During the evening Mario Masciolli, five years old, residing at 52 Swanton street, was struck by an automobile driven by Jeremiah Dolan of 51 Water street. He was taken at once to the Winchester Hospital where Dr. Sheehy examined him. He found that the boy was not injured.

BRIDGE PARTY AT COUNTRY CLUB

Mrs. Claude M. Crafts will give a bridge party at the Winchester Country Club, Wednesday afternoon, October 11th. This affair, which promises to be brilliant, is for the benefit of the weekly matinee parties which the Education Committee of the Fortnightly are planning for Winchester High School children. Tea will be served and home salted nuts will be on sale. The party will not be progressive, so that friends who go together can continue to play at the same table throughout the afternoon. Assisting Mrs. Crafts are Mrs. Maurice Brown, Mrs. Sewell Newman and Mrs. Danforth Comins. Tickets may be had from any of these ladies or from Mrs. Crafts.

IN COURT ON WEDNESDAY

Wednesday Josiah Crocker of Waverley was charged with larceny in a business transaction in Winchester. The case was placed on file on the restitution of $43, the amount involved.

Mr. Harry F. Bouroughs was best man at the Neabows—Davidson wedding at Waban, Wednesday.

STATEMENT FROM CITIZENS' COMMITTEE

Sept. 27, 1922.

To the Editor of the Star:

The Citizens' Committee will thank you to print in the STAR the following report which it wishes to bring to the attention of the citizens who appointed and instructed the Committee at the mass meeting in the Town Hall last May.

It will be remembered that the Committee was instructed thus:—

To devote its best efforts to secure the reelection of Mr. Thompson as principal of the Winchester High School. To take such steps as it deemed best to assist in establishing relations of the utmost cordiality and confidence throughout the school system and to interpret this instruction as directing them to investigate the Superintendent's relation to the school system.

The action of the School Committee in June brought to an end the efforts of the Citizens' Committee under its first instruction.

The Committee has endeavored without ceasing to carry out the second instruction and desires to report to its constituents the conclusions which it has reached up to this time.

From credible information from many sources, the Committee is convinced that the desired harmony, mutual confidence and enthusiastic cooperation within the School system, as well as upon the part of the people of Winchester, is impossible of attainment under the present administration. The Committee is further convinced that, whatever may be the present Superintendent's ability as an educator, his lack of sympathetic touch with our teachers and citizens precludes all possibility of his success as the executive head of our school system.

The Committee fails to see any immediate prospect of bettering the situation. Judging by the experience gained by conferring with our School Committee last May, it would be futile to further confer with them.

From statements made by the School Committee during the conference just referred to, it is clear that the School Committee considers itself essentially a State body and not subject to the control of its constituency as regards policies of school administration, even were that constituency to make its wishes known through the medium of a duly called Town Meeting. On the other hand, there seems to be no State officer, board or commission to which the School Committee is answerable. In other words, the School Committee is a law unto itself.

In-so-far as the Citizens' Committee has been able to find out, the facts support the position taken by the School Committee. Therefore, there are only two means available for citizens to exercise any control over the administration of their schools. One of these means is through the appropriations of money made at the annual town meeting. To give expression of disapproval of administrative policies by the curtailing of funds for school purposes would be unwarranted and contrary to the best interests of the Town and, therefore, not to be considered. The remaining means of control is through the election upon the School Committee of persons in whom the citizens can repose confidence and who will be mindful of the wishes of their constituents. In-as-much as it requires two consecutive annual town meetings to change a majority of any School Committee, this remedy is remote and necessitates both patient waiting and a good memory.

Certain municipalities of the Commonwealth enjoy a provision whereby elected public officers are subject to recall. No such opportunity is now available to the citizens of Winchester and to bring it about would require proceedings extending into the legislative chambers of the State.

In the foregoing paragraphs, the Citizens' Committee has endeavored to acquaint its constituents with the situation as it appears at this time. The Committee is still functioning in line with its instructions and will report further at a later date.

The Citizens' Committee,
Mrs. Lora A. Bond, Chairman.
R. C. Strawbridge, Secretary.
Winchester, Mass.

(Forwarded to the Star for publication therein according to the Committee's instructions by M. P. Stevens).

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE

When Sam H. Harris sends out an attraction from New York, he generally makes it one well worth seeing. "Nice People," the comedy in which he presented his young star, Francine Larrimore, at the Hollis Street Theatre last Monday night was no exception to that rule. It was one of the most delightful comedies that has been presented in Boston for some time. And as for the star—well, she is one of the daintiest, brightest little comediennes that Boston has seen in a generation.

"Nice People" is written in her best vein and is an arraignment of the carelessness of Nice People, who allow their daughters to smoke, drink cocktails and dance all night in cabarets without chaperones. It depicts the adventures of one Teddy Gloucester, the daughter of a rich man, who is the leader of her set and deems herself quite powerful enough to defy all the old rules of propriety. She, with a male companion, takes a night ride into the country and reaches the country home of the Gloucesters in time to escape a terrific storm which compels them to remain in the house all night. Scandal becomes active. Teddy sees her blunder, but finally triumphs with the aid of a good friend. Miss Larrimore's supporting company is an excellent one, every member of it being selected with reference to his or her fitness for the character assigned. The scenic and other stage appointments are unusually fine.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Marshall moved yesterday from Cliff street to Ridgefield road.

ORIGIN AND HISTORY OF OUR POSTAL SYSTEM

The beginning of the present highly organized postal systems of the world are to be found in the lines of couriers which rulers established for the prompt transmission of decrees and other messages connected with government affairs.

The earliest known system was that established in 559 B. C. by Cyrus the Elder, King of Persia, who maintained relays of mounted men at fixed stations, ready at a moment's notice to forward King's messages from post to post.

Establishments of this kind existed among the Romans in the time of Augustus, B. C. 31, and a postal system was fully developed in connection with the great military roads, but like the Persian, the Roman system of posts existed for the use of the State alone; letters were not carried for private individuals.

Charlemagne established a postal system in France in 807 A. D. But the first actual letter-post for commercial purposes appears to have originated in the House towns early in the twelfth century, and a century later on, the University of Paris established an efficient postal system which continued till the beginning of the eighteenth century.

(To be continued)

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Mail Slot or Receptable Required:

Washington, August 25, 1922.

"On account of delays caused to carriers at dwelling houses where no door-slot or mail receptacle is provided, and the fact that a large majority of dwellings are thus equipped already, it seems timely, within a reasonable period, to require all who are to receive mail by street carriers at their dwellings to provide such accommodations, the expense of same being small. Postmasters are therefore thus instructed.

It is not the Department's desire, of course, that any shall be deprived of delivery by this requirement, but rather it is earnestly hoped that all will see the reasonableness of it and its advantage to themselves as well as to the carriers. But if it finally becomes necessary mail delivery will be discontinued where no door-slots (preferably) or mail receptacles are provided."

In accordance with instructions this notice is published for your benefit, and with the hope of your early cooperation.

G. H. Lochman,
Acting Postmaster.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

A group of eighteen High School pupils chaperoned by Dr. Mary T. Maynard and Mrs. Emily M. Sheehy, attended the performance of "Dolly Reforming Herself" at the Henry Jewett Repertory Theatre last Tuesday afternoon.

This was the first of the weekly parties to this theatre which the Education Committee of the Fortnightly is planning, with the hope of interesting pupils of our High School in drama of the better sort. Teachers in the English Department select the children to go each week, and it is planned that every student in this department shall be invited to attend at least one matinee during the season.

Children attending these parties are guests of the Education Committee, which chaperones them and provides the tickets to the theatre.

The Educational Committee will carry on a drive and sale of reclaimed toys. Kindly save all of your old toys for this sale. Notice of dates will appear later.

The Literature Committee has planned an enjoyable afternoon at the home of Mrs. William I. Palmer on Monday, October 9. Dr. Vincent Ravi Booth will speak on "The Message of Dante to the Modern World.

A group of songs will be given by Mrs. S. W. Dunham. The net proceeds of the afternoon will be given to the Winchester Hospital.

The Room, Social and Hospitality Committees will hold a bridge party in the Town Hall on Monday October 30, at 2 p. m. The proceeds of this party will go toward the support of the Fortnightly Committee Room. Please reserve this day and come to the party and help to make it a big success.

The Art Committee is pleased to announce that Mrs. Cyrus E. Dallin of Arlington will give the series of lectures under consideration by this committee.

While Mrs. Dallin may shine by the reflected light of her husband whose reputation is nation wide, she is far more than a mere satellite. Having lived many years abroad, she is familiar with all the art museums of Europe. For several years she lived in the Latin quarter of Paris. She has served on the Art Committee of the State Federation and on the Committee of Pagentry and Folk-lore of the General Federation. Mrs. Dallin has published a pamphlet on Folk-lore and a book for children on The Great Masters.

One of the lectures which Mrs. Dallin will include in the course will be given at the studio of Mr. Dallin. Another, on the making of a stained glass window will also be given in a studio.

Further information may be had from the chairman of the Art Committee, Mrs. Harold K. Barrows.

As planned last June, these lectures will be given on the second and fourth Wednesdays of January, February and March.

FOUR FIRES

Four alarms of fire followed each other through the day and night Monday, all of them turning out to be insignificant, but three of them containing excellent possibilities for serious blazes.

The first fire was at 2:23 p. m., box 55 being sounded for a threatening fire at the residence of Rev. Murray W. Dewart at the corner of Glengarry and Dix street. Mr. Dewart was moving to Baltimore, the big vans being loaded at the door. It is presumed that a cigarette, thrown from an upstairs window, lodged in the gutter of the piazza, for when discovered the fire was burning fiercely at that spot.

The firemen arrived just in time to prevent the fire from entering the house, the blaze being just at the point of going in under the piazza roof. Hand chemicals put the fire out, with some damage to the piazza.

About an hour later box 38 was sounded. This fire was for a wagon load of rubbish standing beside the Margaret Fitzgerald Block at Holland and Swanton streets, the wagon being in the yard of Mike Russo. It is thought a cigarette was the cause of the fire, which had burned sufficiently to scorch the block. Chemicals again were used in extinguishing this fire.

Two minutes after the alarm from box 38, an alarm from box 35 was rung in. This was not for fire it being due to the fact that the fire department was testing the boxes when 38 was rung.

At 3:37 a. m. Tuesday morning an alarm from box 23 in the centre was for a fire in the A. & P. store on Main street. This fire was peculiar and evidently the result of another cigarette. The blaze was in the front store in the middle of the bare floor. The fire had nearly burned through the floor when discovered. It was extinguished by hand chemicals with the only damage a foot square hole in the floor.

The fire was discovered by William Bailey, a driver for the Whiting Milk Co. He notified the fire department. At about the time the alarm sounded, John Hayes, driver for the H. P. Hood Co., who was helping officer Hogan break open the door, received a bad cut on his knee. The glass in the door runs to the bottom, and Hayes, not noticing this, put his knee against it in forcing the door. When the glass broke he was badly cut. He went to the hospital, where three stitches were taken in his knee.

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL GAMES

Oct. 21, Melrose High at Winchester.

Oct. 28, Arlington High at Winchester.

It is thought that dogs were responsible for the killing of 15 prize hens on the Ginn estate last week.

SELECTMEN'S MEETING

The Board met at 7:30 p. m. All present. The records of the meeting of Sept. 18 were read and approved.

School Committee: A letter was received from the Superintendent of Schools notifying the Board that a vacancy now exists in the Winchester School Committee by reason of the resignation of Mrs. Rho Fisk Zueblin. The Board decided to hold a joint meeting of the School Committee and Board of Selectmen on Monday, Oct. 2, 1922 in the Town Hall Building, at 8:15 o'clock p. m. to appoint a member to fill this vacancy on the School Committee.

Town Stable: The matter of the need of repairs and additions to the Town stable was put over again for another week. The Board will investigate this matter on Friday of this week.

Acceptance of Streets (Chestnut Street): A petition was received from Kenneth F. McLeod and six others asking that the Town take over as a public way that part of Chestnut street running east to Highland avenue which is now a private way. This matter was laid over for four weeks. At that time all matters pertaining to street accentances and building lines will probably be considered.

Mason Street Extension: Mr. Herbert T. West, owner of property abutting Mason street extension and his architect, Edward R. Wait, appeared before the Board to see what can be done in regard to remedying drainage conditions and puting Mason street extension at its upper end in passable condition. Mr. West stated that he was about to build a house near the upper end of the street and therefore made this request of the Board. The matter was laid over pending an investigation to be made by the Board of the condition of this street on Friday of this week.

The meeting adjourned at 11:15 p. m.

George S. F. Bartlett,
Clerk of Selectmen.

OPENS FOURTH YEAR

The Middlesex School of Religious Education will open its fourth year next Monday evening, October 2, in the First Congregational Church in Woburn. Several of the faculty members, who have been on the teaching staff for some time, will continue this year. Rev. Clarence W. Dunham of Winchester, dean of the Gordon College of Theology and Missions, remains as dean of the school, and he will teach two subjects this year, the Life of Christ and Old Testament History and Religion.

Courses will be given also in primary methods of teaching and expressional activities, by Mrs. Annie G. Freeman of Reading; Biblical Geography by Mrs. Bessie S. Conant of Woburn, who taught that subject last year; story telling and recreational leadership for girls by Mrs. Mary M. Russell of the faculty of the Boston University School of Religious Education; church school organization and administration, by Rev. W. C. Pixler, pastor of the Methodist Church in Reading, who has been connected with the Boston University faculty.

This school is practically free to the students, its expenses being borne by the several Protestant denominations in the district through the Woburn Sunday School Association. Its sessions will be held on Monday evenings, from 7:45 to 9:20, and are open to all who want to take advantage of it.

BRIDGE ASSUMES SHAPE

The Bacon street bridge is now assuming its shape, the concrete arch being finished and the work of laying up the side abutments in the seam-faced granite being nearly completed. The concrete arch is being waterproofed, and as soon as the side walls of concrete are poured in behind the stone work, the filling will be commenced. The bridge is rapidly assuming its appearance of beauty.

The work of demolishing the old Shu-Shu-Gar canoe house alongside the bridge was commenced yesterday. This structure will be torn down, and the owners of the three canoes still in it should make haste to remove them. This canoe house is an old landmark, known to many former youths of Winchester. Since the erection of the Winchester Boat Club, its popularity has steadily dwindled.

The Massachusetts Fisheries and Game Commision has furnished 30,000 black bass fry that have been placed in Horn Pond.

The police of Medford, Winchester and Stoneham, as well as Metropolitan officers, were sent out on a search Monday night to ascertain the reasons for a woman's screams on the Border road between this town and Medford. When cleared up, the lady stated that she was being taught to drive a motorcycle and its speed frightened her into screaming.

DAILY PHILOSOPHY

All that we send into the lives of others, comes back into our own.

Words are sma'l; 'tis life that speaks plain.

All like the purchase; few the price will pay; and this makes friends such miracles today.

No life is so strong and complete, but it yearns for the smile of a friend.

He who seeks for a faultless friend, will rest friendless.

Report has it that out of all the graduating class at the High School this year who took college entrance examinations, only one failed to pass.

We'll say this for Mrs. Tompkins, who has consented to stand for appointment to the School Committee—"she has her courage with her."

We trust Chief McIntosh has taken notice that Monday night is the date for the joint session of the Selectmen and School Committee at the Town Hall, as well as for the mass meeting of parents at the Highlands. He will doubtless govern himself accordingly.

So far as the schools are concerned, if we were asked whether we thought the Chapin School was crowded or not, we would unhesitatingly state that it is. This brings the question up regarding the advisability of continuing such conditions in a building which has for the past year been condemend as the worst in town.

After weeks of chaotic conditions, that part of Main street which makes our centre was opened to traffic Wednesday morning. For weeks we have recorded a constant list of accidents on the street; for the past five days we have waited for the cemented pavement in the car tracks to dry in the square. Let us hope we will have time to catch our breath before the centre is torn up again.

Winchester continues in the limelight. At present it seems to furnish the most fertile ground for rows and scandal that can be found in Greater Boston by certain individuals and publications. All to the great detriment of the community, heretofore held unquestioned as the most desirable residential section in the Hub! The effect is illustrated weekly. Desirable citizens and residents are seeking homes elsewhere. It is a pity—and all the more so when it appears evident that here in our own town are individuals who seem to rejoice in spreading broadcast any detrimental news they may hear, making mountains out of mole hills and showing their quality of citizenship by injury to their neighbors and themselves.

The schools appear again to become a battlefield. What looked to be an insignificant matter, poorly handled from its beginning to the present time, now promises to open a contest as bitter as that of last Spring. All because of the lack of a little tact. What difference can it make if our school districts remained as they were over one year? Would it not have been better to redistrict the whole town at once when the new schools were erected? Would it not have been better to have notified the parents in the new district of the change at the same time the teachers were notified not to receive their children? Are any of us so perfect we cannot admit a mistake? The redistricting desirability we do not question. No one can expect to remain in one district forever. The racial and color phase of the controversy is undoubtedly the agitation of certain factors, now so well known in this town, to create disturbance and hatred. No one believes our School Committee desires to segregate by color and nationality. No one believes our teachers desire to do so. That is the one thing always carefully guarded against. Are we, too, so childish, that a quarrel between a colored girl and an Italian boy needs police interference and is to be used as an exhibit? Have our School Committees or Superintendent in the past refused to accommodate certain cases desiring special consideration? These residents know they are bound to soon be redistricted. They expect it. They have not attempted to fight it. They were antagonized from the start this year, and a small incident in school routine has been turned into a factor of town-wide controversy by childishness. The whole matter, from start to finish, is childish. High School scholars receive post cards, telling them to come to school on a certain date. There is one High School and schools open on an advertised date. Why, then, should redistricting not receive similar notice? Why should what has been decried as the worst school building in town be crowded over any other? Why should a group of children be ordered to spend one day in one school to secure transfer to another, just to save someone's face? It is a sorry pass when the Town must take its citizens into court

A FRIEND who is a rug fancier, told me that he knew a lady who recently at a private sale of the residue of an estate, was offered nine oriental rugs, some of which were soiled, at thirty dollars for the lot, she took them.

One rug alone after cleansing was found to be worth at least five hundred dollars.

Some bargain!

over such a quarrel. The case might better be heard in the juvenile session, with the judge ordering both parties to go back home and settle their quarrel, without dragging in the law. The quarrel of the elders reflects through the whole school system, making the work of every teacher in town the harder, and if there is one thing really needed in our public schools this year, it is a little oil in the already rusty mechanism, rather than another monkey wrench in the gears.

THE TWO PLATOON ACT

There is to come before our voters at the November election, on the ballot, the question of the acceptance of the act providing for a two-platoon system in our Fire Department. It is reported that members of the department have secured the required number of signatures necessary to placing the act before the voters.

If our Town decided to make this change and accept this act, a considerable amount of money will be involved. After the first year some $13,000 will be added to our Fire Department budget, and it very probable that our list of permanent men will be doubled.

It appears to the Star that the matter should be passed upon by our Selectmen and our Finance Committee, neither of which, we understand, has been approached to consider it.

The act, it should be noted, becomes effective upon a majority vote.

THE DRUNKEN DRIVER'S PLEA

Judge Curtis W. Nash had occasion to define the law in the Woburn Court last week, when he explained to the attorney for the defense in a case of the trial of a man charged with drunkenness and operating an automobile under the influence of liquor, that a man may not be drunk but still guilty of operating under the influence of liquor.

The defense that the driver of an automobile, arrested after an accident for drunkenness and operating under the influence of liquor, was not drunk because he could talk and was able to walk, is a common, everyday occurance. We are reminded of a smash which occurred in our own family last year, when a drunk ran down our wife and two friends with three children. Although the act occurred on a straight road and our car was driven clear onto the grass at the right, as proved by photographic evidence, the driver claimed he was not drunk because he had had only "one glass of wine." Nevertheless the arresting officer stated that he staggered when he walked and was so sick during the night he was in jail that his cell resembled a pig pen. He got off by pleading guilty before our present district attorney—for $5.

Whether his case had anything to do with Commissioner Goodwin's recent statement regarding influence in high places, we cannot say. He received, we suppose, expert advice from his uncle, a neighboring chief of police. It is certain that his total fine of $10 caused little inconvenience, and it would be interesting to know whether he is again driving without a license, as he was at the time he was arrested.

In the case last week a Winchester police officer testified that he questioned the defendant and detected the odor of liquor on his breath. The officer on duty at the desk at the station testified that he detected odor of liquor and that the man was unsteady on his feet.

Judge Nash found the defendant guilty of operating under the influence of liquor and fined him $50.

If anyone wants to fill up on 1922 liquor, stagger when he walks and "carry with him the odor of his favorite brand," and can get by with it, that is one thing, but to drink and drive an automobile is another story. The sooner that the plea of being able to talk and being able to walk is eliminated from the court trials, the sooner we will have safer roads and jail sentences will do more than even that.

SOME FACTS AND FIGURES

To the Editor of the Star:

I think the Citizens of Winchester will be interested in a few facts in regard to our schools. On Wednesday morning in the Washington School was found the following conditions:—

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Room A | 42 Seats with | 27 Children |
| Room B | 42 Seats with | 30 Children |
| Room C | 36 Seats with | 26 Children |

at the Chapin School:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Room A | 42 Seats with | 32 Children |
| Room B | 42 Seats with | 38 Children |
| Room C | 40 Seats with | 34 Children |
| Room D | 36 Seats with | 28 Children |
| Room E | 42 Seats with | 43 Children |

Washington School—3 Rooms, 37 Spare Seats
Chapin School—5 Rooms, 20 Spare Seats

The Chapin School is very badly crowded. You will notice that one room has forty-two seats and forty-three pupils and another room with forty-two seats has thirty-eight pupils. In spite of this, at the recommendation of the Superintendent of Schools, a number of children were transferred from the Washington School to the Chapin School, and after a protest by the parents a hearing by the School Committee was granted and their request to have their children returned to the Washington School has been denied. This compels them to use Florence street, an unaccepted street, in very bad condition, being ungraded, and when it rains the water stands on it like a lake, whereas, the sidewalk to the Washington School is in first class condition.

The Superintendent of Schools makes a statement that when he made up the Budget for the Finance Committee he left out one teacher at the Washington School, and talks a great deal about economy in the operation of the School Department. In spite of this the following changes in salary were made to take effect on September 1st:—

Mr. Fausey, Superintendent of Schools, increase of $500 per year.

Mr. Pinkham, Principal of Wadleigh School, increase of $200.

Mr. Clinton E. Farnham, Principal of High School, $500 per year more than the former principal, with an allowance of $125 for moving furniture and $35.92 for traveling, hotel and meal expenses.

A Secretary has been provided the principal of the High School at a salary of $1200 per year. This Secretary was recommended by the Survey, but was denied to Mr. Thompson.

These facts should be taken into consideration when we are appropriating money another year.

Edmund C. Sanderson

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE SCHOOL SITUATION

Editor of the Star:

Please allow me space in your valuable paper to say just this word in regard to the school situation on parts of Harvard and Irving streets, that have heretofore been in the Washington school district.

I regret very much that it has become necessary for me to speak to the Town at large, but I thing the people of Winchester should know something of the injustice that the school committee say we must submit to.

They say they found it necessary to place a sixth grade in the Washington School to accommodate all the people in their districts. When this was done, the few Italian girls and the one colored girl who were living in that district were denied admission to the school, although children from the Highland school district were admitted.

These children refused to walk from Irving street to the Prince school, and were kept out of school, more than two weeks by the School committee—until the committee found out that the parents intended to take court proceedings—then they allowed them to return. They did so because they knew that a wayfaring man or even a fool could see a plain case of segregation.

I spoke personally to one of the school committee about those sixth grade pupils, and the reply was that if they changed in part they would have to change the whole. But they found a way of changing that, and in that change the cloven foot is not hid from sight.

Mr. Fausey said the other day that he could make room in the Washington school for the children that were out and told one of the affected parents to see chairman Guild about it.

Mr. Guild advised us to send the children to the Chapin school one day, so that he could tell the committee that we had complied with their terms and that they would hold a meeting last Monday night and try to get the children back in the school where they have always gone. But after their meeting (if they held a meeting) he telephoned that the committee refused to change.

The whole procedure is based on prejudice and class distinction by a prejudiced and bias-committee.

Mr. Fausey was spoken to Tuesday about the matter and his reply was that it was all up to the school committee. He had washed his hands from the entire matter.

We are going to fight this outrage to the last ditch, for we are fighting for a principle that will not only save us, but will save Winchester from another such humiliating disgrace as she suffered when this same committee committed the act of placing principal Thompson's discharge under his door while he slept.

It is about time for the people of Winchester to get wise to our School Superintendent. After he succeeds in bringing his schemes, he washes his hands and tries to shirk the responsibility, but he may wash his hands in Fuller's soap but they will still be stained. It was he who led in this outrage and the only way for him to clear himself is to retrace his steps and give justice to all people. Now in our fight the courts may turn down Justice, but the moral truth in this whole affair stands out prominent, and I feel sure all the people in Winchester can see it.

Thanking you very kindly for this little space.

William H. Smith,
9 Harvard St.
Winchester, Mass.

ROADS AND STORES AND PEOPLE OF ASIA MINOR

People and their daily life in Asia Minor, that historic bridge-land between Asia and Europe, which again focuses world interest since the Turkish Army has taken Smyrna, are described in the following bulletin from the National Geographic Society's, Washington, D. C., headquarters:

The modern history of Asia Minor began when the Seljuks invaded it, only a few years after William the Conqueror set foot on English soil. A pronouncement of Mohammed saved the Greeks from either displacement or forcible conversion. The true believers paid no taxes. Hence the Greeks of Asia Minor were as much of an economic asset to the Turks as were the slaves to our own Southland before the Civil War.

Tax Payable in Children

The conflict of Greek and Turk of 1922 also has its roots in a practice which would be even more revolting to the twentieth century than slavery—that is that "tribute-children" were demanded of the subject race to fight in the army of Islam. By drafting children of Christians the famous janizaries were formed and these picked troops, under Mohammedan training, were mighty in battle and efficient in peace time as police.

The contribution of Classic Greece to world culture is universally recognized; but the renaisence of Greek cities and towns during the eighteenth century is not so generally realized. Smyrna, now in the hands of Turks, had a famous school with a great library, and the city itself was called a "veritable home of civilization and intellectual propaganda on the threshold of Osia." Avili, a seaport to the north, frequently mentioned in recent dispatches, has been called the "Oriental Boston." Here the passion for Hellas once induced the city council to enact a law compelling citizens to speak in Attic Greek, and imposing as a penalty recitation of Homeric lines for talking any other way.

Area of Greek Administration

When Greece revolted in 1821, and America was stirred by Daniel Webster's famous oration on the Greek cause, Asia Minor Greeks felt the fury of Turkish massacres. Avili was razed and Smyrna devastated but the Greeks survived. The sea coast area of Asia Minor which was assigned to Greek administration and which the Turks have now captured, was carved from the old Turkish vialyets of Brusa and Aidin.

In those two divisions the Greek population is estimated to have nearly doubled within the past 25 years, until it now approaches a million.

One element in this expansion has been the Greek aptitude for trade in contrast to the Turk's ingrown distaste of commerce. A striking aspect of many a town in Western Minor is the single shop, with merchandise as conglomerate as an old-time American village country store, and invariably this shop is kept by a Greek. Greek peasants settled in many fertile valleys, and all over the land they have erected schools. In Smyrna itself more than half the population is Greek, and in lessening numbers the Greeks have penetrated the coastal plains, but the plateau which forms the interior of the peninsula is the stronghold of the Turk.

The "Corner Grocery" of Turkey

Pause a moment and examine the stock of one of these stores—either the lone emporium of a village, or a lonesome shop set by the roadside to catch the passing crowd. Your up-to-the-minute American merchant who aspires to "quick turn-over" has eliminated door-steps as one of those minor obstacles which may be just enough to divert a customer to an adjacent competitor. Your Greek merchant of Asia Minor has done away with the front of his store; his stock of goods constitutes his display. He sits cross-legged at the entrance, smoking his inevitable cigarette. His merchandise comprises coffee, tubs of olives, tobacco, blankets, garlic, bread, sweetmeats, dried beef, salt, cheese and sugar.

One other absence, beside Turkish merchants, is conspicuous in Asia Minor—that is the women. Where Christian mingles with Moslem he must adopt the latter's policy of feminine seclusion. Upon entering a Greek home one may look upon the faces of its women-folk, but the casual traveler meets only men on the highways and encounters only men at the Khans, or inns, and should he observe a female form in the distance her face will be covered before he can distinguish her features. A men's club in Anatolia would have all the popularity of a riding and hunt club on a Texas cattle ranch.

A Good Roads Idea Went Wrong

Travel is congested on many a Turkish road which seems extremely remote to Western eyes. Accustomed as is the American to automobile-dotted highways he would marvel at the traffic jams of heavily laden camel caravans in the interior of Anatolia. Then there are the slow-moving bullock carts, carriers of enormous burdens.

Even the Turk has a reason for his likes and dislikes; and his opposition to Western innovations not always is based on religious prejudices or sheer inertia. It was these bullock carts which aroused the opposition to macadam roads—an improvement which seemed to young American salesmen so obviously useful that the Turk would not oppose it.

It soon was found that the rounded iron tires of one-tone bullock carts made a macadam road look like a corrugated roof. Whereupon officials ordered bullock carts using the new roads equipped with wide, flat tires, which made necessary new wheels at considerable expense to the farmer. The country-side farmer rebelled and demanded the restoration of his stone roads with their magnified cobble stone surfaces, and once more was credited with "pure cussedness" by newspaper readers at occidental breakfast tables.

Chats With YOUR Gas Man
Sometimes you buy more meat than you need and some of it is wasted, but you do not get angry with your butcher for selling it. Or, you purchase more fruit or vegetables than you can possibly use, but you do not complain to your grocer. If you throw away a little coal with the ashes, you do not blame the coal man. You leave the refrigerator open and waste the ice, but you do not quarrel with the ice man.
Of course not!
But sometimes when people carelessly waste gas, they blame the gas company. Neither the merchant nor a gas company can control the use you make of a commodity.
Your gas company, however, while urging you to use gas, begs you not to waste it.
Part of its service is to give you full value, and to see that you pay only for what you use and to use all that you pay for.

"The first dose of O'BRIEN'S gave me instant relief; I continued it and am now eating three man-sized meals daily with no discomfort whatever!"
Wouldn't you feel like praising O'BRIEN'S for DYSPEPSIA if you were in Mr. Roselle's place. You will, too, if you have stomach trouble of any kind—Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Colic, Ulcerated Stomach, Gastritis, or Flatulence—if you take O'BRIEN'S. ## THE INSIDE STORY OF A COAL MINE

The householder is not shoveling coal in these piping times of summer, but because of the strike and fears that his favorite winter indoor sport will be interfered with when the snow flies, coal has been uppermost in his thoughts, none the less.

A bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society presents a little-known aspect of the coal industry to stay-on-the-surface uses of this modern necessity—the working of a big anthracite mine when operating at full blast. Describing a visit to a mine in which there are 85 miles of underground railway, the bulletin says:

Need Air for Human Fuel

One thing above ground we will be even more vitally interested in when we go below—the ventilating fan, for without it we would be in danger of being "gassed" in times of peace. The fans in this mine fly around with a rim speed of a mile a minute. Every mine has two shafts; the hoisting shaft and the air shaft. To keep the mine free enough from gas to permit work in safety, enormous quantities of fresh air must be sent down the one opening and corresponding quantities of gas-laden air drawn out the other.

To start on our downward journey we step on the "cage" or elevator, the mine superintendent gives a signal, and the floor drops. Down, down, down we whiz past stratum after stratum of rock.

Mine Planned Like a City

Arriving at the bottom, we soon find that a coal mine is planned like a city. There is one main street, or entry, and it has been laid out with the nicety of a grand boulevard. Parallel with this are other entries, and across these entries run other streets, at right angles, usually, which are called headings. Lining all these headings as houses line the streets are the chambers, or rooms, in which the miners work.

When we stop at the bottom we feel ourselves in a small-sized hurricane. It is the air rushing down the shaft and starting through the mine on its mission of purification.

We walk and walk until we begin to feel as though we might be coming out over in China or France, and then we come to the rooms or chambers—for all the coal in the neighborhood of the hoisting shaft has gone up in heat and smoke long before now and this mine is far-flung.

Catacombs of the Living

These rooms or chambers might be monks' cells in some catacombs for the living. Here the miner bores and blasts and digs away the coal and loads it into the mine cars. If he has a helper he does not need to do the loading himself. The car holds about 6000 pound of run-of-the-mine coal, and a miner is supposed to fill two of them a day.

When the car is loaded the miner puts his number on it, and presently, with much ado, there comes up the heading and into the passageway leading to the chamber a string of mules walking tandem, or single file, and dragging an empty car behind. They pull out the loaded car, set the empty one where the miner wants it, and go back the way they came, with the load of coal.

There are other strings of mules, also, and they distribute the empties and mobilize the loaded cars from and at given points. Then the compressed-air engine comes along and makes up a train of loaded cars after dropping one of empties ready for distribution. The coal trains are pulled down to the hoisting shaft, and one by one the cars go to the surface, an empty coming down as a loaded one goes up.

How the Coal Came to Be

Having seen the harvest in the coal field, let us turn to the seed time. Millions of years ago Nature stored away billions of tons of coal for us, and then left us a record of her processes written in a language that all ages and tongues can understand. It is a story so wonderful as almost to defy belief, and yet one so plain to him who reads it as to defy unbelief.

Vegetation grew rankly, leaves and stalks settled into marshes, and were carbonized, almost as though it has been for our benefit. Those were happy days in the vegetable kingdom. Plant life was quickened as animal life is stirred by the ozone of the sea, for the air was laden with unimaginable supplies of carbonic acid gas, which was inhaled by the Brobdingnagian jungle.

Indeed, so rich was the atmosphere in its supply of this gas that while it made vegetation grow extraordinarily rank it would have suffocated man. Furthermore, there was warmth exceeding anything we know in the tropics today, and there was moisture in abundance—more than the most spendthrift of plants could wish for.

How amazingly dense was the vegetation of the coal-forming era may be shown by comparisons with existing forests. Should Nature, by the process of the coal age transform the densest jungle in the world today into a coal seam, it probably would be only a few inches thick; yet there are coal seams which are sixty feet thick, though 10 feet is regarded as a fine seam, and three feet will produce more than five thousand tons to the acre.

Evolution of Air Breathers.

In Silurian times an air-breathing life was forced on many creatures. When their native pools dried up everything could either breathe the air or suffocate. There was a high premium put on progressive evolution toward lungs, and a death penalty for those who held back. It was at this time that the ancestors of modern insects ceased to be bottom crawlers and became pre-eminently animals of the air. The air-breathing anthropoda have now evolved so far that they have few water living relatives left. All insects respire free oxygen, even such aquatic forms as dragon fly larvae, whose gills are full of air instead of blood.

The King Snake's Dinner.

A "Companion boy" who lived in Missouri, and who has been reading the paper since he was a little shaver, writes to tell us what he knows about the cannibalistic habits of snakes. As my brothers and I were cocking hay in a clover field, he writes, we found a king snake basking in the July sun; he was too lazy and full to move. Being curious to know what he had devoured, we cut him open. To our astonishment we found that he contained a black snake 28 inches long, more than one inch longer than himself; and inside the black snake we found a mouse and a grasshopper. The head and neck of the black snake were purple and indicated that the king snake had killed it.—Youth's Companion.

Man Really Dependable.

People who are all afloat and not mentally dependable, who have no fixity of purpose, and are not reliable, are not the men we turn to in emergencies. It is the self-confident man, the man who feels sure of himself, the man who is sure of his philosophy and of his principles, the man of great faith, on whom we depend in supreme crises, when others are driven to the wall.—Exchange.

Increasing complaints are coming in to the Winchester police regarding hoodlumism by boys about town. Many people are complaining of the actions of these half-grown men. Last Saturday afternoon and Sunday a gang congregated at the Main street bridge and ended their period of shouting at autoists by dumping the two settees on the river bank into the water. The police chased the gang and will probably make several arrests before they are through.

Flowers bring Summer's Cheer during Winter's Dreary Months

A FEW FERNS—a pretty hanging basket of vines and foliage plants—and a bowl of lovely flowering Narcissus bulbs—will simply fill a room with Springtime cheer and coziness.

Do you know that RIGHT NOW is the best time to buy ferns and other house plants? At this season Ferns are at their best and the least expensive. Furthermore, the temperature of the greenhouses being about the same as the homes, ferns bought now become easily acclimated.

We will offer rare values in ferns and other plants all through September and October.

Make this flower shop your headquarters for cut flowers, plants and FLORAL DESIGNS. We carry the best in flowers and plants procurable. We pay especial attention to mail orders.
